Kulturní revoluce se valí dál a drtí vše před sebou pod svými mocnými koly: národnost, meritokracie, křesťanství, svoboda slova a sdužování, rovná spravedlnost pod zákonem, ... všechny rekvizity západní civilizace. My normáči sledujeme koloběžky, doufáme a modlíme se za nějakou známku kontrarevoluce, za důkaz, že obyčejní, nepřiliš političtí občané nevstoupí do dobré noci high-tech anti-bílého autoritářství.

A v poslední době dostáváme z Irska nějaké povzbudivé signály.

Kulturní revoluce v této zemi postupuje mnohem rychleji a bezohledněji než jinde. Částečně je to proto, že Irsko mělo ještě před sebou. Sám už léta píšu o tom, jak se Irsko před padesáti lety, tehdy asi kulturně nejkonzervativnější bílý národ, po vstupu do EU v roce 1973 proměnilo v Srdce bdělosti.

Za okolností, že Irsko vstoupilo do aspektu globalismu Open-Borders, není příliš překvapivé.

O to méně překvapivé je, když si vzpomenete, že tři sta let tam bylo Irsko se svou chudobou a vysokou plodností dítětem z plakátu pro e - migraci do Británie , USA , Austrálie a Nového Zélandu .

No, věci se možná mění. V posledních dnech došlo k velkým demonstracím proti irským otevřeným hranicím. Ve středu tento týden nám vlastní korespondent VDARE, Pádraic O'Bannon, poskytl skvělý sestřih klipů z Twitteru, které ukazují obyčejné irské lidi, kteří bojují proti své demografické náhradě.

#Irsko

Šokující video ukazuje, jak soupeřící migranti ozbrojení baseballovými páčkami a mačetami proměňují město ve válečnou zónu, když vypukne rvačka

To je důvod, proč #IrelandSaysNO . Jejich ulice se mění k nepoznání a Irové toho mají dost. pic.twitter.com/FyOgHoCpPE

Pro hlubší ponor do politiky situace – a mluvím zde jako člověk, který se věnuje politickým komentářům o Irsku více než dvacet let – doporučuji nedávný sloupek Petera Ryana na Unherd.com:

...[G]rassroots anti-migrantské protesty se šíří po celé zemi a shromažďují se kolem hesla „Irsko je plné“. V roce 2022 se konalo 307 protestů proti migrantům, zatímco v roce 2023 jich bylo již 64. Na poslední demonstraci v Dublinu v úterý [6. února] vyšlo do ulic více než 2000 demonstrantů.

[Vzestup irských protestů proti migrantům , 9. února 2023]

Stejně jako zde a v Británii je irský establishment odhodlán nedělat s přílivem vůbec nic a pomlouvat, obtěžovat a v případě potřeby zatknout ty, kteří proti němu demonstrují.

Bylo to pro ně snadné, protože Irsko bylo sto let pod nadvládou Uniparty.

V tomto dlouhém období držely moc dvě velké politické strany. Fianna Fáil je přibližně americká Demokratická strana s větší podporou dělnické třídy; Fine Gael je přátelštější k podnikání, jako naše GOP.

To je ovšem vysoce teoretické. V praxi mezi oběma stranami nebylo po desetiletí žádné denní světlo. Nyní jsou sjednoceni v globalismu, odhodlaní ponechat hranice otevřené a plné zlostných odsuzování „krajní pravice“.

Zní povědomě?

Velká kuriozita v této situaci: menšinová strana Sinn Féin. Před tříadvaceti lety jsem popisoval Sinn Féin – samozřejmě správně – „jedinou přijatelnou nacionalisticko-vlasteneckou stranu v Irsku“. Sinn Féin byla natolik nacionalisticko-vlastenecká, že v jednu chvíli prosazovala odchod Irska z Evropské unie. Byli tak nacionalisticko-vlastenečtí, že sloužili jako politická fronta pro teroristy provádějící bombové útoky a atentáty v Brity ovládaném Severním Irsku. Nacionalisticko-vlastenecký? Ach jo.

Takže Sinn Féin vede kontrarevoluci proti otevřeným hranicím a zničení irského národa, že?

Není.

Současné vedení Sinn Féin je zcela zajedno s Uniparty a podporuje globalismus Open-Borders. Současná prezidentka Sinn Féin, Mary Lou McDonald, je bojovnicí za sociální spravedlnost ze střední třídy. Zastupuje dělnický volební obvod v Dublinu, hlavním městě Irska. Žádný z novinových článků a komentářů k demonstracím z tohoto týdne si nevšiml, že...

Neschopnost [Sinn Féin] poskytnout nacionalistický postoj k těmto otázkám znamená, že jsou často nejvíce nenáviděni demonstranty; plakátový obrázek Mary Lou MacDonald se slovem „zrádce“ byl chlípně vypískán na původním protestu v East Wall.

[Úplná ztráta kontroly vyprávění, Conor Fitzgerald; Substack, 8. února 2023]

Mohla by v Irsku, v národě, který kdysi horlivě chránil a uchovala svou národní identitu, vzniknout skutečně nacionalistická strana? Jeden už ano: pět let stará Irish Freedom Party.

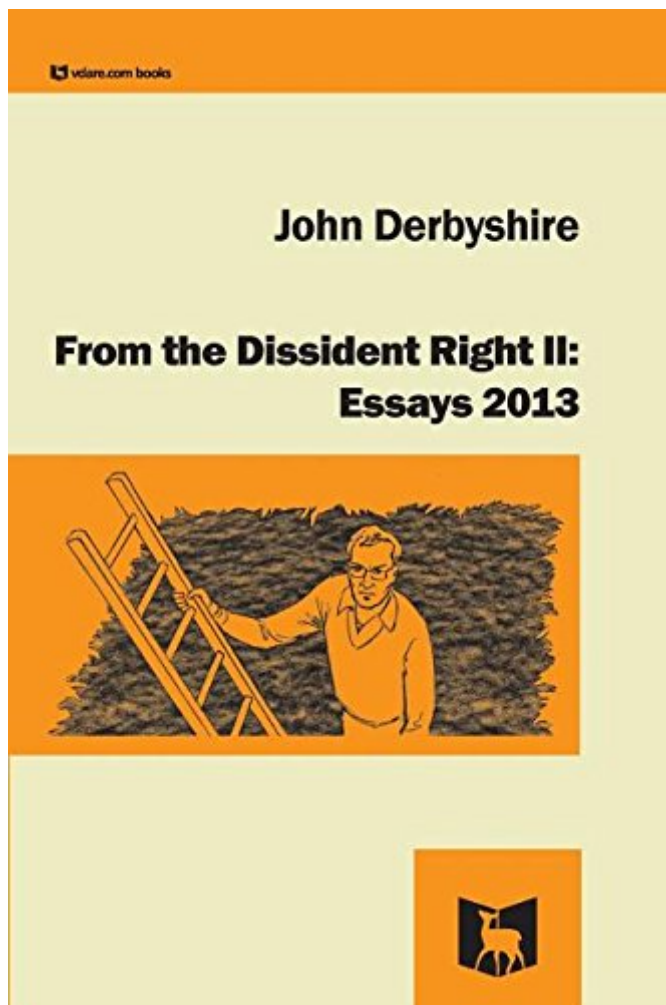

IFP se zatím příliš neprosadila a trpěla všemi slabostmi a osobnostními problémy, které vždy postihnou malé nové strany; a irská vládnoucí třída samozřejmě udělá vše pro to, aby je rozdrtila. Jsou tam ale a ne házejí bomby nebo střílejí na policajty ve stylu Sinn Féin. Uvidíme, co se vyvine.

Irsko, jak jsem psal před všemi těmi lety, je zajímavé, místo, které stojí za to sledovat.

Nápad na film....Shamrock Dancers oblečený jako skřítki povstanou, aby dobyli Emerald Isle zpět pod vedením reinkarnovaného svatého Patrika, který je vyžene k moři.

To, co filmová společnost ve skutečnosti produkuje... Černý uprchlík galantně pracuje ve škole, převyšuje irské tupce a zaujímá vedoucí pozici v městské radě. Zachraňuje místní ekonomiku tím, že nahrazuje pěstování brambor špičkovou technologií. Všechny irské dívky soupeří o jeho náklonnost a on si vybere krásnou zrzku. Well said, except I wouldn't call the Sinn Fein of 23 years ago nationalist. In my opinion, they stopped being nationalist by the time Gerry Adams took over, possibly before. It's easy to find out what Irish nationalists have thought of Adams since at least the 90s.

This was inevitable, by joining the EU they were really just becoming a ZOG puppet. The same fate awaits those morons in Poland and Hungary that naively think they can be part of the ZOG construct and somehow not share the same fate as all the other lands conquered by the jew.

Meanwhile the media pump out the idyll of Irish immigration bollocks. Currently airing on BBC is ‘The North Sea Connection’, about drug running in the west of Ireland, more or less. Well, in this drama in the wind- and rainswept sliver of olde whitey Ireland, black(ish) characters pop up like potatoes in a good harvest year. Two mixed race girlfriends, both (of course) smart, strong, yet weepily endearing (and partnered to feckless white Irish stock, naturally). Plus a very black adoption agency chap lording his power over adoptees (even though one is the solid-as-a-rock mixed race lady mentioned). White Irish characters are one or all of: villainous, irresponsible (one woman sells her baby), or stupid. Good woke craic!

An Irish friend recently visited his engineer brother in Ireland. His brother is a manager for a well known international engineering firm. He told me every employee of the firm is African black. Not a Pale, freckled face redhead in the bunch. Ireland’s population is 5 million, if they keep letting in non-Irish it will only take a few years before the Irish as a unique genetic people disappear from the face of the earth. How’s that for “diversity”?

This all comes down to the money, doesn't it always,

Ireland signed up to the AMIF (asylum, migration and integration fund) in 2021, this gives Ireland access to 9.8 billion in EU funding for the purpose of flooding the country with bogus asylum seekers and economic migrants,

The political classes of every party and their buddies in the business community have their snouts in this trough of money,

The legal profession are making a killing representing all those who are refused asylum or commit crimes and we have a NGO sector who live off government funding pushing the diversity agenda,

It won't end well.

@Reverend Goody

That very movie idea could have been bashed around 100 years ago in London high society and arts worlds, as such people among had been confident that the Numinous Negroes were superior to the Irish.

Derbyshire is wrong in saying that Ireland's decline began with joining the EU. Very small changes took any rot until after the Republic has made it clear that its Elites wanted no part ever again of anything that was truly Irish Nationalism, which meant it would become aggressive against all those who promoted demands for the Brits to leave Ulster. After that, it was very easy for the Irish too assimilate fully into what WASP culture was then, which was not just post-Christian but universalist in every sense.

The Irish problem today is that it surrendered to WASP assimilation in the hope of having peace in the back yard.

Philo-Semite Derbyshire likely cannot ever see any of that very well.

The implausible self-mutilation that forms the basis of the Banshee movie is a good metaphor for the Irish demographic self-mutilation. And by the way, Korea's "Decision to Leave" is the best movie of 2022 – – not Banshee. Ironically, it is the Korean movie, and not the Irish movie, that captures the intelligent, playful wit of old Ireland.

To Irish American lobbyists and pressure groups we largely owe the disaster that has been the diversity visa program. Back in the 90s Irish Americans wanted more visas for their own kind. Channeling through Ted Kennedy, instead of simply demanding, say 50K visa for Irish per year, they allowed themselves to be bullied by Chuck Schumer who pointed out that specifically singling out Irish for special benefit would be “raciss” (ha, Chuck Schumer calling out special pleading. Chutzpah), so the diversity visa scheme was cooked up where special points would be given to certain applicant characteristics, eg. speaking English. Didn’t occur to the dimwitted Irish Americans (but it surely did to Schumer) that there are about 300 million Indians, Pakistanis and Bangladeshis that speak perfectly good English, not to mention the 10s of millions of Africans and even South Americans (Guyanese). Alas, the Irish scooped up a pittance of these diversity visas, the lion’s share going to the motley others. And since that time these diversity visa recipients have become just more anchor points for that interminable scam known as “family reunification.” Yeah, so thank you Irish Americans, you played a really good part in destroying this country. Thank you very much. You did the damage to the rest of of us, but how does it feel to be Chuck Schumer’s chump?

I have followed the Irish troubles for almost 50 years as an armchair historian. Likewise I have followed the Quebec situation up there in Canada from the days of its beginning with the FLQ story. Both the Irish and the French situation is very puzzling. They fought for decades using violence or politics to get what they wanted. Both enemies were basically white Anglo/British. Mostly the Irish Catholics and the French Catholics got what they wanted through bombs and politics. But now their women are materialistic and spoiled and are having few if any kids when they used to have dozens...the Catholic Church is in decline or is nothing anymore and both places are allowing an invasion of black immigrants in to swamp them, who care nothing for their heritage that they fought for for centuries. Go figure that. French Quebec is in a death spiral..and the English Canadian and American internet is only expediting it; Ireland while slightly different is sinking for similar reasons.

@Political Science 101

Lol, try this political science 101. Assume as a theory, that countries are ran by lodges. Nationalists getting independent means for them get their own lodges.

But the teachings in the lodges are the same, and to advance they would need to outkuk their former masters. Especially true for colonies without their own culture or old Elites or at least own Religion. I.e., Afrika has their demon societies, India has their cults, Iran has their shia orders.

They have something else than to promote equality and brotherhood and freedom. What culture Irish or Quebecua has? None whatsoever. Peasants. Being Catholic does not mean much since Vatican 2. So, nothing is puzzling at all there.

That's quite funny. The fighting Irish complaining about migrants fighting. Not too long ago they were the ones Anglos complained about fighting outside bars. Maybe the difference is these migrants aren't the drunken kind, they fight perfectly sober. Where are they from? Africa? Mideast? Pakistan?

About ten years ago a friend told me her Indian niece went to Ireland to study medicine — for free, and married an Irish man. So many universities in Europe are now providing free education to foreign students, from Germany to Belgium to Ireland, and the Subcons in particular are taking full advantage. Everywhere you go now in Europe you run into Indian “students” and tech workers, just like in the US. Except Europe is giving them free education and easy work visa.

Stupid gullible Europeans are being conned into this extermination of their own race and culture by the Jews running their media, banks, and EU. I recalled reading about a Jewess “Irish” immigrant from the US (Irish dad, Jewish mom) — forget her name, moved to Ireland and helped put Ireland on the path to globalism enlightenment, just like the Jewess Barbara whats her name who moved to Sweden and put them on the path of globalist destruction.

Jews, the cancer that keeps on spreading.

The official answer to “Ireland is full” is that Ireland is relatively underpopulated, but with a housing shortage that’s being exploited by sinister far right elements.

The PM Varadkar has recently suggested some hard humanitarian measures like deporting failed asylum seekers – this to assure the anxious public that their concerns are being listened to, and to prevent the real danger which is not the demographic erasure of European peoples, but that European peoples identifying their own ethnic interests.

The protesters have picked up on the idea that it’s socially approved for women to express worries about predatory men, but as we’ve seen from To Kill a Mockingbird and Rotherham, it’s not socially, approved for white trash women to express such anxieties.

The principle that the Irish are a people and the Swedes are a people with special rights in their own ethnic homelands, and not obliged to “include” uninvited guests, the principle without which Ireland and Sweden cease to be meaningful entities, that principle is hard to find articulated. Everyone is marinated in TV and anxious to prove that they’re “not racist”.

True, gmos, corn syrup, soy, also fructose. Also on one hand obesity can be problem, though as much as can be sign of ignorant with a few can be sign of awareness as eating stress, and so opinion should depend on what a person does or fails to do. Wish the person better health, and in meantime looks just fine as a warrior. That's what to appreciate, doing something saying something, person of value compared to useless eaters who sit on a-s ignoring.

Make that warrior a garden sandwich and heavy on the cream cheese. Tip for truthers, saturated fat good for brain and makes the weight slide off, butter, full fat yogurt.

Mixed unions between whites and Subsaharan Africans are being endlessly promoted via the media and advertising. In the haloed name of “diversity”. Which is of course the polite way of pushing for white replacement by a uniform mulatto population. With Ireland's small indigenous white population (5 million) it will only take about two generations for the country to resemble the French national football team.

IIRC, ethno-nationalism for Whites became verboten in about a decade after the end of the Cold War. I remember a late Cold War article (1980s) from The New Republic about German families making pilgrimages to the statue of Hermann that was totally respectful, not a hint of irony. Another one from the same period was a very sentimental piece in the WSJ about ethnic Germans from the USSR “going home” to Germany.

John.....My Northern Irish Cousins....with a Kings Park Suffolk County connection....Irish Catholic notwithstanding....hate the IRA....they always have. My older cousin got his skull crushed in and left dead in a stream in a ravine by a Protestant Death Squad. He was studying to be a Catholic Priest. His family still hated the IRA after he was murdered.....He is buried right near Kevin Lynch's grave who was one of the prison hunger strikers with Bobby Sands.....My mother and sister visited his grave. Kevin Lynch's mother was there that day visiting her son's grave. She told my mother and sister to keep your children away from the IRA. My mother and sister told me that Kevin Lynch's mother had intense hatred of the IRA. My cousin Sean's Brothers and Sisters have come to visit to see Kings Park in Suffolk County.....They have always expressed intense hatred for the IRA. They are all Queens University graduates.....

Regarding the immigrant flows in Ireland and elsewhere, I want to emphasize that this is a phenomenon that encompasses many different aspects of our culture these days. It comes from the left and is being blamed on the Jews, but it's important to understand that Jews, or Jews and WASPs, or whoever has taken us over has done so not through raw power, which would entail lots of resistance, but through one basic idea: social justice. When I was young, this meant basically giving workers a better deal, but it soon enough came to mean identity politics. Lots of young women were eager to see themselves as victims who should be allowed to do things that men do. It wasn't just Jewish women who thought this. It had an appeal well beyond that tiny part of the population. So did other aspects of the concept of social justice. Lots of whites felt embarrassed about the way that blacks were being treated in the South (though soon enough it got extended to how blacks were being treated everywhere), and so they went along with all the changes that were being pushed.

Anyway, the idea of social justice has now morphed into what I call the Primary Moral Imperative of our era. The primary moral imperative of our era, one that was conjured up and is pushed relentlessly by our elites, is concern for and protection of the Other. The Other might be women or blacks (or anyone who is not white) or homosexuals or transsexuals or criminals (especially black criminals) or people from the Third World or non-Christians or even animals and the environment. White society, especially the part that is white and male, was terrible at dealing with the Other and treated the Other with hostility and so can be blamed for all kinds of troubles, disasters, and even unrelentingly horrible tragedies. These include:

- The Holocaust
- Western imperialism and colonialism
- Slavery in America and the racism that produced the era of Jim Crow (which our elites believe extends into today)
- The oppression of women (especially via rape) and homosexuals and now transsexuals
- Pollution and of course global warming
- Chickens and other domesticated animals being treated in terrible ways

Notice that anyone who opposes this imperative in the slightest is automatically condemned as some kind of “hater.” There is a depressing amount of conformity these days (enough to make a conformist from the 1950s blush). Notice, too, that there is a lot of virtue signaling connected with all of this. It’s better to hire yet another diversity administrator, even if tuition goes up, than to avoid doing so. It’s better to force your employees into a woke training session than to avoid doing so. It’s better to fly one’s private jet to a climate conference than to avoid going because of concern over one’s carbon footprint. It’s better to announce that your city or state is going to look into reparations, even though your region never had any slaves. Those who control the Megaphone will never disapprove of any of these.

It’s also better to err on the side of a distortion of history that makes whites look worse than they actually were, even if the truth is sacrificed. And so we get this 1619 project, we get people saying “Hands up, don’t shoot,” we get people saying that America invented slavery and that the West has always dominated the Other (as though Darius and Xerxes were victims of Western imperialism), we get people saying (as Steve Sailer pointed out recently) that somehow white male mathematicians here in the West shoved others aside when in fact anyone could have made the same discoveries that they did since math doesn't require any fancy equipment – the distortions are endless.

There is also a lot of craziness connected with this imperative: demands that we defund the police, people trying to be friends with grizzly bears, the guy who said he was married to a tree, elites wanting us to eat bugs, people who are white pretending that they are really some other race or gender, declaring that math is racist, using ridiculous made-up words like Latinx, and so on. Maybe the craziest is secularists who think nothing of wanting an endless number of Muslims coming into the West, as though Muslims are somehow going to be strong supporters of secular societies.

Notice also that poor whites end up as oppressors rather than the oppressed, the exact opposite of the way they were regarded throughout much of the left's history. In fact, poor whites have basically become the scapegoats for the failed policies of our elites.

One point I want to emphasize is that it is ridiculous to be attacking Jews when what won the West, so to speak, was an idea. It's not as though I am forced to learn Hebrew or observe the Sabbath or avoid pork. It's the idea of social justice that has been driven into our heads and which needs to be attacked. It is not helpful to attack the historicity of the Holocaust because they are so many other episodes on the above list that they can use to take us down. It would be better to ask how Hitler would be regarded if he had been brown or black and had done the same things to the Jews. We pretty much know already. Ayatollah Khomeini had thousands of leftists murdered, and no leftist says a word against him. The Chinese are putting Uighurs into concentration camps, and the bleatings against them are very muted. There are no marches on the Chinese embassy in Washington, for example, but there was a march against Trump.

Another tack that will fail is talking about the plight of the Palestinians. This won't work because our elites have already dealt with that issue to some extent. The more leftist the Jew (think Noam Chomsky), the more likely he is to side with the Palestinians, so that isn't going to help.

Instead, focus on slavery in North Africa. Slavery in North Africa still exists, and it cannot be blamed on whites here in America. Of course, anyone who thinks that a black man's punching a tiny, elderly Asian woman in the head for no reason is due to white supremacism can no doubt think of some way to blame it on whites here in America, but I assume most people have enough sense to see that this is as wrongheaded as can be. The focus on slavery in North Africa also turns their Narrative upside down. How can that slavery be eliminated other than through imperialism and colonialism? If there was some other way, it would have been used by now.

Another way to attack them is by noting that there is nothing in history that suggests that whites are any worse than any other group. In particular, are poor whites really to blame for the problems of blacks? Blaming poor whites is punching down, so our elites seldom actually come right out and say that it is poor whites who are to blame; they say that whites in general are, but it is obvious that it is poor whites whom they have as their target. Now poor whites have very little power, and it is ridiculous to chide them for their "white privilege" when they lack so much economic power. Nor will making poor whites into society's scapegoats change anyone else's life for the better. It just drags poor whites down while doing nothing for anyone else. Most important is that this is an example of social injustice itself.

Still another way to attack them is in connection with our elites' desperation regarding the poor academic performance of blacks, which they blame on systemic racism – which is complete nonsense since we eliminated systemic racism fifty years ago – and for which they want to eliminate standardized tests so that more blacks will get into elite schools. This is basically a Neronian solution. The Roman emperor Nero wanted to win an Olympic medal even though he had no athletic talent, so using his power he jiggered things and did so. Raise your hand if you think that made him an athlete on par with all the others who had won Olympic medals prior to that. And just as people today do not think that Nero deserved any praise for his feats in the Olympics, I assume most people are not going to be impressed by blacks who really can't cut it academically but who are nevertheless given elite jobs.

And another way to attack is that our elites seem to be pushing for an anti-democratic system, a feudalistic system with some elites on top and the non-elites at the bottom. The elites will still have all the traditional freedoms and privileges, while those of us at the bottom will no longer have any freedom or a say in anything. Have you noticed that free speech is under attack, even in connection with dissident medical opinions? Many have already pointed out the oddity of the elites' use of the phrase "our democracy," which seems to refer to a democracy for the right-thinking elites with others being excluded. I will admit, of course, that there are a few old-fashioned egalitarians among our elites who worry about inequality, but then such people think that poor whites are not actually poor, that the poor are the black and brown, so they are still adhering to the primary moral imperative. If when you think wealth inequality, you think that only blacks are on the bottom, those holding the Megaphone won't correct you.

And then there is their pushing for diversity in areas where we need competence. There is no pressing need for diversity among airline pilots.

For me, though, the biggest problem with our elites and their moral imperative is that they want open borders, because (according to them) it would be racist to exclude people from the Third World from coming here. As I've pointed out elsewhere, this is going to mean we will be under Islamic law by the end of this century. A mindless bigotry in favor of a group isn't any better than a mindless bigotry against them, and bringing Muslims into our part of the world is the biggest mistake of all. Muslims want to conquer us, and thanks to the stupidity of our elites, they will do so.

Our elites are a sort of inverse Hitler, and ultimately will turn out to be worse than Hitler in terms of harm to our society.

The main Irish political parties, Fine Gael and Fianna Fáil, correspond to the factions in the Irish Civil War of 1922-3. The differences are difficult for outsiders (including me) to understand; but Fianna Fáil was the more nationalist, anti-British, and belligerent. As recently as 1992 its leader was Charles Haughey, a man who as a Cabinet Minister in 1969-70 had used Irish public money to send guns to the IRA in Northern Ireland. An Irish jury acquitted him of criminal offences, following his co-defendants' argument that they believed they had acted with the approval of the Irish government.

The social collapse of the Republic of Ireland has taken place in less than 30 years.

Ireland is clearly not “full”: it is the only European country whose population is less than it was 200 years ago. However, the decision of its political classes to welcome large numbers of immigrants who are uneducated and have never lived in a civil society is incomprehensible. Ireland has been outward-looking since joining the EU in 1973, and it was patently obvious that other European countries were having grave difficulties assimilating such immigrants.

One of the problems with foreign immigration is that, as soon as people of a different race arrive, half the native population accuses the other half of being racist. Politics then divides along these lines, with a “fully woke” party opposing a “slightly less woke” party. Both parties are disconnected from public opinion, making a mockery of the supposed democracy. The new political divisions accelerate the social collapse.

Interesting ideas, but ... we're doomed.

Instead, focus on slavery in North Africa.

The focus on slavery in North Africa also turns their Narrative upside down.

They've got this one covered. Present-day slavery in North Africa is the fault of Europeans, for not allowing unlimited numbers of migrants to come to Europe from Libya. The migrants are broke and indebted to traffickers, who then enslave them.

As we all know, the Royal Navy ended the maritime slave trade 200 years ago. The overland slave trade was another matter: for example, the sainted Palestinians owned African slaves until the late 19th Century, when the British took control of Egypt and stopped the slave caravans.

One of the lies that particularly grates is that, because Western Europe engaged in slavery and colonialism, it should welcome Arab, Turkish and Bantu immigrants as our moral superiors. The implied belief in hereditary and collective guilt is bad enough; but of course all these groups practiced slavery and colonialism, the latter so successfully that their territorial gains are accepted without question.

The reason why Ireland has fewer people now than 200 years ago is a text book case of pure Malthusianism. Basically, Ireland's agricultural production purely and simply could not support the population resident on the Isle – British rule or no British rule.

It's probably still true today, the Irish economy has developed an export sector to pay for food imports etc.

Adding more and more immigrants to Ireland's population won't help Ireland's trade situation, and thus the ability to import vitally needed commodities.

Er, no. Ireland can now feed itself.

The potato famine was caused by a fungus, and could have been alleviated by stronger government action to distribute imported food – which would have happened if the famine had occurred in Hampshire or Surrey. As it was, Ireland lost half its population. A million died and two million emigrated.

The problem with today's immigrants is that a modern economy cannot accommodate very many illiterate camel-herders who have tribal values and a backward religion.

Note, a country with the Irish Republic's population might tolerate a stock of 17,000 temporary residents (with the annual issuance of such permits a function of verified departures) and an annual inflow of about 6,500 settler immigrants. The Irish are the latest European ethnicity to be genocided via never ending immigration – it's days of being racially, ethnically, and culturally Irish are deemed over by the ((Globalists)). Legal and illegal immigration + the fake refugees that the ((NGOs)) encourage is quickly changing the island. It's the same copy and paste template that has been used to destroy the French people, English, Swedes, Dutch, and others. Another country being ruined but at a slower pace is Iceland – it gets no attention – but it is now less than 90% native Icelandic...this is down from being 99%+ not even 20 years ago, and the percent will only continue to go down and not back up over time thanks to weaponized immigration.

Thanks for your input. I still think that poking the elites about slavery in North Africa would be helpful. It's similar to the situation in Darfur twenty years ago. I remember reading an op-ed in the Guardian challenging progressives to come up with a solution for it, and none of them could. I read about 200 comments to that piece, and no one had a solution. Many of the comments claimed that the writer of the op-ed was a scumbag. (I can't remember his name.) Most of the others claimed that the U.S. was to blame for the situation. Every now and then a commenter reminded them of what they were supposed to be doing, namely coming up with a solution. The best they could do was to suggest that it was really something the African Union was supposed to be dealing with, but what the African Union was supposed to do, they could not say.

It just goes to show how difficult it is to sustain liberty.

After many child-abuse scandals, Ireland lost its undue respect for the Catholic Church; with the end of the military conflict in Northern Ireland, anti-British sentiment eased. Ireland was finally free! But what did the political classes do with that freedom? Their attempts to enlarge Ireland's financial sector led to serious financial difficulties in the Credit Crunch of 2008; and now they support mass immigration from the Third World.

Perhaps the Irish were never nationalist at all. What appeared to be nationalism was only a reaction to colonisation by (Protestant) Britain: it was anti-British and pro-Catholic. When these two props were taken away, it was hard to find any evidence for nationalism. Even Sinn Féin, once the most radical "Nationalist" party, failed to live up to its name (which means "Ourselves Alone") and is pro-immigration.

It is the last gasp of imperialist thinking, and it is all the more tragic because it is prevalent on the supposedly anti-imperialist Left. It is the belief that the USA and Europe have both the power and the duty to resolve any human conflict that arises anywhere else in the world. If we do not want to send an army to “pacify” places where people are fighting, then we must allow all the people who live there – or at least all those on the losing side – to migrate to Europe or the USA. In practice this gives everyone from the worlds’s poorest and most dysfunctional societies the right to come and live among us, the only barrier being that first they must set foot here. The outcome is obviously going to be very bad – for those of us who are already citizens – but mainstream politicians prefer that outcome to the possibility of being considered racist.

4% sounds low, but the number is deceiving, you will find very few non whites in Ireland over the age of 40, most of the non whites are found in the younger age groups

– but mainstream politicians prefer that outcome to the possibility of being considered racist.

It amazes me that three groups – secularists, feminists, and the LGBT crowd – never put up any kind of fuss about this, even though those coming to the West cannot be counted on to accept their values.

Basically, all those groups have made a living out of parasitising white men, attacking white men, mocking white men etc, whilst living over comfortable lives in societies and civilisations built by white men.

They are all too arrogant, ignorant, egotistic and hateful to realise this.

Modern white men are also too ignorant of all of the above, or to cowardly and apathetic to take back power – all to themselves – and which rightfully belongs to them exclusively.

“Equality” be damned.

Understand exponential growth.

It might ‘only’ be 4% now – in reality 4% of the totality of the Irish population is quite a noticeable and substantial fraction, 1 in 25, one in every class room, and of course it is geographically concentrated.

As these things always do, that number will inevitably double in less than ten years. So, you are looking at a black/brown majority Ireland by 2060.

Yes, it is amazing, but also revealing.

Militant secularists tend to be ex-Christians who are driven by anti-clericalism. Despite professing humanism they are not worried by extremist Islam because they think this alien creed will never affect them.

Feminists have issues with the men of their own culture, primarily Daddy Issues, and some are even attracted to dominant men from other cultures.

In all cases there is the presumption that the migrants will live in parallel societies – what Douglas Murray calls “multi-tribalism” as opposed to the official doctrine of multi-culturalism.

Andrew Neather, an aide of Tony Blair, revealed that the purpose of mass immigration in the Blair administration was to “rub the Right’s nose in diversity”. Notice that there was no calculation of whether mass immigration would be good for the country or its existing citizens. The purpose was simply to “sock it” to readers of the Daily Mail. Perhaps again the driving force is Daddy Issues.

In other words secularists, feminists, and the LGBT crowd all welcome people who despise them and wish them dead, because their real animus is against straight white men. Or as I think Mr Derbyshire puts it, the culture war is between two large groups of white people who do not like each other very much; and the migrants have only a walk-on part. They are used by one side as a weapon against the other. This is a strong indicator of a social collapse, or a loss of asabiyyah. None of the “radical” groups is thinking ahead.

This has not happened with the Turks and Kurds who have been in Germany since the early 1960s. It seems they refuse to assimilate, have little interest in learning German, and vote in Turkish elections. Far as I know there is not a great deal of intermarriage. As well, the Spanish and Italian guest workers of the same period all went home.

This has not happened in Sweden with the Africans and Muslims. A month doesn't go by but that they complain about alienation, lack of integration, and racism by burning a car or gang raping someone. As far as I know the Swedish women like them as boytoys but they don't breed with them. Many of the Hungarian refugees who settled in 1957 left with the fall of the Iron Curtain.

This is happening in Great Britain. Pakis and Indians have broken into government, business, the civil service and National Health, and Africans have benefited from "positive discrimination". So yes, the present is already multicultural, and intermarriage is very common.

Spot on. The Irish especially loath the English. Go to any England India related videos which is obviously all about the white britisher raping the local Hindus and you'll find Irish comments sympathising with the Indians. Indians always bring up the Bengal famines and the Irish bring up the Potato famine they had and both rejoice in villaining on Churchill and England. The Irish it seems are closer to third worlders in mindset and resolute than whites. Maybe its what the Australians call Tall Poppy Syndrome.....an inherent inferiority complex against the bigger, larger more prominent neighbor.

Anti-Irish derangement is beginning to resemble a hallucinogen.

Ireland is full of atomised, deracinated individuals – after decades of having swallowed every piece of Anglo-American cultural garbage served on a plate. It isn't tribal at all, except in pathetic ways like sports fandom.

And for those people grouching about Catholicism: atheism is what has made it possible for the dissolving acid of leftism to be poured over every part of society.

Yes, unless these protestors are agitating to remove Ireland from the west and eject all of the multinational corporations using their country as a tax haven, then they are not serious. Mass immigration is a package deal with being part of the west and integrated into western capitalism.
