Proč jsou konzervativci tak hloupi?

Takže posledních pár let temného sestupu Ameriky skončilo tímto? Po vykonstruované hysterii a autoritářském uchvácení moci COVIDem, po podvodných prezidentských volbách v roce 2020, uprostřed pokračujícího pronásledování stovek demonstrantů 6. ledna a uprostřed pokračující cenzury, válečných štvanic, politické a finanční korupce, rasových a genderových posedlostí a všudypřítomné, zákeřné kulturní hniloby, která zničila americkou rodinu, společnost, životní úroveň, demokratický systém a globální reputaci – po tom všem, nyní údajně budeme mít falešné, politicky motivované zatčení populistického bývalého prezidenta Spojených států kterým levicový, globalistický, korporativistický establishment pohrdá? I když k Trumpovu zatčení nedojde, pouhá vážná úvaha o tom skutečným kriminálním levicovým černošským DA je dost špatná.

Co to všechno znamená? Z mého pohledu jako starého, rovného bělocha z nižší střední třídy, který touží po ztracených , svobodnějších časech 70. let , to znamená, že Spojené státy americké jsou nyní stejně mrtvé jako mrtvola George Washingtona. Americká ústava je pryč, spláchnuta do záchodu a chátrá v nějaké páchnoucí kanalizaci, už nikdy nespátří světlo světa. Světově proslulá politická, ekonomická a kulturní hlavní města americké dekadence – ve Washingtonu, New Yorku a Hollywoodu – jsou neobyčejně šťastná, protože rozhodně dosáhla vítězství!

To je to, k čemu jsme, podle mého odhadu, dospěli. A zatímco levičáci a – velmi nevhodně pojmenovaní – „liberálové“ pečlivě, metodicky, strategicky, úskočně a inteligentně organizovali všechny tyto podlé a destruktivní činy – počínaje před mnoha desetiletími – samozvaní, takzvaní „konzervativci“, „Libertariáni“, „patrioti“ a „milovníci svobody“ sledovali, jak se to odehrává před jejich očima, a hloupě a poddajně dovolili, aby se to všechno stalo. Proč?

Nepozoroval jsem příliš energický boj proti žádnému z těchto hluboce pobuřujících událostí, s výjimkou Trumpa, hrstky dalších politických osobností, malého počtu mluvících hlav (především Carlsona) a několika politických webů a organizací. Protest 6. ledna 2021 v DC byl nejinspirativnější a nejnadějnější nedávná událost, kterou jsem pozoroval, ale jeho hlavním problémem bylo, že se nejednalo o skutečné „povstání“, jak jej falešně charakterizovala mainstreamová média. Kéž by to tak bylo! Skrovné úsilí pravice v boji zpět bylo žalostně neúčinné, protože vidíme, že levice nyní pevně kontroluje v podstatě každou velkou instituci a establishment v zemi.

Pokládám tedy tuto prostou, jednoduchou a přímou otázku: Proč jsou konzervativci tak hloupi? A vedlejší otázka zní: Proč jsou konzervativní tak slabí a bázliví? Upřímně se snažím určit a pochopit odpovědi na tyto otázky. Myslím, že možná znám nějaké odpovědi, ale ne celý příběh. Myslel jsem, že vy, čtenáři, byste se mohli podělit o nějaké postřehy.

Jedno možné vysvětlení, které mě napadlo, souvisí s náboženstvím. Říká se, že konzervativci jsou více věřící než levičáci (odmítám používat termín „liberálové“, protože lidé na levici jsou dnes pravým opakem liberálů, jsou to přísní netolerantní autoritáři). Proto předpokládám, že náboženství, v drtivé většině křesťanství, dává konzervativcům neodmyslitelnou víru a věčný optimismus, že bez ohledu na to, jak špatné věci dopadnou, nějak se to všechno obrátí a věci se nakonec zlepší. Jsou přesvědčeni, že Bůh je na straně Ameriky a určitě nakonec poskytne vše, co je potřeba. Mám podezření, že tato víra ve vševědoucího a všemohoucího Boha dává konzervativcům pocit, že se nepotřebují příliš bránit.

V alternativním vysvětlení vím, že někteří křesťané věří, že v současné době žijeme v „koncových časech“. Vidí všechny ty strašné, dekadentní věci, které se dějí v této zemi a ve zbytku světa, a nabyli přesvědčení, že tento zlý svět brzy skončí. Potom budou vytrženi do nebe a budou žít ve věčné blaženosti. No, pokud je to vaše přesvědčení, zjevně nemá smysl se příliš snažit o nápravu problémů v tomto světě.

Také jsem si všiml, že mnozí konzervativci se zdají být záměrně sebeklamnými. Tato tendence pravděpodobně souvisí s jejich věčným optimismem. Zdá se, že přes opakované politické, společenské a kulturní porážky nejsou schopni jasně pochopit a uznat hrozivost situace. Pozoroval jsem to od 90. let s opakovanými varováními „Toto jsou nejdůležitější a nejdůležitější volby našeho života“ od mluvících hlav jako Levin a Hannity. "Pokud bude zvolen Bill Clinton, bude to konec naší země, jak ji známe!" . . . "Pokud bude Obama zvolen, bude to konec naší země, jak ji známe!" . . . "Pokud bude Biden zvolen, bude to konec naší země, jak ji známe!"

No, tato strašná varování byla v zásadě přesná, protože tito prezidenti a jejich politika zásadně změnila a překroutila Ameriku a přeměnila ji v místo k nepoznání, jaké je dnes. Přesto titíž pravíkoví komentátoři dodnes jasně nevyjadřují skutečnost, že Amerika, „jak jsme ji znali“, je skutečně pryč. Jejich postoj se zdá být podobný myšlence, že jsou stále osmdesátá léta a vše, co bude potřebovat, je nový Reagan, aby věci znovu obrátil. To je to, co vidím jako jejich sebeklam. Varují, že špatné věci přijdou, když se určitá věc stane. Ale když se to stane, zdá se, že si myslí, že věci nejsou tak špatné, jak varovali – ale příště budou!

Tato věčná iluze 80. let je evidentní ve způsobu, jakým „Reaganovi zombie“ Levin-Hannity-Plante-Shapiro atd. stále pohlížejí na velké americké korporace a americkou zahraniční politiku. Zdá se, že nejsou schopni plně pochopit, že Wall Street a téměř všechny velké americké soukromé korporace nyní prosazují agendu woke, leftist, ESG, DEI jako hlavní součást svých marketingových, brandingových a investičních strategií. Tyto korporace nejsou žádní přátelé konzervativních hodnot! Jediný způsob, jak jsou „konzervativní“, je jejich chamtivé zachovávání a rozšiřování svých zisků.

Reaganovi zombíci také zjevně uvízli v osmdesátých letech se svým pohledem na svět. Stále si myslí, že Rusko je starý komunistický Sovětský svaz, a zombie nyní používají tuto pokřivenou perspektivu k ospravedlnění své podpory pro posílání obrovských, nekonečných množství peněz a zbraní na Ukrajinu. Ve svém těžkém stavu klamu prostě nemohou vidět nebo přijmout skutečnost, že Rusko je dnes na spravedlivé, konzervativní straně, zatímco Spojené státy jsou nyní tou zlou, levicovou, globální hrozbou. Takže podpora Ukrajiny v této válce se rovná podpoře pokroku levicové agendy ESG, DEI, globalistické agendy. Je to opak podpory „svobody“ a „demokracie“. Je čas se probudit a vidět dnešní realitu, konzervativci! Geopolitické a morální role Spojených států a Ruska jsou nyní opakem toho, co byly v 80. letech, ale bludné Reaganovy zombie to nevidí nebo nemohou vidět.

Zatímco konzervativci v cizích zemích spolu se svými levicovými, globalistickými spolupracovníky v těchto snahách udržují své samolibé agresivní válečné štvání, doma se tváří v tvář silnému domácímu levicovému náporu chovají nedůvěřivě, neasertivně, bázlivě a slabě.

Většina konzervativců v jakékoli pozici moci nebo vlivu v Americe se zdánlivě nezajímala, nebo v nejlepším případě byla neúčinná, aby zastavila postupný postup levicového programu proti svobodě.

Dovolili fašistickým represím na COVID a mandáty rozdrtit svobodu a zničit životy. Dovolili, aby naše volby byly nehorázně a směle ukradeny. Umožnily zhoršující se korupci soudního systému, vzdělávacího systému a imigračního systému. Dovolili, aby se zákeřný ESG DEI BS rozšířil všude. Dovolili destruktivní rasové, genderové a environmentální propagandě ovládnout kulturu.

Dovolili, aby se cenzura a potlačování nesouhlasu rozšířily a přitvrdily. Umožnily, aby se drogová závislost, sexuální perverze, násilné zločiny a další kulturní dekadence staly stále běžnějšími a normalizovanými. Umožnili zrychlující se erozi americké rodiny a americké životní úrovně. Umožnili, aby se americká kultura násilí a dekadence rozšířila po celém světě prostřednictvím imperialismu, globalismu a zástupných válek.

Stručně řečeno, konzervativci mohou hodně mluvit o „svobodě“ a „hodnotách“, ale pro nápravu zhoršující se situace dělají jen málo nebo vůbec nic. Musí být tedy buď hloupí, nebo spolupachatelé. Pravděpodobně obojí.

To je důvod, proč je dnes všechno v pořádku .

Je těžké pochopit, jak se všechny tyto strašné věci mohly stát kdysi svobodným Spojeným státům a jak lidé, kteří tuto zemi údajně milují a starají se o ni (tj. konzervativci), mohli dovolit, aby se to všechno stalo.

Takže opakuji svou otázku pro vás: Proč jsou konzervativci tak hloupí?

conservatives are stupid, you just have to accept this fact, in fact the only thing more stupid than a conservative is a liberal. while they argue and hit each other over the head, with their pathetic hand drawn signs, both of them are having their pockets picked. vote harder, vote redder, vote early and often and you'll eventually get what you deserve, nothing.

The problem with your analysis is the assumption that the political and cultural “opposition” is, in any meaningful way, conservative. They are not conservative in wanting to conserve a way of life, a nation, tradition or a people. The two terms you use, “freedom” and “values” illustrate the problem. Freedom has no essence, it is infinitely malleable, it promotes change. Change is inherently Leftist. Freedom promotes change and change will be harnessed by the Left, for their ends. Without an orthodoxy that is defended, there can't be any change that is not Leftist. The other term “values”, is also not conservative, and has no essence or reality in Truth, it was first extensively used by Nietzsche to describe the new reality the superman had to create with the death of God. Nietzsche thought these supermen would be reactionary and destroy the plague of modernity – egalitarianism. The Left hijacked Nietzsche and values are created by the Left. The impotent Right merely tries to take the edge off these values and assists the March of the Left. So without an orthodoxy there is nothing for these paper tiger conservatives to conserve. They are constantly trying to conserve yesterday's Leftism and prepping for defeat and the next adoption of Leftist values. So, they will fight for girls' and women's sports today while applauding an adult man " becoming a woman" as an act of freedom. They conserve nothing and actually acclimate the population to Leftist hegemony.

They don't call Republicans the Stupid Party for nothing. I think the author of this post has identified the main culprit- Christianity. People who believe that there is some kind of pie-in-the-sky final justice are far more likely to tolerate atrocious injustice and tyranny in this life. Then there is the nonsensical but popular notion among Christians that the faithful are required to forgive transgressions just like the Magic Jew did while nailed to the cross 2,000 years ago.

The child like reasoning seems to amount to "Jesus forgave his enemies so we must do the same". Of course, if you believe the Magic Jew was a god then it follows that he is immortal and all powerful and can afford to indiscriminately hand out forgiveness like candy on Halloween. We mere mortals have to be far more discriminating about such matters in the real world. No sane adult should be forgiven unless they show remorse, express contrition and exhibit a sincere desire to make amends but this is far too sensible a policy for many virtue signaling Christians.

Face it, traditional Christianity is rapidly vanishing in what is pathetically called "The Free World" and is being replaced just as rapidly by a secular, left wing, totalitarian religion of state worship. Many major Christian denominations are descending inexorably into a form of bizarre, ultra-woke Marxism, sans the atheism. Just wait a decade or two and Christianity will morph into an overtly atheist belief system.

I'd suggest at least part of it is not simple stupidity, though many conservatives are stupid, but greed and selfishness. Most middle class conservatives are fundamentally greedy, self-centered people. Their main concern in life is simply maximizing their wealth and feeling like they're personally winners. (And additionally, preventing resources from being spent on anyone else).

The GOP and its culture caters to this. It's not entirely a bug then, that their "conservatism" thus doesn't actually conserve anything beyond the lifetime of these older conservative voters. It may be stupid in the long run, but they themselves don't care because they feel like they've made it, and their descendents will be the ones to play the price. Not them personally.

It's not a failure because conservatives don't actually aim at creating a well-functioning, sustainable Western civilization. (As one commenter on another site noted, boomer conservatives who most sincerely make fun of transgenderism and left wing academics, probably don't even want to fix it, because then they couldn't look down on and bash nutty millennials, smugly declaring that at least their generation knew their own gender.)

The left is not wrong in sometimes deriding conservatives for their brazen selfishness and lack of empathy, but of course they will imply that the only solution is to take up their particular anti-white politics, rather than, say, empathize with their own descendants and culture.

Why this is is another question. I strongly suggest, whatever your age, you consider looking into Gibney's book "A Generation of Sociopaths." This isn't simply a case of infantile sniping between generations, but something that concerns an existential threat to Western civilization and humanity as a whole.

Baby boomers have long dominated America's political and economic system, and they're fundamentally, even sociopathically, selfish and narcissistic in their behavior.

It's not obvious, but nearly all American policies are rigged to benefit this one generation at the expense of America's future, and of long-term stability. Whether the "conservatives" of previous generations were different or not, much of American "conservatism" stems from the "greed is good" philosophy of the Reagan era, when large numbers of boomers became conservative. This is also presumably when the notable anti-intellectualism of the modern right started as well. It again, is not simply stupidity, but a reflection of boomer narcissism. To have "experts," whether from the government or academia, tell you you might be wrong, flies in the face of boomer narcissism.

Both left and right wing boomers live in an entirely fake mental world. Boomer conservatives, for instance, basically believe, with no evidence, that "government can't do anything right." They basically support defunding institutions, but it's always ones that they don't benefit from. For instance, boomers defunded the university system, creating the student loan crisis, but only after they themselves took advantage of free college. It's as if American culture is a sick, dysfunctional reflection of the boomer id, and American politics is all downstream of boomer sociopathy.

Some boomers are benign, but all seem to have a bizarre self-centeredness, and an inability to pass on the torch, and to imagine a future without them.

Much of America's shit political system and culture stems from this typically boomer sociopathy and their dominance, conservatives who conserve nothing, progressives who deliver no actual progress. You have to look at what boomer voters and politicians do, never what they say or claim to stand for. Boomer conservatism is simply a series of trite cliches centering on the theme of “greed is good” and simping for crooked businessmen and oligarchs.

Nothing will change in America until more Americans realize the solution is to reject the anti-politics of boomerism and boomers, not simply one of the two fake wings of their culture.

It seems that too many Republican conservatives are “milquetoasts”, afraid of showing “the courage of their convictions” (if any) and are just plain lazy.

You see, whether the Republican party is in power or is the minority, “the pay and perks” of the office are the same. Why get into real “rough and tumble politics” when you can “kick back” and still enjoy the perks of office?

Even when the Republicans held both legislative bodies, they “laid back, did NOTHING” and let the democRATS run all over them.

I hope that the days of the milquetoast Republicans are over...

The only way to fight your enemy is to “come down to and fight on their level”. As FORCE is the only thing they understand, it is time to take the fight to them. Of course, it won't be easy, with the left-wing media, academia, and even local and federal government agencies who have been giving antifa and others a “pass”, but it can (and must) be done.

To paraphrase a famous song “We Didn’t Start the Fire” by Billy Joel, it’s not every “boomer” that is the problem. In fact, many of us boomers struggled through life, but finally “made it”.

I am a “boomer” who has worked all my life, starting at 12 years of age. Being a part of a large family, life for my parents and us was not easy, but we all persevered in our own ways and were successful in life.

Nobody ever gave me anything. What I did was gained “with the sweat of my brow”.

If there is any “blame” to be placed, it must be placed at those of previous generations, especially the “greatest generation”, that formulated and passed many of the destructive laws and customs that we live under to this day.

From the enactment of the federal income tax and the creation of the unconstitutional Federal Reserve cartel, previous generations have a lot to answer for.

The “greatest generation” was duped into fighting a war for European (jewish) interests, destroying much of European culture as a result, and solidifying international jewish power by NOT going after the REAL enemies of human culture, legitimizing the state of Israel, thereby consolidating jewish power, and assuring the jewish zionist hold on the world political process.

Let’s not forget that the “greatest generation” pushed for the terribly misguided “civil-rights” acts, statutes and laws, which effectively disenfranchised whites (but only whites) with the abolition of “freedom of association” (but only for whites). In fact, federal troops were used against law-abiding whites in violation of “posse comitatus” laws which prohibit utilizing the military for domestic law enforcement purposes. Whites have been effectively neutered since these laws were passed. Forced integration of schools (cross-district bussing and other schemes) was enforced by leftist judges who insisted that blacks needed to sit next to whites in order to learn.

The “elephant in the room” to which blame can be squarely put on the “greatest generation” was the “Hart-Celler Immigration Act of 1965”. This act successfully cut off the immigration for white Europeans while opening up the floodgates for third-world brown and black immigration.

Both major political parties were responsible for this travesty. Democrats saw increasing third-world immigration as a source for votes while the Republicans saw it as a source of cheap labor.

The wages of native-born Americans have not increased in real terms since 1970, that point in time being seen as the “high-water mark” in relation to wage growth. There has not been any “wage growth” since then.

By the time us “boomers” achieved political power, we were already co-opted by jewish interests who already seized political power for themselves, thanks to those of the “greatest generation” that legitimized the rogue state of israel and covered up the “act of war” committed by israel with the attack on the USS Liberty (AGTR-5) on June 8, 1967. Once the jews saw that (((they))) could do whatever (((they))) wanted without a response from the USA, all bets were off.

All of the above can be attributed to those of the “greatest generation”...NOT “boomers”.

Only a couple of the items you describe can be attributed to the greatest generation. I don't think most critics of boomers expected them to single-handedly carry out a revolution and deliver a utopia, just to preserve things and at least hand things off a little better than they found it.

When you describe both democrats and republicans supporting mass immigration, these are in fact boomers you're referring to. Boomer Democrats sold out to large corporations, and rejected any concept of ever improving economic and working conditions for the middle or working class. And boomers, even the Democrats, have been the ones militantly fighting any improvement to wage growth.

(Note that right wing boomers may not like vocally supporting diversity, but they're the first to champion mass immigration based on falsehoods propagated by Conservative Inc, like "millennials don't want to work," anti-millennialism is just a way for right-wingers to be anti-white.)

And I don't doubt your sincerity regarding your background, but frankly, "hard work" as a virtue in and of itself is one boomer idea that needs to die with them.

Believe it or not, nearly all people throughout history have had gainful employment, not just American baby boomers. Some of the most evil people in history were the hardest workers. You're not special or wonderful for having been employed, it doesn't make you a good person, nor absolve you of accountability in other areas of your life. There's more to life than capitalism and working on behalf of the bottom line for a soul-sucking corporation. This is just a variation of the protestant myth of laziness and worship of capitalism,

The main problem many have with boomers is not whether or not they struggled (they didn't), but that their very real, main objective in life seems to have been making sure that others would.

The author is clueless about the very nature of that which is referred to as “conservatism” in the Klown-World called “the west”. It was always a racket, designed to derail any possible resistance to the ongoing march down the paved and easy road to perdition. The constitution mentioned by the author was already dead by 1920 at latest. Since 1942, you need the regime’s permission to grow food for your own animals on land you own – as per Wickard v. Filburn. Mike was not even born then. Think of what an ideal president or member of congress he’d be today – way smarter than any in the city even after the unfortunate head injury. The following was written in A.D. 1870 by Robert Lewis Dabney, and old ‘covenanter’ Southern Presbyterian about the then-new debate over wymyn’s suffrage:

“It may be inferred again that the present movement for women’s rights will certainly prevail from the history of its only opponent, Northern conservatism. This [Northern conservatism] is a party which never conserves anything. Its history has been that it demurs to each aggression of the progressive party, and aims to save its credit by a respectable amount of growling, but always acquiesces at last in the innovation. What was the resisted novelty of yesterday is today one of the accepted principles of conservatism; it is now conservative only in affecting to resist the next innovation, which will tomorrow be forced upon its timidity and will be succeeded by some third revolution; to be denounced and then adopted in its turn.

American conservatism is merely the shadow that follows Radicalism as it moves forward towards perdition. It remains behind it, but never retards it, and always advances near its leader. This pretended salt hath utterly lost its savor: wherewith shall it be salted? Its impotency is not hard, indeed, to explain. It is worthless because it is the conservatism of expediency only, and not of sturdy principle. It intends to risk nothing serious for the sake of the truth, and has no idea of being guilty of the folly of martyrdom. It always when about to enter a protest very blandly informs the wild beast whose path it essays to stop, that its “bark is worse than its bite,” and that it only means to save its manners by enacting its decent role of resistance: The only practical purpose which it now subserves in American politics is to give enough exercise to Radicalism to keep it “in wind,” and to prevent its becoming porsy and lazy, from having nothing to whip.”

Nailed it, Superman! All of it.

I was considering writing something similar but, was feeling weary and now don't have to because you articulated that so well.

I'll add that many Christians also put far too much credence in praying and think it will eventually produce miracles. They also confuse praying with action. NOT the same thing. And, yes, many of them are every bit as bad as woke Libs with their virtue signaling. The two groups are mostly two sides of the same coin.

.... if you believe the Magic Jew was a god then it follows that he is immortal and all powerful

That statement reminded me of a very succinct comment I saw on another website recently. The guy wrote: "Jesus was just a kike on a stick. It's the biggest psyop the Jews have ever pulled." I had to laugh but, it is also very true.

You asked a question and so will I—What are you going to do about it?

Here is my answer: DO NOT COMPLY!

And while you are at it blaming it all on Christians...I mean, how convenient!...you do know Christ never got involved in politics... and as some person said above, who had Him crucified? You know who, and I don't mean Romans...the Synagogue of Satan, aka Talmudic Jewry, that's who!

So what are YOU going to do about it? Vote?

Given the results you observe, readily predictable from the “surrender this hill, but we’re going to really fight on the next hill” leadership, pundits and talking heads, why do you believe any of them actually intended to conserve anything? The most powerful influence among conservatives was WFB of NR. He had the influence to destroy the John Birch Society. He was a closeted homosexual on the CIA payroll...not exactly “conservative”.

To the author: say something beyond the pale of ‘acceptable’ conservative views.....say something about HBD or race realism, or the JQ. Your unwillingness is the answer to your question. Conservatives aren't stupid...they're cowards.

Conservatives doom themselves by getting sidetracked in side issues. Avoid:

1. Legal Marijuana: “Compared to serious drugs, this is minor, like tobacco abuse. States should be allowed to regulate this.

2. Abortion: This can't be banned since it can be done in other nations. It's a complex issue and I agree with the Supreme Court that states are best to address this issue.

3. Return the Republicans to their roots and denounce the American empire and the crazies amongst them. Big donors will be lost but lots of voters gained.

If conservatives can dodge losing issues they can win on the others.

Any article about what is wrong with the West that does not specifically mention jews is written by a coward or an idiot. No exceptions. Deport the jews and the USA will get back on track. Keep pretending its not organized jews causing the madness and we will not get back on track.

It really is this simple. Fortunately people are starting to realize it. When the Federal Reserve Note finally loses world reserve currency status and the hyperinflation happens jews are toast just like every other time they have used their money from debt scam to wreck nations.

Pogroms are coming. Count on it.

The republican party isn't "conservative". The US probably has 30% of its population that could be considered "conservative" and 30% isn't enough to carry the day in a representative democracy. Trump, Reagan, both Bushes were moderates who made appeals to the conservative 30%, but gave very little because they knew the conservatives had nowhere to go. When Bush stabbed them in the back, they voted for Buchanan in the primary and split their vote between Bush and Perot in the general election. Goldwater was probably the closest candidate to being a conservative, and a lot of actual conservatives felt he wasn't rock solid. A true conservative opposes foreign intervention (Taft, Buchanan), opposes the civil rights act, opposes Hart-Cellar and any large amount of immigration, legal or illegal. Conservatives believe in traditional family values and traditional religious values. We don't "accept" homosexuality or any other deviant sexual activity as a "lifestyle choice". We oppose any kind of affirmative action, believe women should be able to stay home and raise their kids and taxes should be minimal. Most conservatives oppose the 16th amendment (income tax), Brown v Board of Ed., forced integration and welfare. The repubs, for the most part, give conservatives a few crumbs, but if they run on reducing the federal government by 50%, overturning Hart-Cellar and the civil rights act, they lose elections. The American people are a moderate bunch who support sexual deviancy and welfare at pretty high numbers. Conservatives have to be happy with the few bits of legislation they can get. Hannity is a moderate repub who supports homosexual marriage, Levin shares many conservative values but is a bit of a warmonger.

Conservative Christians are the guys fighting for traditional values. The problem is, many Christian sects are not conservative, especially mainline Protestant sects that support female and homosexual ordination, abortion, open borders, welfare and anti-White laws. “End times” sects are actually very few in number, although they get a lot of attention in the media. Most of the Millerites are long gone.

If the left had tried to implement sudden radical changes they would have failed. They succeeded because they made small incremental changes over a long period of time. They are Fabians, not Marxists. I have a friend who is a small business owner. He says every year taxes and business regulations get a little worse and he feels like he is a frog in a pot where the heat is being slowly turned up. If you want to boil the frog, you need to turn the heat up slowly so he won't jump out.

Conservatives will need to adopt this same incrementalism, but in reverse. Trying to overthrow the current regime may seem impossible but a journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step. It will be a long fight. The right has the advantage that leftism doesn't work, and it is becoming more obvious every day it doesn't work.

While conservatives maintain their self-righteous aggressive warmongering in foreign countries, along with their leftist, globalist collaborators in those endeavors, at home they act unconfident, unassertive, timid, and weak in the face of the powerful domestic leftist onslaught.

Because they can act like tough guys and feel masculine and won't get any push back and there won't be any consequences when calling for military action against Putin or China. They'd even take time to travel to D.C. for a pro-war rally. Yet they'd sit silent on the D.C. Metro if some black guy was sexually verbally assaulting a white woman right in front of them for fear of intervening and the consequences.

Same with taking on TPTB on issues like illegal immigration or transgenderism in public schools, etc. Now with the J6 lesson they're scared shitless to even speak out.

Re: “It is difficult to understand how all these horrible things could have happened to the once-free United States, and how people who purportedly love and care about this country (ie, conservatives) could have allowed it all to happen”.

It happened on day one of the Constitution of 1776. That constitution was no better than the constitution proffered to the Russians in 1905 by the Bolsheviks. The Bolshevik and American constitutions had three planned flaws:

1 It allowed for the creation of regulations by their deep state bureaucracies outside the authorization of the Parliament (plundering of bitcoin funds, pentagon funds captured on 9/11 in the trillions who, in turn, distributed these funds to the Dem Party and banks like Silicon Valley Bank to distribute as they pleased.

2. It allowed the parliament to end run the budget process by piracy and plundering of government agencies (so that organized crime could take over the government).

3. It retained the right to impose emergency laws on the constituency to the point of a permanent emergency status (e.g., Coronavirus 19, etc. ongoing ad nauseum).

Sociologist Max Weber called the Bolshevik constitution a “pseudo-constitution”. I would say the same for the American constitution under its provision of delegated federalism whereby each state could declare an emergency and cripple the country and throw any election to the gangsters.

Why are conservatives so stupid? And a side question is: Why are conservative so weak and timid?

“Conservatives” are stupid because you have to be stupid to be a “conservative” in the sense the word is used in the US of the present day. “Conservatives” are nothing more than liberals who are too stupid to know they are liberals. And there can be no doubt conservatives are liberals since they buy into every major premise of liberalism, starting with the benignity of the Jews and proceeding to feminism, racial equality, democracy, mass immigration (if legal according to the laws enacted by their enemies), the acceptability of homosexuality and, increasingly, of transgenderism. And why are they also timid and meek? Because those who are stupid naturally lack in self-confidence, which tendency is exacerbated by the fact American “conservatives” are peons who indeed control nothing in the society in which they live.

American “conservatives”, in short, support Jews and Israel, which means they are stupid, stupid, stupid and deserve to be trod underfoot.

If you are not stupid, if you are truly not a liberal, then you reject all of the aforementioned premises of liberalism since every single one of them is both odious and preposterous. If you are not stupid, then you will consider yourself not a “conservative” but a right-wing revolutionary, and as a revolutionary your fondest wish will be to burn down this sewer of a society in which we live, not conserve it.

Sorry, I disagree. I loath the liberals with every fiber of my being but the conservatives are even worse than them. The left at least has a constant belief system and firmly believes in it, even if it is delusional. The right-wing morons have a set of principles but are so dumb they don't realize the masters they worship (Israel) are the source of everything the left believes in and funds it and that is the antithesis of their core principles. They have sent their sons to die in useless wars and yet they worship at the zion temple- the very organization that created these useless wars. Just look at the middle American morons with Ukrainian flags on their FB and Twitter profiles. Look at them kissing zion's ass, openly in the lobbies everywhere. Look at Bush Jr. and Trump- the heroes of the right-wing whose entire cabinet might as well be operating from Tel Aviv.

And this isn't only related to America. The daily mail of England, the bastion of right-wing patriotic English values is so anti-Russia, Pro-Ukraine (including setting up a public donation appeal that collected 3.5 million pounds for the "poor" Ukrainians) they actually had a pinned comment by a 90-year-old WW2 vet who wrote-Give me a jet and some gear and send me against the Russkies. I am 90 and I fight for what is right!- this was sometime after the war broke out last year, its etched in my mind. Everyone applauded...."Oh, what a brave man.", "I have tears in my eyes". Yuck!

The libtards, as retarded as they are have nothing on the cuckservatives who are brainwashed dumb fucks with low IQs. Go ahead, call me a troll.

Tarr: “Change is inherently Leftist.”

A brilliant insight!

But I would modify it somewhat, and say instead that “Progress”, represented concretely by technological change, is what is inherently leftist. It’s the most important driver of social change in the modern world, and is constantly accelerating. It’s at the root of all of the things Smuskiewicz is complaining about. They’re things that wouldn’t have happened without it. There is no effective opposition because conservatives and leftists alike both yield to it. They do this because they see and want the benefits, but don’t see the calamities it brings until it’s too late.

I don’t agree that change is in itself inherently leftist, since it’s possible that “Progress” may come to a stop and even reverse if the technological system collapses, or if it can be made to collapse. If that happens, it would be an example of “rightist” change. Then the old freedom, the old values and old ways of doing things would necessarily reappear, assuming that human life survives such a collapse. That even people like Smuskiewicz are hypocrites and really don’t want that to happen is shown by the way they cling to modernity. If they didn’t tacitly approve of it, they’d reject it and try to live without it as did Thoreau or Ted Kaczynski. Such men would be the norm instead of incredibly rare exceptions.

Your theory has a major flaw, overlooking which does not say anything positive about your own mental abilities: When Christianity was vital, every component of modern liberalism, including kikesucking, was strenuously resisted; once Christianity lost its vitality, then liberalism was able to gain hegemony over society.

Christianity, is in fact, the most anti-Jew belief system in the world, since it says in so many words that Jews are sons of the devil. Christianity also opposes sodomy, women being whores, and essentially everything that makes up the liberal agenda.

As for your ontological views, suffice to say that far wiser men than you have failed to come to the conclusion that the totality of existence consists of the physical world.

Democrat and or Republican, same Zionist supporting shit. They're all warmongers and refuse to give up US hegemony. Neutrality would've benefitted it the most as oppose to butting into world affairs. We(the US) could be getting ourselves into three wars(with Russia, China, North Korea)for not letting other nations live the way they gotta live. Anyway my point is that the whole two party system doesn't work and hasn't for sometime. I honestly am disgusted by "conservatives" that support either Zion Don or Zion Ron. Zion Ron passed a bill in the state of Florida that defies the First Amendment which is "The Don't Say Jew" bill. I see Zion Don going for the same bill federally to see who can outdo one another. It's anti-Constitution and anti-American. They're not patriots either hence the MIGA(can you guess what the "I" stands for?) party rather than the MAGA party. I'm affiliated with neither of these lackey parties. They all are liars with empty promises. If Trump's so great why did he promote the plandemic early on and later criticized it. If selected, he may very well stop the blank checks going to Ukraine, but Israel will get Ukraine's "aid" money instead. Israel will funnel that cash(Yinon Plan, the 2nd Israel) to Ukraine and probably so Russia. The "conservatives" facing off one another is all about who can be more pro-Israel than the other.

CONservatives on immigration – Oh, legal immigration is okay. Forget about the overpopulation population factor. It needs to stop all together. To pick at the Democrats for a sec, it is contradictory for them with their open border policy when it realistically be bad for the environment.

That is my take.

Anonymous[657]: “I strongly suggest, whatever your age, you consider looking into Gibney’s book “A Generation of Sociopaths.””

This is a bizarre book that condemns Boomers for not being leftist enough. For example, Gibney says that they didn’t really care enough about negroes, and weren’t really for civil rights. Says he:

As the Boomers influenced culture, the plural evolved into the singular: “We Shall Overcome” (first recorded c. 1952), the anthem of civil rights solidarity, became by 1965 “(I Can’t Get No) Satisfaction,” the hymn of the singular hedonist. ... Civil rights were as much a campaign against bigotry, slavery, and a literal war on the South, as they were for justice and freedom.

He also indicts Boomers for eviscerating the Voting Rights Act, a change which expanded such things as requiring ID (oh, the horror, the horror! LOL) and proof of citizenship in order to vote. He writes:

What is not trivial is that Shelby [a Boomer Supreme Court decision] devolved power to the states, allowing them to impose new voting restrictions without worrying about intervention by federal bureaucrats—those meddlesome elites, again. Boomer state legislatures had a field day, imposing ID laws, restricting online registration, redrawing voting maps, and limiting same-day registration and the preregistration of citizens about to turn eighteen, all strategies that tend to make voting harder for minorities and the young.

Dabney also rebukes Boomers for not sufficiently supporting “gay” rights. Viz:

The Boomers remain more ambivalent about gay rights than succeeding generations, as shown in opinion polls and their sporadic efforts to amend state constitutions in gay-unfriendly ways.

I think you’re in a minority here among the commenters on Unz if you support such things. I suspect most here would agree that it’s supporting such things as lax voting requirements and “gay” rights that is sociopathic, not opposing them. Whose side are you on, anyway?

Republicans have never been an antidote or countermovement against the Democrats or vice versa, because they are all made from the same corrupt malleable base material. Only the hot air jargon they emit is a little different. More than stupidity, it is blindness and cowardice.

Like the writer of this article (Polish? Jewish?) they don't mention Jews.

Also, they don't really believe in anything, not even in Christianity, except in a very vague way. If they did, they'd be more effective.

It's true that destroying (as the left does) is easier and more exciting. Most so-called conservatives (meaning here the people and not the politicians) would just rather be left alone. But they don't have the energy to constantly fight a culture war, as the energized left does.

As for the so-called conservatives politicians, they are all in AIPAC's payroll, they don't really “conserve” anything except their jobs, they only bitch and moan but don't act and do not even point the most guilty ones.

This article is also only bitching and moaning without pointing clear actions or solutions.

Conservative have to act stupid. If they did something effective they'd be rooted out the same as dissidents in the old Soviet Union.

That leaves the Jewish Empire of the West (NWO, uniparty, globalist, financialized, neocons, WEF/Davos, FED, woke, CIA, NGO's, "regime change", MSM) – mostly concentrated in the ex Anglo world (US, UK, Canada , Australia, NZ) but also with tentacles spreading into North Western Europe (Germany, Sweden, Holland, France) and East Asia (Japan, South Korea, Taiwan) – opposed by the Non-Jewish powers of the East (primarily Russia and China).

Russia and China don't want to be part of the Jewish Empire. Hence the resistance against Jewish Regime Change efforts and the resulting Ukraine war.

And it's interesting that the resistance is starting to generalize. Russia and China are picking up global followers in SE Asia, S America and the Middle East (helped by BRI and trade).

I you want to know which side a country is on, read their national media with regards to the Ukraine War. If it's not all Ukraine propaganda then it's part of the free world.

You are right about freedom. I have reached the same conclusion in recent years. A society cannot have its identity centered on freedom alone without being in a state of permanent political and social revolution. But the shibboleth of freedom is one that very few are willing to question. Every single social perversity the left has introduced has been under the banner of freedom: abortion, forced integration, open borders, trannyism, homosexual marriage, feminism, etc. Freedom morphs to libertinism from the manipulations of sophists and subverters, which results in the triumph of power. Freedom, American style, is all sail and no anchor.

The conservative equivalent would have been an aristocratic elite, which no longer exists. Maybe there were business interests over the last hundred years that took up the mantle of preserving 'freedom' to some degree, but it's difficult now for Anglo culture to build any movement that is multi-generational because we don't have the kind of racial, religious or familial culture which supports long-term thinking.

America has been subject to cultural engineering for at least sixty years, and at this point those loosely described as conservative are most nearly on par with liberals as to the cultural changes they so blithely accept.

The people are corrupt, self serving at best, and stranger to such things as integrity.

Judeo-Masonic mind control has been warping the minds of “conservatives” since the US “declared” its independence.

One of the most insidious and malicious methods of this undermining of “conservative” values has been feminism. It started with the first wave feminism dating back to the 19th century, where women were no longer compelled to fulfill their rightful role as child bearers and family raisers in society and civilization. The acceleration into the progressive vortex has continued ever since.

My father, born in 1924, already insisted that his daughters would attend university. That made some sense when women went to college to get their MRS and find a suitable husband of similar social standing.

But today fathers and families are putting themselves into debt in order to finance a career for their daughters in totally counterproductive degrees that end “studies”, like women’s studies, environmental studies, or even gender studies.

My daughter, at age 31 and childless, has moved up the ladder as a Software Engineer and is married to man with a successful career. They love to travel, love their cats, and are “foodies”.

When I look back on the way I raised her, and I am pretty “conservative”, I have to admit that I failed.

Some random observations:

Conservatives want to buy into the System. They believe that the way forward is to elect the proverbial real conservatives to office where they will put bills into committees which will lower taxes, raise defense spending and balance the budget. Then it's back to grilling & chilling.

Many conservatives do not understand the value of street protests, boycotts, civil disobedience, front organizations, lawfare, agitprop, and the rest of the activist tactical playbook. This is so even when the Left wreaks havoc against Middle America's campuses, statues, workplaces and now the grade schools, as well as taking over much of the state apparatus.

There is a real narrowness of vision among conservatives. Several conservatives have asked me what did the Summer 2020 riots accomplish. When one informs them of the massive changes wrought in American society since then, you get a blank look in response.

Conservatism appears to attract the "bourgeois" personality type, the people who want to remain in their comfort zone even as their civilization disintegrates around them. This is a major difference with the Left, which attracts the activist type.

Many activists (especially among the rank and file) are of the personality type which looks to action and accordingly are attracted by movements which are out in the streets marching. IMHO there is a demographic which would defect over to the the Right if (big IF) conservatives were to engage in serious activism.

The main function of the conservative establishment (Conservatism Inc, if you like) is to prevent serious rightwing activism. Conservative talk radio and podcast hosts, think tank policy paper writers, and Beltway fundraising machines are very good at producing “opinion” but this rarely translates into action. They do not set up militant student groups, do not call for street protests, do not lead acts of civil disobedience.

When was the last time that a conservative personality showed up at a schoolboard meeting with a bullhorn and a microphone to mobilize parents against the leftist agenda?

Why this is so needs to be explored. In part it goes back to that bourgeois attitude which refuses to go beyond a certain comfort zone. In part it is because there are too many conservative careers at stake: perpetual candidates for office, foundation wonks with 401Ks, and sponsors of prestige book signing parties. The street activists would usurp Conservatism Inc’s preeminence as well as cash flows so they must be tossed off the stage.

There is a real opportunity for the Dissident Right to win over a sizable part of the conservative rank and file if it engages in realworld activism. Admittedly, this can be difficult owing to the massive Regime attack on rightist dissidents, from Charlottesville to January 6th. But there have been some limited successes with the anti-vaccine demonstrations, flash actions such as banner drops, guerrilla street theater like courthouse protests, and let us not forget the ongoing Great Meme War.

Might also network with the various nationalist groups worldwide for lessons-learned and global echelon protests.

A Dissident Right mission might be to develop the activist tactics which shatter the bourgeois attitude and create a real movement.

Just some random observations...

I don't think the question is:

Why are Conservatives so stupid, but Why are Americans so cowardly?

The entire Covid scam, a Big Lie in service to a massive transfer of wealth and power, was done done with an assured, brazen , confidence. Americans, who claim not to believe anything the Media tells them, immediately and consistently began cower under their beds when the obviously false narrative of Pandemic was unleashed. American, who claim to be Christians, immediately embraced the ritually Satanic behavior of masking, walking past signs that literally read 6-6-6, and ritual washing. Americans, who claim to be free, immediately embraced the fundamentally voluntary regime of self- imprisonment via the lockdowns.

The powers that be observed every iota of the actual behavior, not the rhetoric, of the American people. And one of the tremendous effects of the masking regime is that it let them easily separate the few men from the mass of compliant masked cowards through the two years of the Big Lie.

The last full measure of the character of the American people has already been taken, and it is wanting in the extreme.

What does “Conservative” even mean as an American political term? Also — Liberal, Progressive, Left, Right?

2010 & prior there were two parties (or a Uniparty if you prefer):

- GOP — Corporatism & Foreign Wars
- DNC — Multiculturalism & Labor

Neither of those blocks makes sense. Both shared destructive common goals, such as open borders. It was not that “Conservatives” were stupid. It was that they were excluded from both parties. Does anyone think that actual “Conservatives” wanted foreign adventures of the NeoConDemocrats?

In 2016 the door opened to beginning a realignment that remains a work in progress:

- DNC — Corporatism & Foreign Wars & Multiculturalism
- MAGA (GOP) — Labor & National Populism

Expunging the old guard from the top of the GOP to create a proper MAGA labor party will take years, possibly decades.

The biggest threat is from those who irrationally demand 100% perfect, complete, total, success instantaneously. These #NeverTrump extremists are outraged that Trump failed to produce ultimate victory, while his administration was obviously hobbled by a non-MAGA House & Senate. Their deranged cry for “MAGA without Trump” will shatter the GOP. Thwarting Trump’s 2nd term would end the MAGA movement and restore the failed Uniparty model

Those who stand in the way of TRUMP 2024 are indeed dangerous & abysmally STUPID.

Republucan politicians have purposely lied to and ignored their base for decades on everything from immigration to foreign policy, which is why there has been so much turnover in congress and the presidency since Reagan. The Republican party leadership has been the real and understood enemy.

Immigration is what will destroy the nation, and the demographics changed faster than most conservatives in the interior of the country could have imagined.

In retrospect, the real mistake was not to have a revolt in the 1980s or early 1990s when America was prosperous and still overwhelmingly white. You can't fault conservatives for being stupid for not understanding that the people running the nation behind the scenes at that time were really traitors in every since of the word. But you can blame the talking heads like Limbaugh, Hannity, Levin, Savage, Boortz and countless locals for being the duplicitous voices representing the treason. They knew better.

Who would have thought that the people in power behind the scenes would be so stupid and paranoid that they would run the ship onto the rocks on purpose while America was at its most powerful? That's the true stupidity. But that's something that we can't point out or name. The rest of us have to be labeled as idiots because we aren't clairvoyants. To be honest, conservatives were the only ones to smell a rat.

A.J.S.: “Their attitude seems to be akin to the idea that it is still the 1980s, and all it will take is a new Reagan to turn things around again. ”

We definitely don't need another Reagan, one was bad enough![at the time, he fooled me too]:

“In 1980 the American people elected by a landslide a President who promised to get government off our backs. He said government was the problem, not the solution. He promised to balance the budget within three years, cut government spending drastically, and reduce the awful burden of taxes. When he left office eight years later, government spending was 69% greater, tax collections were 65% larger, and $1.9 trillion had been added to the federal debt your children are supposed to pay. ”

Harry Browne “Why Government Doesn't Work”:

https://wiki.mises.org/wiki/Why_Government_Doesn%27t_Work

Reality fact: the federal government is way, way, way, way way, way, way, way, way, way way, way, too big.

It needs to be drastically shrunk, preferably overnight, by around 95%, back down to its original constitutional limits, and then needs to be somehow kept there [or entirely eliminated], so that it can no longer grow back to its current entirely unconstitutional monstrous size .

Reagan didn't do that, neither will Trump, DeSantis, or any other “conservative”. Conservatism is a scam.

“We've got to start us a new revolution

And get back to the old constitution

We've got to stand up and fight for the whole Bill of Rights

Its time to start over again”

Baby boomers have long dominated America's political and economic system, and they're fundamentally, even sociopathically, selfish and narcissistic in their behavior.

Intergenerational sniping is as dumb as it is unhelpful. No generation is more narcissistic or sociopathic than another. People can have different life experiences in different generations, for example, the advent of the Internet impacted human behavior, but one generation isn't more evil than another.

And where do generations stop and start? Are these divisions really going to help us say something useful about the people on either side of the divide? If I'm a boomer born in 1962 at the tail end of the baby boom, do I have more in common with someone born in 1948 than I do with someone born in 1968 simply because the person born in 1948 is also a boomer?

Am I a psychopath because I was born in 1962 and the other guy isn't because he was born in 1968?

Everybody needs to stop bashing everybody else's generation. There is no benefit to it. None of it is interesting. It detracts attention away from our real enemy. It damages white unity.

The leftist verbalists are skilled at coming-up with emotional, false, concise, zinger phrases. Conservatives, having a fact-based, sober, mental life, just cannot bring themselves to do this. There is a “terrorists’ leverage” aspect to this, because in a single phrase, the verbalists lay-out out an emotional, false, concise zinger phrase that would take conservatives hundreds of words to refute. This is not feasible in today’s short-attention-span world; the lengthy rebuttal would not be grasped. Ron DeSantis has understood the above, is willing to take the leap, and often deploys verbalist-type phrases. Very few other Republicans have sufficiently done so.

Conservatives haven't had real power in the USA since Calvin Coolidge. Put the blame where it belongs, on the Leftists. The Left has been cleverly deceptive when that's necessary and brutally destructive when their propaganda gambits allow them to be.

Conservatives believe in the system, which means working to develop voting majorities in fair elections and applying the law as it exists in judicial matters. The Left doesn't believe in these principles, nor in any constitutional system.

What you want isn't a conservative movement, but a forceful takeover of decisions by military or quasi-military force. History shows that such a takeover is inevitable when a people sees that it's the required path to re-establish order. We haven't quite reached that point.

“The whole modern world has divided itself into Conservatives and Progressives. The business of Progressives is to go on making mistakes. The business of Conservatives is to prevent mistakes from being corrected. Even when the revolutionist might himself repent of his revolution, the traditionalist is already defending it as part of his tradition. Thus we have two great types — the advanced person who rushes us into ruin, and the retrospective person who admires the ruins. He admires them especially by moonlight, not to say moonshine. Each new blunder of the progressive or prig becomes instantly a legend of immemorial antiquity for the snob. This is called the balance, or mutual check, in our Constitution.”

–Robert Conquest, 2nd law of politics

No organization can remain explicitly right-wing forever. It is constantly being assaulted, eroded, and chipped away by people who think that “improvements” can and must be made. Even if these improvements are miniscule, there will be some in the organization who will tolerate them, believing that the integrity of the organization will not be affected or harmed in any great way.

As soon as these changes are instituted, someone (usually conservative) rushes to defend them as G.K. Chesterton has observed, as a matter of “conserving history”, and with each advance of leftist ideas adopted, the organization inevitably moves in a left-wing direction. One small step at a time, until the momentum becomes an unstoppable tsunami of destruction, leaving nothing but carnage in its wake.

At that point, the whole thing collapses, the wave recedes, and reconstruction begins anew from a conservative, right-wing base—and the whole process starts all over again.

It is like a rubber band which is stretched and stretched until it reaches the breaking point and snaps. The recurring problem with this is that, after it snaps and the immediate pain wears off, someone picks up a new rubber band and begins stretching it.

We never learn.

Conservatives ARE stupid as well as being “Cowards”. They seem to feel that if they run to some Conservative leaning website and post that Democrats are Hypocrites, that some mythical Person wearing a white hat will come riding to the rescue, so they don’t have to take any responsibility or take any risks. All they do is talk, talk, talk,. I get hammered by them for pointing out what you just did and I’m on their side. I get the snarky, well what have you done. I’ve given solutions and they would rather attack one of their own, than take on the Democrat Leftists.

Conservatives in general, simply refuse to work together and get their butts kicked constantly by the Democrats. People who don’t like themselves let alone each other, but the one thing Democrats will do that Conservatives won’t...they will work together to stick it to the Conservatives.

Conservatives either have no real convictions, they lie about the convictions they claim they have, or they truly just aren’t all that bright, because it doesn’t take a frigging Genius to see what the problem is, or who is responsible for the problems. Is it really that hard to work with like minded people on the Conservative side to defeat what we all know is wrong. Conservatives are not “stupid”, at the least no more so than anybody else. Therefore in order to discern the cause, you must discern their ideals – that is, their actual ideals, not the “freedom and values” fluff they feed to the voters – motivations and alliances.

When we expand the scope accordingly, the reality becomes clear.

I will lay out my theory in the form of twenty questions.

1. In order to discern their allies, we need only listen to them; who do Conservatives call, “our greatest ally?”
2. In terms of values (and you do strongly imply this), what values in particular do Conservatives claim to represent?
3. Religion being for most the primary vehicle for the sharing of values, what religion do most Conservatives at least claim to follow?
4. What is the largest sect of that religion among conservatives?
5. What is the disposition of that sect towards the answer to #1?
6. What are the primary ethnic, religious and cultural influences from this “greatest ally”?
7. What is the dominant ethno-religious or racial group of said ally?
8. Does said group have a presence in America and Europe?
9. In what areas of society and industry are these people most represented?
10. ...and the least?
11. Does this group have a great deal of influence and power in any particular areas?
12. If so, in what way do these social engines drive, towards leftist rot or toward conserving “values”?
13. What direction do most of the loudest, most powerful voices from that group hail?
14. If there are any Conservative voices from among them, how effective are they?

15. Do most of their conservative voices lie in the effective range or in the milquetoast “Conservative Inc.” spectrum?

16. Are their leftist voices similarly hobbled?

17. Are there pro-White voices from among this leftist power base or are they uniformly anti-White?

18. Do Conservatives ever attack the support from their ally to their rival?

19. Do Conservatives even tolerate criticism of this ally?

20. What policy position has front-running Conservative DeSantis taken with regards to criticizing this ally?

For more, and perhaps a few answers, try this classic essay on Conservative failures.

Much of middle America worships money. The pursuit of wealth occupies all their energy, opportunity for gain occupies all their attention, dreaming of riches is the sole path over which they exercise their imaginations. Their politics are determined by the perceived benefit to their bottom line. In business school, they majored in rich.

These money worshippers are more likely to buy baloney from papers like the New York Times. They can't see any financial angle to, say, the Miracle of the Two Airplanes, Three Skyscrapers so why waste time thinking about it. It's just not that important.

One possible explanation I have thought of has to do with religion. It is said that conservatives are more religious than leftists (I refuse to use the term “liberals,” because people on the left today are the exact opposite of liberals; they are strict intolerant authoritarians). Thus, I hypothesize that religion, overwhelmingly Christianity, gives conservatives an inherent faith and eternal optimism that, no matter how bad things get, somehow it will all turn around and things will eventually get better. They are convinced that God is on America’s side, and He will certainly eventually provide whatever is needed. I suspect that this faith in an omniscient and omnipotent God makes conservatives feel that they don’t need to fight back too much.

In an alternative explanation, I know that some Christians believe we are currently living in the “End Times.” They see all the dreadful, decadent things happening in this country and the rest of the world, and they have become convinced that this evil world will soon come to an end. Then, they will get raptured to Heaven and live in eternal bliss. Well, if that is your belief, there is obviously no point in trying too hard to correct problems in this world.

What you are describing is an anti-Christ culture.

The ‘Christian’ pulpit/church/assembly in the United States has long refused to identify anything that is anti-Christ from the marriage it made with anti-Christ political Zionism, anti-Christ Judaism... giving rise to the distinct heresy of anti-Christ ‘Christian Zionism’ and all its fruits created and emanating from a pseudoChristianity.

The only thing necessary for evil to triumph in the world is that good men do nothing.

By their fruits you shall know them...

Christians have thrown away their moral and civic duty and responsibilities to the nation, its culture and society at large on behalf of a paralyzing heresy of refusing to identify evil or realistically do anything about it. That heresy and its friends had a British origin in the John Nelson Darby group about 200 years ago. It then came to the United States as a Christian heresy virus accommodating an anti-Christ eschatology constructing ‘end of the world’ theology with endless variants all designed to do nothing about evil.

Why would Christians forsake morality and decency to subsidize reestablishing an anti-Christ ‘Jewish’ nation/state in Palestine? The New Covenant/New Testament doesn’t call for that but rather the opposite.

Why would Christians promote and subsidize the rebuilding of an anti-Christ Judaism temple in Jerusalem while carefully ignoring all the Jewish/Judaism community immorality and components of an anti-Christ culture within the United States?

Why would Christians want to accommodate anything anti-Christ to its own destruction?

Why is there an absolute refusal to know, understand and do anything to demolish the ‘synagogue of Satan’ by way of the Christian Inc. pulpit in the United States?

The answer to all of this is the heresy/sickness of ‘Christian Zionism’.

Welcome America to your anti-Christ culture!

Reposting a comment I made on another article ...

These aren't conservatives; they're morons. The word "conservative" no longer has any meaning.

Conservatives would put the family above all other considerations.

Conservatives wouldn't let women vote or make policy.

Conservatives would not allow homosexuals to fully participate in society.

Conservatives wouldn't push war, and would go to war only as a last resort.

Conservatives wouldn't use debt unless absolutely needed.

Conservatives wouldn't negotiate on matters of morality, like abortion or the use of force in foreign policy.

Conservatives wouldn't interfere in the internal affairs of another country.

Conservatives would be very reluctant to enter into alliances, but would welcome commerce and cultural exchange.

There are no "conservatives" left anywhere in the West.

There are only Shabbos goy.

The author wrote a stellar article. However when he came to the point of Christian's believing a devine power will save them, I was thinking... eh... not so much.

Both sides of my family identify as Christian, were raised with the churches values, none are "practicing," church going Christian's. Not the catholic side, not the protestant side. From the remaining boomers, to my generation, gen X. I live in a rural area, all the people I know are "Christian's in name only."

Their idea of church is Sundays spent at the local bar cheering on their god, the local NFL sports ball team.

None attend church, none are practicing any "spiritual" relationship with god. The excuse given by many who have abandoned the church, because it's gone woke, but are still believers.

Yes there are bible thumping true believers out there, church attendees who believe as A.J. described, but their numbers are few. On that I agree with you.

There are a lot of smart conservatives, the problem is they are at the STREET level, and believed the lies of the political, chattering classes that candidate X, or a Republican “wave” in the congress or the senate was going to actually do what they said they would do.

Conservative voters aren't stupid, they know what they want when they step in a booth and pull a lever. They can only vote for the candidates provided for them.

The so called conservative politicians, Republican Party apparatus, and talking heads, Carlson, Trump and Ron DeSantis excepted, are stupid, sellouts, looking out for their own careers, or out right charlatans.

Of course the proles have passed on the real deal with guys like Ron Paul, and Pat Buchanan, why? In that regard they are stupid!

Trump got his platform, lock stock and barrel from Pat Buchanan.

The other problem is so called conservatives refuse to take the gloves off and fight dirty, from the street level to the top.

They want to play by Marque of Queensbury rules, while the left have been using guerrilla warfare tactics since the 60's.

Trump plays the game like the left, mercilessly that's why both the left and establishment right hate him. That's what makes him dangerous, that's why they are inventing anything they can to continue their witch-hunt.

There's (at least) one significant aspect you left off. The myths of WW2 specifically, and their lack of understanding of history generally, has brainwashed conservatives and taints their worldview on nearly every aspect of politics.

They've been propagandized to completely abandon the idea of will to power because that is "evil" and "bad", the necessary use of force, the value of nationalism, and conceptions of themselves as an ethnic group with group interests that need to be fought for and maintained by whatever means necessary.

This "realpolitik" means would include when necessary supporting an empowered individual or group to take control of the state and wield it for themselves, not passive faith and optimism in mass democracy or freedom platitudes to just work out automatically in their favor.

The fight for power as "good" is completely lost on them. The belief in leftist egalitarian/equality myths undermines everything the right wing should embrace and stand for.

As well as making clear and necessary friend/enemy distinctions. Basically "politics" as it exists in reality is not understood nor the historical basis that informs it.

It's related to the slave morality of Christianity that you correctly identified, perpetually relegating conservatives to either accepting all the premises their enemies put forward, of glorification of the weak oppressed masses, rather than embracing master morality.. or giving up on this world and blindly hoping for utopia in the next.

All right, Mr. A.J. Smuskiewicz, conservatives are stupid and Christian ones are insufficiently concerned with the red-white-and-blue to do anything. You ask, again and again, “Why have [fill in the blank] not stopped this shit storm?”

I share your sentiments, to a large degree. But reading this piece reminds me of reading so many like it from Paul Craig Roberts, in which he also decries the failure of what he calls “dumbshit Americans” to stop the avalanche. I’d respond to his, but he — perhaps wisely — doesn’t take reader comments.

Here I sit, a White man of very modest means, drinking coffee and reading the internet, and I’m feeling really bad about my failure to save what used to be my country. And then I wonder: what exactly was I supposed to have done? What, in concrete terms, would you have me do now?

A final question: what, exactly, are you doing? (Apart from writing, yet again, what’s been written, to small effect, before.)

I'm going to test your racism with a thought experiment, but first let's make sure we agree on the definition of race. I like Steve Sailer's definition. Race is just a very large, very extended family. Just as my siblings and I have more ancestors in common and more recently than any of us has with any other person on the planet, you and I, if you are white, have more ancestors in common and more recently than either of us does with any member of another race anywhere on the planet.

Good?

Now imagine you walk around a corner and see a man beating a woman and the woman is crying for help. What's your first instinct?

To help the woman, right?

Ok now imagine you walk around the corner and see two men beating two women and both of the women are crying for help. One of the women is white and one of the women is black. With everything else being equal, what's your first instinct?

If you are a white guy, you are probably paralyzed because either choice can be seen as "racist."

Ok, now you walk around a corner and see two men beating two women. They are both crying for help, and one of the women is your mother. What's your first instinct?

Of course, you rush to help your mother first. That doesn't mean you hate the other woman. You'll help her as soon as you can, but you will help your mother first because she's your mother. You would be considered something of a monster if you didn't help her first.

The whole world except whites have no problem answering the second scenario the same and it's only recently whites have been unable to. We're we convinced of a poisonous lie and need to disabuse ourselves of it.

But the political instincts are failed, and have been for some time.

Maybe we are gullible and narcissistic; but who the fuck isn't?

We can learn a lesson from the blacks – who block vote in lock step for their african candidate who are best at gaming the political system for advantages. Why are conservatives so stupid? And a side question is: Why are conservative so weak and timid? I honestly am struggling to determine and understand the answers to these questions. I think I might know some answers, but not the full story. I thought that perhaps you, the reader, might have some insights to share.

Is it Conservatives or all Americans ????

I would suggest the following reasons:

1. Most Americans have never experienced hardship. Turn off the power for a few hours, suggest a food shortage etc and they lose their minds. Hence they shrink from rocking the boat
2. They are addicted to their consumer goods. As long as they can shop and pay for it with their already straining credit card, everything else becomes meaningless.
3. They are addicted to the internet, porn, weed and video games. There would be riots if the system goes down. As such, they are incapable of independent thinking and are happy to let others perform such a difficult task for them.
4. The USA is a dog eat dog society. People are selfish. Hence few are willing to risk anything because they have no family infrastructure to support them. Americans are afraid of their own shadow and hide from reality with their drugs.
5. They are weak and stupid. They continually believe that the next politician with good looks and slicked back hair who mouths a shit load of promises is really a man of his word.
6. Americans do not see the world as it is but rather as it was or perhaps as they wish it to be. Their leaders know this and manipulate them. For example the phrases inclusive, multicultural, accountability, diversity, transparency, equity etc etc have been used like a mantra and pounded into the heads of the masses.

In the overall scheme of things they are politically stupid. Could a white man ever be the Mayor of a Chinese City ? Could an East Indian coolie ever be the leader in Russia ? Could a black man be elected to the CCP ?. Could any non-Jew be allowed to live in Israel or enter Parliament ? Could a White man be elected in Indian/Pakistan . Never ! We elect these people to office though and believe that since we are gracious and believe in equality and equity they will also be the same. News flash::they dont give a fuck about any of that. The goodness shown them is considered a sign of weakness ie whites are cunts !

I have to say, that for all their supposed “effeminate” characteristics the French are not taking Macron’s shit. Protests are becoming more and more violent over his push to increase the retirement age.

Second, for all their supposed simplicity, the people of Sri Lanka took out their President as a result of his Green policies which were leading to starvation. Had they caught him they would have beaten him to death.

This is a hollow society. As at the Micro so at the Macro. A spoilt child who has had everything his own way is usually unable to cope with adversity.

It not one ingredient that makes the cake. Its not one reason why conservatives, liberals and everyone in between are assholes.They dont have any balls !

“Why are conservatives so stupid...? One possible explanation I have thought of has to do with religion.”

There is this:

“Most Americans who say they are Christians don’t know the basic teachings of the faith and don’t act significantly different than non-Christians in their daily lives, according pollster George Gallup.

“The researcher, an Episcopalian layman, discussed the gap between what professing Christians say they believe and what they practice in an address at an urban ministries conference in Newark, N.J., sponsored by the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board. “I doubt if more than 5 to 10 per cent of Christians are prepared to defend their faith’, Gallup said. ‘Many don’t know what it means to be a Christian’.

“According to Gallup, ‘the Sunday school and religious education system in this country is not working. There are wonderful exceptions, but by and large, while we worry about secular education we really ought to worry about religious education, which is more important’.

“The pollster said the ignorance of Christian beliefs among professing Christians is ‘a very frightening situation, because not being grounded in one’s faith, we’re open for anything that comes along’” (from the Religious News Service, 10 May, 1991).

“Conservatives... have watched it unfold in front of their eyes and stupidly and compliantly allowed it all to happen. Why?”

Rather America desperately could and should be asking Gideon’s question: “If the Lord would be with us, then why has all of this happened to us?” (Judges 6:13.) The answer is simple: The Lord is not with us, because Americans, liberal and conservative, have forsaken Christianity, and chosen amorality, and the societal decay that accompanies it. Thus the Lord is in a punishing mode, and there is nothing politically which conservatives could do to thwart God’s current punishment.

In other words, since we have rejected him, he has rejected us. Namely, the Almighty, who is in control of men and of their events, as Gideon implied (1st Corinthians 12:6; Psalm 127:1; Amos 3:6; Isaiah 10:15), is punishing us as an irate father by sending us bad government, bad police, bad citizens, bad justice, bad economics, bad weather, for example, just as he biblically has threatened he would do, in order to get us to return to his good graces by repenting of our sins, and by believing his gospel promise.

Nevertheless, what more would it take? How long will America hold out?

Conservatives aren't stupid.....many do know the score but.....

As long as anyone in the US can pay their bills and have enough discretionary income to enjoy themselves from time to time nothing will ever be done to change the coming collapse.

.....and why would they at the risk of losing their income and being jailed prematurely for that cause?

Its only when you have lost the means to meet your necessities and have no prospect for doing so while recognizing the people behind that is when you will strike up to the death against them.

Prior to that?

Nothing.....as long as the money changers and their government puppets can keep you content enough to "relax on weekends" then there will be no threat to them.

Its not a lack of brain tissue.....its contentment that prevents the pruning in the tree of liberty.

Well, the “conservative” consensus appears to be “stupid” because it has been infected with the virus best known as “neoconservatism.”

You seem to be ignorant of neoconmen yourself.

To better answer your own question, that 5 minutes to listen to an excerpt from a speech Ron Paul gave on the floor of the House in 2003:

I stopped reading after I read the line about conservatives being selfish. There is no one more narcissistic and selfish than leftists. They support using government power to steal from the productive and redistribute it to themselves. They possess delusional beliefs that easily disproved by available facts and consider themselves superior to all other humans. They are incapable of winning an argument about their positions so they shout down and cancel anyone who disagrees with them. They are however correct that conservatives are stupid, stupid for allowing leftist leaches destroy the country they built.

I agree, WASPs are not stupid – in fact they are superior, especially the males.
But the political instincts are failed, and have been for some time.

One of the effects of Jews using the courts to remove Christianity from American culture was the destruction of male leadership. As feminism advanced with Christianity and the traditional family gone, the country is now led by women while White males have been marginalized and removed from the picture. Our institutions are run by Jews and women while White males are intentionally kept down.

@Notsofast

It is said that conservatives are more religious than leftists (I refuse to use the term “liberals,” because people on the left today are the exact opposite of liberals; they are strict intolerant authoritarians). Thus, I hypothesize that religion, overwhelmingly Christianity, gives conservatives an inherent faith and eternal optimism that, no matter how bad things get, somehow it will all turn around and things will eventually get better. They are convinced that God is on America’s side, and He will certainly eventually provide whatever is needed. I suspect that this faith in an omniscient and omnipotent God makes conservatives feel that they don’t need to fight back too much.

Vastly overlooked is the role and misuse of language. Orwell warned against totalitarians’ manipulation by words and phrases. The “Right”, more appropriately termed Confederate Amalgamationists, have allowed the “Left”, better termed “Bolshevik Communist Collectivists” have gamed the opposition with no resistance or push back.

Almost all Western Caucasians are pussified wusses, live in repressed denial, and are perennially confused and irresolute. The only exception to this are one or two Eastern European countries and THE RUSSIANS. Why do the latter exhibit such courage, resolve, and tenacity to preserve their race, heritage, and nation? THAT has practical applications for the West.

@Tarr

Though this essay is directly addressed to Tarr, the inner message considers the overall approach taken by the author of this thread. My thesis is that there are only a couple of values worthy of conserving.....

Your thesis seems modeled within an assumed prior orthodoxy, which unfortunately never quite settled into a conservatism based exclusively on the tenets of the American Revolution and the Bill of Rights. I would encourage every reader of these words to once again, or more particularly for the first time ever, take an absorbing read of the DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

The “self evident” truths asserted in the Declaration are based on individual liberty and community solidarity. After a successful attack by the damned Federalists when they replaced the original Articles of Confederation, which established a limited central government; the essence of their Constitution per se, was inimical to individual liberty and localized governance, particularly in the court system totally based on the British model and as Jefferson, then “safely” out of the picture as Minister (ambassador) to France, pointed out...a republican form of governance cannot survive with its third branch, that court system, being established on a MONARCHICAL model.

So what’s to conserve? Values? The people of this land no longer ascribe to a set of shared values. We face two polarized sets of extremists: On the one hand there’s that misled mass of largely unread organized religionists, BELIEVERS, to be precise, who actually are so uninformed that they still adhere to Constantine’s bible as the literal words of “God”, who in their febrile level of understanding remains the bloodthirsty Yahweh/Jehovah from the Old Testicles of the ancient Hebrew tradition.

Constantine's minions took two years to "weed out" scriptures which would not favor the centralized power of the Roman Imperial state. They also got rid of the Jesusites, the Gnostics and the Monophysites...strictly to maintain the control mechanism over the masses of people.

Coming from that polarized side are the BELIEVERS in Cartesian, rationalistic materialism, who not only reject organized religion, but far more tellingly are so stuck in their academicist reductionism that they deny and denounce the very possibility of SPIRITUALITY.

This particular mess has long been almost totally in control over universities and colleges all across the fruited plain. What does that indicate? It means that a heavy majority of individuals who sport some letters behind their surnames...letters which make them into titled aristocraps, have endured constant propaganda in their edjuncational process to the point where their livelihoods depend on becoming part of a herd, always remaining "on message" in order to keep their jobs and maintain their assumed "higher" social status.

Thus, America, our Ruptured Republic, is divided against itself, caught up in the political debates of two polarized herds, the Religionists versus the Rationalists.

So again, what's to conserve? Back in the early 60's I was a highly motivated conservative, Goldwater activist. Over the years I arrived at the understanding that self-styled "conservatives" such as William F. Buckley and his National Review magazine, were little more than STATIST ELITISTS, posing as conservatives in order to preserve rule by the elite.

What is the answer? It certainly is not to conserve the warmed-over Marxism of the liberal left. Nor does it make any sense to fall into the chasm of organized religious obscurantism.

We are fast leaving the Age of Pisces and segueing into the Age of Aquarius...however much both religionists and their rationalistic opponents tend to decry both spirituality and Cosmic Consciousness.

Writ simply, we must conserve the elementary human values of individual liberty and community cohesion. It's gonna be an accelerating escalator into a realm where those polarized belief systems will be seen as less and less valid as we evolve into a new age of humanity, liberated from the forces of centralization of power and released into new forms of the actualization of human cultural growth.

As the changes accelerate, we can be certain of one thing... VOTING for Tweedle-dee-dee or Tweedle-dee dumber, at least on the Federal level, will become an exercise in blind futility. As one observer pointed out several decades back: "Think Globally, but act locally."

| Why are conservatives so stupid?

Maybe they are, maybe not.

Too many are simply cowards. They know that if they organise, the constant surveillance they are under will expose them to being rounded up and tossed in the gulag. Even worse if they own arms.

Those “Conservatives” in positions of influence, like the many hosts of Fox or Big-C media, uttered the words of boob bait to get there, but were quickly briefed into the programme and then given the choice to be coöpted with cushy jobs, to wit Hannity, Levin, Gowdy, Carlson, ad nauseum, or die on their hill. Those folks will never actually say anything that would promote the change that would kill their cushy sinecures. Those who don’t take the deal suffer inexplicable falls from grace or even death under mysterious or sad circumstances; most take the deal.

Calvin Coolidge was one of the most Christian Presidents we ever had, and he was racially conscious and believed that while we are on earth, we can’t just sit idly by when evil is arising, and we have to protect our countries and our people.

Behind the scenes, when the TV cameras aren't rolling, the GOP leadership and the Democrat Leaders—the Real Leaders—are good pals. They work for the same Special Interests: Big Pharma, Big Insurance, the Wall Street Banks, Israel and last but certainly not least, the US War Machine. Just follow the Money. The ones who get the Money are the ones who are connected enough to ALWAYS get what they want. And they all want the same thing: to loot the US Taxpayer. I was going to “troll” you, but I need to “educate” you first.

Us white male heterosexual “boomers”, had two strikes against us. One was “civil-rights” (for some) laws that were used against us whites. Add to that, “affirmative action” policies that shut many of us whites out of jobs that we were qualified for. Despite claims that “civil-rights” and “affirmative action” policies would never have quotas attached to them, such was not the case. I had hiring managers discreetly admit that although I was eminently qualified for the position and would make a good “fit” in the organization “they had to hire a black” for the position.

Those of us who served in the military were promised jobs which never materialized despite laws being passed that (were supposed to) give veterans preference.

You see, the hiring managers were all non-veterans who considered us Vietnam veterans to be “loose cannons” ready to explode at any time. This same commonly held misperception was perpetuated by the general public at the time, as well, egged on by the mainstream media of the day.

Those of us who served, took off our uniforms, almost never speaking about our experiences with non-veterans as we were considered to be “damaged goods”.

Keep in mind that many of us boomers were against the so-called “civil-rights” (for some) and “affirmative action” laws but were forced to live with them as they were enacted by those of the “greatest generation”. Once laws are enacted, it is almost impossible to get them repealed.

Despite many setbacks, I did persevere and prosper, the obstacles missed and denied opportunities making me stronger. So, go ahead and denigrated us “boomers”.

It’s your ignorance and loss...

Here is a prime example of jewish “lawfare” gone amok...and being quite successful.

I can remember when jewish organizations that touted “separation of church and state” pushed their agenda to the extreme—instituting lawsuits against municipalities who chose to allow Christian-based Christmas displays on public property. The lawsuits were numerous, from big-city displays to small towns—public displays of Christianity were outlawed. Jewish groups were aggressive in using “lawfare” to remove Christianity from the public square.

It’s turned full-circle.

Christian Christmas displays are still prohibited on public property while jewish menorahs are cropping up all over the place. Hell, even the White House proudly publicly displayed a large jewish menorah, without a squawk from the “(jewish-run) separation of church and state” crowd.

Jews no longer couch their hatred of Christianity in legal terms, but are overtly brash and confident in their hatred of Christianity.

While we are at it, let’s close down their most repulsive buildings, the American taxpayer-funded “Holocaustianity™ temples” and deport their acolytes who are perpetuating their prayers, damning and blaming all gentiles who did not “just do something”. The “piles of shoes” and “clothing”, “eyeglasses” and other materials mean nothing as they are merely “Hollywood-props” meant to evoke a response from gullible visitors to these “jewish freak shows”.

You see, “jewish suffering” is unlike any other and as such, must be memorialized by erecting these American taxpayer-funded “jewish freak shows”.

“Holocaustianity™ temples” have no place anywhere in the world as they are totally based on fraud and deception—two prime jewish traits.

Taxpayer funding of these “jewish freak shows” adds insult to injury and should be prohibited as their existence constitutes promotion of one religion over another—expressly forbidden by the First Amendment to the Constitution.

As a further insult, some states are mandating the brainwashing of vulnerable children by mandating public school student visits to these “Holocaustianity™ temples”—“jewish freak shows”. It would appear that requiring schoolchildren to attend “Holocaustianity™ temples” violates the “separation of church and state” that jews are so intent on perpetuating. Double standard indeed...

It is long overdue for ((them)) to be kicked out of country 110...

Greetings AJ,

Thanks for another workmanlike and well-constructed essay. I'm not a historian, but I suggest the fault lines in America can be traced back to the English Reformation. I think there's a glitch in the theology of John Calvin that culminated in his namesake in the White House making the claim: "the business of America is business."

Simon Bolivar claimed the democratic project in Latin America was tantamount to "ploughing the ocean." Water is dynamic. It's hard to "nail down." It's hard as heck to build anything on it. Ironically the late-lamented, paragons of the Old Right; Charles A. Lindbergh & Henry Ford, both were involved in developments, (transatlantic flight and the mass production of automobiles) that would rip asunder the America they held so dear. Thus, the old, Isolationist, Nativist, Protectionist, Protestant America contained the seeds of its own destruction. Marx observed this property of Capitalism, but Americans didn't have time for thoughts such as these. Besides, he didn't go to church. Remember, it was the Steamship, the crown of the Scottish Enlightenment, which would eventually carry huddled, hordes of Ashkenazim to these shores. Yankee ingenuity led to Yankee demise. Eventually in the movie "The Graduate" the Yids announced their capture of popular narrative. Culture is the offspring of the congress of finance & technology. Finance simply will not be faithful to industry. Because in the Anglo-Zionist mindset, manual labor is for schmucks. Capital is the man. Labor is the woman. And Capital insists on an "open marriage."

Intellectuals like to believe they generate history. The apotheosis being Percy Bysshe Shelley claiming to be part of the "unacknowledged legislators of the world." I don't think so. Public intellectuals are just hired hacks, like corporate lawyers. A new crop of soulless, remorseless, fiends like Charles Krauthammer & Max Boot graduate from Ivy League Colleges every May.

Stanley Crouch once referred to Malcom X as “the chief black heckler of the Civil Rights Movement.” Maybe that’s all Conservatism ever was, just a bunch of people heckling the New Deal and the Great Society. Good work if you can get it. It’s a fine whine. But mainstream Conservatives dare not criticize nor even acknowledge the effects of Big Business & Industry on the Republic. It was pressure from automobiles that destroyed the working-class solidarity in ethnic neighborhoods in the outer Boroughs of New York City. (No “conservative’ is going to speak ill of a 1965 Mustang). That type of unsentimental analysis just isn’t going to sell. The car is right. The neighborhood is wrong. Deal with it.

That’s because this isn’t a country. It’s just a piece of paper and a place. It’s vacuous. That’s why people go to Target on Memorial Day. Because all those young men died so we could go shopping. Deep down, America is shallow. The blacks in the south were displaced by mechanized farm implements. The whites in the north were displaced by automation and outsourcing. Sorry Boomer! There is no “America.” What you thought was America was just something you saw on television. Now it’s your turn to cry.

Perhaps, America is the Whore of Babylon & Bibi Netanyahu is the Anti-Christ. Perhaps not.

It’s time to get to the bottom of this thing. This country I grew up in wasn’t what I thought it was.

Keep up the good work. And fair play to you.

I'm not a historian, but I suggest the fault lines in America can be traced back to the English Reformation. I think there's a glitch in the theology of John Calvin that culminated in his namesake in the White House making the claim: "the business of America is business."

I am of the opinion that the problems and sickness of the West is more due to an ABSENCE congenit, consistent and lack of both Individual and Collective Consciousness. All the explanations, expositions of Carl Gustav Jung and Gautama Buddha lay this out, propound the thoughts and concepts that encompass and give MEANING to existence.

Both Jung and Buddha were SCIENTISTS, not preoccupied with what Nikos Kazantzakis called "pure ideas", i.e., e.g., Marxism.

First, what the heck does “Conservative” mean? And what defines its purpose?

If it means to “conserve” culture and family values, it has failed miserably.

If it is defined by the word of God and teachings of the Bible, it has failed there also.

This two party duopoly is nothing more than two sides of the same shekel.

Until “We the People” are released and freed from shekels controlled by a den of thieves salivating inside synagogues of Satan, we shall never be free.

| We know what has to be done, no one is willing to group together and pull the trigger.

If the regime can be overthrown by, maybe, five men, then fine. You can probably find four others that you know aren't feds.

But it takes many more than that. Try getting a significant number together, in this surveillance / police state. Get a hundred, for local purposes. At least twenty are glowies, and it's off to the federal gulag with you.

Yes, we know what has to be done, but I don't think it's possible to do it, absent some "externality." The complete economic collapse of the US global empire might make it possible, and that's what I'm rooting for, hellish though it would probably be for a while. Or maybe our exalted leaders succeed in picking a nuclear war with Russia and China, and DC and, oh, twenty of the biggest and bluest cities in the US get glassed over.

A more cheerful thought. 1986: the Soviet Union is a fact of life, forever. 1990: what the hell happened???

A Dissident Right mission might be to develop the activist tactics which shatter the bourgeois attitude and create a real movement.

For that to happen a couple of things would need to happen before.

Rather not easy and hard to do things, at least at this stage.

What things? Two approaches to realize that, theoretical and practical.

Theoretical could come from reading Burnham's "The Machiavellians, defenders of freedom" and Sam Francis, including "Leviathan and Its Enemies".

Practical is much simpler: try to think through how would YOU organize a million person march into...say...Congress in session. Straight away you'll get into "chicken/egg" situation.

And I think it's all academic. Or copium.

The reality is, IMHO:

A Dissident Right mission might be to develop the survival strategy for decade to come, at least. Go underground and survive until the paradigm gets really unstable. With CBDC and the rest coming it WILL be a challenge.

My two cents, anyway.

You are correct.

Getting the government's attention can be hazardous to one's well-being in today's post-constitutional republic.

Examples such as public "general strikes" along with public protests will no longer work in the USA as basic Constitutional principles have been bastardized and ignored both by the powers that be and government agencies. These agencies have been weaponized against the citizenry so basic forms of public protest are no longer feasible, (unless you are on the left and can protest and riot with impunity as no government forces will interfere with you).

Observe the J6 defendants who are languishing in specially-prepared "gulags" without trial for over TWO YEARS in violation of every Constitutional principle without a peep from the powers that be and much of the citizenry. Arrests are still taking place as we speak. The FBI is weaponized against parents who speak out at school board meetings and even against traditional Catholics.

The Canadian Trucker's strike is one example (that should have worked) but was co-opted by both the Canadian government (in violation of the Canadian Charter of Rights) and pressure from the U S government which did not want to see commerce restricted on both sides of the border. Bank accounts were "frozen", truckers were threatened with arrest and confiscation of their assets and removal of their children. For once, Canadians finally saw what their "government" was willing to do to them, a good thing.

There is one way to effect change without the possibility of incurring wrath from the government...

A STAY AT HOME strike can be extremely effective as the government cannot force people to go to work. This one move removes revenue from government coffers and will make them sit up and take notice. If the country stopped work for a week, this would have a real effect on the country's political and corporate systems and would make them stand up and take notice. A month off would be even better.

“Why Are Conservatives So Stupid?”

Well, it isn't actually ALL stupidity, although it often appears to be, but it's some mix of the following:

1) “Conservatives”, by definition, aim to conserve, i.e. keep things as they are. They're not “Conservative Activists”, working to infect every stage of government, to proactively work directly against “progressives” (I don't like most of the terms that we are forced to use, but within the modern lexicon, let's just stick with words that everyone recognizes as group identifiers, even if they aren't purely accurate) to slow, stop, impede, or undo their every action. Progressives, conversely, are super-intent on invading every institution, and constantly working to change things. One is proactive, the other is dogmatic. Who is going to win, every time? The proactive.

It's like having two people that live in a house together, and one of them wants to re-arrange the furniture every day, and the other wants everything to stay where it is. Well, if person A is running around the house, moving shit 24/7, then person B must be doing it too, putting everything back, or slapping the hand of person A at the point of every attempt.

Well, conservatives haven't been doing that, so the progressives are winning.

2) Most conservatives are NOT fully awake to the scope and breadth of the problems the leftists are creating!

We knew they were infecting “government”, but we didn't know they were cheating. we didn't know they were infecting every business, and the schools, and social media...until we did, but then we had to play catch-up. Again, the leftists are activists, hence they have been actively working on, and pursuing their goals; The Conservatives weren't, because at it's root, to “conserve” things, all you need to do, is nothing, and therefor nothing will change. i.e. if you don't re-arrange the furniture, everything will be right where you left it, everyday when you come home from work. Little did we know that the left, was buying all new furniture, and storing it in the garage, so that one day when we come home, everything we knew is gone, and replaced with other shit, and all of our old shit is in the dump.

3) Conservatives are essentially moral, ethical, law-abiding citizens. By contrast, the leftists are lying, cheating, unethical immoral traitors. The Conservatives were late to the party when it came to figuring out what the leftists were capable of. We didn't put in stops to keep the left from turning ICE into a illegal immigration pipeline and travel agency, because it would never occur to us, to totally betray the nation, and use ICE for the exact opposite of it's intended purpose.

It also would never occur to us to use the FBI to arrest our political rivals, or use HUD rules to integrate neighborhoods with zoning laws, or use elected DA's to allow for rampant crime, or allow fentanyl to flood our borders killing our citizens. Basically, we aren't traitors that will destroy the country, but the left is. This too, we were late to realize, at least en masse.

4) Conservatives didn't know "what game" the Left was playing. We were still debating liberalism, when they were becoming traitorous commies.

Now, some of us knew all of this, years ago, but with a leftist media, and a bunch of milquetoast Republicans, there were very few voices, and almost none with any market penetration, to tell Conservatives about all of this.

Most Conservatives were several chess moves behind, while the Left was subverting everything.

Over the past 30, 40, and 50 years, the leftists have been working to destroy the Right, and the Right was busying themselves with trying to debate with, work with, compromise with... what they thought was another political viewpoint. In reality, they were playing patty cake with a bunch of traitors.

Traitors, Satanists, Immoral baby killing demons, child mutilating anti-God pieces of shit, that we should have been waging a war against, instead of trying to coexist with.

Even now, what percentage of “The Right” do you really think, knows WHAT IS REALLY GOING ON??

And what about the general public? With our bullshit propaganda main stream media? 10% of us? Maybe 20%? It's hard to say, but if you don't know that we are in a life and death struggle, between literal good and evil, then you aren't fully awake yet either.

The real question is- Can we inform, and wake enough people up, to reality, in time to do anything about it?

I think that answer is “no”, it's too fucking late, and we will have to see a complete collapse, and “reconcile” all of the traitors, before things can be fixed.

Ergo, it isn't just “Conservative Stupidity”, it's much, much more than that!

There's another distortion of language beyond calling men gay whose sexuality revolves around an obsession with male defecation to the point they begin ingesting and playing with other men's feces at least several times a year by the time their in their early 20s. This is allowing others to refer to what are gay privileges as if they were constitutional rights.

They now have the privilege, or immunity from prosecution, for example, to proselytize children during drag queen story hours and before classrooms in our grammar schools, while heterosexual adults who put on raunchy sex shows before children or placed straightforward porn in our school libraries would be arrested for child abuse.

The reality is that coprophiliacs are the most pampered group in America, and yet we're supposed to accept—not least from the mother of all woke bureaucracies, the Pentagon—that the most important task of our domestic and foreign policy today is protecting homosexuals' privileges associated with their proselytizing their practice of eating and playing with feces to children, now dishonestly mislabeled as fundamental human rights.

I will tell you why Americans are stupid: Most are like my cousin, who asked me the other day why I even think about anything happening because I cannot control it. She asked me what I couldn't do today that I could not do 20 years ago. Her life has not changed. She is happy with her life. She thinks the "pendulum always swings back" and "we will be fine." She tells me that "some people think about their lives" and do not waste time thinking about anything outside of their comfort; this is the key to happiness. I think she exemplifies most insouciant Americans, meaning most Americans, who are basically apolitical or think Democrats care about working people and Republicans only care about businessmen and businesses. I hope the CCP and Russia wipe the smirk off her face and everyone like her, frankly. I don't care because I have nothing to lose anymore, having lost the most important thing in my life, my child.

Good post! Thanks...

In the push for “rights”, we were constantly being told that all homosexuals wanted was “to be tolerated” and shown “respect”. Almost every decent person had no problem with that, as we are all human beings, given our individual wants, needs and proclivities.

The abolition of laws criminalizing homosexuality was a first step in eliminating the persecution that homosexuals endured. However, that was a BIG mistake, seeing the “liberties” that homosexuals are taking with children...and THEIR intolerance towards others who do not share their “in your face” demands to accept their “lifestyle”.

Sad to say, “tolerance” has morphed into demands for not only “acceptance”, but outright deference, to the whims of homosexuals, without regards for the rights of heterosexuals with differing beliefs.

When homosexuals purposely target a Christian-run bakery or other business, making demands for not only “acceptance”, but using the “civil-rights” laws, forcing the owner to go against his principles, THAT, my friends is tyranny, under guise of “civil-rights”.

Using the “civil-rights” laws to force business owners into actions that go against their basic beliefs is tyranny of the highest order, and has no place in American society. It is interesting to note that, in these cases where homosexuals wanted to “prove a point”, they bypassed many bakeries who would accede to their wishes and give them what they desire. As an aside, muslim bakers who refused to bake homosexual-themed cakes were NOT targeted for “civil-rights” violations—double standard, indeed.

This kind of behavior garners no favors with most decent people and furthers resolve against militant homosexuals who want not only toleration, but total “in your face” acceptance of their “lifestyle”—something that some people find that does not “square” with their beliefs.

It appears that the success of “equal rights” for homosexuals has renewed a push to “normalize” other mentally ill behaviors, such as “transsexuality”, “cross-dressing”, and other “gender fluidity” behaviors. There is even a push by pedophiles and their advocates to redefine (decriminalize and normalize) their behavior, renaming it “minor-attracted adults” rather than the criminal perversion that it is presently defined as. The “slippery slope” started with the normalization of homosexuality, and has degenerated into the demands for acceptance of every form of human dysfunction.

“Live and let live” used to be a staple of American society, but was eviscerated with every “protected group” using laws to force others to not only tolerate them, but accept them. Not good...

“Slippery slope”, indeed...

“So, I ask this plain, simple, and direct question: Why are conservatives so stupid? And a side question is: Why are conservative so weak and timid? I honestly am struggling to determine and understand the answers to these questions. I think I might know some answers, but not the full story. I thought that perhaps you, the reader, might have some insights to share.”

The simple answer is that it is the Jews. From the moment they came to the U.S. in large numbers, they have been working tirelessly to tear down Whites and their civilization.

The Communist tyranny is a Jewish invention as are destruction of Christianity, destruction of education, the infiltration and destruction of the legal system, the litigious society (Jews are rabid ambulance chasers), Negro worship, Jew worship, nonWhite worship and the weaponization of nonWhite savages against Whites. They have also controlled the news and entertainment industries for decades and have used that power to tell nothing but lies and Leftist propaganda.

This recent beatification of sexual perverts is literally insane and was invented by Jews as a weapon to destroy civilization. We are now pressuring children to become perverts and their evil parents now have the right to mutilate them in the horrible attempt to change their God-given gender. There’s a special place in Hell for these demons. And “conservatives” are doing little or nothing to stop this. Government schools need to be bulldozed to the ground.

Whites have embraced and internalized much of the Jewish agenda; especially the satanic religions of Jewish and Negro worship. The two world wars were essentially genocidal civil wars of White against White. Those wars weakened us dramatically and made Whites susceptible to the onslaught of Jewish lies, slander and rule by lawsuit. We worship Jews as if they are angels, when really they are a pack of demons.

Whites have also collaborated with the evil Jewish agenda in too many ways out of greed, guilt and cowardice. It was FDR that allowed the Jewish social pathology to move into the halls of real power. It was the Jews who killed JFK and blew up the twin towers so that their creature, LBJ, could infest the White House. This is how they use their malignant power. Jews are like a social cancer; a parasitic growth that has finally destroyed its once magnificent host.

So-called conservatives who are actually in government are not conservatives at all. They are the arm of Jewish power that keeps decent White people locked into a clinically-insane system. Conservatives have internalized all of the major points of the Jewish agenda, and they make weak mealy-mouthed protests while actually doing nothing to fight back for Whites and for civilization at all.

Whites have allowed this to happen because they been sued, fired, imprisoned, pauperized, manipulated and lied to incessantly.

Let's not forget that the beatification of that ugly, violent, stupid, drug-addicted, criminal George Floyd has resulted in the imprisonment of a valiant police officer and the destruction of law and order unprecedented in history. The ensuing wave of violent crime by Negros has completed the destruction of our cities and social cohesion. The Jews have funded, organized and led this moral outrage. The Jews need to get what's coming to them in the most draconian ways possible.

The only transformation is inward. Yes, most certainly. The only thing you can change is yourself — every other change follows an entirely different set of laws. But presently, change for most people, means choosing a different topping on their pizza. ... Even then, extra cheese is about as far as that would go. Real change of self would be the result of a long and difficult struggle; obviously only focused intention could manage such a thing.

Change of self follows a set of laws too. They are knowable, but understanding them is not subject to intellectual inquiry. The mind is not exclusively the brain. Mindfulness includes feeling. And most surprisingly our body. Our ordinary thinking is limited. No matter how much information one stuffs into the brain it will not add one iota to our understanding. Being, exclusive of feelings, and exclusive of our bodies ensures we remain subjects rather than masters. Thus rich or poor, intelligent or otherwise, powerful or powerless, handsome or ugly — all are slaves.

Certainly over time all of us experience shocks from outside ourselves. All are consequences of fate and accident. We humans tend to miss the mark. We make mistakes. As a rule we compound the mistakes by seeking the water rather than the fire. We are pleasure bound and hate to suffer. So we seek relief from suffering. Evolution requires conscious intention. Devolution is unconscious inattention. Evolution is conscious suffering.

Our programming is not something you did. Programming is a consequence of one's situation. Before you are born you are being programmed — in fact you and I are programmable bio-machines. At maturity our programming is who we are. We are automatons! As such, what value would we have to the category mankind if we could get up in the morning and change? Ordinary life depends on our not changing!

Suppose for example you understood just how much suffering was unnecessary. Without envy and lust and pride and gluttony and anger and sloth and greed and our massive and selfish egoism and destructive egotism, life as we experience it would be vastly different. If we managed the miraculous and consequently were transformed we would be that something, rumoured to be possible.

The world will be here long after we are gone from it. Mankind cannot change. Things change but the possibility of everyone being transformed is impossible. Things change because the multitude pursue life according to their programming.

It seems though that many of us wish to change but it won't happen by itself. For that, one can only learn from another. Or learn in a school especially dedicated to transformation. To begin one has to take oneself in hand and strive for oneself — long enough that one recognizes real help — there are ample charlatans who recognize the vulnerable. As often as not the vulnerable are weak and unprepared and naïve and every man's instinct is self preservation. This fact manifests as inertia. Even the strong, but untempered, who might under the right circumstances potentially have the right stuff necessary to effect transformation, rather prefer to cling to the confining circle of the familiar and the safety of routine — their programming.

The world most people know mesmerizes! Hypnotizes! Seduces! Organic life on this planet includes man. The planet does not care one way or the other if a few people are transformed. We might even consider the planetary body prefers that no one even makes the effort!

@Notsofast

‘Conservatives’ in the Anglosphere must be (as in they have no choice but to be) stupid because what they are doing is trying to ‘conserve’ one step, one phase or stage, of what is best labeled Anglo-Zionist Revolution Against Christendom, which requires ongoing subjugation of the peoples of historic Christendom (meaning European nationalities and ethnicities).

So true conservatives within WASP culture are not trying to conserve any part, ethnic or cultural or religious part, of what was once Christendom. Rather, conservatives within WASPdom (meaning they accept the basic imperial WASP world at least as a given that is foolish to oppose) are trying to put brakes on a revolution to prevent the further stages of revolutionary development that are inherent within the, and indeed any, revolution.

All revolutions will devour their own unless they are either defeated and overturned or else those in charge of the revolution at some stage have the power to freeze it somehow so that the group of people in power of the revolution at that stage will maintain revolutionary power and so avoid being devoured, even as in new ways they keep devouring. That always requires imperialism. Trotsky was such a person and thinker within the Bolshevik Revolution who’s focus was on permanent worldwide imperialism to spread Soviet ideas and Soviet structures to all corners of the globe. Stalin was the Bolshevik who felt that doing so would only inspire the rest of the world to ally against all things Soviet and Marxist to save themselves. Each was trying to conserve the Bolshevik Revolution, which was the great eastern European version of the waves of Revolution against Christendom in the West that kicked off with the Reformation and then featured the French Revolution and all subsequent movements against the Church and cultural traditionalism. That means that the Bolshevik Revolution was a kind of combined Tudor and Puritan reformations with the French Revolution all crammed together.

The genius of the English of revolution;utions is that those who came out on top had the foresight in each major stage to realize that once they held power, they need to stabilize the revolutionary impulse before it could devour them. To do that, at each stage they created false 'conservatism' to placate the masses into thinking that rightful order, non-revolutionary order, had been re-established and also to frighten the class of permanent revolutionary-minded people that their actions, if not careful and slow in implementation, easily could tip matters back toward the pre-revolutionary world.

'Anglicanism' as state religion and moral enforcer is a perfect example of such a 'middle way' that preserves revolution by taming it. From its creation, the Church of England was both opposed from within the Protestant Revolution as looking too much like Catholicism and also passionately promoted as necessary to prevent the most wild-eyed Protestants from destroying everything. Bringing back the monarchy but making certain it had no teeth, that it was just for show to dupe the masses, was the way to save the Puritan Revolution from itself. Creating 2 political parties fronting for the real power behind the scenes, a Deep State controlled by international bankers, was the master stroke.

The Republican Party today as the 'conservative party' should make the point. In 1860, the Republican Party was the party of both Wall Steel and the academic, Protestant, and artsy Left across the northern states. It was the part of the descendants of Anglo-Saxon New England Puritans and Pennsylvania Dutch who had assimilated to all things WASP. It was the party of Know-Nothing hatred of all whites who were close kin to WASPs, and the part that crated Abolitionism and Reconstruction. The Republican Party's origins thus are revolutionary, and they have always been against the best interests of the clear majority of the whites in the USA.

The only thing that has contained Jews since they chose to be the race of anti-Christ, the only race to be defined by being anti-Christ, which means that are Stan's most favored people, is Christendom. That's why Jews have spent endless money and work on ruining Christendom, which could occur only as some off its members chose greed over Christ and Christendom.

So that makes you either just another fool turned out by Jewish propaganda to yourself another of the Jews propagandizing.

Boomers were taught by the WWI progressive generation or the ” Greatest” generation, so they bare some blame as well. Xers, the first latch key generation, started the hookup culture, and kept divorce rates on the rise. All the above generations fell for the cheap, wear it on your sleeve patriotism and the Boomers on down were dumb enough to go along with deficit spending brought on by Reagan and the GOP, then it became a permanent thing, as both parties embraced it. Every generation breathing at this moment has as much blame as any other generation.

“From my perspective as a lower-middle-class, old, straight, white guy who longs for the lost, freer times of the 1970s, ...”

I want to go back to 1958 and live on the same block as the Ward Cleaver family does. That’s my idea of Heaven. I’ll take my chances with polio and Sputnik.

Here are things that nominal or mainstream conservatives are stupid about:

1) They believe their own bullshit. They fall for their own spin. E.g., “East Palestine accident nuked the entire five-state Ohio River watershed, and it’s all Pete BootyJudge’s fault!” They’re suckers for that stuff.

2) They’ll buy anything that has a flag, eagle, or minuteman pasted on it. They are easily scammed.

3) They are still committed to MLK’s “colorblind anti-racism.” They can’t admit that race is much more than mere skin color, and that character is very difficult to accurately assess (e.g., as in MLK’s case.) They seem to think that American blacks in 2023AD give a fig about MLK; they don’t. If there’s one thing that far lefties and conservatives agree upon, it is that ‘racism is the worst thing in the world.’ They BOTH believe that antiracism is more important than liberty.

4) They think they are better armed and prepped than the enemy. They think that every purple-haired pierced freak doesn’t know how to use a pistol or rifle.

5) They can’t read free speech sites like unz, because they can’t stand to read or even glimpse at stuff they disagree with (e.g., antisemitism.) Anybody on the right who mildly disagrees with them automatically gets their motives impugned, followed by strings of ad hominem insults.

There’s more. Five’s enough.

You're not wrong that intergenerational sniping is a messy and dirty business. But it's just as false and misleading to claim that "all generations are at fault."

The boomers simply haven't paid their fair share, and their disproportionate control of the country has been absolutely disastrous. Their tenure should be viewed as akin to an act of war, which it is, as they've largely made the country intolerable for everyone else. The older they become, the worse they get. We just need them to step down and to pass on power to their rightful descendants, they can realize their entire way of thinking may have made sense to them at one point, but now they have nothing of value to contribute. Their absence is the only valuable thing they have.

If not, perhaps the solution is for all other generations to unite against the boomers. They must be removed from power, peacefully and amicably, if possible. But one way or the other, they have to go. And they must part with most of their ill-gotten wealth, and juvenile desires (in the case of middle class boomers) of retiring lavishly while their kids are priced out of houses and families. If an ecological collapse, or any collapse happens on their watch, or in the near future, it should be agreed that the boomers should be held collectively accountable, and no one should ever expend resources speaking well of boomers or even keeping aging boomers alive.

Republicans are stupid because they are well off. Most of them have had decent jobs and were not among the working class Americans whose futures have been descimated by the loss of manufacturing jobs and runaway immigration. The Democrats threw the working class under the bus a dozen years ago but the Republicans are run by the really stupid people. The Romneys of this world who can not recognize that the very people who lost their factory jobs to the likes of a Romney are the very saviors of the party. As long as elected Republican office holders dont recognize the peril that the working class have already experienced Democrats will continue to destroy the nation. But lets not confuse Republicans with conservatives. The conservatives are small in number. They know whats happening and are preparing for the end game. At some point in the near future the federal government will become weak. Then the conservatives will strike and return the individual freedom and liberty to the nation. It wont be pretty but conservatives understand what kind of monsters are ruling this nation.

Societies with lasting power, that have survived internal and external pressures for millennia understand the need for multi-generational, familial solidarity. I give atomized, hyper-individualistic Anglos another 100 years tops. Good job being independent and tough. The people who will replace you (and you do deserve to be replaced) will thank you for the infrastructure, I guess.

I have children, I want to make sure they have it easy, and I don't expect to kick them out the front door at 18 because I'm not a reptile or white trash (the parenting styles of which resemble each other). I wish to pass on to my kids the land I inherited, and my father from his parents. My wife and I have decided to help the kids even after they marry instead of doing the boomer road trip idiocy. That's called being a member of a family. I would prefer in my old age to be around my grandchildren and great-grandchildren and boss them around, rather than live in some god awful retirement community like the Villages full of sociopathic ghouls and vampires with lizard spots.

But I guess some people are all for kicking them out at 18, so you and the old lady (because, let's be honest, that's probably what you call the old gal) have time to go on a road trip and get matching tattoos. The first couple marriages for you both didn't work out, but the third or fourth time is a charm, amirite? Enjoy the Cracker Barrel.

I even agree with this but the problem immediately arises when you identify the "real enemy" as non-white persons. No, your real enemy is Satan, a liar from the beginning and the epitome of evil, who delights in having your attention turned away from him and directed toward someone else.

Your enemy, your real enemy, is not external, but internal. As Pogo Possum said, "We have met the enemy and he is us."

What do you expect the Christians to do? Stage a revolution? They reliably (mostly) vote Republican. The only 3 reliable conservatives on the Supreme Court are Catholics. Being mostly lower and middle class working types, Christians are rarely Georgetown lawyers, Harvard or Yale graduates, so they are actually not very well represented in the Government. And if they are (Georgetown, Harvard, Yale) they usually have had the “Christian” sucked out of them and are worthless.

Christians of all people, will usually admit that they are not perfect, but trying to blame a group that has no real political power for screwing up this country is like blaming them for the fall of Rome when they were actually the ones that held Rome together after it fell due to its military over-extension and corruption. Even if the Christians had the political and economic power to reform the Anglo-Zionist Empire nobody would allow them to do it, for fear of that they might be inclined to do things that the non-Christians wouldn't like... like outlaw sexual perversion, pornography, drugs etc. Granted, Christians make a lot of noise, and every politician panders to their vote, but a quick look at which religion holds the real levers of power in the US will tell you it is definitely not the Christians.

<https://www.jewishvirtuallibrary.org/jews-in-the-biden-administration>

Of course, there are stupid conservatives just like there are stupid people in any social grouping. But in my opinion, the real problem with conservatism in America is NOT that conservatives are stupid so much as it is that there is really nothing much left in this country to conserve. The conservative instinct lacks any clear direction for any doable cause that will actually make a difference because there is nothing to latch onto. You think that the gender insanity disease is a problem and you would like to prevent your son or daughter (grandson or granddaughter) from being brainwashed in school by some faggot or tranny to cut his dick off (remove her breasts) and take puberty blockers and opposite sex hormones? How do you even try to “conserve” a sane sexual ethic in America without being sued, vilified in the press, have your kids kicked out of school, perverts and/or FBI show up at your door and threaten to kill you or throw you in jail? Or, have your fellow conservatives turn on you and tell you that the battle has nothing to do with sex because it is really all about economics? And this doesn't even take into consideration that you will NEVER get a consensus on what sexual ethics actually SHOULD be, even among conservatives.

<https://www.theamericanconservative.com/play-the-game/>

Don't like something about the way the economy is being managed or mismanaged? You fail to realize that we live in an oligarchy masquerading as a democracy and unless you are an oligarch... Bezos, Musk, Zuckerberg, Gates, Page, Brin, Ellison, Buffett, Balmer, Bloomberg, Walton, Knight, Koch, Dell, Schwarzman, Blavatnik... etc. etc. you don't really have a say in anything. Your little vote is just there to make you think that you do to (hopefully) keep you from rioting.

The issue is civilizational and there is no such thing any more as an American civilization. You cannot have civilization in a country of 333 million individuals where individual rights are the highest possible value and all 333 million only want to do their own thing and be left alone while grabbing as much stuff as they can possibly get. Here is a great piece on that subject that explains why both China and Russia are both more conservative than America and more free. Unfortunately, it is behind a paywall. I have a pdf copy but I don't think you can attach a pdf to this thread. (Someone please tell me how, if it can be done.)

<https://chroniclesmagazine.org/view/why-russia-and-china-are-more-conservative-than-the-west/>

Plato (Confucius, Dostoevsky... and many others) have all said that a kite without a string will not fly. The string restrains the kite but it is the restraint that allows the kite to resist the wind and fly. Freedom follows form. Not the other way around. Total freedom is a pipe dream that has never existed (at least for very long) and never will. Democracy only works in a world where the majority of people agree on the same basic civilizational strings. Thus, democracy is rare and never last for very long and is functionally non-existent in America.

Nobody agrees on anything in America. Thus, (as Plato predicted) when democracy finally breaks down oligarchy arises, because at least the oligarchs can still make things happen due to money, political connections, the ability to fund academic chairs, dispense scholarships and... they own the media. But sooner or later, when the serfs finally realize that their sacred democracy is actually a ruse, oligarchy will no longer work either. Then comes anarchy followed by tyranny. None of this can be changed... (it's a non-alterable historical progression like the fact that you need oxygen in the air you breath and will die without it)... though those with the right skills, character, and means could plot revolution... but there are no guarantees. If you are merely smart, too old, or not temperamentally suited to fight (and probably die) in a revolution, then just get the hell out of Dodge while you still can.

I know enough about this website to know that this view will not go over very well with a large contingent of people who live in the comments section. But the US is 245 years old... China can be irrefutably proven to be minimally 5,000, easily argued to be 10,000+ and... depending on how you measure civilization, as much as 40,000 years old.

<https://razib.substack.com/p/genetic-history-with-chinese-characteristics>

I have already placed my bets on who will win the civilizational contest. Every American should do the same. In the end, the military will not save us, especially one that has lost every war it has ever fought since WWII and only fights proxy wars by paying off corrupt Jews like Zelenskyy while sucking its own revenue source dry – the US taxpayer. The US Military is NOT your friend. It is a violent mafia that terrorizes the world in order to sustain its own infrastructure and industrial partners while squeezing resources out of smaller countries and selling them weapons they don't need.

The global financial crisis has been inevitable since the financialisation of the US economy. It was pretty clearly foretold by numerous Marxians and others ever since the Thatcher/Reagan reaction set it, and Marx himself identified financialisation as a manifestation of late stage capitalism, as the return on capital from mere production continued to decrease. The inexorable growth of debt was a pretty good clue as to what is coming, inevitably. The longer delayed, the greater the debacle, and the more frenzied the methods used to avert the ineluctable.

Curious re Kazantzakis....Zorba the Greek revealed much more soul/spirit than most novels of that era. It influenced me as much as Jung for a number of years. Koestler did a critique on Jung in his book on Coincidence and Jung's concept of the overloaded coincidence as rather being congruence. For some years now, my philosophical position is that the whole is equal to, yet greater than, the sum of its parts. All is one and One is All.

There's obviously something wrong with modern white people. As an observation, white people are unusually driven by a simple, single-minded devotion to ideas. This sometimes served them well, but it now leads them to have their thinking hijacked by weird verbal abstractions.

Take the term "big government," it doesn't really mean anything, yet conservative white people will sell off their country just as easily as leftists, if you simply frame it as thinking of government being bad and global corporations being good.

Part of the solution is arguably some form of white tribalism and liberationism, which necessarily has to make up for the deficiencies of many whites, and counteract their lack of ethnocentrism and excessive devotion to ideas. They arguably have to think more like jews, that is, like a diaspora people that must ensure their continued survival amidst hostile governments and a chaotic world.

“Ennui” means “boredom”. Whoever named you that is a shrewd judge of character. I nodded off halfway through your self-congratulatory monologue of garbage and impotent vitriol.

I did laugh when you mentioned your “inherited land”. It stands to reason—left to your own devices, you’d be hard-pressed to make your 90-day probation period at Arby’s.

A pampered, coddled, clueless weasel like you has no idea about anything, but you won’t let that stop you from vomiting forth your fantasy worldview. Your tortured prose that you used trying to pin my life down is laughable—and incorrect in every respect, which doesn’t surprise me. “Often wrong, but never in doubt”. That’s you.

I tried to visualize the face of what a smug, pretentious, privileged doofus like you must look like. Probably like a well-used “cum sock” with eyeballs.

conservatives are stupid, you just have to accept this fact, in fact the only thing more stupid than a conservative is a liberal.

Stupidity follows conformity like a shadow.
And conformity is what both have in common.

One is just more willing to use violence than the other.
Even wholesale slaughter if necessary.
That conservatives have been reduced to a state of learned helplessness would explain the movement of late from Anarcho-Tyranny to flat out Sadomasochism.

In an alternative explanation, I know that some Christians believe we are currently living in the “End Times.” They see all the dreadful, decadent things happening in this country and the rest of the world, and they have become convinced that this evil world will soon come to an end. Then, they will get raptured to Heaven and live in eternal bliss. Well, if that is your belief, there is obviously no point in trying too hard to correct problems in this world.

Well stated and I think this is more of a problem than people realize.

I heard two conservatives in the grocery store talk about how the world going to hell is “good news” because it means Christ is coming back.

This is one of many reasons why I have mixed feelings on Christianity. If not kept in check it can lead Whites down unhealthy paths or simply encourage apathy. Is the world going to hell? Well that means the prophecy is true!!! Hooray brothers, no need to bother with politics! Just tune out and watch football.

I grew up in the Church and I am fully aware of how many Christians basically drop out. No need to get involved in politics because God is going to fix America someday. In fact a lot of Conservative Christians believe that any attempt at fixing the country through government is materialistic socialism and therefore evil. I’ve had Conservative Christians and especially boomers actually get upset with me for suggesting that a political party can help workers economically and also promote family values. They can’t wrap their brains around the concept and go bleep bleep boop boop like broken robots. Error Error bloop bloop must be Socialism!

But with that said the doomsday Christians aren't the worst sect of conservatism.

The worst sect is by far the libertarians. These are people that want you to believe that private insurance companies are your best friends and Bill Gates needs more money so he can create more jobs...or something. Libertarians are unable to think outside of "minimal government" somehow fixing everything. It's a weird cult and ironically has a Jewish founder. The irony is that I can't count how many Whites online I have seen complain about Jewish influence and then revert to Randbot thinking where any government regulation is socialism. LET THE COMPANIES POLLUTE OR ELSE UR A COMMIE.....CUZ RAND SAID SO.

It's just all really stupid and more importantly hasn't defeated the left. Our Evangelical-Randbot bizarro alliance that makes up Con Inc is completely incompetent when it comes to taking on the left. Both sides of the alliance adhere to race denial and rejecting government based solutions. This means all their arguments and solutions end up centering around Christ 'n tax cuts. It doesn't work and they basically act as ideal competition for the left. The left knows full well that they won't cross the race line nor will they use economic populism to gain voters. Con Inc uses the same old predictable dog and pony show that at best will hold the left back 10 years. Conservatism is a temporary albatross for the left and that is why I am critical of it. It has no strategy for taking on the left and will ultimately lose.

even agree with this but the problem immediately arises when you identify the “real enemy” as non-white persons.

Except that I have never in my life identified the “real enemy” as non-white persons.

The thought experiment above was to demonstrate that there is nothing evil about feeling greater affinity for your own—that it doesn’t mean you hate everyone else, that there is something unnatural about you if you don’t feel a heightened solicitude for your own people.

The real enemy is easy to identify. All one has to do is find out who is responsible for turning our own culture so poisonously against us it could produce this lethal condition:

Chinese nepotism = good business

Jewish nepotism = group survival strategy

Black nepotism = brotherhood

Latino nepotism = family values

White nepotism = racism

What happened in AZ was that 1-man / 1 vote rule was changed to 1-woman / 100 ballots rule. Elections in AZ are unsupervised thanks to the Republican legislature. So, a woman can go pick up 100 ballots, have real or phony unregistered voters fill in and sign the ballots, and the woman will return them to a ballot box located on a street corner for pick up. That is what happened. And it was legal (although immoral). Capish?

There's no time left to fix the US by adopting any new measures. Besides, there's absolutely no will to do so. Bankruptcy has been avoided for far too long but it's now apparent to anyone that wants to see that the Dollar is rapidly heading toward no value and the bulk of the world has had enough of the US's bullshit. Costs for foreign goods are going to sky rocket because there's no way to fight price inflation while the rest of the world gets rid of their dollar addiction.

People should be considering what happens when states keep increasing taxes to pretend things will continue as they did before. Are any gov'ts firing their workers [sic] to reduce costs? Every move from every authoritarian corner is designed to increase the pressure on the average person. This entire governmental mechanism has no reverse gear so they will push and push till something breaks internally and then it will turn into an avalanche of failures.

The more fiscally responsible states might be a better place to be when the SHTF. However, individually people need to be prepared for at least several months of shortages of everything they normally require. The low life people that have been paid off with welfare are going to reveal their inner savage so crime especially in the cities can only rise. But the US is 245 years old... China can be irrefutably proven to be minimally 5,000, easily argued to be 10,000+ and...

I used to hear that phrase a lot—China has 5,000 years of history—when I was teaching in a university in Beijing. It is the go-to Chinese explanation of themselves, like “freedom” used to be for Americans.

Once in a while, I’d have a bit of fun with them when someone would say something like “but America is a very young country. China has 5000 years of history.”

Wait, I’d say, the United States is much older than China. And they would just look at me, shocked, like I had two heads. Sure, I’d continue, the United States is 240 years old and China is only 50 years old.

Ha ha, they would laugh. You are talking about the People’s Republic of China. We are talking about the Chinese civilization.

Oh, well, I would reply, if you are talking about civilization, I come from a very old civilization too. Aristotle and Confucius were contemporaries.

The entirety of christianity consists of being subservient to some mythical being that created everything and exists outside of everything and no one is ever supposed to ask who created that entity. The fraud of christianity and all other religions, is opposed by people that know how to think clearly which apparently excludes you.

It was the dumbing down process encouraged by the very tactics of christianity that leads directly to their flock also respecting their secular gods known as the political class. The christians were even told to ‘Give to Caesar what belongs to Caesar, and to God what belongs to God. ‘ to set them up to be hosed over by both the priestly class and the political class. Christianity makes people believe in things that aren’t real and is why they line up to vote for their new slave handler.

I agree. There is no will to do so. However, Stein's law will take effect: "What cannot go on forever, will stop". The government will just run out of money. The first thing to go will be our huge military and interventionist foreign policy. The era of most people taking a 14-year vacation at the end of their life paid for by the government will end. Higher education will be restricted to the small minority capable of handling it. Able bodied adults will be expected to work and not commit crimes and those who don't meet that expectation will be treated harshly.

There will be a period that will be quite bad while we are transitioning to this. I would look to the libertarian Cato Institute ranking of states by freedom for where to move. I live in the sixth ranked state, Indiana. As you say, having supplies and guns will be a good idea. I don't think the U.S. will officially break up but there will be a de facto break up where the states go their own way led by their governors. You can already see that starting with DeSantis and Florida.

Protests are becoming more and more violent over his push to increase the retirement age.

Froggies have been spoiled even worse than Americans.

You are right, no doubt about that. One friend who left France for the US returned after 3 months. All Americans do he stated is work to pay bills. At 5 pm in France, he is done and heads to the sidewalk cafe. Saturdays and Sundays he does not work. At 5 pm at the time my day was just beginning and I would head until 12 midnight at times for a 16-18 hour day. I generally also worked several hours Saturdays just to have quiet time and catch up for the past week and try to get ahead for the coming week. Its madness when I think about it now !!

Pass by any large corporation on a Saturday and Sunday and there are cars in the parking lot. People are working. Its the American way.

I wont assert that either is good or bad. What I am saying is that the French have resorted to violent protests to retain their lifestyle whether we agree with it or not. Here in the US however people just bend over to be screwed some more.

The Politicians in the USA encourage peaceful protests. Why not ?? They then look out their windows at the idiots marching up and down and laugh. Let them shout, let them march, let them wave placards and flags.

Soon they rabble will go away and we will continue doing what we do so fuck them ! So, while we may both be spoilt little kiddies, the French battle for their interests, we dont !

We are of a similar mind.

Everything hinges on the Dollar / economy. The longer this slow motion train wreck creaks along the worse it will be when failure will be obvious to everyone. Slowly, but ever more rapidly, the majority of the world's gov'ts and people are stepping out from under US hegemony. The banking failures in the US or Europe at a minimum are going to lead to more failures unless the Fed & Treasury monetize them to backstop their losses but that then just fuels monetary inflation which quickly will morph to price inflation. The Fed / Treasury / Fed Gov has no way out and there's no foreign entity big enough to help even if they wanted to which they don't. The new rate of interest on gov't paper can only be paid with even more currency from thin air in a positive feedback loop to failure that is unavoidable.

At some point, the Fed Gov will institute border controls heading out, price controls, currency controls, forcefully convert people's savings into gov't paper and if they manage a CBDC (Criminal Bureaucrat Digital Control) then that will buy them time but not alter the final outcome. I expect more unconstitutional laws, more mandates, more dictatorial control going forward with the left fully on board because their entire existence depends on gov't force.

A real war is a possibility to make everyone fearful and thus controllable, with the covid scam as verification but they need more grunts if they want to take on Russia & China simultaneously and it will be simultaneously at Russia and China's insistence. I would love to see the attempt at a draft. Given that the US has wasted enormous amounts of military hardware on the Ukraine adventure, I doubt they could attempt anything that doesn't involve nukes rather quickly. Russia in particular will retaliate in kind and then it's Mad Max.

The world's mafias are realizing their funny money scheme is nearing an end and they desperately want a new gimmick that allows them to retain their power, perks and privilege.

“The answer lies within” is a well worn cliché, but most people do not contemplate its profound importance and relevance. Christianity missed the boat entirely, with its anthropomorphic structures, dramatis personae, and physical symbols resembling an ideal of gourmet meals, and ideal weather. All concrete, full of miracles for a population that was over 85% illiterate.

Buddha, Oriental religions, CG Jung went the opposite way of Christianity. They explored worlds within, the only enduring anything. The only Reality there is.

When I first read Buddha and Jung, I realized that I had been a Buddhist all my life, that the immediate truth and veracity of his teachings were self evident, finding the REAL El dorado of Existence.

6 in 10 Evangelicals believe that Jesus Christ will return before 2050

<https://www.good.is/articles/more-than-40-percent-of-americans-believe-the-rapture-is-coming>

What is the point in fixing anything if Christ returns by 2050? Makes more sense to hunker down and wait it out. Which is the attitude of Evangelicals. No need to bother with politics, turn on college football and wait for Jesus to fix America.

Non-sequitur. Because two people in your imaginary story said what they said, you have a problem with an entire religion, instead of their pre-modern interpretation of it.

I have all kinds of problems with Christianity. The first being that they teach their kids stories from the Old Testament as if they are 100% true.

I grew up in Christianity and don't appreciate being taught that God flooded the earth and killed everyone out of spite. There is no evidence that it happened and that history would be easily visible in DNA.

I also don't appreciate being taught that race is just skin color and God made everyone the same (except for the Jews). Race is not just skin color.

Genesis has all kinds of problems. I fail to see how an omnipotent God wouldn't get it 100% correct.

I've had Conservative Christians and especially boomers actually get upset with me for suggesting that a political party can help workers economically (Haha!) and also promote family values (Hahahaha!).

What is so funny about that? Are you also unable to wrap your brain around the concept? Tax billionaires and subsidize pro-natal policies for the middle class. It's not that difficult.

@Priss Factor

So, I ask this plain, simple, and direct question: Why are conservatives so stupid? And a side question is: Why are conservative so weak and timid?

Or, more simply, Why are conservatives so weak and stupid?

If what A.J. wrote in the first couple of paragraphs is at all accurate, and of course it is, and if the Left's victory is Pyrrhic, which of course it is, in short, if the Right is weak and stupid and the Left is insane and evil, which of course they are, and if the consequences of both are immense because the Right and Left together constitute the majority, which of course they do, then perhaps a better question would be,

Why are human beings so maladaptive?

Leaving that deadly question aside, the reason it's never asked is because if answered it would give those on both sides of a polarized culture a knowledge about themselves that they do not want to have.

Conclusion: Stupidity is properly, though not exclusively, located in the human addiction to Salvation Systems; ideologies or theologies that claim to be perfect and coherent and therefore able to solve all of our social and economic problems.

No wonder their belief-systems (always called truths) come with either a religious heaven or a political utopia. Because only in those places are all problems solved, and solved forever. Unfortunately, those places don't exist, except in the mind of the believers. Talk about stupid and maladaptive. Which is the real point.

The two go together.

Perhaps those individuals the world over with no such ideological or theological (same thing) commitments represent our only excuse for hope. It very well may be.

The only “rapture” conservatives are likely to experience is in holding camps after child porn is slipped onto their computers and their tax returns are audited and found to be off by ten cents.

The real question is why are both major political parties, and several others besides, all run or funded by billionaire Jews? I’ve read that a majority of billionaires in the US are Jewish. Maybe someone could confirm that? If so, then it’s a sure bet that the proportion is steadily increasing and therefore their political power. Again, nothing in America makes sense without understanding the boomers and their enormous, unprecedented generational theft. No movement or institution will run properly while being dominated by significant numbers of boomers. The quickest path to change in America is checking the power and wealth of the boomers.

As for conservatism, since at least the Reagan era, it's simply a movement that caters to the extreme greed and narcissism of the wealthy, and those who desire to emulate and simp for them. Everything else is window dressing.

Before the boomers, the wealthy at least had a sense of noblesse oblige, and observed a real if implicit social contract with the society that had enabled their immense fortune and prosperity. But this all went out the window with the trickle-down economics, "greed is good." and free market mania of Reaganism. Spoiled boomer conservatives believe weird things like "The worst thing imaginable is someone saying 'I'm from the government, and I'm here to help!' Ronald Reagan said do!" They preach that government never works, so they even have a built in incentive to ensure it fails. To actually deliver results would be anathema to their ideology.

Of course, this isn't to say there's no legitimate intuition that might make a bit of sense behind this idea, but the flaw was simply in denigrating "government," instead of the massive consolidation and centralization of power and wealth in general. Let alone actually empowering individuals and communities.

When it comes to boomers in general, they generally recoil at the idea of actually investing in any long-term projects for the future, simply because they can't stand the thought of any resources going to benefit someone other than them. This explains much of American politics.

Sheep go “baaa” and Christians go “race is just skin color”. Of course, people only pretend to take this literally. Nobody would actually be fooled into thinking that a white man with a deep tan is a negro, or that a negro with white skin due to albinism is actually a white man. It’s just a kind of coded message; a way of virtue signaling.

Unfortunately, not all of the people who repeat this “race is just skin color” lie are Christians. If I’m not mistaken, it’s the official position of the American Anthropological Association, and is shared by many scientists who ought to know better. It’s credibly claimed to be the majority opinion of the scientific community worldwide.

One gets the distinct impression that people unconsciously hope that if they repeat this lie enough, it will come true. And of course, that strategy could work. Denying the importance of race is a great help in hybridizing the various races and thereby eliminating their distinctive qualities. Given enough race mixing, race will lose its usefulness as an index to an association of human appearances and behaviors. Once that happens races as such will have gone extinct and there will be no longer any need to speak of them. Some people would call this progress. Others would call it genocide.

@Ennui

Just remember, best not to get tattoos with initials. You don't know if this time it will work out or not.

I don't have any tattoos, Wanky Boi, and I was a Marine, so you'd think that I'd at least have an EGA on one shoulder or something. But I don't.

So, you're wrong again. Do you fap to tatted up manly men—is that the root cause to your fixation with them?

Say hi to your grandma for me. She doesn't regret the "Property of Ace Deuce" tattoo she had inked on her tuchis in tribute to me.

Conservatives are indeed not very smart on a host of issues.

The fundamental reason is religious belief. This idea holds that the most important aspect of existence is an imaginary supernatural realm—said to be mysterious, unexplainable by reason, and to be dealt with by faith, which is antithetical to reason. The most important aspect of what the religious regard as knowledge is awe-inspired worship of this imaginary supernatural realm based on faith. Faith is belief in a phenomenon against reason, meaning without proof and despite evidence to the contrary.

The history of the rise of individual freedom has been the rise of reason as the only means of getting knowledge. This world view has been in retreat for 150 years and is today widely regarded with contempt, rejected in ways subtle and explicit. (For example, Marxist class consciousness has devolved to post modernism, which denies knowledge and meaning). Universities have long been centers of indoctrination of hostility to reason and of leftist doctrines. Is it surprising that control of all education has awarded the left dominance over the minds of those schooled in nonsense and lies?

Yet conservatives mostly support government schooling, which they naively believe could be a force for good indoctrination under their control, as by for example classroom prayer and recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance.

Neither left nor right defends reason nor have they for many generations. Conservatives today want more individualism than leftists, but closely examine a religious conservative and one will discover an authoritarian mystic. The issue any particular conservative wants to resolve with coercion depends on the mindset of that individual, meaning anything any mystic feels strongly about he or she will tend to hold to, contrary to reason based on faith. For faith is the virtuous approach to knowledge, the religious feel, which encourages their default of reason.

Since religious conservatives are fundamentally unfriendly to reason, they fall into the fallacy of rejecting “too much” reasoned thinking as sinful and misleading. This religious attitude translates to rejection of “too much” individualism.

The most important distinguishing feature of individuals is their character, which is their policy and history of moral choice, which stems from their thinking about the nature of right and wrong, truth and falsehood. Religious conservatives tend to defer to collectivism, not in all matters but in many, because they think individuals must be made to conform to religious interpretations of good citizenship and decency. Some of those beliefs are substantially correct and others are wrong. But religious conservatives believe people must adopt proper ideas regarding morality and truth based on faith, which is said to be handed down by a supernatural entity. The words of the Entity are to be interpreted and enforced by religious-political elites (the Elect) or in some religious movements by the individual, based arbitrarily and unpredictably on faith and feeling.

Religious conservatives do not reject all reason, obviously. Many of their ideas are founded on reason and common-sense observation. The problem is that the religious are ultimately antagonistic to reason, which they reject whenever they feel a need to and partly depending on the subconscious pull of cultural notions.

Both the mystics on the left and right hold to the ethos of altruism. Ultimately, altruism demands the sacrifice of the mind of the individual to the “wisdom” of the collective, meaning the decrees of political leaders. The values to be sacrificed by individuals include their freedom to think. to earn and hold property, to associate freely, and on and on. Since conservatives believe in the morality of altruism, how can they effectively criticize “too much” altruism? They cannot criticize forced sacrifice as fundamentally bad; they can only plead, “Do a little less, go slower.”

Only individuals can choose to think. But if “too much” reasoned thinking is dangerous and misleading, then too much individual freedom is wrong. Such an outlook is therefore hostile to both reason and individual freedom.

@Dr. Robert Morgan

Sheep go “baaa” and Christians go “race is just skin color”. Of course, people only pretend to take this literally. Nobody would actually be fooled into thinking that a white man with a deep tan is a negro, or that a negro with white skin due to albinism is actually a white man. It’s just a kind of coded message; a way of virtue signaling.

No they really believe it. I once thought the same until I spent time around conservatives.

Both Christian and liberal Whites that haven’t been around Blacks really do believe that race is skin color but with a sports exemption. Suburban Whites fully buy into what they are told on television and in church. They get a double dose of race denial.

Fox News wouldn’t exist if Christian Conservatives believed that race is tied to evolution. Fox promotes solutions predicated on “big government” and “big city Democrats” creating racial conflicts. It’s a complete eyeroll to anyone that has studied biology and race. Other conservative organizations would fall apart if its members believed in race. Conservative and libertarian organizations have spent over half a billion dollars on charter schools in the belief that “bad skooz” are the problem. Even Gates spent over 200 million to prove that “bad teachers” were the problem before quietly changing his focus back to Africa and Malaria.

It isn’t just something they tell kids in Sunday school. Most of them really believe it. Gates is highly intelligent and even he believed the libertarian narrative for a period. If anything high intelligence combined with isolation is a predictable recipe for race denial. I’ve never met a Mexican that bought into any of this fantasy equality island bullshit. Middle class Whites have a very hard time with the possibility that Genesis is flawed and their liberal professors either were lying or ignorant of reality.

Denying the importance of race is a great help in hybridizing the various races and thereby eliminating their distinctive qualities. Given enough race mixing, race will lose its usefulness as an index to an association of human appearances and behaviors.

Well sure that is the unspoken plan of the left and even many urban or “fiscal” (read selfish) conservatives support race mixing as a solution. They both view it as the only solution to an unfortunate problem. But your common suburban middle class Christian conservative really believes that race is superficial with the exception of sports. The reality of race causes problems for both creationism and conservatism. Too many conservative beliefs assume race isn’t a factor and government regulation is somehow the problem.

Both liberals and conservatives in a city like DC know it is a lie. It’s completely disgusting that Whites on both sides can dedicate themselves to a lie. I have conservatives in my history admitting that they have to lie but they all provide the same excuse of having no choice. Well conservatism is losing so I don’t see why these Whites believe in lying and denigrating their own race when the plan isn’t working.

Once that happens races as such will have gone extinct and there will be no longer any need to speak of them. Some people would call this progress. Others would call it genocide.

Our cowardly conservatives won’t even acknowledge that we exist. The other races are allowed to talk about themselves but Whites are expected to be in some indefinitely void category.

@Vito Klein

Yes, of course your last sentence is technically correct. But, how many Americans know ANYTHING at all about Aristotle, VS how many Chinese know something about Confucius and imbibed Confucian ideals along with their mother's Milk? Plus, Chinese civilization goes back way before Confucius.

The Chinese themselves only claim 5,000 years of civilization. So where do people come up with 10,000 (actually 10,000+)? It all depends on how you define what constitutes civilization. If, as most moderns, you define civilization as the advent of standardized writing, then the earliest Chinese Oracle Bone Script dates back to 1254 BC (± 10 years). So if standardized writing is your definition of where a civilization begins, then the Chinese can only claim 3,277 years... still significantly more than the US by a long shot. If you use the English language as your marker even Old Anglo Saxon English cannot be traced back any earlier than 500 AD, and even that is a stretch.

If you want to argue that the US is really an extension of Great Britain, and Great Britain is "the West or Europe" → Roman Empire → Greece → Mesopotamia... then the earliest Mesopotamian (Sumerian) script (cuneiform) does go back to 2 or 3,000 BC (depending on dating technique used) but in either case, predating the Chinese by approximately only 750 years \pm ... not huge in the grand scheme of things.

However, the really serious problems arise when you begin looking at genetics, migration and demography. Nobody, not even the Chinese, claim that the Chinese were the first humans. While evolutionary biology claims that the first humans came out of Africa, civilization (as defined by language) clearly seems to have gotten its start in ancient Mesopotamia, which would also be consistent with the Bible. And not insignificantly the genetics also trace the earliest (Neolithic) Chinese to the Ancient Near East and the earliest Sumerian pictographic languages are much more similar to Chinese than to later Indo-European languages. Therefore, if you insist on linking the US with the Western civilizational chain back to Mesopotamia you have to do the same for China.

Also, based on genetics and geography, the Chinese are in a far better position with an unbroken link back to Mesopotamia because of the Neanderthal problem which the Chinese seem to have mostly escaped but which the Europeans did not. Therefore, even if the Chinese (as of today) do not have as old of a recorded language and history as Mesopotamia (new archeological data may yet prove otherwise) what they do have is an indisputable continuity as a distinct race or people which is without parallel on earth and actually dates back to at least 37,977 BC or an astonishing 40,000 years ago. So, the 10,000+ years is actually very modest.

As you obviously know, every civilization (ancient or otherwise) never advances in a straight line. China is coming out of a dark age most of which was caused (as Mao correctly understood) by “foreign devils” (the West and the Japanese) and corrupt Chinese oligarchs. The Americans think in years at best. The Chinese think in millennia. My bet is on the Chinese.

@Reactionary Utopian

I actually did something concrete and successful for the White race in California. Husband still harassed me about it.

In 1993 White Californians like me began proposing a state referendum Proposition 209 forbidding affirmative action in all state county and city employment. This included quasi government jobs such as school districts hospitals and government contracting. Govt contracts are as big as direct government employment.

I didn't run around gathering signatures. I donated tens of thousands of MY money to Prop 209. Husband thought it was a hopeless cause and refused to donate any of OUR or HIS money. Because he thought White Americans were suicidal idiots.

Anyway, prop 209 was passed by about 60 percent in November election 1996. Hurrah hurrah.

2 days later a Jewish communist state judge, ordered an injunction against enforcing Prop 209. I forget her name

FYI, long before new laws are passed and signed by President or governor or win an election, both opponents and proponents have lawsuits already prepared to overturn or defend the new law. By 7/am day after election the Jews or legal couriers working for Jew lawyers were waiting in line outside the state courthouse in San Francisco. And it was fast tracked to be heard the next day. Unprecedented fast unbelievably fast. As anyone who's ever been a plaintiff knows.

Prop 209 was litigated for two years. And finally, miracle of miracles a pro White anti affirmative action law was upheld. In California, the largest state in America the satanic anti White country.

And what happened? Exactly nothing nothing nothing. Because there was no enforcement built into Prop 209. Merit selected Whites retired. Affirmative action Asian and Hispanic immigrants arrived. So after Prop 209 was finally upheld by the courts only Asians Hispanics Dot Indians and blacks were hired and given contracts at every level in California.

I could have bought rental property for our children with the money I donated to Prop 209. Or bought a 6 carat diamond ring. I might as well have tossed hundred dollar bills into the fireplace for all the good anti affirmative action Prop 209 did. So don't feel bad you're not doing anything for the White race. Whites are total losers in America, Europe, Canada, Australia etc.

The only place in the world where Whites are in solidarity with other Whites and control the blacks browns and Jews is Latin America. Come to think of it, I could have used the money I poured down the drain of Prop 209 for some of the dowry for one of our children to marry into a Latin American White elite ruling class family. And establish a safe haven for his her siblings when the Jews start the genocide of White Americans.

The United Nations established the ten stages of genocide. America is in stage 6 for genocide of Whites. One of the early stages is affirmative action racial ethnic religious discrimination.

Race traitor White man John Kennedy issued the first affirmative action executive order on March 6 1961 about 6 weeks after he became president. Race traitors White men President Lyndon Johnson, VP Hubert Humphrey . 100 White men senators and about 425 White men Congress critters passed the 1968 affirmative action law. And established the Jewish black staffer EEOC to vigorously ferociously viciously enforce the No Whites Need Apply law.

The ignorant moron Men of UNZ don't even know the names of the Supreme Court decisions that set affirmative action in stone forever and ever. Really, just one set of finding and just one order, VS 1973. By the White men of the Supreme Court. White men did it all. With the exception of 10 or 12 non White or women Congress critters.

The other No Whites Need Apply order by the White men of the Supreme Court was just a mopping up operation after the conquest. VS 1979. You and the rest of the ignorant Men Of UNZ never heard of that case either did you.

From the White men of the Supreme Court order in VS 1953 to White man Eisenhower sending federal troops to enforce the orders of the White men of the Supreme Court with tanks and bayonets shoved into the backs of White girls it was White men White men White men who accomplished a total coup against White Americans in just 20 years, 1953 to 1973. VS 1979 was just a mopping up operation after the conquest and total defeat of White America in a mere 20 years. A conquest and defeat of the great mass of Whites by White men. Presidents VPs judges especially Supreme Court judges senators and about 420, 425 Congress critters. White men, not White women.

And conservatives and the Men of UNZ endlessly comment about tattoos unnatural hair colors abortion hate White women so much they defend Jeff Epstein and Ghislaine Maxwell but heap scorn and hate on their teen and younger girl prostitutes.

So don't feel badly because you were never able to do anything for the White race. I did. I spent tens of thousands of dollars of my own money to fight affirmative action. Total waste of time and money. Might as well have thrown 600 hundred dollar bills into the fireplace.

This article has many many many factual errors. Like most UNZ writers and commenters the author lives on the internet And is unaware of reality, if I feel like it, I'll write a comment correcting the ignorance of the article. Husband is soo right. It's a waste of time and money to try to save the White race. Thank God we had the money to send the kids to White private schools and avoid the genocidal horrors ensuing after the White men of the Supreme Court ruled on VS 1953. What happened to White children after that decision and ruling fits the United Nations definition of stage 5 genocide BTW.

@Alden

The two official options for whites are the right or the left. The left preaches masochism for whites, collectivism and ethnonarcissism for nonwhites. The right allows whites to dispense with the extreme masochism (for now) but mandates individualism instead, ensuring whites are atomized and at each other's throats. Individualism is a psy-op, it ensures whites never discuss and speak about their own interests or form their own institutions.

The solution is for whites to immediately begin acting more like Jews. They have to view themselves as an international diaspora, dedicated to their own survival. Perhaps even study how the jews have historically operated might be worthwhile, such as how to better acquire sources of capital and work to support coethnics across the globe, in secret if necessary.

“Conservatism” is wrong-headed for a number of reasons, but it's all based on the presumption of being a valid political movement in a certain type of functioning, high-trust society that no longer exists.

John Johnson: “No they really believe it.”

If they really believed “race is just skin color” they would mistake a white man with a tan for a negro. They don’t. So taken literally, it’s just a lie.

John Johnson: “Fox News wouldn’t exist if Christian Conservatives believed that race is tied to evolution. ”

That’s probably a large part of the reason they don’t believe in evolution. Evolution presents Christianity with a lot of problems, and not just because a literal interpretation of the Genesis fable rules it out. For example, is the possession of a “soul” tied to evolution in some way?

<https://www.unz.com/jtaylor/slavery-and-its-discontents/#comment-5868486>

If yes, then when did it emerge? Did our pre-human ancestors have souls? Do monkeys have them? If no, then when exactly did modern humans acquire them? Neither evolution nor Christianity can give a clear answer to these questions.

John Johnson: “Both liberals and conservatives in a city like DC know it is a lie.”

So you really think Nancy Pelosi is secretly a racist? Maybe even a member of the KKK? LOL. Hilarious!

I don’t think these people are consciously lying. That would imply a respect for truth and a knowledge of the facts that they don’t have. It would be more accurate to say they’re just temporizing, hoping that with the passage of time the issue will become moot. Contributory factors here are the human propensity to conform to peer pressures, virtue signal, and a well-considered fear of what would happen to them if they said or even secretly believed something their friends might call “racist”. In short, they’re too afraid of the implications even to think seriously about it.

John Johnson: “[Race mixing] is the unspoken plan of the left and even many urban or “fiscal” (read selfish) conservatives support race mixing as a solution.”

You call it an unspoken plan. I call it a decision of the group mind.

@RoatanBill

Are you a religious person?

I guess, you are.

Questions about the meaning of human life, but which, so to speak, lie on the edge of life and the world, are usually identified as death, the meaning of life, suffering, disappointment, and love. Two superstitions are associated with existential issues.

One of them, very common in the Enlightenment and still represented today by Marxism-Leninism, simply denies the existence of existential issues. When we ask representatives of this superstition, such as the meaning of human life, especially death, they answer that everything will be fine when humanity enters paradise on earth, etc. This amounts to a denial of the existence of these issues, since we ourselves must die before humanity reaches that paradise, and in any case, our death is purely an individual matter: no social progress can solve the problem of death. One modern philosopher clearly formulated this superstition: “A wise person – he writes – thinks about nothing less than death, and his wisdom is meditation on life, not death” (Spinoza).

Another superstition regarding existential issues is the belief that they are internal-worldly matters, and therefore subject to scientific research. A positivist must indeed take such a position, since according to him, only science can answer our pressing questions.

But both of these beliefs are superstitions. Existential issues are among the most important ones that a person can pose for themselves, if they are not the most important ones at all. Although we have an innate tendency to close our eyes to them (Heidegger), they impose themselves on everyone sooner or later with great force. Therefore, denying their existence is a strange superstition. It is also a superstition to believe that existential issues can be solved through scientific methods – since science is completely powerless in relation to them: they lie completely beyond its scope. The solution to existential issues usually provides a worldview, and especially religion.

Simple: the left hasn't a conscientious. They destroy things that get in their way without an iota of regret nor guilt.

Republicans still feel the almighty will serve justice— dumb as fckkkkk— and are foolishly feeling the pavement war(s) won't come to their neighborhoods.

Maybe once a drug store gets burnt to the ground and loved ones don't get their meds will the right understand its strength.

At whichever rate, being principled to a fault seldom yields an indemnity to stave off the evil left. This predictability is pathetic.

But what if those same tenets were invested into brute force?

Yes: the right will need to be ready to go to war if that's the only recourse. Otherwise, the left beats the right by using the right's strength against them; they exploit this which becomes the right's kryptonite.

The left's kryptonite???

They're inherently inferior in too many ways, so that's that.

The rubber is going to meet the road soon. Be ready, fellow soldiers.

I'm an atheist; have been since roughly mid catholic grammar school. I'm also an engineer and professional software developer. My feet are firmly planted on the solid material ground.

I read the entirety of your post and came away shaking my head. That some people waste their time pondering the imponderable is a wonder. Those that try to ascribe some deep meaning to life and death are just bullshit artists wasting their time. Religion is one of two greatest scams ever invented, the other being government, each being one side of the same coin.

People that seriously study philosophy as taught today, sociology, anthropology, and the rest of the humanities and social sciences are asking to have their minds polluted with rubbish. In centuries past, philosophy led to the sciences because it asked real questions, not the arcanum of today's frauds. Science was the answer the ancient philosophers were looking for but were too wrapped up in their naval gazing to realize it. Today's non STEM adherents are the useless eaters in the world that don't actually know anything or produce anything the world relies on, but pretend they do. They are the ones that have no function in life so they gravitate towards the levers of power where they wreak havoc all across the globe, the exception being China where the engineer and scientist sociopaths are in charge.

I was raised inside the christian cult and thought my way out of it. The education the nuns gave me allowed me to see that large parts of their teaching was valid, but the religious part was just propaganda. For the religious and non STEM naval gazers, I can only say I've been where you are currently and I've seen what “I can’t love people who are shooting at me. I can’t walk the Christian talk. Neither can most nominal Christians, even though they pretend to.”

This is wrong and an excuse. You can, but you choose not to. You could, but you won’t. It is not a matter of inability. It boils down to personal choice on your part and that of every other person who has ever lived, including those nominal Christians you mention to justify your own inaction.

Everyone dies. Everyone stands before God to account for their life. Everyone stands before God individually, by himself. Alone. At that time, it will do no good to make the claim that you couldn’t, you didn’t have what it took, you were unable.

Unless, of course, there is no God, no Heaven or Hell, no eternity—only mindless oblivion into which one disappears without a trace, never to be seen, heard of, nor remembered ever again. If that is the case, then does it really matter what we do in the here and now? Why should we live “properly” if we are going to be eradicated, completely non-existent, in just a little while? What is the meaning of this life anyway if it means nothing as soon as we die?

Why should I care?

Vito,

I appreciate the calm, reasoned manner in which you are discussing this with me. Thank you.

“Except that I have never in my life identified the “real enemy” as non-white persons.”

Not in so many words, perhaps, but then there is this.

“It detracts attention away from our real enemy. It damages white unity.”

I read this as, “It detracts attention away from our real enemy, who is anyone damaging or seeking to damage white unity. Those who do not buy into the concept must be treated as an enemy.”

I do agree with your statement that there is nothing evil about wanting to be around your own people. I moved to western Montana years ago from Jacksonville, FL and part of the rationale was the observable fact that the population in Montana is overwhelmingly white and of Caucasian/northern European descent. I prefer to live among whites as opposed to living among blacks, but this does not mean nor imply that I am racist. I am far more concerned with the application of justice for everyone, regardless of their race, than I am about joining a group which tends to see only the evils of other groups and sets itself up in opposition to them.

To my way of thinking, white unity, black unity, Jewish unity, Chinese unity, etc., are nothing more than aspects of the same mindset—that whatever group I belong to is right and all others must be defended against. Tribalism, in plain English, which divides people into groups and encourages them to fight with each other over their differences. I'm not interested in that and would rather treat everyone as an individual, judging them on their own merits.

Is this misguided? Naive? I don't think so. I've spent a lifetime developing the attitude. I'm not likely to change. Can you convince me I'm wrong? You're welcome to try.
