Elon Musk často tweetuje (nebo x) o nebezpečí vylidňování: „Příliš mnoho lidí podléhá iluzi, že Země je přelidněná, i když trendy porodnosti tak zjevně směřují ke kolapsu populace“, „Kolapsující porodnost je největší nebezpečí, kterému civilizace zdaleka čelí“, „Světová populace se zrychluje ke kolapsu“ atd. Mnoho dalších lidí se také nedávno začalo znepokojovat extrémně nízkou porodností ve velké části světa. Porodnost v Evropě, Asii, Severní a Jižní Americe klesla hluboko pod úroveň nahrazování a v Africe nyní prudce klesá. „Demografický přechod“ z vysoké na nízkou plodnost se odehrával nebo děje všude.

Možná díky panu Muskovi nyní hodně lidí diskutuje o populačních problémech – je lidí příliš mnoho nebo málo, globální populace exploduje nebo se hroutí? Nebudu se vyjadřovat k tomu, zda je na světě příliš mnoho nebo příliš málo lidí, protože se zdá tak zřejmé, že více lidí je lepších než méně. Ale měli bychom být schopni se shodnout alespoň na něčem empirickém, jako zda v současnosti míříme do světa tak přeplněného jako Hongkong nebo prázdného jako Sibiř. A myslím, že můžeme. Populační matematika není tak těžká. Je to jen aritmetika, takže je překvapivé, že tak skvělý technolog jako Musk to udělal tak špatně.

Můj děda měl 10 dětí, můj otec měl 1 dítě, já mám 0 dětí. Vypadá to jako špatný trend. Kdyby to udělal každý, nezůstal by nikdo. A dělá to spousta lidí. Na Západě je nyní průměrná porodnost pouze 1,5 dítěte na ženu. Ve třetím světě je porodnost vyšší, ale rychle klesá. Zbytek světa je ve svém demografickém přechodu jen pár desetiletí za námi.

Plodnost se obvykle měří u dětí na ženu v průběhu jejího reprodukčního života. Ve Spojených státech je plodnost asi 1,7 dítěte na ženu. Ke stabilní populaci jsou nutné 2 děti na ženu (ve skutečnosti o něco vyšší, aby se zohlednila dětská úmrtnost). 1,7 dítěte na ženu znamená 0,85 dítěte na osobu, takže při takovém tempu by každá generace byla pouze o 85 % větší než generace předchozí. Jiné rozvinuté země mají dokonce nižší porodnost než USA. Evropa má v průměru 1,5 dítěte na ženu, Čína 1,2, Korea 0,8. V Koreji má každá generace pouze 40 % velikosti předchozí generace. Zdá se, že klesají k zániku.

To se neděje jen ve vyspělém světě. V bohatých zemích porodnost před desítkami let zkolabovala. V chudých zemích se to nyní hroutí. Ani muslimské a africké země nejsou imunní. Zde je míra porodnosti v Íránu v posledních desetiletích:

Rok	Počet dětí na ženu v Íránu
1980	6.6
1990	4.9
2000	2,0
2020	1.7

Lidé, kteří se obávají vylidňování, navrhli mnoho teorií o tom, proč se to děje. Nízkou porodnost někdy obviňují z úpadku náboženství, vzestupu feminismu, méně sňatků, více rozvodů, neplodící sexuální identity, ženy v zaměstnání odkládají mateřství až do 30 let, když zjistí, že již nejsou plodné, konzumní technologie a mnoho dalších kulturních změn, které nedávno zasáhly Západ. Írán však žádný z těchto problémů nemá, ale nyní má také porodnost na západní úrovni.

Myslím, že odpověď je mnohem jednodušší: Pilulka usnadnila párům získat takovou velikost rodiny, jakou chtějí. Nyní tedy poprvé v historii všichni vidíme, po kolika dětech jiní lidé skutečně touží. A pro většinu párů je to málo nebo žádné. To není problém k řešení, to je fakt, který je třeba přijmout.

Ale ať už je důvod jakýkoli, porodnost je v současnosti v Americe, Evropě a Asii pod hranicí náhrady a lidé se začínají obávat vylidňování.

Níže uvedu 3 možné populační scénáře. První 2 – podlidnění a přelidnění – jsou široce přesvědčeny opozičními stranami, ale budu tvrdit, že jsou nemožné. 3. – který vychází mezi tím – je to, co si myslím, že se skutečně stane. Tuto esej zakončím důsledky scénáře 3 pro budoucnost.

Scénář 1: Vylidňování kvůli klesající porodnosti.

Níže uvedená tabulka ukazuje budoucí populační trajektorii v průběhu 5 generací v zemi, jejíž porodnost je 1,5 dítěte na ženu. Začnu s populací 100 milionů lidí na generaci, což je přibližně velikost jedné generace ve Spojených státech. (Populace USA je 340 milionů, předpokládaná délka života je 76 let, což jsou 3 nebo 4 překrývající se generace v závislosti na tom, jak dlouho definujete generaci, která má trvat, takže v každé generaci je asi 100 milionů lidí.) I když tuto časovou řadu lze vytvořit pouze kalkulačku, ve skutečnosti jsem napsal počítačový program pro provádění předpovědí, protože scénáře 2 a 3 budou složitější.

Každá žena má za život v průměru 1,5 dítěte a každá generace je pouze o 75 % větší než generace předchozí:

Generace	Populace
0	100 mil
1	75 mil
2	56 milionů
3	42 mil
4	31 milionů

Je zřejmé, že bych mohl tuto sekvenci spustit více než 5 generací, abych získal ještě menší čísla, ale 5 generací představuje asi 125 let, což je dlouhá doba. Nikdo nemůže skutečně předpovědět 125 let v budoucnosti. Smyslem této projekce je jednoduše ukázat, jak špatná je porodnost pod úrovní náhrady. Pokud věříte, že se to stane, jako to zjevně dělá Elon Musk, pak byste měli být extrémně znepokojeni jako on.

Protože každá generace je přesně $\frac{3}{4}$ tak velká jako předchozí, lze tato čísla vygenerovat jednoduše vynásobením 100M krát série 1, $\frac{3}{4}$, $\frac{3}{4}^2$, $\frac{3}{4}^3$ atd. Ale protože chci spustit několik různých simulací populace, vypočítali to pomocí skutečného rozložení velikostí rodin v USA – většina lidí má 0, 1 nebo 2 děti, někteří mají více, někteří mnohem více – a vypočítali, kolik dětí by měla každá rodina, ale upravili rozložení tak, aby byl celkový průměr velikost rodiny 1,5 dítěte, což je dnes typické pro západní země.

Dalším způsobem, jak charakterizovat tuto předpověď populačního kolapsu, je nazvat ji scénářem „bez dědičnosti“. V každé generaci mají někteří lidé velké rodiny, někteří lidé mají malé rodiny, někteří lidé nemají rodiny a v této simulaci se budoucí generace v souhrnu chovají úplně stejně jako předchozí generace, i když zjevně probíhá obrovské množství přirozeného výběru. – velké rozdíly ve velikosti rodin musí měnit složení budoucích generací, protože někteří lidé mají mnohem více dětí než jiní. Scénář „bez dědičnosti“, jako je tento, není vzhledem k biologii reálnou možností. Ve skutečnosti není žádná dědičnost nereálná, i když zcela ignorujete biologii, protože některá náboženství podporují velké rodiny a tito rodiče učí své víře své děti, takže děti ve velkých rodinách mívají samy velké rodiny jednoduše proto, že se to naučily od svých rodičů. Dále tedy zvážím (biologickou a kulturní) dědičnost velikosti rodiny.

Scénář 2: Přelidnění kvůli dědičné velikosti rodiny.

Nyní si představte, že počet dětí, které se lidé rozhodnou mít, je plně dědičný. „Dědičný“ obecně znamená geneticky podmíněný, i když níže budu trochu nepřesný, když uvážím přenos náboženských myšlenek z rodičů na děti jako formu „kulturní dědičnosti“. Příkladem plně genetické (ne kulturní) dědičnosti je rasa. 100% bílých párů má bílé děti. 100% černých párů má černé děti. Rasa je 100% přirozenost, 0% výchova. Bílí se nestanou černými tím, že se přestěhují do Afriky a žijí v „černém prostředí“. Nestanou se indiány ani tím, že budou žít v Severní nebo Jižní Americe. Svou rasu nezískáváte ze svého prostředí, ze svého vzdělání nebo ze zkušeností z dětství, získáváte ji výhradně z genů svých rodičů.

Pokud by velikost rodiny byla stejně geneticky daná jako rasa, pak by 100 % dětí ve velkých rodinách mělo samo velké rodiny, až vyrostou. Například, kdyby pár měl 10 dětí, pak by všechny tyto děti samy měly 10 dětí, zrodilo by se 100 vnoučat, 1000 pravnoučat atd. To se samozřejmě ve skutečnosti neděje, ale bylo by zajímavé, kdyby tomu tak bylo. „Plná dědičnost“ znamená, že se děti chovají přesně tak, jak se chovali jejich rodiče. Děti z velkých rodin by později v životě měly vlastní velké rodiny a děti z malých rodin by podobně vyrostly v malé vlastní rodiny. Co se stane v průběhu času, bude velmi záviset na tom, jak velké jsou největší rodiny, protože geneticky vítězí lidé, kteří mají nejvíce dětí.

Našel jsem údaje o velikosti rodiny (tedy počtu dětí) pro západní země a zjevně nemají „normální“ rozdělení. Jeho průměr je asi 1,5, ale jeho rozsah se pohybuje od 0 do více než 20 dětí. Takže to má velmi dlouhý pravý ocas. Ve skutečnosti tvoří „log-normální“ rozdělení. Naprostá většina rodin má 0, 1 nebo 2 děti, malá část má 3, 4 nebo 5 a téměř nikdo nemá více než 5. Téměř nikdo, ale ne absolutně nikdo, a rozdíl mezi „žádným“ a „téměř žádné“ je zásadní, protože pro evoluci jsou nakonec jediní lidé s největším počtem dětí, na kterých skutečně záleží.

Vytvořil jsem logaritmicko-normální statistické rozložení velikosti rodin pro 100 milionů lidí, které velmi těsně odpovídá skutečnému rozložení velikosti rodiny v USA. Nastavil jsem průměr na 1,5, takže pokud by se velikost rodiny nedědila, jako ve scénáři „žádná dědičnost“ výše, každá generace by byla přesně $\frac{3}{4}$ tak velká jako předchozí generace. Ale teď budu simulovat výsledky, kdy se počet dětí, které lidé mají, zcela zdědí po rodičích. Protože v tomto scénáři je důležitá maximální velikost rodiny, potřebujeme znát maximální počet dětí, které může mít jedna žena. Podle Guinnessovy knihy rekordů, Největší oficiálně zaznamenaný počet dětí narozených jedné matce je 69.... Byla první manželkou Fjodora Vasiljeva (nar. 1707–1782), rolníka z ruského Šuja. Porodila 16 párů dvojčat, sedm sad trojčat a čtyři sady čtyřčat.

69 dětí je docela extrém. V USA jsou některé televizní celebrity zvané Duggars, které se proslavily tím, že mají 19 dětí. I když je to hodně, rozhodně to není nemožné pro pár, jehož náboženství zakazuje antikoncepci. Pokud je žena plodná 25 let, kojí své děti 6 měsíců a otěhotní, jakmile přestane kojít, může za svůj život očekávat 20 těhotenství. Pokud žijí všichni, je to 20 dětí, více jsou dvojčata nebo trojčata. Takže zdraví + žádná antikoncepce = 20+ dětí. Upřímně nevím, proč to nedělá více rodin. Každý Žid, křesťan nebo muslim věřící v Bibli je povinen „plodit a množit se“, což logicky znamená, že nemohou používat antikoncepci (a výslovně to znamená, že pokud jsou katolíci), tak proč nemají všichni 20 dětí? Jsou to všichni pokrytci?

V každém případě lidé téměř nikdy nemají více než 20 dětí, proto jsem ve všech svých simulacích nastavil maximální velikost rodiny na 20. To se jeví jako rozumné fyzické maximum pro ženu během jejího života, takže můj program nedovolí více než že.

Abych byl konkrétní, pro spuštění této simulace jsem porovnal hodnoty rozdělení velikosti mé rodiny se skutečnými americkými a evropskými údaji:

počet dětí	Procento rodin s tolika dětmi
0	19 %
1	40 %
2	24 %
3	10 %

Nemohl jsem najít žádné údaje o tom, kolik rodin na Západě má více než 5 dětí, protože tyto rodiny jsou tak vzácné. Takže netuším, kolik rodin má skutečně 20 dětí. Ideální logaritmičtí normální distribuce však obsahuje velmi málo:

počet dětí	Procento rodin s tolika dětmi
20	0,000018 %

To znamená, že budu pouze 18 lidí z celkového počtu 100 000 000 simulovat jako 20 dětí – nepochybně podhodnocené. Ale těch 18 lidí se rychle množí. Protože mají 20 dětí na ženu (nebo 10 dětí na osobu v páru), těchto 18 lidí (9 rodin) produkuje 180 dětí. A protože plná dědičnost znamená, že každé dítě se chová přesně jako jejich rodiče, z těchto 180 dětí vyrostou dospělí, kteří sami mají 1800 dětí. A z těch 1800 se v další generaci stane 18 tisíc, pak 180 tisíc, pak 1,8 milionu atd. Po pouhých 5 generacích se potomci lidí, kteří mají alespoň 10 dětí na rodinu, stanou podstatnou částí celé země. A poté se superúrodná populace země skutečně rozběhne (není uvedeno níže).

Zde je populace pouze pro 5 generací, počínaje 100 miliony, ale násobí se za předpokladu, že velikost rodiny je plně zděděna:

Generace	Populace
0	100 mil
1	75 mil
2	96 milionů
3	173 milionů
5	1 392 mil

Všimněte si, že generace 0 se chová stejně jako v předchozí simulaci – průměrně 0,75 dítěte na osobu. Ale příští generace má v průměru mnohem více než 0,75 dítěte na osobu, protože se předpokládá, že každý člověk se bude chovat přesně jako jejich rodiče. Vzhledem k tomu, že děti 1. generace pocházejí většinou od rodičů, kteří měli velké rodiny, většina lidí v 1. generaci bude mít také velké rodiny.

Ačkoli tato simulace začíná s téměř všemi rodinami, které mají 0 až 3 děti a prakticky žádná nemá více než 10 dětí, rodiny s 0 až 3 dětmi nepřispívají příliš budoucím generacím, zatímco velké rodiny stále více. Po 5 generacích malých rodin, které mají málo dětí, a velkých rodin s mnoha dětmi, přičemž velikost rodiny se dokonale přenáší z rodičů na děti, se populace mění z 99,9 % rodin s 0 – 9 dětmi na zhruba polovinu s 0 – 9 a polovinu s 10 – 20. A po 10 generacích má 94 % rodin v sobě 10 – 20 dětí.

Opět se nesnažím předpovídat 10 generací (250 let) v budoucnosti. To je nemožné vzhledem k rychlosti, kterou se technologie a kultura mění. Ale snažím se demonstrovat, jakou roli hraje dědičnost v tom, zda bude tato budoucnost podlidněná nebo přelidněná. Největším faktorem, který je třeba vzít v úvahu, pokud chcete předpovídat budoucí populaci, je geneticky (nebo kulturně) zděděná velikost rodiny. Je to velký rozdíl mezi USA, které mají za pouhé století 23 milionů nebo > 1 miliard lidí na generaci. A přesto všichni odborníci, kteří se v současnosti veřejně dohadují o tom, zda bude v budoucnosti příliš málo nebo příliš mnoho lidí, ignorují toto jediné nejdůležitější číslo – jak moc jsou velké rodiny dědičné?

Scénář 3: Částečná dědičnost.

Samozřejmě žádná lidská vlastnost není zcela nedědičná nebo zcela dědičná. Kolik dětí lidé chtějí, stejně jako všechno ostatní, je někde mezi 0 % a 100 % zděděných. Nemohl jsem najít žádný empirický odhad dědičnosti toho, kolik dětí mají lidé, a v každém případě by se to drasticky změnilo, protože příchod pilulky dal lidem snadnou kontrolu nad velikostí rodiny. Takže další nejlepší věcí je najít něco, co koreluje s počtem dětí, jejichž dědičnost byla studována. Věřím, že osobnostní rys, který nejvíce koreluje s velikostí rodiny, je zbožnost. Odhaduje se, že zbožnost je asi ze 40 % geneticky zděděná a její celková dědičnost – genetická plus výchova – musí být mnohem více než 40 %. Provedu tedy následující výpočty za předpokladu, že velikost rodiny je zděděna ze 40 %.

Z toho, co jsem viděl, jediné skupiny v USA, které trvale mají velké rodiny a také úspěšně přenášejí zvyk velké rodiny na své děti, je několik geograficky izolovaných náboženských sekt. Zejména existují kvalitní rodinná data o Mormonech a Amishech:

- Podle výzkumu Next Mormons Survey z roku 2016 vyrůstali dnešní dospělí mormoni v rodinách se 4 dětmi.
- Plodnost Amishů je v průměru asi 6 dětí na ženu.

V USA jsou další skupiny, které mají pravděpodobně velmi vysokou plodnost – chasidští Židé, muslimové a hinduisté – ale u tak malých náboženských skupin jsem nenašel spolehlivé údaje o plodnosti.

Důvod, proč mají mormoni, amišové a další náboženské sekty, nikoli však protestanti a katolíci, velké rodiny generaci po generaci, má pravděpodobně jen málo společného s jejich geny. Je to proto, že se jedná o pevně provázaná náboženská společenství s hluboce zakořeněnou vírou, která se úspěšně přenáší z rodiče na dítě. Při dlouhodobých předpovědích záleží na genech více než na kultuře, protože kultura se mění mnohem rychleji než naše fyzická genetická výbava. Ale snažím se pouze předpovědět dalších 5 generací. I kdyby genetická dědičnost velikosti rodiny byla nízká, skupiny jako Amish, které mají velké rodiny, protože jejich náboženství odrazuje od kontroly porodnosti, by pravděpodobně předávaly své přesvědčení svým dětem alespoň tak dlouho. Tak,

Zde jsou velikosti populace příštích 5 generací za předpokladu, že každá osoba zdědí 40 % preference svých rodičů ohledně počtu dětí:

Generace	Populace
0	100 mil
1	75 mil
2	72 mil
3	86 mil
4	128 mil
5	231 milionů

I při pouze 40% dědičnosti velké rodiny přinášejí budoucím generacím mnohem více dětí než malé rodiny, že v páté generaci má 8 % populace 10 nebo více dětí. A do generace 10 má téměř polovina všech rodin 10+ dětí. Jinak řečeno, medián počtu dětí v generaci 0 (současnost) je pouze 1 dítě na rodinu. Medián počtu dětí v 5. generaci stoupá na 4. Medián v 10. generaci exploduje na 9. Evoluce dokáže zázraky, když dokáže snadno rozlišit mezi lidmi, kteří jsou fit (to znamená, že mají mnoho dětí) a nezpůsobilí (málo dětí). Všechny tyto výsledky samozřejmě závisí na tom, zda je touha mít děti částečně zděděná, což tuším, ale nemohu to dokázat. Lidé, kteří mají nejvíce dětí, jsou vždy „nejvhodnější“ v darwinovském slova smyslu a přežití nejschopnějších stále funguje. Evoluce se nikdy nezastavila. Stalo se pouze to, že s vynálezem a normalizací levných a jednoduchých antikoncepčních prostředků před 60 lety se „nejschopnější“ změnilo na ty, kteří odmítají používat antikoncepci.

Abychom shrnuli výsledky 3 výše uvedených scénářů: v 5 generacích žádná dědičnost velikosti rodiny nezmenší 100 milionů populace na 23 milionů, plná dědičnost ji rozšíří na 1392 milionů a částečná dědičnost vytvoří 231 milionů. Netvrdím, že byste měli souhlasit s mým odhadem, že plodnost je 40% dědičná. Ale říkám, že potřebujete svůj vlastní odhad tohoto čísla, abyste vůbec provedli výpočet. Je to nejdůležitější faktor ve formuli. Ale odborníci, kteří o tomto problému diskutují a navrhují řešení veřejné politiky k vyřešení jakéhokoli problému, který se podle nich děje – ať už je to přelidnění nebo vylidňování – o tom ani neuvažují. Jak už to v poslední době bývá, odborníci to spočítat neumí, a tak mohou jen chrlit nesmysly.

V každém ze 3 výše uvedených scénářů se první generace chová jako my: s průměrnou mírou plodnosti 1,5 dítěte na ženu (0,75 dítěte na osobu) je další generace přesně $\frac{3}{4}$ velikosti předchozí generace. Poté se ale scénáře rozcházejí – ke kolapsu populace, populační explozi nebo kolapsu následovanému výbuchem. První 2 scénáře jsou biologicky nemožné, takže něco mezi tím je realističtější. Strach z 60. let z populační bomby byl již široce zdiskreditován a zapomenut všemi boomery, kteří si nevšimli, jak moc se svět od té doby změnil. Strach z Human Extinction, který v současné době děsí Tech Bros, musí být také odstraněn jako zastaralý.

Scénář 3 nazývám „Obnova populace“, ale můžete jej také nazvat „Nahrazení populace“. Znamená to hromadné nahrazení moderních bezdětných jedinců lidmi, kteří se chovají zcela jinak. Během několika generací nahradí ≥ 10 dětských rodinných linií ≤ 2 dětské rodinné linie. To je skvělá zpráva pro Ameriku a Evropu. Náš současný kolaps porodnosti se obrátí a plodnost se rázně vrátí. Nepotřebujeme politický program, abychom to dokázali. Naše biologie to udělá, ať už schválíme „pronatalistickou“ legislativu na podporu dětí, nebo ne. Postará se o to prostý fakt, že lidé, kteří je chtějí mít velké rodiny, a lidé, kteří je chtějí mít malé rodiny a jejich děti se chovají jako jejich rodiče, ať už z genů nebo z výchovy.

Díky bohu! Budoucnost by byla skutečně pochmurná, kdybychom se museli spoléhat na konzervativní politiky, kteří nás zachrání. Naštěstí může pravice pokračovat ve své sérii 100% proher v kulturních válkách a vše bude v pořádku. Ve skutečnosti by mohlo být lepší, kdyby konzervativci nadále prohrávali. Čím více progresivistů vyhraje kulturní války, tím více doženou své vlastní nejvěrnější příznivce k zániku. Stojí za to připomenout, že během minulého století se levice posunula od pokusu o násilné zřízení Dělnického ráje k současnému povzbuzování svých nejzarytějších věřících, aby se „osvobodili“ chemickou kastrací a mrzačením pohlavních orgánů. Ať už si o tom druhém myslíte cokoli, je mnohem méně destruktivní než ten první. Před 100 lety levice vraždila desítky milionů svých třídních nepřátel (vlastníků půdy, drobných podnikatelů, „bohatých rolníků“). Dnes, levice přesvědčuje desítky milionů svých vlastních příznivců (gayů, transky, vysokoškolsky vzdělaných žen), aby neměli děti. Toto je fantastické zlepšení bez ohledu na to, jaký aspekt zvažujete:

- Likvidovat další generaci tím, že dobrovolně nemít děti, není zdaleka tak zlé jako eliminovat současnou generaci masovým vražděním.

- Příšerná chirurgie lékařů je méně škodlivá než organizovaná porážka vojáků.
- Nereprodukovat vnitřní skupinu je morálnější než popravovat vnější skupinu.
- Obrazná sebevražda je mnohem hezčí než doslovná vražda.

Opravdu není žádné srovnání. Během minulého století přešla levice od příkazu k „likvidaci kulaků jako třídy“ k otázce chlapců: „Mohu vám uříznout péro, abych z vás udělal dívku? I když je to děsivé, není to tak špatné – můžete říci „ne“ lékařům, kteří potvrzují pohlaví, a ve skutečnosti to dělá většina lidí. Jediný způsob, jak by si někdo mohl myslet, že levičáctví 21. století je stejně špatné jako levičáctví 20. století, je, když zapomene na obludnost toho, co udělali leváci 20. století. Komunisté zabili 100 000 000 lidí během 20. století. Dnes se nejen omezili na své vraždy, ale také přijali bezdětnost, což zajišťuje, že nezplodí potomky, kteří budou v budoucnu vraždit znovu. Neměli bychom jim děkovat jen za to, že už nezabíjejí miliony lidí, ale také za to, že sterilizovali sebe a každého, kdo pijí jejich Kool-Aid. Pojdme tedy poděkovat za naše požehnání: jsme požehnáni, že žijeme ve století, kdy levice je primárně sebevražedná, nikoli vražedná.

Izrael jako příklad scénáře 3.

Izrael je zemí, která je na cestě scénáře 3 nejdále. Jejich populace, která se před pouhými desítkami let zmenšila, nyní zažívá boom. V současnosti mají nejvyšší míru porodnosti v západním světě – dokonce vyšší než většina nezápádních zemí. Tento demografický obrat nenastal proto, že by se bohatí sekulární Židé rozhodli mít hodně dětí, ale proto, že to udělali chudí věřící Židé.

Organizace pro hospodářskou spolupráci a rozvoj zahrnuje všechny vyspělé země a mnoho významných rozvojových zemí. Izrael má ze všech zemí OECD zdaleka nejvyšší míru porodnosti – více než 3 děti na ženu – dvojnásobek průměru OECD. Podle OECD

Nejvyšší [plodnost] byla zaznamenána v Izraeli s hodnotou 3,1, kde měly ženy v průměru o jedno dítě více než ženy v Mexiku a Turecku, což jsou země s druhou a třetí nejvyšší mírou [2,3 a 2,2]. Tyto tři země byly jedinými zeměmi OECD s úrovní nad reprodukční plodností (2,1 dítěte na ženu).

Je úžasné, že prosperující Izrael má nejen vyšší porodnost než zbídačené Mexiko a Turecko, ale jejich porodnost roste, zatímco porodnost všech ostatních zemí s vysokou plodností klesá. Izraelská kombinace vysoké a stoupající plodnosti je světovým unikátem.

Ještě před několika desetiletími byli Izraelci v panice, že nízká porodnost bohatých liberálních Židů v kombinaci s vysokou porodností chudých arabských muslimů znamená, že je nevyhnutelné, že se muslimové jednoho dne stanou většinou v zemi. Meir Kahane udělal svou kariéru poselstvím „Musí jít“ – což znamená vyhnat Palestince z Izraele, aby zabránil jejich nevyhnutelnému převzetí židovského státu. Nyní se situace zcela obrátila. Židovská porodnost v Izraeli je v současnosti vyšší než palestinská a rozdíl se prohlubuje, nikoli zmenšuje.

Jak toho Izrael dosáhl? Vytvořením nějakého skvělého pronatalistického politického programu? Ne. Je to proto, že malá skupina ultraortodoxních Židů jménem Haredi měla tolik dětí, že se z nich stala velká skupina, jejíž populace nyní exponenciálně roste. Extrémně věřící Harediové zvyšují populaci země jako celku a nahrazují sekulární Židy, kteří jako všichni moderní obyvatelé Západu mají málo dětí.

Přihlaste se k odběru nových sloupců

Haredi Židé jsou často nazýváni „ultra-ortodoxními“, protože jsou nábožensky extrémně konzervativní. Chasidští Židé v New Yorku, rozeznatelní podle svých černých šatů, dlouhých vousů a kudrlinek po stranách, jsou příklady Haredi v Americe. Haredi ženy potřebují požádat své rabíny o povolení k použití antikoncepce a obvykle toto povolení nezískají, dokud již nemají několik dětí. S mírou porodnosti mezi 6 a 7 dětmi na ženu v Izraeli způsobili Haredi obrovský baby boom.

Podle Times of Israel:

Zatímco sekulární a tradiční Židé, Drúzové a křesťanští Arabové mají v průměru méně než dvě a půl dítěte na rodinu a porodnost mezi muslimy-Izraelci rychle klesá a blíží se třem dětem na rodinu, mnoho náboženských Židů má více než čtyři děti a Haredim (ultraortodoxní Židé) průměrně 6,6 dětí na rodinu. Obecně platí, že podíl haredimů v populaci se zdvojnásobuje každých 25 let nebo každou generaci. Jinými slovy, Haredimové tvoří pouze šest procent 50letých, ale 24 % kojenců. V důsledku tohoto exponenciálně rostoucího tempa růstu se očekává, že polovina izraelských dětí bude patřit do rodin Haredi za pouhých 25 let.

Liberální novináři dále naříkají nad vlivem, který má „demografická přílivová vlna“ voličů Haredi na izraelskou politiku:

Volby na podzim loňského roku poskytly Izraeli varování s pěti poplachy o blížící se demografické přílivové vlně, která sílí, s náhledem na extremistický proud judaismu, který hraje v koalici [Likud] velkou roli, i když diskriminuje ženy, , menšiny a mnoho dalších – druh judaismu, který je v rozporu se základními hodnotami stanovenými v Deklaraci nezávislosti židovského státu. Jednoho dne bude tato populace tvořit většinu populace a nebude potřebovat lidi jako Netanjahu, aby sestavili vládu.

Izrael, založený levičáky jako socialistický stát, se z gigantického populačního boomu Haredi stává tak intenzivně náboženským, že se jeho politika vytratila z grafů pravice. Nechci mluvit mimoděk o izraelské politice, ale dovoluji mi jen zmínit jeden incident během nedávných demonstrací pro a proti Netanjahuově vládě. V červenci 2023 byl zaznamenán pravicový demonstrant Mizrahi, který se posmíval levicovým aškenázským demonstrantům o holocaustu. Podle tiskových zpráv:

Známý aktivista ze strany Likud s vazbami na vysoké politiky, včetně premiéra Benjamina Netanjahua, v sobotu řekl demonstrantům proti generální opravě soudnictví, že „přeji si, aby bylo spáleno dalších šest milionů“, což byla poznámka, která vedla k tomu, že premiér nařídil jeho vyloučení z večírku a zahájení vyšetřování policie.

"Aškenazim, děvky, ať shoříte v pekle," křičel Itzik Zarka na demonstranty na křižovatce Ejn HaNatziv poblíž Bejt Še'anu s odkazem na Židy východoevropského původu.

"Jsem hrdá na to, že bylo upáleno šest milionů z vás, přeji si, aby bylo upáleno dalších šest milionů," řekla Zarka s odkazem na holocaust.

Takže když lidé popisují současnou vládu koalice Likud v Izraeli jako „krajní pravici“, nedělají si legraci. A Netanjahu je „liberálem“ v koalici. Převzetí izraelské politiky náboženskými fanatiky Haredi není možnou budoucností, je to skutečná přítomnost. Jak by řekl George Soros: „Nepředpovídám. Pozoruj."

Ultraortodoxní Židé nejen zachránili Izrael před vylidněním, ale také drasticky změnili jeho politiku. Pravice v Americe by ráda dosáhla toho, co Haredimové v Izraeli:

- Chcete vyřešit depopulační krizi? Izrael už to udělal.
- Chcete, aby krajně pravicoví extremisté vyhráli každé volby? Izrael to teď dělá.
- Chcete, aby liberalismus ve vaší zemi vymřel? Izrael už to zabil ve svých.

Podobná vítězství pravice by měla do Evropy přicházet v budoucích generacích. Izrael je v současné době jedinou zemí na světě se superúrodnou ultranáboženskou menšinou pohánějící „demografickou přílivovou vlnu“, ale věřím, že se to v nadcházejících desetiletích stane mnoha dalším zemím.

Načasování scénáře 3.

Země, které jako první zažily kolaps porodnosti – v Evropě – by měly být zeměmi, které jako první zažijí oživení porodnosti. A země, které dnes teprve začínají zažívat kolaps porodnosti – v Africe – by měly být poslední, kdo se později odrazí. Ve skutečnosti se oživení evropské populace již začalo. Porodnost v Evropě dosáhla svého dna v roce 1999 a od té doby roste, i když pomalu. (Porodnosti po COVIDu mírně poklesly, ale ne do hloubky před 20 lety.) Takže pro údajně odsouzenou bílou rasu není vše ztraceno. Často předpovězená Smrt Západu nenastane, alespoň ne od lidí ze Západu, kteří nemají děti. (Válečná nebo náhradní imigrace by to však stále mohla udělat.)

Stejně jako lidé, kteří vyrostli v 60. letech 20. století s obavami z populační exploze, zdá se, ani nevnímají vylidňování, které se nyní děje všude kolem nich, tak lidé, kteří dnes vyrůstají a mají obavy z populačního kolapsu, si také nikdy neuvědomují, že dojde k obnově populace během jejich života. Nezůstávejte ve strachu své generace – svět se před našima očima rychle mění od populační exploze přes populační kolaps k populační obnově. To, co se dnes děje v Izraeli, se brzy stane i v Evropě a Americe. Asie bohužel zaostala o několik generací za Evropou v kolapsu porodnosti, takže může být o několik generací později v jejím zotavení.

Jak rychle by se mohl stát scénář 3?

Podívejme se na statistiky Haredi podrobněji, abychom pochopili, jak exponenciální růst funguje v reálném světě. Židé Haredi tvořili asi 1 % izraelské populace, když byl národ založen. Od té doby měli 3krát více dětí než průměrná izraelská rodina. Výsledkem bylo, že za poslední 3 generace se jejich 1 % populace rozrostlo na 3 %, poté na 9 % a poté na téměř 27 % nejmladší generace (dnešní děti). Pokud si dokážou udržet stejnou výhodu plodnosti po další 2 generace, rozrostou se na 81, pak 243násobek velikosti jejich původní populace. To bude mít dva dramatické dopady: učiní z nich většinu populace a více než zdvojnásobí velikost celé země. Abych byl přesný, za další 2 generace, Haredi bude $243 * 1 \% / (243 * 1 \% + 1 * 99 \%) = 71 \%$ nejmladší generace Izraele a 54 % veškerého obyvatelstva země. To je skutečná světová síla udržení vysoké plodnosti po 5 generací – z 1 % na 54 % za 125 let. A nic z toho růstu nepocházelo z obrácení na víru nebo obrácení druhých. Všechno to bylo jednoduše z toho, že měl více dětí než ostatní lidé.

V západních zemích, stejně jako v Izraeli, někdo vyhraje závod v plodnosti. Nevím kdo, ale někdo ano. A když to udělají, tohle všechno změní.

Zejména:

- Vyřeší to problém Západu s vylidňováním.
- Učiní z úrodné skupiny většinu jejich země, což z ní pravděpodobně udělá dominantní mocnost.

- Skupiny, které mají v současnosti 0 nebo 1 dítě na rodinu (liberálové a nenáboženské), odvede do úplného zapomnění.
- Skupiny, které mají v současné době 2 nebo 3 děti na rodinu (konzervativci, evangelikálové a mnoho skupin přistěhovalců, jako jsou Hispánci), to odradí prakticky bez významu.

Nemohu předpovědět, kdo budou lidé s vysokou plodností budoucnosti. Ale když jsem hledal příklady skupin v USA, které mají velké rodiny generaci po generaci, každá skupina, kterou jsem našel – mormonská, amišská, chasidská, muslimská, hinduistická – byla silně náboženská. Je tedy pravděpodobné, že lidé, kteří budou mít v budoucnu nejvíce dětí – ti, kteří nahradí nás sekulární moderny – budou také věřící. Ve skutečnosti, pokud opravdu jdou do extrému, že mají 10 nebo více dětí na rodinu, znamená to, že se zcela vyhýbají antikoncepci, a to pravděpodobně znamená, že berou biblický příkaz „budte plodní a množte se“ doslova. Není to tak dávno, co to dělala většina katolíků a nepoužívat antikoncepční prostředky je stále oficiálním postojem církve, i když to dnes prakticky všichni katolíci považují za nemožný požadavek. Tak,

Ačkoli scénář 3 je skutečně hladký proces – velké rodiny neustále produkují více potomků než malé rodiny, dokud všichni nepocházejí z velkých rodin a neupřednostňují je – nemusí to vypadat hladce, jak se to děje. V určitém okamžiku bude dost lidí, kteří chtějí velké rodiny, takže viditelná skupina z nich projde exponenciálním růstem. Může se zdát, že přicházejí odnikud, ale pak jejich počet exploduje. Někteří křesťané se například mohou rozhodnout, že Bůh chce, aby měli co nejvíce dětí. Představte si náboženské oživení v USA, které přesvědčí 2 % populace, aby přestala používat antikoncepci. Před stoletím, kdy to dělala většina katolíků, bylo typických 10 dětí na rodinu. S rodinami, které jsou dnes velké, by tato skupina rostla 5krát rychleji než zbytek země. V jedné generaci, tato sekta by se rozrostla na 5násobek své původní velikosti a stala by se 10% nejmladší generace. V další generaci by byla 25krát větší než původní velikost a tvořila by jednu třetinu této generace. Za jednu další generaci by z nich vyrostly tři čtvrtiny dětí a více než polovina celé americké populace, která by se pak díky nim přiblížila 1 miliardě lidí. Exponenciální růst v naší skomírající společnosti by smetl všechno před ní: Už žádné vyliďňování. Už žádný západní životní styl. Z moderní kultury Woke nezbylo nic. Národ by se za 3 generace změnil k nepoznání. vyrostly by na tři čtvrtiny dětí a více než polovinu veškeré americké populace, která by se díky nim přiblížila 1 miliardě lidí. Exponenciální růst v naší skomírající společnosti by smetl všechno před ní: Už žádné vylidňování. Už žádný západní životní styl. Z moderní kultury Woke nezbylo nic. To samozřejmě není předpověď. Ale je to varování: malá skupina, která se zaváže k vysoké plodnosti po několik generací, může přemoci Západ.

Exponenciální růst umožňuje cokoliv.

Jaký druh lidí zdědí Zemi?

Moje počítačová simulace scénáře 3 začala, stejně jako dnes, s téměř každou rodinou od 0 do 3 dětí a téměř bez velkých rodin. Ale když se děti z několika velkých rodin staly dospělými, bylo takových rodin v další generaci více. Tito dospělí se chovali trochu jako jejich rodiče, takže měli o něco větší pravděpodobnost, že sami budou mít velké rodiny, což v průběhu času způsobilo neutuchající nárůst takových rodin. Po několika generacích končí velká část země s rodinami s 10 a více dětmi. Očekávám tedy, že lidé, kteří mají mnoho dětí, jednoduše přejdou na lidi, kteří mají málo dětí, dokud nezbudou jen lidé s mnoha dětmi. Je zřejmé, že je těžké pochopit, proč by se někteří konkrétní rodiče zatěžovali 10 dětmi. Proč by si někdo vybral tak obtížnou cestu? Dnes to málokdo dělá, a tak se toto chování většině z nás zdá divné, i když před 100 lety to bylo běžné. Zapomněli jsme na naši minulost, kdy byly normou velké rodiny. Ale i když nevím, proč by to někdo dělal, v některých ohledech na tom nezáleží proč, záleží pouze na tom, že někteří lidé to udělají. Mít hodně dětí je zjevně evolučně adaptivní a pravděpodobně částečně dědičné, takže pokud to udělá několik dnes, mnozí budou v budoucnu.

Ale pokud masoví chovatelé skutečně vytlačují nízko a nemnožitelské, pak každý, koho dnes považujeme za normální západní elitu – ti sebeřízení individualisté, kteří žijí život, jaký si zvolili, dělají „zodpovědné“ plánování rodiny, mají jen tolik dětí, kolik si mohou dovolit, ponechání své rodině s dostatečným disponibilním příjmem na cestování, zábavu, placení na vysokou školu, spoření na důchod – takový člověk ze Západu bude pryč a nahradí ho lidé s velmi odlišnými představami o tom, jak žít.

Možná budou velké rodiny budoucnosti motivovány náboženstvím. Nebo to možná bude úplně něco jiného. Jisté ale je, že tito lidé se od nás budou v něčem důležitém lišit. Nebudou racionální maximalizátoři užítku, sobecky kalkulující, kolik dětí se vejde do jejich preferovaného životního stylu. Aby bylo jasno, nesoudím ani nad nimi, ani nad námi. Jsem racionální maximalizátor užítku a spočítal jsem si, že nejlepší počet dětí pro můj životní styl je nula. Ale 10 dětská rodina, muž a žena budoucnosti, nebudou jako já. Nerozumím jim. Dnes už žádné takové neznám. Nejsou v mém sociálním kruhu. Ale ať už jim rozumíme nebo ne, stejně nás nahradí.

Moderní svět dává lidem všechny podněty k drastickému omezení počtu dětí – z potenciálně 10 nebo 20 na obvykle 1 nebo 2. Několik lidí tyto pobídky jednoduše ignoruje. Ale málokdo to udělá. Tyto pobídky – užívat si života, jít dopředu, odkládat děti, utrácet peníze za sebe – jedním slovem bavit se – jsou pro většinu lidí příliš lákavé, než aby jim odolali. To neplatí jen na Západě. Americký způsob života je žádán po celém světě. Každá země na světě je plná lidí, kteří to chtějí. Americká popkultura, i když se jí často vysmívají, je stále všudypřítomnější, všudypřítomnější a dominantnější po celém světě. Ruská a čínská vláda možná neschvaluje americkou „dekadenci“ a „degeneraci“, ale stejně jako modré džíny a rocková hudba byly pro Sověty opojné, nemohou udělat nic, aby udrželi západní kulturu mimo. Ve skutečnosti bezdětnost vůbec nezamlčovali – Rusko a Čína mají jedny z nejnižších porodností na světě. Asie nejenže nestaví žádnou opozici vůči západním způsobům, ale také přijala zábavu ze života bez dětí tvrději než kdokoli jiný.

Takže americké hodnoty zvítězily, vítězí a vyhrají po celém světě. Naplňují univerzální lidské touhy – po bohatství, snadném životě, volném čase, kancelářské práci (která je i přes to, že si to lidé naříkají, mnohem lepší než dřina na farmě nebo nebezpečná práce v továrně), každá nová hračka, kterou Silicon Valley umí vymýšlet – telefony, hry, sociální sítě, roboty, AI – a, ať už z Hollywoodu nebo Bollywoodu, levnou zábavu navždy. Ne každá vláda to může poskytnout, ale každá země to chce. Jediným problémem je, že si lidé nemohou dovolit všechny jeho radosti. Mít málo nebo žádné děti je ústřední součástí moderního bohatého životního stylu, ale tento aspekt modernity nemůže vydržet.

Západní způsob života, který porazil vše, co mu předcházelo, dnes zcela zvítězil. Přesto i nyní, na svém zdánlivém zenitu, kdy byl sveden každý, kdo může být pokoušen jeho sliby, a tolik lidí přijímá požitky sekulárního života bez dětí, pak tento životní styl sám o sobě podle definice zabíjí potomky každý, kdo propadne jeho kouzlu. Ti, kteří zůstanou poté, nebudou procesem eliminace vůbec náchylní k rozkoším bezdětnosti. Doufám, že většina aspektů západní civilizace – věda, technologie, kapitalismus, prosperita, svoboda – přežije do budoucna, ale život bez dětí nikoli. Bezdětnost prostě nemůže přežít biologickou soutěž s dětmi.

Kdo jsou lidé, kteří se vzdalují budoucnosti?

I když je těžké si představit, kdo budou plodní lidé budoucnosti, je snadné zjistit, kdo jimi nebudou. Lidé, kteří se od zítřka odstraňují, jsou ti, kteří dnes nemají děti.

Netvrdím, že rozumím tomu, co lidi motivuje mít 10 dětí – které ovládnou naši budoucnost – ale chápu lidi s 0 dětmi – kteří ovládají naši současnost. Za prvé, jsem jedním z těch 0 dětí. Za druhé, všichni snadno vidíme, jací jsou bezdětní kolem nás. Nemohu tedy říci mnoho o těch, kteří nás nahradí, ale mohu říci mnoho o těch, kteří budou nahrazeni.

Je zřejmé, kdo nepředává své geny budoucím generacím – všichni dnešní lidé, kteří se rozhodli nemít děti. Nejvtipnějším příkladem těchto nerodičů jsou aktivisté za změnu klimatu v Extinction Rebellion a související skupiny BirthStrike a „Hnutí za dobrovolné vyhynutí lidí“. Extinction Rebellion jsou vysoce vzdělaní společenští bojovníci, kteří veřejně dávají najevo svou morální ctnost tím, že všem připomínají, proč nemají děti. Jejich politickým programem je doslova to, že odmítají mít děti, dokud vláda neopraví počasí. Ale samozřejmě je to všechno přetvářka. Neobětují svou celoživotní touhu po dětech, aby zachránili životní prostředí. Oddávají se své celoživotní touze nebýt zatěžována dětmi a nazývají to environmentalismus. Nikdo se nepřipojí k Extinction Rebellion, BirthStrike, nebo VHEM, který skutečně chce mít děti. Politika je jen výmluva k naprostému sobeckosti: „Podívejte se na mě. Jsem super ctnostný a obětavý, protože mám v plánu utrácet všechny svůj čas a peníze pro sebe, ne pro nikoho jiného. Je to podvod – vláda nikdy nenapraví počasí a nikdy nebudou mít děti. Extinction Rebellion a jemu podobní jsou bezděčně skvěle eugenické a odstraňují nesnesitelné nepříjemnosti z budoucích generací. Za 100 let ode dneška nikdo neřekne: „Moji předci byli v Extinction Rebellion“, protože žádní Extinction Rebelové nebudou mít potomky. Za století ode dneška lidé řeknou: „Ve světě DINK (Dual-Income No Kids) měli moji předkové mnoho dětí. Byli spravedliví ve světě sobectví.“ Jsem super ctnostný a obětavý, protože mám v plánu utrácet všechny svůj čas a peníze pro sebe, ne pro nikoho jiného. Je to podvod – vláda nikdy nenapraví počasí a nikdy nebudou mít děti. Extinction Rebellion a jemu podobní jsou bezděčně skvěle eugenické a odstraňují

Za století ode dneška lidé řeknou: „Ve světě DINK (Dual-Income No Kids) měli moji předkové mnoho dětí. Byli spravedliví ve světě sobectví.“ Téměř každý na levé straně politického spektra dnes volí genetické vymírání. To je eugenika ve větším měřítku, než si kdokoli dokázal představit před 100 lety. A na rozdíl od eugeniky minulosti se to všechno děje dobrovolně. Zvažte termín LGBTQQIP2SAA – každé písmeno představuje jiný způsob, jak mít sex bez vytváření dětí. Zdá se, že projekt levice dnes má přesvědčit každého, kdo jim bude naslouchat, aby se nereprodukoval. To může skončit jediným způsobem – nezůstane nikdo, kdo by je poslouchal. Naše doba je jako film, kde kult smrti přesvědčuje všechny své členy, aby se zabili. Není to horor, protože čím více padouši uspějí, tím menší jsou nebezpečí pro všechny ostatní. Je to spíš černá komedie. Vzpomeňte si na všechny kategorie lidí, které dnes ve světě vidíme a kteří před 100 lety vůbec neexistovali – dívčí šéfka, paní HR, komisařka DEI, klimatická aktivistka, hlavní studující stížnosti, věčný postgraduální student, modrovlasá kočičí dáma, antirasistická spojenkyně, nebinární učitelka, průvodkyně LGBTQ+, mistr BDSM dungeonů, bugchaser, knihovnice drag queen, soutěžící krásy MTF, celebrita, která mění své děti na trans – to vše šílenci budou pryč za 100 let. Stejně jako minulost žádného z těchto škůdců neobsahovala, ani budoucnost je nebude, protože se všichni rozhodli odstranit se z potomků.

Samozřejmě, že vždy existovaly nepříjemnosti. V předchozích generacích by těmito osobnostními typy byli abolicionisté, sufražetky nebo abstinenti křesťanské střídmosti Unionu. Ale velký rozdíl mezi tehdejší dobou a dneškem je ten, že abolicionisté, sufražetky a církevní dámy měly děti. Dnes jsou jejich otravní potomci bezdětní. To je obrovské. Budoucnost bude skvělá!

Is this article not entirely irrelevant given that the only overarching goal is the genocide of all white people on Earth and that civilizational conditions will simply continue to deteriorate until such time as there are no whites left to maintain them? Dr. Putnam's landmark study shows that we have no reason to bother maintaining anything around us or supporting the future when we all subconsciously know we don't have one. That's why all technology used today was first invented, designed, theorized, or proven mathematically viable no later than 1970. That's when the white race, worldwide, collectively and subconsciously recognized that we're being exterminated and thus it is a threat to ourselves to work for other species' future.

Go read that study. Internalize that the only goal is "kill all whites, everywhere." Then reevaluate population projections vis a vis economic forcings such as (unwanted) immigration and (unwanted) industrial outsourcing.

Author simplifies this.

Each Region/Country have their own set of circumstances that affect the Fertility Rates for their Demographics.

The Oligarchs of Murica have been waging a Financial PowerPlay against Laborers, Skilled Laborers, and White-Collar Professionals for decades.

Add NAFTA, Illegal Immigration, Birth Control, Drugs, Divorce Rates, Woked, Alternative Lifestyle Advocacies. Add the CoVID Vaxx.

Murican Demographics have shifted in the favor of Hispanics from WASPs due to Murica's Failures in curbing Illegal Migrations. Hispanic and Hispanic-White Residents should outnumber European-White Residents in the latter 2020s.

Israel are on course to "Double" their Population every 25~30 Years for the rest of this Century. IIRC, SECULAR ISRAELI Women are averaging 3 Children per Woman. Therefore it would be prudent to expect for ISR Territorial Expansion Wars this Century.

Both Murica and the €URoGarden are undergoing major Migranvasions from 3rd World Countries. Murica's Migranvasions have been curbed and are now unstoppable. The Murican Members of the Hegemon-Plutarchy are probably preparing to accommodate OpenBorder Agreements with the Americas States.

Good Luck

The basic logic is sound – breeders will prevail over non-breeders, passing on their breeder-inclined genes and multiplying. The breeders will be people whose genes predispose them to resist the enticements that led to non-breeding in the first place- the pill, consumerism, cheap fun and an unserious life.

But dysgenic genes can persist in a population. What has caused the proliferation of sexual freaks and Cluster B personality types over the past 50 years? Is this just the result of social controls being relaxed so the freaks (who were always there) came out of their closets? Or could genetics have changed and produced more freaks than in past times, and if so what caused it?

One big change since the 19th century is the dramatic reduction in child mortality. Are we seeing more Cluster B personality types and sexual freaks because previously these people would have died in infancy or childhood but now live to adult lives? Will non-breeding weed these genes out of the gene pool or will they persist?

Stay out of it.

Rightists will lose elections because of Roe v. Wade.

Immigration, inflation, urban minority crime, etc. does not matter.

Abortion.

Rightists need to live and let live, and focus HARD on economics, crime and race.

Populations naturally fluctuate over time and space. This notion of any ever increasing human population is derived from the need of economics to continually make money and grow companies. It is a falsehood. It is actually a good thing that the worlds population may decline in the future so as to avoid catastrophic overpopulation levels as we see today that are creating so many problems such as low IQ people breeding at alarming rates and invading White nations. Human population cannot continue to increase in a finite space.

First, what is happening as planned is the reduction in white Europeans populations, mostly. Other races and ethnicities are affected too, but less.

Second, the idea that leftism will disappear because leftists have less children is silly. From that perspective, homosexuality would have disappeared long ago. It's not a purely genetic thing.

Third, Ultra-Orthodox Jews will continue to give birth to Secular Jews. Where do you think secular Jews come from? And the same for other religions, although it is true that religious people in general tend to have more children, but there's no guarantee their children will continue to be religious (and have lots of children themselves) if the environment changes.

A good example is what happened in France, Quebec, Italy and other (formerly) Catholic countries. People used to practice their religion and have lots of kids until the 1960s. Then a collapse came, both in churchgoing and in having children. The current generations are having less children and are secular. But they come from the same families that just a generation ago were religious and had tons of children.

The good news is, this can change in the other direction too.

Of course, something not mentioned in the article are the non-voluntary contraception techniques used today, from vaccines to stuff put in our food and water that also reduce sperm count, female fertility etc. This is having an effect too. It's not just that people are be glued to their phones.

I offer my theory for the depopulation trends of the societies (among all other ill-trends) – urbanisation.

The WHO/WEF probably intend to control populations via a compulsory vaccine. I'm guessing they will eventually try to put nanoparticles in the vaccines that can be activated via 5G networks to screw-up a female's fertility after she has one child, or something along those lines. The cabal is not going to sit idly by and let itself get outnumbered. These people would cheat you at a game of checkers, so you can imagine how much they think about this

An inexorable law of nature — overshoot your carrying capacity, and suffer the consequences.

After countless millennia, it was a mere 200 years ago that the industrial revolution enabled human numbers to reach 1 billion — and it’s already metastasized to 8+ billion & counting. Not only did industrialism multiply human numbers, it also greatly multiplied our individual ecological impact. Human ingenuity has admittedly postponed various doomsday predictions — but the Earth remains finite — and the low-hanging fruit keeps getting harder to reach. And the competition for it keeps getting nastier.

True, anti-White genocidal wokesters refrain from overbreeding themselves — but they excuse (& encourage) anti-White over-breeding. Don’t let the hucksters take the ecological high ground!

Climate change (including big abrupt changes) long predated humanity. The extent of its current anthropogenic component is debatable. But a smaller human population would surely help. If “climate activists” confront you, demand to know SPECIFICALLY what they’re doing to discourage over-breeders (that’ll shut ’em up!).

Negative population growth is an entirely rational, ethical, & necessary response to mass extinction & ecological collapse.

Mothers young and older are only concerned with yakking on their cell phonies their children are just a bother!! When I was a boy the whole neighborhood raised the children so no one did anything they were not supposed to! Nowadays spanking children for wrongful behavior is unlawful!! How is a child to learn to behave themselves when punishment never enters into their minds. Here in the U.S. teenagers are shooting and killing each other over nonsense. More than half of the people that get on and ride the bus never pay; paying their share must be against their religion!! “Sexual Freaks”? They may exist, but are few in numbers and never would have been part of the breeding population anyway, just like gays, who happen to practice the most ancient form of birth-control known to history.

Samesex eroticism has existed throughout recorded history and obviously exists for cultural evolutionary reasons. Consider the likes of Socrates, Plato, Shakespeare, Leonardo and Michelangelo. Their contributions to society was not based on breeding babies. Samesex women and men are there to add some “yeast” to the human batter. without that yeast, the cake goes flat.

Population decline has been developing as a result, primarily of urbanization and industrialization. “Many hands make light work” is almost strictly a rural phenomenon. However, with the agri-industrial industry destroying small farms in the developed countries, monster machines, now highly robotized and automated ,those “many hands” don’t happen here.

The decline has been exacerbated and metastasizing due to the deliberately destructive vaccines for a virus little more lethal than a bad case of the flu. The depopulation agenda is real. Read up on the now destroyed Georgia Guidestones.

So, rebel, try to get off your Southern-fried religious soapbox and try to engage the left-hemisphere of your brain in order to use a bit of reason while doing some essential historical research to counteract your hysterical bombast.

One bright afternoon in a community college somewhere a middle aged white woman with dyed bright blue hair is teaching a class on “Gender Studies”. She is explaining about the “patriarchy”, and of how women and people of colour have been and are being oppressed by white men, and that women and people of colour and all the other oppressed groups in society need to rise up and overthrow the white male power structure.

In her class there are six young women of Bangla Deshi heritage. They are all slim, pretty, and elegantly attired, as is their custom, emphasising femininity and beauty in a modest and graceful way. These young ladies all pay respectful attention to their lecturer, since that too is their custom, and indeed one of the young ladies is destined to be awarded a Distinction in her class, but it must be said that they’re not really taking much of what she says in. In their break periods they do, indeed, discuss gender relations, but not as the blue haired lady intended. Instead, they gossip incessantly about the young male suitors their parents have introduced them to the previous weekend. “I liked him, but my mum and dad refused point blank when they learned he had no qualifications”, or “He hardly spoke to me, all he wanted was a passport to stay in this country”.

Fast forward ten years. Today the blue haired lady (who has stopped dying her hair blue) is retiring from her job at the college. The Gender Studies course is being scrapped now that she is leaving, as interest has waned. It was only ever popular with a certain kind of young white woman, a type that is rather scarce now. Girls with immigrant parents prefer something more practical and work related, such as business studies or accounting. Besides, they’re not all that interested in white men’s misdeeds. What’s that to do with them?

Our six young Bangla Deshi girls have all married and blossomed into proper young wives and mothers. By an astonishing coincidence they all have four children! I am pleased to report that despite having ups and downs they all still remain friends, and they all occasionally go to the park together with their children to catch up on the latest news. Thirty folks when they all show up!

Fast forward another twenty years. Sad news. Our (formerly) blue haired lady has passed away. Today is her funeral. Of course, she never married, and she had no children, and her remaining family, such as it is, are either dead or live too far away, so just five very elderly people are in attendance. These include her good friend, gay John, who had discovered her body, and had taken care of the arrangements, which included re-homing her four cats with some other elderly spinsters and gay friends. Goodbye blue haired lady.

Our six young Bangla Deshi women are now in middle age and beginning to welcome their crop of grandchildren. Two of our girls did not stop at four kids and one even had seven! Altogether they have nine grandchildren now. (But they will finish up with seventy seven grandchildren, making over one hundred folks altogether.)

[The six Bangla Deshi girls are taken from real life experience.]

All the angst surrounding population is only there because the Ponzi schemes gov'ts have hatched require an ever expanding population to support them. For the average person, it doesn't matter if half the world migrated to mars overnight, except for the financial destruction that would bring to Social Security and all the other gov't and corporate schemes that underpin the phony currency system.

Assume you are living on a farm with your material needs met. Do you really care if population declines around you? Does the loss of population have any impact on you besides a slowing down of how much of your crop you sell over time? Houses become vacant, so house prices drop and more people can afford them. Factories close due to loss of demand for their product, but these are not catastrophes.

This whole demographics 'problem' is a manufactured issue only because all the financial schemes break down at some point with fewer suckers joining in.

Thank your gov't for inventing these cons and make sure to vote harder.

Depopulation is a terrible calamity to hit humanity.

With children and a young, growing population humanity is optimistic and forward thinking. Economic growth, the wish to build, create and reach new heights of human achievement.

With depopulation there is only pessimism, economic degrowth and the search to amuse yourself (by being a fag or a trannie or whatever new mental illness cooked up in American bourgeois academia to distract people from how they loot the world in foreign policy and domestically attack working people).

I think the answer is much simpler: the Pill made it easy for couples to get the family size that they want.

You cant' just blame the pill. The UK ran ads on the NHS with pictures of PlayStation controllers (high heels for the ads aimed at women) and asked "would you give up this for this(a baby dummy)?"

If you do not provide an economic way of giving people a decent family life they will end up like the hikkokomori in Japan or modern day incels – addicted to chronically masturbating to porn online instead of seeking a meaningful relationship (and creating new life)

Imagine Israel's nukes and bio-weapons controlled by the Haredim. Funny enough for you?

Israel has claimed to be able to nuke more countries than it actually can.

About 15 years ago in closed chambers it was reported by a few different news organizations that Israel threatened to nuke Canada. Maybe during one of the many times it was caught stealing our passports to murder someone?

The only places it can nuke will be by tactical and carried by (probably) an F-15, though there's a few other planes that can probably do it that are shorter-range.

It might use shorter range missiles but they are nowhere near the terminal speed of ICBMs and would probably be shot down by defensive missiles / regular air-defense, which in the last 20 years has made advances even in the former west (remember the SCUDs not being shot down as successfully 30 years ago).

It has the same problem that North Korea does – it's waayyyy too small and surrounded by countries with missiles so if it tried to launch ICBMs then they would be shot down during their extra-vulnerable launch-plus 5 minutes window.

Don't fear Israel and don't fear North Korea with its... "Long Dong" series of ICBMs. Should be a clue right there for anyone paying attention.

Oh well, once in a while you have to fight for your home. History be funny that way.

Up to 1500 BC or so, entire populations wandered all over the place, there were Goths in Eastern Europe, Celts in the mideast, constant invasions into settled areas by the steppe nomads (which didn't really stop until quite recently). They brought their women, children, their pots and pans.

I used to think Conan the Barbarian was total fantasy but there really were Cimmarians and they crossed the Black Sea from Ukraine/Russia to settle the Asia Minor / maybe modern Iran.

It ain't pretty but populations have tried displacing other populations for better farmland, pasture land, or because some other people is pushing THEM out.

I like our chances – not every people can organize and fight.

We grow up with firearms and are more than familiar.

Not so with everybody else.

Get off the Interstates. Then take State Roads, then the dirt roads off State Roads. These are some of the most beautiful and haunting places on the East Coast.

And in the smallest stores, well off the Highway and surrounded by family cemeteries and cows-there will be an Indian (subcontinent), a Mexican, or a black who owns a store. In the middle of places that do not even have Internet service. Rude, entitled, hateful and somehow...mysteriously...with enough cash to buy a store with gas pumps, even though they have rotten teeth and cheap shoes.

It appears if Jonathan Greenblatt has been tinkering around with the once reliable website jewornotjew.com, because when I tried using it on this guy Kusmiak's name to check the obvious, the website just spins forever as if it's lost somewhere in Hebrew la-la-land.

So, I chose another tactic to try to determine if Kusmiak is jewish. More inconclusive hits came up, but one of them listed his mother's name – Iona (Ziegler) Kusmiak. So, I decided to do some searching on her maiden name and BINGO. A well known jewish name. Which, since that self chosen womb with all that 24 caret golden public hair is the only womb in the Universe that can pop out jewish offspring, tends to strongly suggest that Kusmiak is a member of the White race hating, White race genocide craving tribe of self chosenites. Not definite proof, but the odds are very high.

I only skimmed over the first several paragraphs of what I suspected from the beginning as being another jewish written propaganda essay that was aimed at gullible and naive and JQ clueless White nose picking Bible thumping Christians – who happen to be the one remaining group of Whites who like having lots of White kids. And, as is always the jewish custom when propagandizing and shoveling their racially suicidal and racially destructive manure at White people – they demonstrate their famous verbosity skills in doing so, resulting in a 7,200 word long “advice” essay to Whites that they need to stop having babies and abort any fetuses that might accidentally get fertilized during a moment of passion.

Am I the only JQ wise White man who wonders if these White genocide pushers ever pull on a pair of waist high wading boots when they sit down to shovel this kind of manure, so as to make sure they don't get any of that manure on themselves?

Even if the massive subsidies sent to Israel are not the cause of the population boom, they are undoubtedly a cause. The trend of declining birth rates is inversely related to inflation. This is to the extent that couples feel like having children is a tax on their income and fear it will reduce their standard of living.

Rising consumerism also roughly corresponds to this trend over the past 70 years, such that young people prefer to spend money on themselves rather than having large families. There are elements of envy and vanity here, “keeping up with the Joneses”, where we compete with our neighbors to have new, fancy things, but in a healthier society, this tendency may translate to having as large a family as our neighbors.

Do we only live for ourselves and for selfish reasons? Or do we have any responsibility to our ancestors and future generations? The way that people answer these questions will determine if they feel any obligation towards society, impacting whether they start a family and the size of it.

Malcolm and Simone Collins are worried about the exact scenario described here, because they don't want a world in which women don't have rights and are concerned that open-mindedness might be partially heritable, so they founded pronatalist.org and are currently in the process of trying to convince us shitlibs to have children.

(Well, maybe not "us" referring to the black ones like me, but you get the idea).

They also think in a century the world will decline to having 4 ethnic groups. I think based on scenario 3, this worry is unlikely.

Again in line with your observations here, the nation of Georgia has rebounded to replacement fertility within the last decade.

It's worth remembering that over the past century, the Left has gone from trying to violently establish a Workers Paradise to now encouraging their most ardent believers to "liberate" themselves with chemical castration and genital mutilation.

The commonality is that the ethnic majority are crushed (Russians/Ukrainians under Bolshevism and Anglo/Europeans under Wokism).

In both cases the "leading cadre" (Jewish activists) enjoy the aristocratic lifestyle and hold power mafia style through fear.

There's doesn't seem to be much that the US population can do about it until the whole system implodes. Best bet being a worthless dollar (Asians wanting to be paid for their products with real money).

In Western countries, just as in Israel, someone is going to win the fertility race. I don't know who, but somebody will. And when they do, this will change everything. In particular:

- It will consign the groups which currently have 0 or 1 children per family (liberals and the non-religious) to complete oblivion.

Not necessarily. The assumption here is Democracy – while most of history over the last millenium has been undemocratic. Feudal aristocracies had few members but no difficult at all in maintaining and protecting their power vs. their serfs.

In my youth I remember a tv episode can't for the life of me remember the show but it spoke about a family in South America somewhere who had close to 50 children? the matriarch of the family so loved children she was practically permanently pregnant from a young age. The children had to leave home at the age of 17 or 18 and could only return for special occasions and such? will never forget it! as a young lad the whole episode had a profound affect upon me and kind of still does.

Today's immigrants come here for the dollars...nothing more.

They are experts at "gaming the system", even in major metropolitan areas, not just in small towns.

Not only do they not pay their taxes, they transfer ownership of their businesses to relatives on a regular basis in order to avoid taxes. You see, resident aliens are permitted to exclude their income from federal income taxes. By transferring ownership of the business to another relative on a somewhat regular basis, they avoid paying American taxes.

They run EBT scams, paying 50 cents on the dollar cash for EBT funds. If and when they are caught in such scams, they feign a "language barrier" or other "miscommunication" in order to get out of trouble. Quite often, these tactics succeed.

The "Small Business Administration" loan program is not available to native-born White gentiles but is solely reserved for jews and "people of color".

On the jew front, observe the tactics of "jews-only" community Kiryas Joel, New York which openly flouts all equal accommodation, anti-discrimination, civil-rights, fair housing, and every other law that applies to us gentiles. Not only that, over 70% of its residents are collecting some form of "public assistance" as well.

And the reason the bobble head Haredis are breeding like jack and bunny rabbits is because they needn't have to worry about money. Between US and their own coreligionists in the West funneling them loot, they can go on procreating to overwhelm not only Israel but the whole of the Middle East (maybe that's the idea).

Agreed in part. The phenomena you cite are part and parcel of the industrialization and urbanization reality and deserve consideration when addressing population issues.

Perhaps the primary analog for population decline within an industrialized, urban construct have been the many laboratory examples of rats living in cramped, intense quarters. Their breeding patterns plummet as compared with the ones who enjoy a plenitude of living space. It’s all hard-wired.

Mennonites and Mormons understand tech and food handling. Lower-IQ fertile groups tend to develop folkways over time that keep them from making fatal errors (not as good as actual intelligence and education but life, uh, finds a way).

For example, Cherokees had a rule where members couldn't marry someone of their specific clan. There was a mystical nonsense rationalization behind it, but effectively it just reduced inbreeding. As with food; if nothing else they develop something like kosher foods where if they can't figure out why a food is making them sick they just give up and say it's evil.

I'm not going to comment on whether the world has too many or too few people, because it seems so obvious that more people are better than less.

At this point I realized the essay was basically foolishness.

Mr. Unz sometimes publishes an author named Paul Craig Roberts, a gentleman born in 1939. According to a search lookup the Earth's population was just a smidgen more than 2 billion at that time. I don't have an especially high opinion of the man, but I doubt if he'd argue the world of 2023 is a vastly better place with its 8 billion humans than it was when he was a little kid growing up.

Elon Musk is an obnoxious jerk with too much money. His hot air about Earth's population is based on arrogant ignorance – and an extremely high opinion of his own importance.

Does this help explain Polygamy (both legal and not legalised) ? How about the effect of one man several wives and many, many children? Like the Mormons?

How does that skew the calculations and scenarios? Was it allowed by certain religions leaders to increase their progeny in the past?

Does that help explain the dowry system that was prevalent in both Western and Esatern societies in the past?

| That would mean civil war, there's no sign of anyone being willing to do that.

War is upon us from a dozen vectors, not the least of which is our own governments.

Awareness is dawning, and I see signs of lots of people "willing" (cornered) to do that.

Random conversations between white Canadian strangers on this very topic, when among nothing but foreign languages, is sparked by a simple look.

I was at the TD Bank, myself and another poor white in work duds were waiting to see the teller for 20+ minutes while the language barrier between ESL employees and other ESL gimmie-gibbs patrons prevented real communication. A brief interruption between automatic government money payments was getting to be a serious handicap, given how expensive rent is etc., there's probably a dozen of them crammed into a shitty 2-bedroom somewhere in a roach-infested crap heap of a building. Maybe mine.

I looked over and said, "Are you sticking for the war or are you leaving the country?"

He said without missing a beat, "I'm sticking for the war."

My response: "My family are all covid cultists. I have nowhere to go to ground. I might be leaving."

Conversation over, point quickly made. These conversations are happening everywhere all the time.

It doesn't matter what people think or what the future MIGHT hold, civil war is upon us. 30% of the population, the shitlibs, have decided to replace the rest of us while they think they can escape into the burbs or wherever. Chances are as it's an opinion they didn't conceive of themselves, they haven't thought that far ahead.

This explains the “need” for “Diversity, Equity and Inclusion” (DEI). This also explains the ferocity with which the males are treated in Divorce proceedings in the Family Court System. This also explains the LGBTQ+ movement. It explains BLM. Those in positions of Power and/or influence are, to a large extent harboring a deep, bitter Hatred of White European Races. | Population

Since this is the zine of narratives, ...i refrain from calling many venues, not at all decided, many scenarios, but in all the below mentions seem to stand out.

Population, populations, the dynamics of population territorially, over time, globally. Population density and the way to exploit/mine part and all collectives, the individual as such is the main factor of almost anything else we see as factors of agency: be it finance, monetization, war, from local quality of life to global economics of energy and toxicity, the use and availability of clean water and air.

The choice to decide in what direction to steer population numbers, their densities, the definitions of quality populations, fractions of them, has dawned to some thinkers, most situated and bribed within elite circles. So guess where we are heading?

The main factor of economics, real-life economics and the way to steer is population. Population is the throttle to energy, monetarism, finance capitalism, communism, class divides and certainly territorial ambitions of autonomy.

Yanis Varoufakis of all thinkers said it must opportunisch. We live in a cloud [Yanis] ...and the cloud is constituted, throttled, rainmaking, or not, by throttling the population within [my take on his concept of cloud].

As you point out, Kusmiak omits many important factors. It's not just a question of numbers. There is a smart fraction that declines to vanishing point when average IQ declines, n when the brightest women seek careers instead of motherhood that's what happens to society. Then prosperity turns into permanent economic depression. Plus different ethnic groups are reproducing at different rates n to present averages as if there is only one group with a common goal is misleading. In some places in Europe the most popular baby name now is Muhammad.

A rebound won't restore the population of previous centuries or their culture. Then there is the fact that overall numbers already are swamping those on the receiving end of migration. Egypt for example had only 6 million people 120 years ago. Now it has surpassed 100 million n is adding over 1 million each year, Pakistan twice as many, n millions want to go to Europe or North America. How is a 'rebound' in fifty years going to restore anything in the face of such migration tsunamis?

The reason the jews are breeding like cockroaches in Israel is because of the massive amounts of money they receive from their ZOG puppet states,

It's all about the money. Of course jews in Israel are having more kids than Americans. Free healthcare, college and I suspect childcare, all funded by the taxes of two parent income families in the US. Large families are fun, as long as someone else is footing the bill or if you are rich (Musk).

Urbanization/industrialization always leads to lower birth rates. Even the Amish men will start pulling out when they have to leave the farm and take a job in town.

Remember, no new sin has been invented in these 200 years. That means whatever sexual deviation / perversion / outright evil is seen now, was always there, only remained suppressed for want of opportunity.

About the population collapse, it is a far greater threat than is usually realised. Clans disappear easily; male and female prototypes disappear too; admixture produces unexpected new combos in terms of looks. Since the overall population is increasing, people fail to note these disappearances and appearances. Where people are divided into tribes or castes – Africa and India – the disappearance of clans is easily noticeable. Someone has to record it, thats all.

There seems to be no moral law that governs such disappearances. People try to derive some moral lessons from the disappearance of a clan, tribe or people, but often such conclusions are wrong. What is the reason the Tasmanians went extinct? Does it indicate any moral lapse on their part? Why were the Homo sapiens successful in killing Neanderthals? Were Neanderthals morally corrupt? Did they all accumulate bad karma so much? We may try to derive some lessons, but those are likely to be wrong.

Lets take Jared Diamond's argument about why the Amerindians failed to develop a civilisation that could conquer Europe: as soon as they entered North America through Bering, Amerindians killed all the big fauna, so they could not domesticate any big animal, that stunted their agriculture, hence their civilisation. Lets accept it on face value, and try to derive a moral lesson: the Amerindians of 12,000 BC could not control their appetite, or control themselves, they hunted the big fauna to extinction; so, we can conclude that their inability to practise Delayed Gratification led to their eventual extinction. But then when we take a few steps back and look at the whole picture, this does not look like a moral lesson: the failure of a few hundred individuals to control their behaviour led to the extinction of their progeny 13,000 years later? What sort of a moral lesson is this?

Trying to extract moral principles out of anthropology seems to be a fruitless venture.

I'm seriously beginning to consider the possibility that the majority what UNZ publishes is a cleverly designed bait to illicit emotional response and make people comment, thus showing how large the traffic to his web site is. This is obvious with this so called "article" where the author has no clue what Reality is but simply put his own fantasies and UNZ lets him.

To begin with, the ONLY reason we are 8 billion is because we have been using oil and gas, the most concentrated energy source ever. At the beginning of the 20th century we were merely 1 billion. By the 1960s we were 4 billion. Now, we are 8 billion.

Capitalism has largely destroyed the planet with 8 billion people who need food, water and shelter. This is obviously NOT sustainable and now WEF is trying to remove oil and gas. This will put Human "civilization" back to 18th century when surprise we were below 1 billion. Obviously 8 billion is an aberration and not the norm. The Middle Class rose directly from WWII; it's now dying because the initial conditions aren't there anymore. The author claims the Western Capitalism has won because everyone wants Western Lifestyle. Yet another of the author's fantasies; the WEF will make sure MOST of humanity lives at a mere subsistence level. This is the goal and where we are headed, NOT at population explosion the way the author fantasizes.

| the only overarching goal is the genocide of all white people on Earth

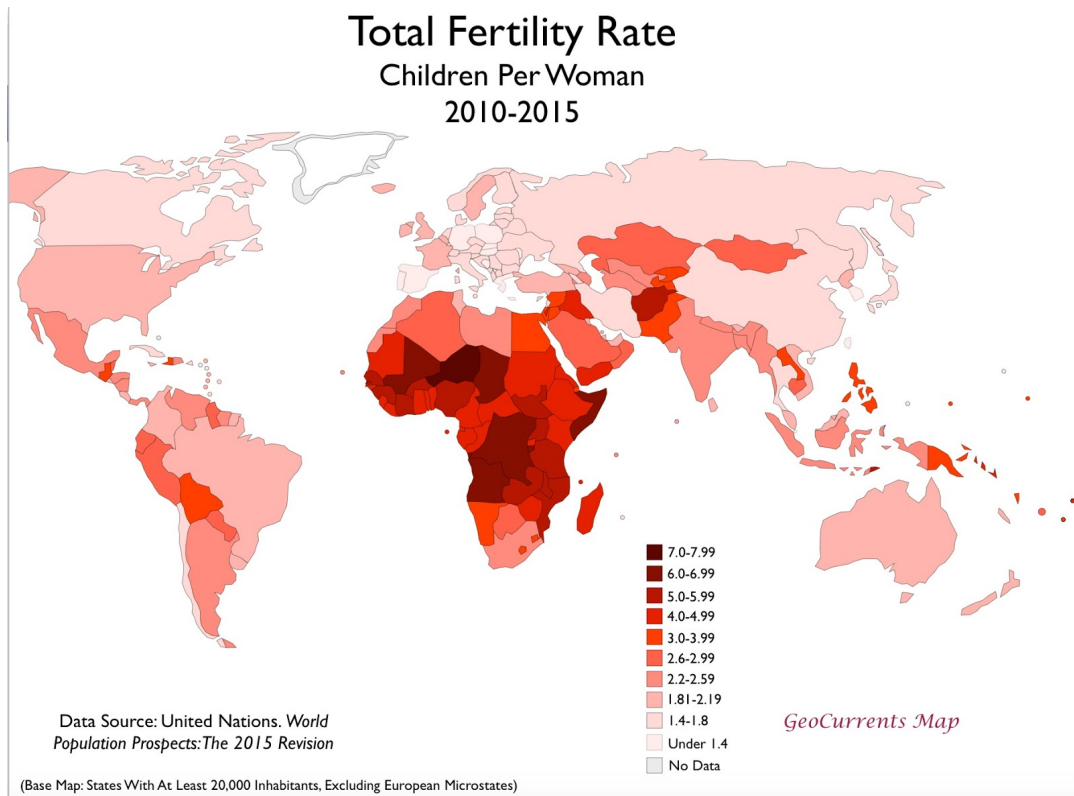

Whites are targeted for genocide, but the rest of world, like South America, Asia, Africa are breeding like crazy. So the big depopulation scheme by the covid death jab will kill whites, and the browns/blacks/asians will keep on increasing.

Nobody in Mexico or Africa, or South America gives a shit about the Holocaust, or WW2. The breeders don't care, and do not have Jew TV telling them not to breed and cut their junk off and be a tranny. Nor do they have Jew sacrament of abortion on demand.

SO FAR 20 MILLION KILLED BY THE JEW DEATH JAB HAS NOT EVEN DENTED THE POPULATION GROWTH

THE JEW JAB IS NOT KILLING THE BREEDERS

I am sorry, but I disagree. The world is way too overpopulated with mostly sub-standard humanity. We caused it with vaccines that caused an imbalance in nature. Darwin would say that the species that survive is the strongest of each. And this is the same with humans. We are sick and stupid for the most part and it is getting worse. Regarding the religious breeder Jews and I see lots of them here in LA, they have huge inbreeding issues. Lots of mental illness like Autism. Just looking at them, they mostly look and act deranged. I don't think that they will be valuable to the human race if they continue to have children within their small group. I believe that the earth and humanity would be lot better off if we reduced ourselves to bellow a billon of healthy and intelligent people and then maybe repopulate again but only allow the strongest and healthiest to survive. It is tragic that the most intelligent and physically healthy choose not to have children but the bottom tier breeds like rats. Also, I am a long distance backpacker that has walked about 10000miles in the last few years. THE EARTH IS ALREADY GREATLY DAMAGED DUE TO WAY TOO MANY PEOPLE. Human overpopulation is a terrible issue for the other living things on this once pristine planet. We were supposed to be small tribes of hunters and gatherers instead of living like rats in overcrowded cities. I am all for a drastic reduction of humanity and the sooner the better.

Get the population of the USA down to 220 million like it was in 1978 by immediate deportation of the upwards of 40 million illegal alien invaders in the USA and then remove all resident aliens and then use citizenship revocations to remove as many foreigners and the spawn of foreigners as you can.

The current asset bubbles in stocks and bonds and real estate are the biggest ever and they are bubbling and they will pop and that will be the time to use legal means to politically decapitate the evil and treasonous JEW/WASP Ruling Class of the American Empire.

Housing costs are high and real estate is in a massive monetary policy-fueled asset bubble. Foreigners are allowed to flood in and push housing costs through the roof. Baby Boomer scumbags say nothing because they are benefiting.

The evil Baby Boomers were bought off by massive government debt and asset bubbles. That explains why the evil Baby Boomer scum said nothing while their nations were flooded with foreigners.

Baby Boomers greedily grabbed all the loot they could like disgusting drug addict whores while they turned a blind eye to the culturally destructive forces let loose in their nations.

Young people are having their chance at AFFORDABLE FAMILY FORMATION hindered by the high housing costs. Greedy dirtbag Baby Boomers and other greedy geezer dirtbags born before 1965 just smile and smell their money.

The global order is about to implode because people born after 1965 will no longer give their allegiance to evil and corrupt governments that push mass legal immigration, mass illegal immigration, REFUGEE OVERLOAD, ASYLUM SEEKER INUNDATION, globalization, financialization, White Genocide(Race Replacement) and multiculturalism.

Raise the federal funds rate to 20 percent — it was that high in 1981 — and begin a campaign of mass deportation of all foreigners. Revoke the citizenship of the foreigners, too. Get the damn foreigners out and housing costs will collapse.

Financially liquidate all the greedy scumbags born before 1965. Take away their pensions, take away their health care, take away their land, everything.

Immediately take control of the anti-White, anti-Christian corporate media.

IMMIGRATION MORATORIUM NOW

REMOVE ALL FOREIGNERS AND THEIR SPAWN NOW

As others have mentioned, the target for depopulation is whites and whites only.

TPTB have done everything in their power to destroy the white birth rates:

Wall St. outsourced production and labor to make it impossible for white men to afford a family.

Feminists encourage man hatred and total independence to curtail family formation.

Porn destroys men and boys, causing impotence and the inability to form female connections.

Open borders are literally an ethnic cleansing of whites and the destruction of the white gene pool.

Race mixing is pushed by organized jewry to destroy the white gene pool.

The court system screws men in divorce, which causes men to avoid marriage.

Literally every aspect of modern life has been subverted to make life harder for white males to form families.

This is an excellent article — really. I have thought about all of these things for a while and the example of Israel is an excellent example of how these things will unfold. I submit to Mr. Kusmiak that traditional Catholics are also likely to be winners of the demographic future of the United States — and perhaps the largest ones. For example, there are some 60 million Catholics in the United States and perhaps 1% are traditional Catholics — i.e., Latin Mass, complete obedience to the teaching against contraception, and very, very large families. They also disproportionately produce priests and religious, which also means the much more liberal Catholic hierarchy will soon be taken over by them as well. Eventually, this 1% mustard seed will grow, and even if it “only” captures 5%-10% of the US Catholic population, that base will be as large as the US LDS church and larger than the Amish community. The Catholic Church’s traditional teachings are emphatic against birth control, unlike the LDS church, so the average family size will be more like the Amish. In three or four generations, traditional Catholicism will take over American Catholicism — and in a few more, the US will be a majority Catholic country with a traditional Catholic hierarchy.

The development of a population depends on several factors, not only food supply, climate, disease (infant mortality), etc.

The genetic factor plays a role insofar as a higher birth rate can be expected in homogeneous communities, i.e. where a certain blood group predominates. In heterogeneous societies, where two people of different origins form a partnership, the number of children is often limited to one, because the female organism becomes pregnant at most once from a different blood group.

Populations with a high birth rate may have a lower standard of living, but a more favourable perspective for the future: if single children become victims of a traffic accident or other misfortune, this loss is usually impossible to make up for.

As an example, consider an old Cossack proverb: “one son is no son; two sons is half a son. Only when you have three sons you can hope to have one left.”

In Africa, I noticed that in traditional communities, every man wanted to have one more wife than his brother and every woman wanted to have one more child than her concubine, as a matter of prestige. With so many offspring, one child more or less hardly matters.

However, I cannot understand why there are so many abortions in the “West”. Are white people too stupid to use contraception if they don’t want to risk a pregnancy?

White Core America must immediately call for a WHITE BABY BOOM to prepare for the inevitable Civil War II that is on its way.

Thankfully, Civil War II will be much less bloody than the Civil War because it only involves White Core America politically decapitating the JEW/WASP Ruling Class of the American Empire and immediately taking over the corporate propaganda apparatus and the internet and the newspapers and the radio and the electronic command and control of the nuclear and conventional arsenal of the United States military. We can do it in a few hours and then drink some beer to celebrate our victory.

The new White Core American ruling class in waiting understands that in a mass democracy the key to power is to control the mass media.

If you combined a WHITE BABY BOOM with a MASS DEPORTATION of foreigners you would make it easier for young White people to engage in AFFORDABLE FAMILY FORMATION.

White Core America must identify and crush its enemies and liquidate them financially and politically and culturally and then deport them to sub-Saharan Africa.

Baby Boomer Conservatism Must Be Crushed and Buried To Advance The Interests of WHITE CORE AMERICA.

High housing costs and multicultural mayhem are killing AFFORDABLE FAMILY FORMATION.

In a sane and humane society ie one the polar opposite of the USA, women would be valued as many things, including mothers. Yet, in the insane sewer of the Anglosphere, 'mothers' no longer exist. They are 'birth persons' or 'menstruators' or merely 'parents'.

As the 'trans' war on women deepens, the birth rate will fall even more. If your ability to produce and nurture life is denigrated by LUNATICS, why bother? I'd migrate myself-Europe appears to be purging the 'trans' psychological and spiritual disease, and Russia looks good.

In 1906 Richard Bucke published a book titled “Cosmic Consciousness”. He traced the development of this phenomenon back to the Renaissance era when but a handful of individuals had reconnected at that level of Real-Eye-Zation. He went on to posit that achievement of this level gradually expanded over the next few centuries, citing a number of individuals who he considered as having “passed the test”, so to speak.

Currently, a great Awakening is developing, with probably hundreds of thousands of people right across the planet who are emerging from the Cosmic Egg, looking around and gathering new insights into the artificial reality we have been experiencing since perhaps the fourth century of the Age of Pisces. The spiritual message of the great spiritual teacher, Jesus, was subverted, redacted and interpolated into a system of social control by means of an amalgamation of state power with that of a totalitarian religious system...the Great Historical Double-Cross.

Though fellow elders have awakened to this emergence on a gradual basis over the past several decades, it is a well established fact that (1) younger people are jumping overboard from the strictures of organized religion at a massive rate and (2) millions who have been ensorcelled by the smooth talkers of the mass media of mesmerization and mind-control have awakened to question the narrative.

Meanwhile, the self-established “powers that be” are becoming extremely nervous at the cascading probability that “the best laid plans of mice and men gang aft a-gley and leave us naught but grief and toil for promised joy”. Scott called that insight more than two centuries ago.

The fringe on top is become shop-worn and tattered as the Great Wheel of karma ratchets into another turning of the ages.

Depopulation is a terrible calamity to hit humanity.

With children and a young, growing population humanity is optimistic and forward thinking. Economic growth, the wish to build, create and reach new heights of human achievement.

With depopulation there is only pessimism, economic degrowth and the search to amuse yourself (by being a fag or a tranny or whatever new mental illness cooked up in American bourgeois academia to distract people from how they loot the world in foreign policy and domestically attack working people).

If you aren't going to use your brain, why not donate it to a medical school? Plenty of Pathology Departments would be glad to have it for classes and dissection.

The primary fallacy in this argument, which I wish were true, is that the deviant leftist behaviors are primarily inherited. They are significantly conditioned. So as long as the elite are glorifying the ridiculousness, a subset of the population will be conditioned to it. Also, lots of people on the left are reproducing. Many aren't, but lots are. Good article. I have been talking about this phenomenon for years. I call it the Second Demographic Transition. It's starting to show some life in places like Western Europe and North America.

Demographics: <https://gab.com/groups/37680>

The other day I was scrolling a bit on Twitter. And came past some women who just had her 10th baby. Good for her. She got a lot of likes, which was encouraging too. None of that Reddit-environmental/White-terrorism nonsense.

Anyway, in general most of the time something like families/birthrates/etc. are brought up by normal people (not people specifically interested in birthrates and such), there will be a large number of random people chiming in with how they themselves have 5-6 children, 8 children. Even 10-11 children sometimes. One guy I remember had 14 children (so far).

Whereas the overall birthrate is still abysmal, this appears to be the result of an increasingly divided population. Most people have few children, but there is a subgroup of people who are having a lot of children. A lot. Even by historic standards. Not well-known groups like the Amish/Mennonites (which are trad-fertility anyway – not post-modernity high fertility). A less visible group of people who mostly manage to pass under the radar.

If this is a cohesive group of people, and they manage to pass on their high birthrates, then these are the people who will the future. They will drive out and replace the low-birthrate commons.

Now for the White Pill: these people are almost always White (and Americans). There is a lot of doom-posting about White birthrates. But if this trend is real, then Whites are the only race which has managed to go through the demographic transition/modernity and come out on the other side with high birthrate groups. Everybody has to pass through the demographic transition eventually. Even the blackest of South Sahara Africa. It is in no way a given that they will be able to pass through the transition and retain high birthrate groups.

Blacks societies which have gone through the demographic transition (such as in the Caribbean) show no such tendencies. Current black birthrates in the USA are elevated due to recent immigration. Once the immigration is cut down, the birthrates will quickly come down. As is seen in Europe, where 2nd generation Somali birthrates are hardly any higher than the native European. Asian societies have no such high birthrate subgroups (perhaps some Muslims in Indonesia). Which is part of the reason there seems to be no bottom to Asian birthrate.

Yeah I caught that too. Indeed Iran would boast of then and say how the Gulf Arabs were backwards and repressed women. And I do believe Iran does have the highest rate of educated women in the Muslim world. It's ironic how – because Iran is hated by a few countries the media narrative is completely reversed. They would even have people believe Iran was behind 9/11 now. Let me not stray. But still I wouldn't call it "feminism". The view of women in Iran is still based on their interpretation of Islam

I'm one of the 10-child-people myself, although I'll probably only end up on 6-7. But could easily have had more. I could see this desire for many children in my mother (but not father), and assume some part of it is genetic and inheritable. Another noteworthy but obscure place is the Faroe Islands (where my family is from). Fertility rate of around 2.4 or so. Much higher than any other place in Scandinavia (or in the Western world really), and unlike the rest of the Nordic countries it is fairly religious. In 1800 there were 5,000 people, now there are 53,000. Since at least the 19th cent. some 10% of the population have emigrated to Denmark, bleeding away those parts that are less religious/less prone to have children.

I submit to Mr. Kusmiak that traditional Catholics are also likely to be winners of the demographic future of the United States — and perhaps the largest ones. For example, there are some 60 million Catholics in the United States and perhaps 1% are traditional Catholics — i.e., Latin Mass, complete obedience to the teaching against contraception, and very, very large familie

Absolutely, "The average birth rate in the USA is 1.64; average birth rate for American Catholics is 2.3 (40% higher); and average birth rate for those attending Latin mass is 3.6 (119% higher)."

Autism is not the result of inbreeding but a side effect of vaccinations in infancy. In some countries, triple vaccinations are mandatory, supposedly to ensure to prevent the spread of dangerous diseases, and parents agree because they want maximum protection for their child. After all, single children are especially precious, like the only ace in the hand. I know of a case where the child developed convulsions a few days after vaccination and later a slower development. The family sued and the court appointed an expert witness who claimed that the retardation was genetic and no link to the vaccination could be proven. From then on, the family refrained from vaccinations and the relatives followed suit, with the result that the children born later developed much better. The devilish thing about early childhood vaccinations is that no before-and-after effect can be proven.

As far as I know, the bison were not exterminated by American Indians but by people like Buffalo Bill. Kenya was also teeming with wildlife and for white hunters it was a sport to shoot as many of the largest and most beautiful animals as possible and then just leave them there, like in a shooting competition at the fair.

“For the sake of argument, let us assume that your entire family tree is entirely free of Jewish genes. That does not prevent your thoughts, words, and behaviors from gravitating to the exact patterns that serve a subset of Jewish interests. ”

Excellent analysis, Anon. The late Tom Metzger once observed and commented on this exact same phenomena. He correctly pointed out that many non-jews, Whites in particular, who spend a significant amount of their lives living in close proximity to large numbers of jews – and being forced to interact with them on a daily basis will very often become infected with what Metzger referred to as ‘jew think’.

In essence, they start to think like jews, behave like jews, adopt the views and opinions of jews, and this includes their preponderance of negative, destructive, degenerate and anti-White attitudes – and this serves to render them indistinguishable from ethnic / racial jews.

Throughout my life, whenever I have come into contact with anyone who had spent a portion of their life living in New York City, whether they were born there or had just lived there for a period of time – I’ve noticed that every single one of these individuals all shared the same set of extremely unpleasant, obnoxious, rude, arrogant, narcissistic, hyper aggressive personality traits. It got to the point where I could meet someone and after only spending a few short hours being around them, I would automatically know that they were from New York City – without them even revealing this to me.

Their repulsive personality characteristics screamed ‘New York City’. Consider the case of Donald Trump. He’s a typical New Yorker – and while his policies while in the White House were certainly beneficial to traditional America, more so than any previous president in most of our lifetimes – his personality was not all that likeable. And, since New York City is a cesspool of jewish dominated culture, Trump grew up in that environment and was infected with ‘jew think’.

I can give credit to Iran for mostly putting their females into technical fields, where they cannot cause so much social turmoil. A female in engineering may be incompetent and need to have her work checked by a man to ensure she doesn't kill people with her shoddy product, but she is not able to cause anywhere near the damage a female in journalism or education can. And they are still mostly sex segregated as well. If you are going to educate females, that is the way to do it, but it is still not ideal and they would need to return to traditional forced marriage if they want to increase births to replacement level.

Third, Ultra-Orthodox Jews will continue to give birth to Secular Jews. Where do you think secular Jews come from? And the same for other religions, although it is true that religious people in general tend to have more children, but there's no guarantee their children will continue to be religious (and have lots of children themselves) if the environment changes.

This is categorically untrue.

Those ultra-orthodox communities are incredibly insular, and their members don't just 'flip' to being secular.

In other words, while it's not unheard of, orthodox jews do not give birth to secular jews, especially in modern societies.

You are absolutely right. The Haredi are mostly Ashkenazi, not Mizrahi. I didn't differentiate between the two groups because I didn't want to get into the weeds about Israeli politics, a subject that I know little about. As I understand it, the Haredi Ashkenazi are extremely right-wing and the Mizrahi are conservative. The Likud party is mostly Mizrahi (right of center) and United Torah Judaism is mostly Haredi (far right). They and other parties formed an alliance to create the current coalition government under Netanyahu. But I was only trying to make 2 points – the Haredi are growing exponentially, and the Haredi are insanely right-wing – so I skipped the details.

@J

I would like to ask Mr. Kusmiak ... why he decided to reject his nature as a living organism, have no children and exit from evolution.

I wouldn't say I decided to reject my nature, I would say I embraced my nature. The whole premise of my analysis is that people differ – some want to have children and some don't. Either choice is fine. It's just that, in the long run, the first group will win the genetic competition so eventually there will be a lot more of the former than the latter.

I know it's easier to pretend that there is one human nature – all humans want children, for instance, so not wanting children is “rejecting human nature.” But this is just factually wrong. We don't all want children. More generally, there is no one human nature. There is, in fact, huge variety within human nature. For every decision, some people will choose differently than other people. That's the only reason evolution can work at all – selection does something only if there is variation. If you analyze situations thinking there is one human nature – for instance, all Westerners want 1.5 children per family so Western man will soon go extinct – then you are guaranteed to be wrong. That's the fallacy I was attacking in this article. If you take into account the variety in human nature – some Westerners want 10 children and others want 0 children so our countries will soon be full of 10 children families – then I think you have a chance of getting it right.

On a related subject, let me be a little more speculative, and speak from anecdotes, not data: It's been my personal observation that there are a lot more non-conformist white people than non-conformists of other races. Asians, in particular, are famous for their conformity. (I don't know about Africans.) When whites in the US and Europe are exposed to the ubiquitous anti-natalist propaganda in our media, many conform but many do not conform. The latter are the people who will save us demographically. On the other hand, when Asians are exposed to Western media, they try to figure out what others around them are doing and then do that too. They try to form a social consensus. The social consensus today in Japan, Korea, Taiwan, and also among Asians in America is to have no children, and I see very few iconoclastic Asians rebelling against that consensus. The situation in China is more complicated because it seems like the Chinese government – unlike our own – is legitimately trying to help their people, but I tried to make the point that Western culture is just so damn attractive that if the Chinese government does finally tell its people to have lots of children, the Chinese will probably just ignore it because everyone around them is still having only 0 or 1. The need for social consensus is a fatal weakness if the dominant media – and that’s Western media – is against you. But a mixture of conformists and non-conformists, like we have in the US, will be fine. It’s just no big deal: The conformists will happily conform and die out. The non-conformists will happily not conform and will thrive. End of problem.

I also find it cringe that so many posters on this forum talk about the media as promoting “white genocide”. It is true that the media is full of anti-natalist messaging, and this does discourage some whites from having children. Maybe this is a hostile elite purposely trying to eliminate whites. Fine, I agree. But the effect this messaging is having is to discourage a lot more Asians from having children than it discourages whites. So, if you’re going to talk about racial genocide, please call it “Asian genocide” because that’s what it really is, not “white genocide.” In fact, after all the conformist whites obey our media’s commands to not have children, and all the non-conformist whites reject those same commands, the white race will be just fine. The Asian race may not be.

In many ways, genetic variety is humanity’s greatest asset. I believe this gives white people a huge advantage over other races that shows no signs of going away. In a media environment where we are all bombarded daily with propaganda about how much fun it is to “have it all” (which really means, have no children), it is only whites – with our large proportion of non-conformists, iconoclasts, dissidents, and other belligerent people – who can survive this onslaught of negative messaging.

These last observations are obviously speculative and may be wrong, but I see examples of non-conforming whites rejecting media propaganda all the time.

It seems to me that there is something drastically wrong with the author's reasoning. Namely, if a genetic and/or cultural predisposition to having large families really provides an evolutionary advantage, then why isn't everyone already from a large family?

Although I agree that the technological "advance" of perfect control over their own fertility being placed in women's hands has had catastrophic side effects that were unpredicted and perhaps unpredictable, I'm just not convinced that large, religious families inheriting the Earth will be another one of them. For one thing, there has been a long term trend of people becoming more and more secular. Even Kusmiak admits this when he points out that Catholics started out abjuring birth control, but now most of them use it. Religion embodies a pre-scientific view of the world and is gradually being abandoned.

An additional problem is trying to predict things so far in advance. If futurists like Ray Kurzweil and Michio Kaku are correct, the technological singularity will occur long before Kusmiak's scenario has a chance to play out. To hear them tell it, there's at least as good a chance we'll all have uploaded our consciousness into a computer instead, thus having attained immortality, and biological reproduction will be just a distant memory.

Then too, there's the problem of how the Earth could possibly support so many people. An ecological collapse or world war sparked by competition for resources would probably limit the human population long before we're all from ten-children families. Either that, or governments would limit by edict the amount of children permissible for each person to have, just as was done in China with its one child policy.

Thanks. My joke was meant to deride Jared Diamond. I had been more-or-less aware of the history of bison populations in North America, but I particularly appreciated the following quote from your link:

>The Texas legislature, sensing the buffalo were in danger of being wiped out, proposed a bill to protect the species. General Sheridan opposed it, stating, "These men have done more in the last two years, and will do more in the next year, to settle the vexed Indian question, than the entire regular army has done in the last forty years. They are destroying the Indians' commissary.

So thank you for sharing that link.

One can spend a lot of time looking through supposedly Christian right-wing orators, ranging from William F. Buckley to King Charles of England, and cataloguing the dimensions of their attitudes towards Jewishness. WFB, presumably, had no genetically Jewish ancestry, and limited admiration for Jews; yet he served Jewish interests — perhaps sometimes he served them unwittingly. King Charles is supposed to be a Christian, because he is supposed to be the head of the Church of England — but he seems to be a knowing and willing lackey of Jewish interests. [Most of us have seen the photo of Charles getting poked in the chest by a Rothschild.]

Regarding

>Those ultra-orthodox communities are incredibly insular, and their members don't just 'flip' to being secular. In other words, while it's not unheard of, orthodox jews do not give birth to secular jews, especially in modern societies.

The key question, to my mind, is whether the ultra-orthodox communities have low IQs, and whether it is possible to have a population that is both high-IQ and willing to make babies.

Very few people seem to be writing about the IQ/fertility problem, but one good article is at:

<https://barsoom.substack.com/p/depopulocalypse-iii-from-sink-to>

Regarding Dr Robert Morgan — there is a lot to unpack there!

It seems to me that there is something drastically wrong with the author's reasoning. Namely, if a genetic and/or cultural predisposition to having large families really provides an evolutionary advantage, then why isn't everyone already from a large family?

That is a good point.

... there has been a long term trend of people becoming more and more secular. Even Kusmiak admits this when he points out that Catholics started out abjuring birth control, but now most of them use it. Religion embodies a pre-scientific view of the world and is gradually being abandoned.

That is subject to debate. I fear "idiocracy" scenarios might destroy science before the scientific worldview destroys religion — but there is a LOT to unpack there.

An additional problem is trying to predict things so far in advance. If futurists like Ray Kurzweil and Michio Kaku are correct, the technological singularity will occur long before Kusmiak's scenario has a chance to play out.

Kaku is a smart guy but maybe a little eccentric. I fear that Kaku is an edgelord and a publicity hound who writes controversial things to rake in the media attention. Kurzweil is too weird to be described as "eccentric" and too smart to be dismissed as "crazy." I have MANY criticisms of the "singularity" cult.

Agreed. Though I don't know what the Koran says and I don't know if it is more of a Shia thing that their sect of Islam allows for women to work more. It does seem women in Shia Islamic countries are more “free” (I don't like the term but will use it for this) than in Sunni Arab countries. I only know people who lived in Suni countries so I can't compare firsthand

If you don't know, why comment? The so-called Haredi ("God-fearing") are not a closed/homogeneous group. The Mizrahim ("Orientals") are even less. There are no religious or country-of-origin barriers among Jews. Never was. But snobism (sine nobilitate) is a plague.

I don't understand why the author of this article lauds the population explosion of the ultra-Orthodox Jews? This is a group of people that are extremely spiritual superstitious anti-science fanatical and irrational. The groups that are fastest growing are the Hasidic groups that are the most extreme representatives of these traits.

Consider someone like our host Ron Unz. He would have made a formidable Talmudic scholar. Their strength is sifting through massive amounts of data and comparing and contrasting different rabbinical opinions about myriad topics. This is similar to what Ron does here except he's operating in a rationalistic sphere.

Now imagine a world where Ron's unique gifts were never developed but were instead hijacked into the very narrow realm of Jewish textual analysis. That's what's heading our way in Israel. If you admire Israel, as seems apparent here, ask yourself how it will maintain its reputation as the start up nation with this kind of population shift? The author of this piece seems remarkably undiscerning. He might as well praise a population explosion of cows sheep and goats!

Martin_2 doesn't sound White. Bangladeshi women don't wear red dots because they're Muslims. And the women in your photo are of the Sikh variety. The distance between Punjab and Bengal is 2500 kilometers almost as much as the distance between Lisbon, Portugal and Rome, Italy.

And just as the Portuguese and Italians spring from a common race and an original language source (Latin) but are different ethnically, the Punjabi and the Bengalis are of one race and Sanskrit is the mother of their languages but are ethnically different.

Só, another White man who has NO CHILDREN is complaining that White women have 1.5 children apiece.

And this childless White man doesn't know that it takes; if not a man and a woman, or at least a sperm an egg and agar in a glass dish. And then implanting the fertile egg in a womb.

I don't know for sure, but my opinion is that many cities towns and suburbs are vastly overpopulated with immigrants . The population of America is booming not with Americans but with non White immigrants. This author isn't aware of immigration's effect on population. .

I'm not even going to read the White women hating comments by the incel repressed gay childless MEN OF UNZ who can't afford to have a wife and kids.

I've done my part. 4 children and 8 grandchildren. My husband did his part too. Enough real estate, enough money and investments and a family business so we can enable our grandchildren to have children and homes to raise them in.

Michael, like almost everybody else, you are unaware of the explosion of Haredi literature. Written in little known languages, like Hebrew and Aramaic, it deals with abstruse ethical controversies of medieval sages, unapproachable for secular Jews and of course for the rest. I find zero interest in this over-abstract debate, but unthinking sheep they are not. The opposite.

You are probably right, but not being one to jump to premature conclusions – I tended to withhold my judgment for a short time, to give people the benefit of doubt.

And, while New York City types were the easiest to pick out, I've also met some people from the rural areas of New York state – who lived many miles away from NYC, and most of them also had almost all of the same obnoxious personality characteristics.

Tom Metzger also surmised that, if God were to decide that America needed an enema, He would insert the tip of the enema bag wand into New York City, because New York City was the asshole of America.

Can't argue with that logic.

To me, the biggest question about the Haredi is, are they high IQ because they're Ashkenazim, or are they low IQ because they're poor religious fanatics? Because if they are high IQ fanatical Jewish supremacists, then the world is in deep trouble. If they are low IQ, who cares? The Black Hebrew Israelites are low IQ fanatical "Jewish" supremacists and no one is afraid of them.

Does anyone know? I'm sure many people here have an opinion, although I've noticed that the people with the strongest opinions typically have the weakest grasp on reality.

I doubt anyone knows their IQ because they won't take standardized tests.

When I lived in Israel (1982-2000, 2005) it was regularly reported in the Israeli media that Israeli public schools are the lowest ranked in the Western world in terms of test scores. School hours used to be very short, starting at 9am and ending at 2pm, mainly due to budget shortages as Israel devotes most of its money to military and security.

If you travel through the West Bank you will see Palestinian kids walking to school dressed in smart uniforms and for long hours, from 8am to 5pm daily. Their schools are poorly funded and have few resources, but they are much more disciplined than the Israelis.

That all refers to Israeli public secular schools. No one knows anything about the Haredim because they have separate schools, don't have a core curriculum and thus totally neglect secular studies, and don't take standardized tests.

Keep singing their praises and they might hire you as a Shabbos goy.

Abortion should be discouraged at the very least, if not outright banned.

Every abortion clinic should have an adoption counselor there to facilitate the adoption process if the woman can be persuaded not to kill her baby.

Pre-marital sex should be discouraged because it only brings a curse on society. People should be taught that the very first person they have sex with becomes their spiritual mate and they will contend with negative karma their entire life if they don't marry that person.

Catholic mystics noted that pre-wwii Warsaw had a burgeoning abortion industry and suggested that made Poland vulnerable to the Nazi invasion, which ravaged Catholic Poland almost as much as Polish Jewry.

It seems to me that there is something drastically wrong with the author's reasoning. Namely, if a genetic and/or cultural predisposition to having large families really provides an evolutionary advantage, then why isn't everyone already from a large family?

Until quite recently (before the Demographic Transition) everybody had large families. There was no particular evolutionary advantage at being genetically and/or culturally predisposed to it. For instance, a century ago there wasn't much difference between the lives of average Amish people and that of average rural Ohioans (they might even both have spoken German dialects). Both lived traditional, frugal, and hard-working farming lives without a lot of technology. Both had big families. The Amish still live like that, but now the non-Amish Ohioans have long educations, cars, television, smartphones, internet, social media, etc. and small families.

Where there are differences evolution has something to work with. There is now a selection pressure that wasn't present before. We're going through an evolutionary bottleneck that will have profound impacts on the future of humanity.

Here is a study that tries to include the heritability of fertility, which concludes that, yes it will lead to increasing population growth.

“Rather than stabilizing around a long-term level for post-demographic transition countries, fertility tends to increase as children from larger families represent a larger share of the population and partly share their parents’ trait of having more offspring. Our results suggest that world population will grow larger in the future than currently anticipated.”

The heritability of fertility makes world population stabilization unlikely in the foreseeable future:

Rune Denmark: “Where there are differences evolution has something to work with. There is now a selection pressure that wasn’t present before. We’re going through an evolutionary bottleneck that will have profound impacts on the future of humanity. ”

That’s true, but it may not turn out as the author thinks. It’s interesting that high fertility groups like the Amish and the Haredi aren’t really part of technological society. Could it be that there is something inherently toxic about such a society? If so, the fertility of such groups can be expected to drop if they join it. Otoh, if they continue to refuse to join it, their nations will undergo technological decay as they become the majority. Then they will be easy prey for those who didn’t refuse.

I've thought about that myself. I contemplated a section in my essay imagining what would happen if you dropped an Amish family into the middle of an American city, cut them off from their religious support system, and sent their kids to public schools. Of course, their whole culture would be stripped from them in one generation. Parents are no competition in forming their kids when opposed by the entire outside world. In a few years the boys would have tattoos, the girls would dress like sluts, they would all have nose rings, and the next generation will certainly not be having lots of children. So, there really seem to be two equilibria – primitive high fertility culture, and modern low fertility culture. But primitive culture is not really an option at all. The Amish only exist because they are tolerated by the high tech country around them. They could be obliterated in a day by the US military. So, there really is only one viable equilibrium – modern low fertility culture. As people say, "The only way out is through." My article was a theory of how we get through.
