Za zoufalým apelem Washingtonu na tanky a další smrtící zbraně pro Ukrajinu se rýsuje znepokojivá vyhlídka, že ruská zimní ofenzíva již možná začala na jihu, kde propukly těžké boje podél linie kontaktu v oblasti Záporoží. Zatímco informace z fronty zůstávají útržkovité, někteří analytici se domnívají, že Rusko plánuje vyslat své jednotky a obrněné jednotky na sever, aby zablokovalo životně důležité zásobovací linky a uvěznilo ukrajinské síly na východě. Ruský bleskový útok na sever by byl pravděpodobně synchronizován s pohybem druhého velkého uskupení tlačícího se na jih podél řeky Oskil. Tyto dva dýkovité výpady by byly doprovázeny několika raketovými údery zaměřenými na strategické mosty a železniční tratě překračující řeku Dněpr. Pokud by Rusové byli schopni v takové operaci uspět, většina ukrajinské armády by byla fakticky obklíčena na východě, zatímco Moskva by znovu získala kontrolu nad většinou svých tradičních území. Ofenzíva možná neukončila válku, ale ukončila by existenci Ukrajiny jako životaschopného, souvislého státu. Toto je výňatek z článku na Aljazeera:

Moskevské síly se tlačí ke dvěma městům v jižním ukrajinském regionu Záporoží, kde se boje tento týden po několika měsících stagnující fronty zintenzivnily ... Vladimír Rogov, představitel Ruska dosazený v regionu, řekl, že útočné akce byly soustředěny kolem dvou měst: Orihiv, kolem 50 km (30 mil) jižně od Ukrajinou kontrolovaného regionálního hlavního města Záporoží a Huljaipole dále na východ....

Ruská armáda později druhý den v řadě tvrdila, že po „ofenzivních operacích“ v oblasti Záporoží zaujala „výhodnější linie a pozice“. Ukrajinská armáda ve své nedělní denní zprávě uvedla, že „více než 15 osad bylo zasaženo dělostřeleckou palbou“ v Záporoží... Tento týden také řekl, že boje v jižní oblasti „prudce vzrostly“. („Rusko postupuje směrem ke dvěma městům v ukrajinské oblasti Záporoží“ , AIDžazíra)

Typicky bych nevěnoval mnoho času tématu, pro které existuje tak málo důkazů a tolik spekulací. Ale lidé velmi pozorně sledují události na Ukrajině, protože chtějí vědět, co Putin plánuje udělat s 550 000 bojovými jednotkami, které jsou v současné době roztroušeny po celém divadle nebo shromážděny podél perimetru v Bělorusku. Předpokládá se, že Putin tyto síly použije v zimní ofenzivě které by mohly dramaticky ovlivnit průběh války. Souhlasím s tímto předpokladem, ale nejsem zcela přesvědčen, že boje na jihu dokazují, že ofenzíva již začala. I tak je ale těžké ignorovat rozruch na kanálech Telegram a Twitteru a mohl by naznačovat, že můj skepticismus je neopodstatněný. Zde je například několik reklam z nezávislých stránek, které naznačují, že ofenzíva již probíhá:

Ruská armáda stále aktivně postupuje ve směru #Záporoží, fronta byla stlačena do hloubky 7 km . V tuto chvíli postupujeme třemi směry na úseku #Orehhov. Na západní straně se bojuje o #Novoandreyevka a #Shcherbaki, na východě o #Belogorye a Malaya Tokmachka, na jihovýchodě se bojuje o #Novodanilovku, která je jen 6,5 km od #Orehhov. Obranný průlom zde umožní ozbrojeným silám RF rozvinout ofenzívu v několika směrech najednou, čímž se uskupení AFU doslova rozdělí na dvě části. Telegram

Nebo toto:

Aktualizace Záporoží
Ruská armáda pokračuje v ofenzivě na Záporožské frontě
Vojska Jižního a Východního vojenského okruhu provádějí ofenzívu na široké frontě – až 60 km (ve Vasiljevském a Pologovském okrese).
Postup vojsk je zpomalen kvůli mnoha minovým polím.

Nebo toto:

Ofenzíva probíhá podle plánu: těsné boje v několika oblastech. Opevněné pozice a oblasti nepřítelů jsou aktivně ošetřovány bombami, minami a granáty z houfnic; teprve potom přijdou obrněná vozidla s pěchotou.
Podle Generálního štábu ozbrojených sil Ukrajiny na Záporožském směru zasahují ozbrojené síly RF všemi druhy zbraní na ozbrojené síly Ukrajiny v oblastech více než 25 osad, včetně Olgovskoe, Gulyaipole, Volshebnoe, Novodanilovka, Kamenskoe a Plavni v Záporožské oblasti, Vremovka a Novopol DNR.

Toto je jen malá ukázka příspěvků, které v posledních dnech zaplavují různá místa. Velké množství komentářů pochází od lidí, kteří zjevně znají události na bitevním poli z první ruky. Nemohu mluvit za jejich přesnost, ale objem zpráv (a jejich intenzita) naznačuje, že se děje něco neobvyklého.

Na Moon of Alabama je také nový příspěvek, ve kterém Bernard jednoznačně uvádí, že ofenzíva již probíhá. Zde je to, co řekl:

Dlouho očekávaná ruská ofenzíva na Ukrajině začala...

Já a další jsme již nějakou dobu navrhovali, že ruské síly využijí oblast jižního Záporoží k velkému úderu do daleké zadní části ukrajinských sil kolem Bakhmutu...

Ruský tah proti třetí a čtvrté ukrajinské obranné linii bude pravděpodobně podpořen tahem z jihu, který osvobodí zbytek Záporoží a Doněcké oblasti....

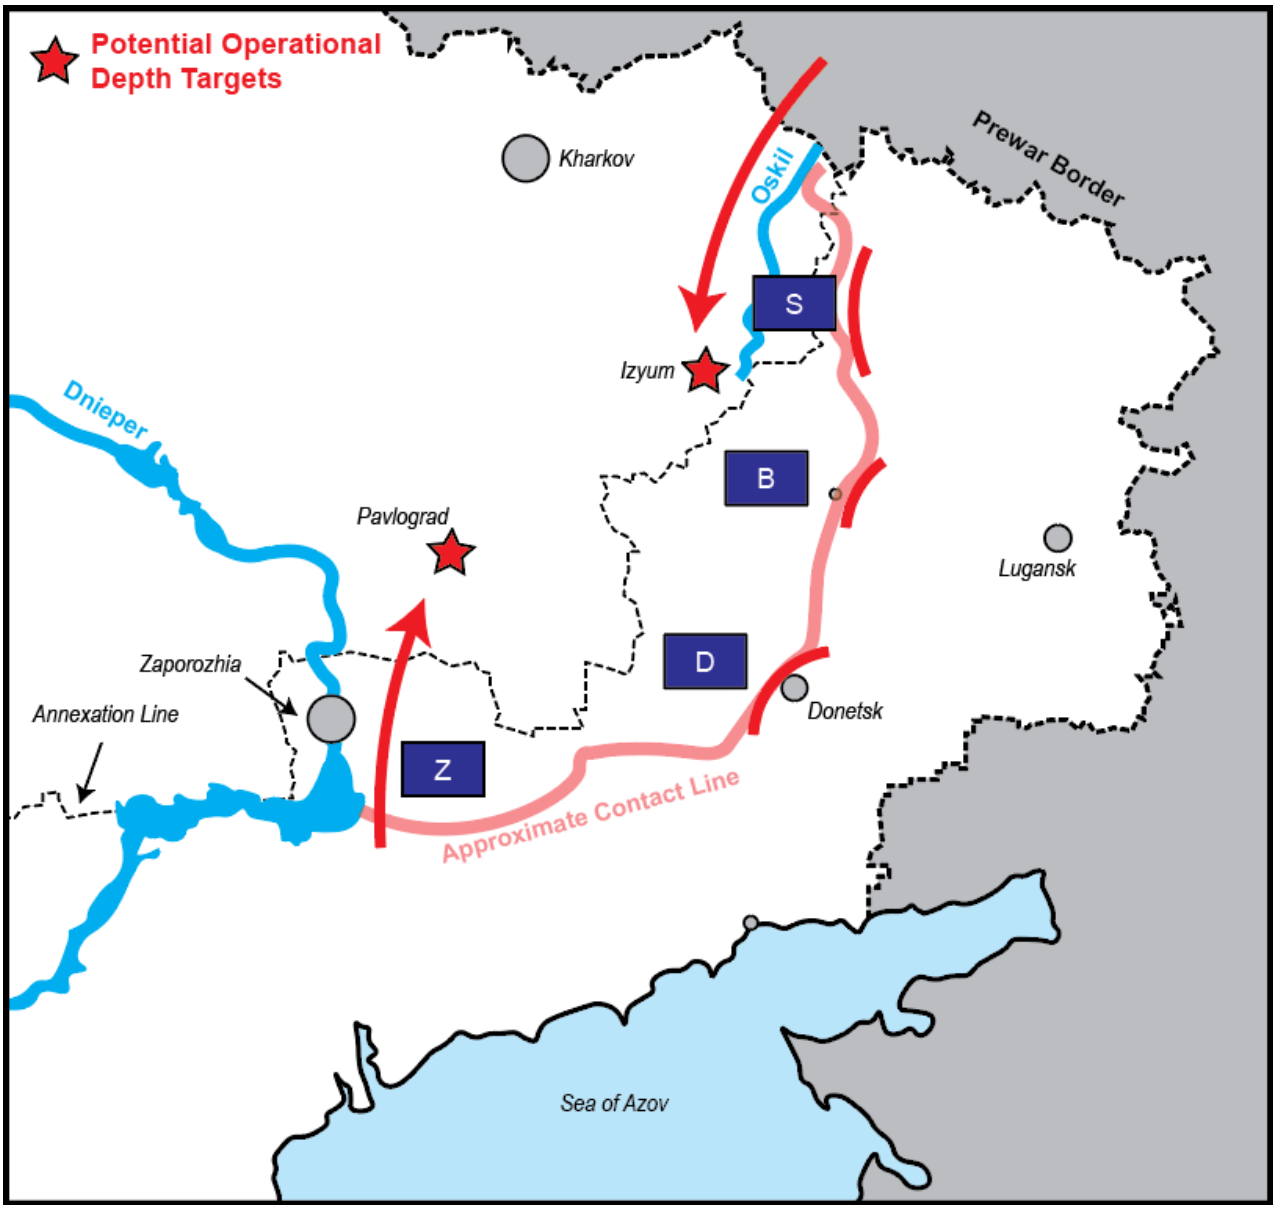

V sektoru není žádná ukrajinská dělostřelecká brigáda. Nejsou tedy k dispozici žádné protidělostřelecké schopnosti.... Cílem ruského náporu na jihu nebude dobýt města jako Záporoží. Cílem je dostat hlavní dopravní trasy, železnice a silnice ze západu Ukrajiny na frontu na východě Ukrajiny pod palbou ruského dělostřelectva. Tím se zabrání nejen opětovnému zásobování ukrajinských jednotek na východní frontě, ale i jejich odchodu z frontové linie. 100 kilometrů (60 mil) tah na sever by to většinou udělal.

Doplňkový tah ze severu na jih, který může nebo nemusí přijít, by kotel konečně uzavřel." („Ukrajina – ruská armáda aktivuje jižní frontu“, Měsíc Alabamy)

I když si stále nejsem jistý, že ofenziva skutečně začala, zcela souhlasím s MoA, že ruský plán bude určitou variací strategie, kterou prezentuje ve svém článku. Ve skutečnosti podobnou strategii navrhl vojenský historik Big Serge v nedávném příspěvku Substacku s názvem „Rusko-ukrajinská válka: Světová krevní pumpa“. Zdá se, že oba analytici dospěli k podobným závěrům ohledně toho, co bychom měli očekávat v následujících týdnech. Zde je úryvek z článku:

V tuto chvíli je většina ruské bojové síly bez závazků a jak západní, tak ukrajinské zdroje jsou (opožděně) stále více znepokojeny vyhlídkou na ruskou ofenzívu v nadcházejících týdnech . V současnosti je celá ukrajinská pozice na východě zranitelná, protože je ve skutečnosti obrovským výběžkem, zranitelným vůči útoku ze tří směrů. Zejména dva cíle operační hloubky mají potenciál rozbít ukrajinskou logistiku a udržení. Jedná se o Izyum na severu a Pavlograd na jihu. Ruský nápor po západním břehu řeky Oskil směrem k Izjumu by současně hrozil odříznutím a zničením ukrajinského uskupení na ose Svatove (S na mapě) a přerušením důležité dálnice M03 od Charkova. Dosažení Pavlogradu by na druhé straně zcela izolovalo ukrajinské síly v okolí Doněcka a přerušilo by velkou část ukrajinského tranzitu přes Dneiper.

Jak Izjum, tak Pavlograd jsou zhruba 70 mil od startovních čar potenciální ruské ofenzivy, a nabízejí tak velmi lákavou kombinaci – jsou jak provozně významné, tak v relativně zvládnutelném dosahu. Od včerejška jsme začali vidět ruské zálohy na ose Záporoží. Zatímco ty se v tuto chvíli skládají hlavně z průzkumu síly, který se tlačí do „šedé zóny“ (to nejednoznačné intersticiální průčelí), RUMoD si nárokovalo několik dobytých osad, což by mohlo předznamenávat skutečný útočný tlak v tomto směru.

Klíčovým bodem by byl ruský útok na Orikhiv, což je velké město se skutečnou ukrajinskou posádkou. Ruský útok by zde naznačoval, že probíhá něco víc než jen průzkumný útok.

Někdy je těžké rozeznat rozdíl mezi tím, co předpovídáme, že se stane, a tím, co chceme, aby se stalo. To je jistě to, co bych si vybral, kdybych měl na starosti ruské plánování – jízdu na jih podél západního břehu řeky Oskil na ose Kupjansk-Izjum a souběžný útok na sever za Záporoží směrem k Pavlogradu. V tomto případě se domnívám, že jednoduše prověřovat Záporoží v krátkodobém horizontu je lepší než uvíznout v městské bitvě.

Zda se o to Rusko skutečně pokusí, nevíme. Ruská operační bezpečnost je mnohem lepší než ukrajinské nebo jejich zástupné síly (Wagner a LNR/DNR Milita), takže o nasazení Ruska víme podstatně méně než o ukrajinském. Bez ohledu na to víme, že Rusko má silnou převahu bojové síly a v dosahu jsou šťavnaté operační cíle." („Rusko-ukrajinská válka: Světová krevní pumpa“, Big Serge, Substack)

Není divu, že kolem Orikhiv vypukly boje, o kterých Big Serge říká, že „by naznačovaly, že probíhá něco víc než jen průzkumný útok“. Jinými slovy, ve skutečnosti by to mohla být úvodní fáze zimní ofenzivy. A pokud ano, pak bychom měli předpokládat, že dojde k odklonu od „pozičních bitev o opotřebování“, které jsme doposud viděli. Ruská ofenziva nebude čelit obranným liniím silně opevněných zákopů, které vyžadují týdny změkčování pomocí dělostřelectva dlouhého doletu, dokud nebudou moci být vyslány obrněné jednotky k vyčišťovacím operacím. Pohyb Velkého šípu, který Serge očekává, naznačuje, že bychom mohli vidět významné územní zisky v lehce bráněných oblastech. To znamená, že se věci budou pravděpodobně pohybovat mnohem rychleji než za posledních 11 měsíců. Znamená to také, že ukrajinské síly na Donbasu budou fakticky odříznuty od Kyjeva a ponechány samy sobě. Oběti musí být samozřejmě značné. Podle zpráv v médiích ředitel CIA William Burns minulý týden tajně navštívil Kyjev, aby Zelenského varoval před blížící se ruskou ofenzivou. Burns pravděpodobně představil scénář velmi podobný strategii stanovené MoA a Big Serge. Ale ať už Burns Zelenskému řekl cokoliv, na ukrajinského prezidenta to nemělo vůbec žádný vliv. Zelenskyj pokračoval ve vysílání vojáků do předních linií (Bachmut) navzdory bezvýchodnosti situace a navzdory tomu, že ukrajinské obranné pozice se každým dnem hroutí. Už není pochyb o tom, že ruské síly vymytí ohniska odporu na východě nebo že zbité zbytky ukrajinské armády budou nuceny ustoupit. Je to jen otázka času. Neříkáme, že od této chvíle to bude pro Rusy „hladká plavba“. Ne, na silnici před námi bude spousta nerovností. Ale vzhledem k ruské převaze v lidské síle, palebné síle a průmyslové základně si myslíme, že Rusko tuto první fázi války nepochybně vyhraje. Problém je v tom, že – i když ruská armáda vyčistí celé území východně od řeky Dněpr a připojí je k Ruské federaci – neznamená to, že boje ustanou. To nepřestane. Síly podporované USA budou pokračovat v útocích přes řeku, nasadí komanda k úderům za ruskými liniemi, vycvičí polovojenské jednotky k podnícení povstání a odpálí rakety na Krym, Rusko a možná i Moskva samotná. Je na to Putin připraven?

Washington nehodlá házet ručník do ringu, protože Rusko vyhrálo první kolo v desetikolovém boji. Spojené státy jsou stále plně oddány svému plánu „oslabit“ Rusko, aby se stalo dominantním hráčem na nejslibnějším světovém trhu, ve Střední Asii. V tomto ohledu boje na Ukrajině vůbec neutlumily odhodlání Washingtonu, ve skutečnosti si myslíme, že konflikt postihuje rozšířenou rusofobii a neutuchající volání po pomstě. Jak jinak si vysvětlit trvalou eskalaci, která dosud nevyvolala ani náznak veřejného protestu? A mějte na paměti, že USA již vyhodily do povětrí NordStream 2, zatlačily Evropu do těžké deprese, sabotovaly globální zásobovací linky v dohledné budoucnosti, vykolejily 40 let trvající „globalizační“ projekt a udělaly vše, co bylo v jejich silách, aby popudily Čínu. do střelecké války. Tyto incidenty ukazují, jak velký význam USA přikládají své privilegované roli v globálním řádu a rizikům, která jsou ochotny podstoupit, aby si tuto roli zachovaly. Stručně řečeno, Spojené státy udělají „všechno, co bude třeba“, aby si udržely svou železnou rukojeť u moci.

Kdybych byl Putinem, připravil bych se na dlouhý a krvavý boj. Protože o to mu jde.

Russia must secure all of Ukraine to end the conflict. Then it can establish an allied Ukrainian government in the west and form Ukrainian military units to threaten Poland. Russia will then control gas and oil pipelines to Europe where it can offer natgas at one-fifth the cost of American LNG shipped in. Hungary is likely to defy NATO and the EU at take this energy, Moldova too. Then pipelines in Hungary can feed Serbia and Austria. European industries will move to these nations to use cheap gas, so other nations might leave the American empire.

Per German tanks, their DM said the problem was that German industry shut down for the winter and parts are not being produced to repair those in storage. He says at best Germany can deliver 29 tanks in May.

The Anglo-American empire has been at war with Russia since 1918. Orwell was correct, the war can never end. I produced a series of short videos about this endless war.

As you all know already, Stalin believed that an exhausting world war among capitalist nations would enable the socialist revolution to be extended all the way across the European continent. What if I told you, that Putin has the same goal with the only difference that he wants to cause mass popular resistance among Europeans to the policy of greasing the wheels of US proxy wars (via a protracted exhaustion conflict) that will force the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Europe? Does that sound too contrived?

There's also a new post at Moon of Alabama in which Bernard states unequivocally that the offensive is already underway.

He admitted that he was wrong. No big offensive yet, nothing much happening in the south.

Bernard (2023-01-24, 17:00 UTC):

I was wrong. I, and other analysts [Big Serge] following the war, had been deceived by the sudden rush of news from that frontline.

I agree with you about what will happen to the Ukraine. But the endgame from the point of view of the Kremlin is not the control of the sale of gas, IMO, but the removal of those NATO ‘missile-defensive-systems-easily-turned-offensive’ located in Poland and Romania. It’s kind of what the Soviets did in the 60s by sending nukes to Cuba and then forcing the USA to remove the nukes in Turkey in exchange for the removal of the nukes in Cuba.

Russia will position ‘missile-defensive-systems-easily-turned-offensive’ in western Ukraine facing Poland and Romania thus complementing their position in the Baltic (Kaliningrad) and central eastern Europe (Belarus). Later they will negotiate the removal of those batteries for the removal of the batteries in Romania and Poland.

It won't end until the jews are wiped out, it is as simple as that.

As long as jews continue to exist they will continue to warmonger, corrupt and destroy the world. This can only end in nuclear war, however once major jewish cities (Washington,

New York, London, Paris) and Israel are destroyed the world will be on a better trajectory long term than anything that could ever occur if ZOG is allowed to continue.

To all Ukrainians reading this. As a White Christian I hate you and your bastardised people. You are the shitstain of the White race. You have sold your soul to globohomo and dragged every other European people into the gutter with you. We have been taxed to death to fund your Jewish Presidents mansions while our people freeze and starve to death. You will not win whether it is now or 10 years from now the country known as Ukraine will cease to exist, it will be land of a greater Russia and let me tell you something now Ukrainian before you go out to fight and die for judaism and drag queen story time. While your corpse rots in the soil of the new Russia I will emigrate to your land to purchase the cheap land resulting from the extermination of the cuckolded Ukrainian male. I will have my farm in your land, your women will be mine, my seed will fertilise a 'Ukrainian' woman and our children will not be of your kin. They will be raised to speak Russian and Russian only and many more men will do the same. It's over for you hohol. Your land is gone, your women are gone and soon through Russian bullets and Russian artillery so too will be you.

one has to admire the psychological war the russians are waging on the cokehead ukranazi leadership, massing half a million troops on the borders, building the impending sense of doom for their regime. it is impressive that the russians have been able to keep their plans secret, preventing the ukranazis from being able formulate a response. the cracks (no pun intended) are beginning to appear in the leadership, alexsy arestovich, the spokesman (and chief coke dealer for zelensky), was forced to resign, for accidentally telling the truth, followed by a helicopter crash that took out 14 high ranking government officials, including the entire leadership of the ministry of the interior (headed by hardcore banderite nazis), add to this the resignations of many high ranking officials on “corruption” charges last tuesday. apparently when zelensky came to congress to sell ukraine to blackrock, they told him to clean up the corruption, or more likely to bring in more efficient corruption.

the united states may well be fully committed to it’s plan to weaken russia, but i assure you the russians are equally committed to weaken nato. if i were putin (and it’s a damned good thing i’m not), i would let these idiots burn up every piece of equipment and feed all their troops and mercenaries in in ukraine into the meat grinder and once they shot their load, i then would pivot west and drive nato back into the atlantic ocean from which it crawled.

| The Anglo-American empire has been at war with Russia since 1918.

A few clarifications.

1. As you know, with the formation of the USSR, Russia officially ceased to exist in 1922.

2. Since 1917 Russia/USSR did not stop waging wars in Asia and Europe.

The first Soviet-Ukrainian war (December 1917-May 1918)

Soviet-Polish War (1919-1921)

Spanish War (1936-1939)

Annexation of Western Ukraine and Western Belorussia (1939)

Soviet-Finnish War (1939-1940)

Soviet-German War (1941-1945)

Cuban Missile Crisis (1962-1964)

Algeria (1962-1964)

Hungary (1956)

Czechoslovakia (1968)

War in Afghanistan (1979-1989)

Karabakh Armed Conflict (1988-1994)

South-Ossetian conflict (1991-1992)

Georgian-Abkhaz armed conflict (1992-1994)

Tajikistan (1992-1996)

Ossetian-Ingush conflict (October-November 1992)

First Chechen war (1994-1996)

Second Chechen war (1999-2000)

3. In World War II, the “Anglo-American Empire” was allied with the bloody dictator Stalin. As a result of this “unnecessary war” (W. Churchill), the USSR extended its influence and maintained military presence in many European countries.

Thanks to Mr. Whitney for a heady assessment of progress on the Ukrainian front.

No doubt the war there is destined for many a twist and turn.

Martin Armstrong and his fabulous AI program Socrates foresee things getting worse and worse, and then quite a bit worse again, over the coming years – so it's not going to be all wrapped up anytime soon.

In fact, Exercise WWIII is likely to kick off in all it's thorny glory sometime in 2024 or 2025 at the latest. And yes, nukes will figure in that.

As for the analytic landscape, I find just about every published perspective intellectually unsatisfying – perhaps “vague” or “unresolved” is more precise – because there are so many significant dimensions to all of this that, taken together, are confusing and difficult to reconcile.

One question uppermost in my mind is – exactly where do the genocidal Globalist psychopaths of Klaus Schwab's ilk with their various orchestrated global “crises” and numerous stooges infesting governments across the globe fit into the larger picture?

A parallel question serving an alternate perspective is – who are the puppet masters, and who are the puppets? While the geostrategic objectives of the American Empire might be impacted by the ebb and flow of nation states across the Eurasian continent, so too are the intentions of the homicidal Luciferian psychopaths pushing for their dystopian One World Government and New World Order, a world which is not entirely compatible with the prospective global American Empire's neocon-dominated hegemony.

And none of those aspirations seem to accord in any way with Russia's ambitions for a genuinely multi-polar world free of colonial contamination.

And just by the way, both the American DoD and those Satanic psychopaths in the WEF seem to have their fingers in the numerous bioweapon labs sprung by Russia all across Ukraine during the earlier part of their intervention.

It would be nice if some genius could propose a unified theory to establish just what the f*ck is actually going on in toto across Planet Earth right about now. One gets an entirely different picture from day to day, depending upon which direction the wind blows and where one chooses to look.

The Russian military must take Kharkov, Odessa and Kiev at minimum and thoroughly destroy what's left of Lvov. Taking it would be better. He shouldn't be too hasty with western Ukraine the apple may fall from the tree with that one as discontent with the Zelensky government grows throughout all of Ukraine. I still think the big offensive hasn't begun they're slowly amping it up until the Ukrainian defenses in the Donbass collapse. When those troops are encircled Kharkov and Odessa will be next. Maybe Kiev too from Belarusian territory. Especially if Polish troops move into Western Ukraine. Russia would need to capture Kiev, destroy the government and set up quick defenses West of the city.

Lots of good points (especially how good it is you're not Putin); Ruskie restraint is probably more due to the vagaries of weather than to an unquenchable thirst for poker, but the way the Keeheef junta is becoming unglued is something to behold – but as our author notes it will avail us nothing;
(((they))) have not been preparing this for 30 years to let up lightly.

I agree that the war won't end even if Russia "wins." A rump Ukraine may agree to peace, but will keep firing missiles at Russia and probably go full on as far as attacks and sabotage, not just in the Russian occupied parts of Ukraine but in Russia proper. And even if Russia quit and left Ukraine entirely – including Crimea! – I predict that Ukraine will continue to assault Russia. The idea is to keep provoking, keep weakening, and not give Russia any rest.

But as far as occupying all of Ukraine – well, then Russia would have a major guerrilla war on its hands to make their occupation of Afghanistan look like a tea party. And Russia would then be responsible for rebuilding all of Ukraine, AND have to take on all of Ukraine's massive debts. And Ukrainian "freedom fighters" using bases in other countries would be launching attacks on Ukraine and Russia and DARING Russia to bomb Poland....

So I have no idea how Russia "wins." But Putin is a smart guy, maybe he'll pull something off.

In the meantime: I am not professional military, but I would think the Russians would be crazy to launch big sweeping armored thrusts. That would seem to play into Ukrainian strengths: using western intelligence, they will see these attacks coming well in advance, they will arrange their forces on the extended Russian flanks, and launch precisely targeted attacks on Russian units and supplies and generals and bleed them to death. Even limited Ukrainian forces could dish out a lot of hurt that way. I would think that – if (IF) in fact the Ukrainians really are running short of material (I don't know for sure and neither do you) – perhaps Russia should attack on a broad shallow front, not expose their flanks, not allow the Ukrainian defenders to concentrate. Only if the Ukrainians are so depleted that their lines fall apart, does Russia dare to go back to a war of maneuver.

It is correct that a victory by Russia won't stop the war...that's because the war is against every single one of us not on the inside.

I cannot understand why people in the West have not woken to the fact they don't live in a democracy and those who are put up for election aren't your representatives!

Look at the history of parliament...it never was meant to serve your interests, it was originally a merchant trader lobbying outfit until it took power totally from the sovereign structure of power.

Corporations are the rulers through their puppets, they are the expression of power and greed, their goal is to own everything... you nothing, they tried before with Nazism...they failed so they created a new plan and we are moving towards the final goal.

When Russia wins a new strategy will be implemented, it will involve trying to bribe, wine and dine Russian leadership to corrupt them, this is a cancer that will never stop, they will give you manufactured rubbish and poison your environment then sell you the cure, the cost to you, everything you have, relationships, working life and health.

WAKE UP!

Russia must secure all of Ukraine to end the conflict. Then it can establish an allied Ukrainian government in the west and form Ukrainian military units to threaten Poland.

Why in God’s would the RF want to occupy western Ukraine? it is easily the poorest part of the country and completely brainwashed with hate towards Russians (if there is one thing that the banksters are good at it is stirring up blind hatred) It would make the occupation of Afghanistan look like a picnic. Forming Ukrainian units to threaten Poland? what insanity is that? I wouldn’t trust those swastika bedecked fuckers with a table knife at mealtimes. Putin was reluctant enough to go into the Donbass, now you think he wants to go to Lvov?

The offensive might not end the war, but it would end Ukraine's existence as a viable, contiguous state

Why could West Ukraine not be a viable continuation of all Ukraine. A West Ukraine state would be larger and more populous and homogenous than most countries in Western Europe. But that is most unlikely because of the dog that hasn't barked

. A Russian blitz northward would likely be synchronized with the movement of a second large grouping pushing south along the Oskil River. These two dagger-like thrusts would be accompanied by multiple missile strikes aimed at *strategic bridges and railway-lines crossing the Dnieper River.

Why wait until the last moment?; surely the best way to weaken the Ukrainians is to cut the supply links across the Dnieper and throttle the supply lines of the Ukrainian army east of the river starting as early as possible. Please don't say the Russians hope to use those bridges to move across into West Ukraine. Russian generals certainly know that were they to fight through to the central Ukraine banks of the Dnieper, those bridges would have been carefully destroyed by the westward retreating Ukrainians. The Russians are going very slowly and methodically WW1 style. Their snail's pace offers Ukraine no opportunity for a counter attack against over extended Russian spearheads. There are going to be no encirclements ; just closing pincers that let the bult of the Ukrainian army retreat instead of trapping them where they will fight to the death. In my opinion the bridges are being left up so that the Russians' limited surveillance capabilities can more easily see where key US weapons such as HIMARS rockets are going to.

In the game of Chicken, made famous in the James Dean classic Rebel Without a Cause, two teenage drivers approach each other at high speed on a narrow road and whoever swerves first loses face (he is the “Chicken”) [4]. Since each one knows that the other does not want to die in a head-on crash, each may stay the course, knowing the other has to swerve first. Of course, when both are “rational” in this way, it’s a recipe for disaster. So, is there a strategy that wins at Chicken? Yes—relinquish your ability to swerve by conspicuously locking the steering wheel, or by putting a brick on the gas pedal and climbing into the back seat, leaving the other guy no choice but to swerve. The player who lacks control wins. More precisely, the first player to lack control wins: if both lock their wheels simultaneously . [...]

The paradoxical rationality of irrational emotion is endlessly thought-provoking and has inspired the plots of tragedies, Westerns, war movies, mafia flicks, spy thrillers, and the Cold War classics Fail Safe and Dr. Strangelove. But nowhere was the logic of illogic more pithily stated than in the 1941 film noir The Maltese Falcon, when detective Sam Spade dares Kasper Gutman’s henchmen to kill him, knowing they need him to find the jewel-encrusted falcon. Gutman replies:

That’s an attitude, sir, that calls for the most delicate judgment on both sides, because as you know, sir, in the heat of action men are likely to forget where their best interests lie, and let their emotions carry them away

They’ll need ACTEMS to “fire missiles at Crimea”, which Retired Nato European commander Hodge’s (prescient that Russia would not be able to take Kiev) has been calling for Ukraine to be given. That America has not given those long range missiles shows that America is willing to supply Ukraine for waging a battle of attrition, which the evolution of Russian tactics of eminently expendable excon infantry assaults groups of a football team whose deaths are observed by drone to pinpoint Ukrainian positions, which subsequent get a bombardment far more intensely than the supposed ‘support’ the hapless Wagner Legion of the Dammed team got.

Vlad Vexler’s analysis of a recent speech by the man probably the closest to Putin, Nikolai Patrushev, concluded that the Kremlin is fatalistic about the necessity of fighting in Ukraine, but is pessimistic about achieving an outright victory. Their plan for fighting against Nato (which Russia has 3% the GDP of) is to simply soldier on regardless. They are not going to withdraw or try for a military victory. Unless the Russians are so foolhardy as to over extend themselves again, there will be no more successes for Ukraine, and the West will get discouraged.

The reason that Nordstrom 2 was allowed to go ahead by Biden was so that Germany would help containing China, which is seen as the real problem because of its economic growth trajectory. The mishandling of the Ukraine by Biden's appointees such as Blinken—and out of a belief that Trump was some kind of White House Russian agent of influence not backing Ukraine—has shifted Russia into the Chinese camp forever. Putin does not care about the oligarchs who have their money and super yachts in Western Europe; those are entirely without influence over foreign policy. Relatively speaking, the US is indeed run by the overarching interests of business corporations the true constituency and sometimes assassinator of presidents, as Patrushev asserts.

In this environment of lies, deceit and spin it's hard to know exactly what's taking place. Nobody is sharing their plans with us commenters and analyzing military actions are out of most people's league. We don't know what Ukrainian morale is like at present. Will the regime leaders fall out with each other? Will their troops hit a breaking point and start surrendering? What are the real casualty rates on both sides and what impact is that having? What is the present and future economic impact on all those involved? Will there be a new arms race afterwards? Some European leaders have alluded to the entering of a critical phase soon and with the buildup of Russian military forces this seems likely with the Russians making some decisive push. The MIC will have a great time as US-NATO replenish their depleted stock and build new weapons systems, all very pricey indeed. The postwar world will be hostile and confrontational as the US seeks to keep itself relevant even if only in a negative way.

The average Ukrainian is as powerless in controlling the government that misrules them as is the average person in the west completely powerless to control their governments. Don't condemn the little guy, he's always the one to suffer. He only wants to be left alone and have a decent standard of living to raise his kids in, the same as the little guy in the 'western world'. I hate the British, Canadian and American governments to the core, but I'll never blame the average citizen of those countries for the foul criminal syndicates that rule over them, because they have absolutely no control.

You saved me a lot of typing, I agree with every point you made.

I still expect the RF to end up in control of everything east of the Dniepr and preferably the Black Sea coast, linking up with Transnistria (though that is going to be a lot tougher to achieve) The Dniepr will make an excellent frontier.

Western and central Ukraine will continue its descent into being a total humanitarian disaster. Sooner or later Poland will move into what used to be Galicia (uncle Satan has probably promised them that in return for their services) Romania and Hungary will get back the territories they lost after WW2.

Who will pay the massive debts incurred in the bankster contrived war? Nobody, it will all be gone.

Who will be rebuilding Ukraine?

The rapidly de-industrialising EU fast heading into an economic disaster of their own?

The already bankrupt US, already living on a combination of arms sales and funny money?

The RF, Poland, Hungary and Romania will obviously have to help rebuild the bits they will occupy. The rest of it will probably still be a war torn wasteland, still being used to launch purely spiteful and provocative attacks on the RF, because Mike Whitney is probably right, the banksters have no intention of ending the war.

I'm still trying to decide whether the banksters are utterly delusional or whether we are seeing a deliberately contrived controlled demolition of the West.

Last night I watched a podcast on YouTube with Michael Savage interviewing Col. MacGregor. It was already about a week old, apparently. The Colonel said that the long-awaited Winter Offensive would probably commence sometime between Jan. 21 and the first week in Feb. Reasons being: 1) The ground is finally frozen. 2) A New Moon starts around 1-21, so it's the perfect time to start the offensive as the nights would be moonless, making it harder for the Russian troop movements to be spotted.

Well, this much anticipated Winter Offensive always seems to keep getting pushed back for one reason or another. First it was supposed to be December, then right after the holidays, now January is almost over. I wonder if this big offensive will happen at all. What will be the Colonel's excuse (or Scott Ritter's or the Duran's, etc.) if it doesn't materialize? Will we just have to wait for another winter while the Evil Empire proceeds with its Satanic agenda?

Yes, it should be called the Russo-Jewish War, but no one says it. Not even the Russkies who name the 'nazis' and 'anglos' but never Jews.

I guess Russkies know that the West will just take the insult of being called 'Anglo-Saxon' or the 'Collective West'. It will get howling mad ONLY IF Jews are named.

Same in the US. If Jews or any group put down whites, Wasps, or Anglos, you don't get any reaction from whites or wasps. They just hang their heads low and take the insults like a bunch of pathetic cucks. When pushed, they don't push back, esp if the pushers are Jews(or blacks).

But if you insult Jews, whites and wasps will get all fired up and be willing to put down their lives for Jewish Power. Whites will not fight to defend white honor or save white lives but they will fight and lay down their lives for their Jewish Masters. Jews and Whites are like master and dog.

Strictly speaking the Western Allies attacked everywhere along a broad shallow front in June 1944 thru 45. This was Eisenhower's strategy. When forces were concentrated on one or two road for deep blitzkrieg stuff the attack bogged down. even Barbarossa was a very broad frontal assault. Once it narrowed on a target it had troubles.

I won't pretend to actually know anything about this ground war. When I was a soldier the only thing I knew was YES SIR. RIGHT AWAY SIR. But the "big offensive" makes no sense to me. Russia is busy surrounding (and killing) what remains of Ukraine's fighters while destroying infrastructure and presumably the bulk of arms incoming from NATO. The Russian mobilization is like a gun to Ukrain's head. At some point Ukraine must surrender.

NATO's only conventional weapon that could turn the tide against Russia is the United States Air Force. Would the "big offensive" trigger that response? Why take the chance while the West is shooting itself in its feet and hands and ass? I think time is on Putin's side. He now has the option of a "big offensive". That in itself is a huge advantage. And if the "big offensive" is all that BIG it would succeed in any season.

Typically, I wouldn't spend much time on a topic for which there is so little evidence and so much speculation.

Like all your “Great Winter Offensive” pronouncements where you interview Moscow Macgregor who has been wrong from day one? Where you speculate from the word of a Putin bootlicker who that said Ukraine was finished in March and should give up? Or how about his pal Scott Ritter who is only on the take from Russia because he committed a sex crime? What fine company.

The problem is that –even if the Russian army clears all the territory east of the Dnieper River and annexes it into the Russian Federation– that doesn't mean the fighting will stop.

Wow it's almost as if the Ukrainians don't want to be under the boot of a half pint dictator. Imagine that.

If some little faggot dictator invaded my country I would also put a bullet in his henchmen.

Invading all of Ukraine will only lead to partisan warfare. They don't want the half-pint dictator in charge. There are over 200k AK-47s in private hands. So even if the Ukrainian military is defeated there will be men and women with AK 47s in windows. Very similar to Nazi occupations but the people weren't heavily armed.

How many people need to die in this war? A million? For a country that has a declining White population and empty cities in the East? What a dictator. There are literally empty cities in Eastern Russia and the little dictator wants to go out on a land grab. What a loser.

The best way out is for the FSB to put a bullet in Putin and apologize for the runt dictator's needless war.

I don't think it will be a massive attack. It'll be more of moderate speed, clearly faster than slow grind.

In about six months time, Ukraine East of Dniper River will be Demilitarized and DeNazified.

Meanwhile work to establish New Military Garrison in Kherson will rapidly progress. Ultimately Eastern Ukraine including Kharkiv and Odessa will be integral parts of Russia Militarily, Administratively and Economically (Resource rich East Ukraine will make this easier). The entire Eastern Ukraine as part of Russia will be protected by multilayered Missile Defense systems consisting of S-400, 500, Pantsir etc. This may take 3-5 years. Meanwhile the collective West's weaknesses in lack of ability to replace destroyed costly weaponry, internal divisions, unsustainable debt, Economic crises and pushback by the population (when there is nothing much to lose) will cause internal Socio-Political-Economic implosions and multiple regime changes in the West.

As these events progress, China inexorably will be intertwined with Russia in Strategic planning and material support because China knows that Russia can not lose without severe consequences to herself and the entire world.

From then on transformation to Multipolar World would accelerates inexorably.

One hopes the Neocon crazies will come to terms with the need for physical self preservation vs. Nuclear holocaust.

I wonder if this big offensive will happen at all.

I don't know what it would look like if they are short on armor.

Putin is clearly trying to pull Belarus into the war but Lukashenko is wise and not budging.

A big problem is that Ukraine has vast areas of land and you can't just launch a massive offensive with conscripts. You need them in APCs and backed with tanks. That also means a supply line.

The failed attack on Kiev shows what happens if you funnel the offensive. The supply line gets stuck and you run into massive problems. Everyone is basically sitting and waiting for the column to move while supplies dwindle. The enemy takes advantage and punches holes in the line to cause further delays.

The other problem is that it isn't 1939. During WW2 there was still sleight of hand with large offensives. Hitler snuck an army through the Ardennes without anyone knowing. Operation Uranus was a complete surprise to the Germans and led to their defeat at Stalingrad.

You can't do that anymore. If you start amassing APCs and tanks then the sats will know. Ukraine can predict the path of the offensive and prepare counter measures.

That is why I said MacGregor needed to explain what this offensive would look like. He keeps talking about the war as if it is WW2 and a massive breakthrough could occur overnight. That won't happen. The sats can track every tank in Russia. We don't even know their capabilities. They could have advanced AI that makes all kinds of decisions. Heck they could have a mother brain T2 type computer that is modeling war games and giving advice. We really don't know and neither does Putin.

The US Army has maintained a US Army armored brigade with 300 M-1 tanks along Poland's border with Ukraine for over a year now. They keep this quiet. They could send these tanks across the border tomorrow, but..

This just in — US Army Generals have no intention of sending M-1s to Ukraine. They are slow-walking this, pulling tanks from long-term storage stateside, which means they must be sent to the factory in Lima, Ohio for a rebuild/upgrade that will take weeks, plus at least a month to ship them to Ukraine. So these tanks will not show up until after summer, after Russia has won.

<https://breakingdefense.com/2023/01/abrams-to-rumble-into-ukraine-us-joins-germanys-vow-to-send-kyiv-tanks/>

“Just before Biden’s speech, several administration officials previewed the announcement to reporters. Those officials declined to specify which Abrams tank variant will be sent to Ukraine but said the US will not pull these vehicles from units or existing stockpiles and instead use the Ukraine Security Assistance Initiative. A DoD factsheet said they’d be part of a $400 million USAI package.

“While the deliveries will take some time, because this is a procurement, the United States will begin now to establish a comprehensive training program for their use,” one administration official said. “These tanks are complex systems that require a significant amount of training and maintenance, so [the Department of Defense] is currently working through the mechanisms to deliver the fuel and equipment Ukraine will need to operate and to maintain the Abrams.”

That official declined to detail when the Abrams tanks will arrive inside the country but said it will take “months as opposed to weeks.” Once there they will help Ukraine with combined arms maneuver operations to “to defend and reclaim their territory,” the official said.

Part of the reason questions about the Abrams variant and delivery timeline went unanswered is because the administration hasn’t decided on a firm path ahead, according to Assistant Secretary of the US Army for Acquisition, Logistics, and Technology Douglas Bush. Speaking to reporters after the announcement, Bush said the Army is creating a laundry list of options for Pentagon officials to consider before deciding which way to go.

“There are multiple courses of action and it’s not just the tanks,” he added. “We have to be able to [deliver] tanks, support equipment, the training, the ammunition, the fuel... It’s really a bigger picture.”

@Sean

It is my belief that after April 2022, aside from the three or four big movements that we all know happened and basically why they happened, this thing has been completely stalemated at the front.

There don't appear to have been any sustained armored thrusts. Both sides are basically fighting the same way with the same methods and weapons. Drone directed 155 and mortar fire. The bigger HIMARS are used against concentrations and supply and hq/comm 20 miles back. Various Russian warheads mostly useless on the battlefield including thermobarics. Effective against energy and water infrastructure but the Russians don't have a big enough inventory. They are kinda screwed here. I'm not sure Iran is capable of filling the gap with those toy planes.

This is a camera war. It is all optics and electronic targeting. In this regard American technology is simply without equal with the cameras, high-resolution wireless video, targeting systems and surgical throw-weight. But very expensive. HIMARS rounds are pricey.

I don't think the Germans, British or Americans wanted to give the tanks. I think they were more afraid of losing the tanks very quickly. I don't know if it was the Poles or the Finns or what but somebody needs to put a leash on them. I have yet to see an analyst or general describe in detail how 100 or so odd Abrams/Challengers/Leopards are going to be used tactically. The US doesn't really do anything smaller than brigade-sized armored stuff – but with CAS. The total lack of any serious air presence from either side is still bizarre to me. A couple squadrons of F16s I don't think would do a quarter of what the same amount of A10s would do.

Anyway, the problem remains that for a year the primary tactic used by both sides in the absolute vast majority of cases has been the squad sized trench-raid. And in a distant second is the platoon sized move accompanied by a T-72 and maybe a BMP if it is a good day.

The dividing line on a map is really the demarcation of a swath of no-man's land about 10-20km wide. It is for all intents and purposes straight. There are no real bulges or salient. There are various strongpoints and trench systems in various strengths for both sides that match up in slightly different ways all up and down the line. I expect Russia will take Bakhmut in the next 6 months but a lot of other things can change in that time frame too.

The point of the last paragraph is that "that line" when adjusted to take into account the Kharkov and Kherson movements has not moved a hair in like 9 months.

We've been hearing for a long time that there were going to be big victories and big offenses coming up. For nine months. From basically everybody but in my world I happen to see Mike here has been doing it for....hmm, 9 months. That's weird.

I think the US/UK/Hitl...sorry, Germans (Dream Team?) are afraid the tanks are going to get picked off. Then what is to be done? Reinforce failure? The Russians are supposed to do that. Escalate? Hodges just put out a video where he is I think a bit ranty talking about how everytime the US gave a weapons system to Ukraine Putin did not get on the crazy train escalating. Hodges scares me. Why do all these guys start to sound like a cross between Curtis LeMay and Col. Jack D. Ripper when you put a camera in their face? Again, this is a camera war. YouTube and Zoom changed everything.

@Ultrafart the Brave

I am no genius either, and a Grand Unified Theory of everything happening on Earth will be not only impossibly complex but also misleading; however, we can try a Standard Model instead, the “Cabal-driven World” model.

Axioms:

1. there is no single unified secret cabal, but several inter-related cabals whose interests sometimes overlap and at other times clash.
2. the well-known cabals, like the WEF, CFR, Bilderberg, etc may be actually less powerful as a whole than we credit them with, but individuals within these cabals may be wielding more power than we think; it is like the same man being a member in the local church, local clubs and the local council; people think the church is powerful or the club is powerful, but in fact that man is using the church and the club for networking and influencing while hiding away he is the real power.
3. cabal members may not have much loyalties to their country, race, society or people, but they also have the same prejudices, to a lesser degree or greater, as the society surrounding them. This basically means that an American cabal member, in spite of whatever he professes, has prejudices against a Chinese member.
4. cabal members are not super- genius. They are there because of historical accidents. But they are mostly super -evil, not only in the sense they do not care for small people, but they actively want to harm the small people. (Those rich who are only indifferent to the small people just keep themselves to their hobbies and fantasies, buying yachts and racing cars; they don't plan for genocides).

5. Cabals are transitory; they form and disappear.

But then let me hasten to add: cabals not everything, economic forces are. Cabals are like the drivers of a huge truck. They direct the truck, but the power comes from the engine: the real output of the societies.

I beg to differ. US does not care if there are missiles pointing at the West European cities. This war will end only when the US feels a conventional threat to its main land, or when the reserve status of the dollar is corroded completely. As the WEF '23 has shown, the Masters of the Universe have not learnt one whit in the past three years; they are simply doubling down on their stupid agenda.

This just in — US Army Generals have no intention of sending M-1s to Ukraine. They are slow-walking this, pulling tanks from long-term storage stateside, which means they must be sent to the factory in Lima, Ohio for a rebuild/upgrade that will take weeks, plus at least a month to ship them to Ukraine.

While listening to the 1/25 Mercuris discussion of the Ukrainian tank situation, I recalled a piece I'd earlier found at the neocon Drive/Warzone site.

M1 Abrams Tanks In U.S. Inventory Have Armor Too Secret To Send To Ukraine

<https://www.thedrive.com/the-war-zone/m1-abrams-tanks-in-u-s-inventory-have-armor-too-secret-to-send-to-ukraine>

Apparently the plan is to re-work and ship out some Abrams with degraded armor so as to preserve the “secret armor recipe”. Whether or not such a “secret” exists, this gives the US a perfect excuse to stall while still urging everybody else to ship their stocks of heavy tanks to Ukraine. Likely somebody will discover some Top Secret electronics which must also be removed and replaced with “dummy” export versions.

The Germans would be wise to release their Battle Tanks in a 1:1 ratio with American shipments. Otherwise they're probably going to be played for suckers.

@Johnny Rico

Official Nato Cold War doctrine was to try to win conventionally and after losing a few battles tactically nuke the Soviet Army, which General Bernard Rogers said he would ask permission to do within a few hours. But why would America step onto the thermonuclear ladder of escalation when a conventional WW3 fought across the entire globe against the most powerful economic and industrial power in the world was one the Kremlin could not hope to win.? Of course there were reasons to have an official doctrine of nuclear weapon use against a conventional Warsaw Pact offensive into Western Europe, because that might tip the balance against any such Kremlin adventure.

Kissinger said that when brought in to educate (Pres Reagan) about nuclear war he advised against first use of a nuke. So Generals like Hodges and Rogers are pretty scary because they have to be prepared to be the one to start to fight a war with nuclear weapons. Yet they were not going to be permitted to be the one to start it. Rogers was required to resign after he complained about theatre thermonuclear weapons being reduced because he said the Soviets had too much conventional preponderance with huge stockpiles of bridge crossing equipment mobile fuel lines ECT. Mearsheimer's first book suggested that the Soviets could not actually have put their plan into action successfully and they would have been stopped conventionally by Nato. A lot of other people thought even if the Warsaw Pact logistics worked in practice he urban sprawl over the north west European plan meant the Warsaw Pact and their logistical tail would quickly end up in a massive traffic jam, which would be extremely vulnerable to air and missile attack.

That said Hodges, is the only one I know of who said before the invasion that the Russians would fail to take Kiev, so his analytic credibility on how conventional war works is extremely high with me, and I suppose he is right that with ATACMS strikes Crimea would become shakily tenable in the long term, and if also given a division of Abrams, Ukraine could not just destroy the Kerch Bridge but take back Southern Ukraine with its 'Land Line of Communication' to Crimea and force a Russian retreat from Crimea. However, Vexler says Putin could not survive the loss of Crimea and I expect that is the reason for Ukraine not being given what it would need to quickly force Russia out of Crimea; pushing Putin into a corner is going into a game of 'Chicken' where he has far less incentive to back down than the US would.

As this war is literally close to home for Russia, they have worked out a way to keep up pressure without suffering prohibitive casualties and, and the US lacks escalatory parity, what a long term strategy for Ukraine might be for the West is far from obvious. The US really needs Putin to no longer be in the Kremlin.

The Unzers offer a mixture of fascist pornography, hatred of Jews, weird obsession with gay rights, murderous hatred of white people if they happen to be Ukrainian . . . what a strange little place this is. And their hero is the leader of the collapsed, post-industrial, mafia-ridden, diseased failing state of Russia! How odd. The country makes nothing, has tuberculosis everywhere, HIV everywhere, literally tens of thousands of dead or dying towns, mass alcoholism, and a government that does nothing about any of this but instead launches a psychopathic war against the only “white” European country it could destroy in the deluded belief that it will take a few days and result in victory parades. It then focuses its attacks on civilians so all of those white people can freeze and starve. Its own soldiers won’t fight for it, its young men flee in droves, and the ones who do “fight” use their cell phones to broadcast coordinates so that the Ukes can blow them to pieces. The country has only about 3 million young men and it now appears half of them will die in this wretched psychopathic assault on Ukraine for the crime of wanting its own post-Holodomor country rather than another century of rule by the post-Soviet gangsters.

And Unzers paddle their hands and rave on about Jews.

This has to be the single most pathetic website in the world. If it weren’t for Ron Unz’s own articles, it would be, anyway. He writes some good stuff. Why he provides a forum for the rest of you to spew your arthritic rage and homo-hatred, I have no idea.

Interesting angle – thanks for the link.

To summarise – Russia are the Good Guys, and the entire shitstorm now engulfing the planet distils down to a diabolic effort to remove Russia from the picture.

If that happens, then we might assume that the remaining dogs on their leashes will turn on each other until there is only one dog left standing – at which time we'll all wish we were someplace else, on another planet maybe.

The corollary, I suppose, is that we better be praying that Russia prevails, and in the process saves the rest of our sorry arses from a veritable horde of not very nice people.

“I have yet to see an analyst or general describe in detail how 100 or so odd Abrams/Challengers/Leopards are going to be used tactically. ”

I heard a general discuss this. Seems to be very much as you would expect: breaking the stalemate of trench war by a break through the defenses in a selected place with modern tanks, motorized infantry, close air support and long range weapons, which all Ukraine will eventually get before Spring. It is what Russians have tried to do in Bakhmut, but without success, but the weapons are a bit better than what Russia has. It can work.

My guess of what it will look like (being not an analyst or general) is the following. Ukraine gets a brigade or two battalions of Leopards, so less than 100, more like 60-80. This force is used to break through Russian defenses in some point, which I assume is in the South as the most logical choice for Ukraine is to cut Russian forces in Eastern Kherson area out of supplies. In order to make this breakthrough they need better tanks than the enemy has at that point (Leopard 2A4 will do), sufficient infantry with IFVs and AMCs (they are getting many), a squad or two fighter planes (like F16), and long range weapons (maybe HIMARS with ATACMS missiles). Ukraine tries to get these weapons and train men, which will take to early April. Looks like will get all that is needed. Donbas and Luhansk regions will be kept with artillery and MLRS, added with Challengers that basically are defensive tanks. Abramses come later, may push through defenses in Donbas and move the frontline some kilometers East, or possibly take Kreminna, which may force Russia to move forces there from Donbas. Wagner wears out convicts and plays a minor role in some months from now, then no more human waves, which really do not work that well any more. Russians do not have enough weapons, especially armour, to equip 500,000 men, so no big Winter offensive will come. This big winter offensive is the one that started 10. December and has so far taken Solendar and not much more.

I'd suggest that you have as much claim to the title as anyone else on this forum.

And thanks for your observations – they do a reasonable job of summarising the terrain.

What you say seems to reinforce what other people are also observing – we have an opportunistic coalition of psychopathic global tyrant-wannabes determined to get Russia out of the way before moving on to their ultimate goal of completely dominating the planet.

The question remaining in the background is – which of the genocidal factions is dominant, and who is actually playing who?

I fear that those pulling the strings of uber-arseholes like Klaus Schwab and friends are the true puppet masters, and the neocon clowns pushing for global American hegemony have no clue that they're headed for a fall – expendable assets, no less.

Martin Armstrong has been strongly suggesting that the USA will not survive beyond the next few years. Thankfully, he also suggests that the Globalists will also fail to achieve their objectives – which I presume to mean that Russia will ultimately prevail amidst the ashes.

Meanwhile, there is this group called the “Freemasons” that seem to figure prominently behind the scenes. They've been around for a while – for perhaps quite a few centuries – and some allegations have come out that incriminate this particular secret society for much of the societal mayhem over recent decades...

>A Russian Victory in Ukraine Won't End the War

It will if the Zelensky regime is eliminated, which as I said before (link), barring a radical reversal by the West, which I don't foresee (a 'doubling down' seems more likely), must now be Russia's war aim.

But it won't end Western hostility toward Russia — decades ago, John Stockwell wrote a book whose title alone largely explains the reason:

In Search of Enemies

The national security state, which now exists to some extent in every Western country, needs enemies, both foreign and domestic, to justify its funding, even its existence.

Regrettably, winning in Ukraine won't be the end of the conflict, it'll be the end of the beginning. As anyone, who's not born the last night understands, russians don't fight the ukies in Ukraine, they fight what for all practical intents and purposes is a third NATO army thrown in the meat-grinder since Feb 24 last year.

While the russians really don't like the idea to go beyond the regions with the russian-speaking majority, they may not have a choice; not if they want to ensure that western europe and, especially, eastern europe won't be used as staging areas for future assaults on Russia.

| The Conflict in Ukraine

Russia was forced into the necessary but minimal offensive to control the whole of the Ukraine [as things stand now]. Russia has lost the earlier window of opportunity time-frame, and the West (International Jewry in control of the US military/administrative complex, the UK, most of the West) is setting up a stance of digging into a static border closer to Poland then Kiiv to limit the damage. That is where the tanks go!

The above is one, single limited facet only, of the West – Russia conflict (China can still flip both ways, they seem to make headway in fully subdue-ing the US and the West into taking in their cheap consumer products on their terms this time around).

Other facets: different territories as Syria, Aserbijan, Baltic, for one, different alliances as Russia – Turkey as an example, the taking out of the US dollar as the main currency, thus taking out the creaming and cooked book-keeping the Finance Cabal is shamelessly doing, hence “confiscations”, announcing inflation and GDP, other parameters as if these come to fall out of the sky instead of being engineered. There are the stances on technology, surveillance, control of the masses by re-engineering social interaction (cheap flights or not, conditional transaction capability, flows of energy as gas and oil, fusion and fission, industrial food, the list is nearing completeness of bringing all of these under central control instead of organic society). All players basically agree on the principle and the howto (obvious copy-paste), but differ on who is going to be in control.

This leads to the conclusions: war as MoonofAlabama and TheDuran, Michel, Ritter approach it (McGregor is an exception, he seems to understand the larger picture but is not showing, and rightfully so, the back of his tongue —is obsolete..

Secondly, if any of the real players stop short of considering the global picture, they are about to fail as much as the West. Globalism must be, the question is the howto, the who controls it. The old fatso Charles Schwab, who made the easy run up to it is dead. The new generation (Putin, Xi) beats him to the goal.

A more pertinent remark just to underscore the above: the pummeling of Ukraine is a necessary [Putin as much on the offensive as he is, was forced his hand into it] secondary approach. The real feat is going to be the outright, all-out war between for now Russia and the West. The sides and supporting actors will shift as we go, but none will be able to stay neutral. The major conflict will not end in any way the chips might fall, in Ukraine.

The longer term prediction i must make: The [Fifty Year] War is running, and the next generations will see renewed stability over longer time-stretches, rational actors, not before nearing the end of the century. Francis Fukujama me on this!

You say it like it's the fault of the Russians, that they disappoint you by not going into the offensive right now. They have their plans, they have the most complete data from the war front and the economic front, and they don't care about speculations or expectations of Western observers.

Col. MacGregor and Scott Ritter are interesting observers, worth listening too regarding their speculations. Ritter in particular predicted correctly the lengthening of the war after the Ukie army was defeated for a second time (see Big Serge's post quoted by Whitney) and the West proceeded to send Western offensive weapons and increased the flow of Western taxpayer money.

I really disagree with the same ol same ol language maps – the city of Kiev spoke Russian, did business in Russian and if you went to the airport, a bar or hotel or market etc. , everyone spoke Russian. If you took the train from Simferopol to Kiev , it goes straight up the Dnepr River and all stops spoke Russian. These maps need to show that both languages are spoken instead of the Western devide and conquer maps.But then again, Nobody gave a rats ass about where the Language line was until the Американский and Еврейский problem showed up with their Grim Reaper.

Russian military will keep moving slowly east , slowly north and eventually slowly south, while hoping that the Ukies will wake up and run the Jewking and his thieves out of Kiev. As far as ” this is Russia’s Vietnam”, it is looking more like the other way around, in the end. I stopped having any faith in the eventual wake-up of folks in the states, when the majority backed the Jewish runned Nazis in Ukraine. Very embarrassing for the awake x pats living outside.

Why sending Ukraine tanks represents a fierce new step by the West

Analysis by Nick Paton Walsh, CNN International Security Editor

Updated 10:11 PM EST, Wed January 25, 2023

After weeks of Poland and other NATO members openly pressuring Germany to permit the dispatch of Leopard 2 tanks to Ukraine, finally it appears the United States and some of its European Union allies will send armor — a move that was unthinkable months ago — to the frontline against Russia.

It is a momentous decision, partly because these — unlike the air defense systems, or the anti-tank missiles — are not defensive weapons. Like the artillery and rocket systems that preceded them, they are intended to hit Russia's troops hard in a ground offensive. But unlike those systems, they are unequivocally about Ukraine retaking territory. This is new, and fierce, and it portrays a NATO unafraid.

The combined US and European decision to send tanks to Ukraine is not the display of fractious democracies it might appear to be.

'We're collecting fighters': Russia on brink of armed revolt as 1000s join anti-Putin army

Mr Ponomarev admits that regime change in his native land is "impossible" without armed resistance.

UPDATED: 17:33, Tue, Jan 24, 2023

Vladimir Putin has been warned that thousands of Russians are seeking to join the anti-Kremlin resistance as the threat of armed revolt in the country grows. Ilya Ponomarev is a former Russian MP and strident Putin critic, who is currently based in Kyiv. He joined Ukraine's Territorial Defence Force after the outbreak of war last February and has denounced Putin's invasion in no uncertain terms.

The former Vice President of Yukos is actively attempting to bring about regime change in his native country.

To that effect, he has helped to create the Congress of People's Deputies – a transitional parliament consisting of 59 Russian politicians opposed to the Putin regime.

The Congress will hold its second session in Poland between February 20-23, as it develops plans for a Russian future without Putin.

Putin hiding his lost billions as Russia burns through currency reserves

The Russian economy is currently being propped up by Moscow's foreign currency reserves, experts tell

Mon, Jan 23, 2023

Russian President Vladimir Putin is eating through his foreign currency reserves, but is concealing the billions of pounds being spent on the war in Ukraine, Yale University experts tell Express.co.uk. Jeffrey Sonnenfeld and Steven Tian have been closely following the Russian economy since the start of the invasion in February 2022.

They say that Putin has been able to keep Russia's economy going through the use of the country's foreign currency reserves.

However, this has proved expensive for the Kremlin, which is now concealing its expenditure in an effort to mask the economic damage Putin's war is causing.

Mr Tian told Express.co.uk: "It's the billion-dollar question because as soon as we did a study showing how quickly he was depleting his reserves, Putin stopped recording how much reserves he is spending every month.

Just like with the Kaiser and with Hitler, ZOG will not negotiate a peace to end the war they have spent decades getting started. If Putin was stupid enough to sign some kind of amistice as the Kaiser did in 1918, the result would be the same for Russia as it was for Germany. The agreement would never be honored and Russia would be broken up and starved.

ZOG (US/UK/5 eyes/Nato) was horny for this war, and it has used the opportunity to move Nato into Ukraine even if Ukraine can't join Nato. ZOG clearly has an end destination planned on the path of escalation, and Russia desperately needs to get off of the ZOG path and force ZOG down a path that Russia defines.

Instead ZOG will keep the escalations coming.

– Baerbock has confirmed that Nato is waging undeclared war with Russia.

– Zelensky (Andre Milnik) is demanding submarines. There is no way Ukraine could man these submarines on its own for years to come. It is clear that this is really ZOG telling Zelensky to demand submarines so that they can escalate and send in German made submarines on the pretext that they are “Ukrainian”. Maintenance will never be within the capabilities of a corrupt and bankrupt Ukraine.

– The same really applies to the F16's that Ukraine is demanding. They can only possibly be piloted by pilots from Nato/US/UK. Maintenance will never be within the capabilities of a corrupt and bankrupt Ukraine.

– The US requesting its own mothballed Hawk and older Patriot systems back from the Zionist warehouses in occupied Palestine. Of course the Jews are demanding that the US replace them with the newest systems.

– A Russian general has stated that the use of Depleted Uranium ammunition in Leopards, Bradley, Marders and M1’s will be considered equivalent to using a “dirty bomb”

When Russia wins the first phase of the war in Ukraine, NATO proxies in Kiev could go on attacking Russian positions until the next decade which won't change the outcome of the war, anyway. They will become another Daesh, Isis in the long term. The second phase would be about launching a serious frontal attack on the petrodollar system with helps from Iran, India and China. Brazil will join later as Lula seems to be threatened by Washington after taking office. That should make Washington throw in the towel once it sees no prospects of maintaining the current status.

Do you really think that Muscovites would accept rule by a Polish sponsored assembly?

This sort of Duma in Warsaw flies in the the face of reality. The state formation of Russia was party defined by putting Poland in a box, evicting a late medieval Polish army from the Kremlin a Butcher merchant raising a people's army and then contesting the Ukraine with Polish then later Swedish kings like they successfully did at Poltava.

In addition to that we are talking about a city, Moscow that contains around 12-15 people. Perhaps more if you count the cities in the outer ring road belts. That's half the population of Poland by itself.

Part of the war is the sheer arrogance that Muscovites have about their own status as the biggest city on Europe. The only European cities close to it in size are Istanbul and London.

If Russia takes the bait, and allows NATO to entrench itself along the Western borders with Poland, as is their intention, Russia is in for long-term nagging/insurgence/grey-zone tactics. Bugged down would be most appropriate to describe it, resource bleeding for Russia another.

Again an argument made for Putin to see further than the tips of his shoes, look ahead into the coming years. It is all between extremes playing out, the dustbin or global imposition. The local and limited is not going to be respected by any Western power mongers in the shadows, lest a fall-out of the whoring middle class politicians in Germany and Western Europe.

In the most important sense, this war has been going on since the Brits decided that they would ally with Turkey to invade Russia through Crimea, in order to break up a defeated Russia and then control all of the Eurasian land mass. So, even if Russia now takes all of the Ukraine, this war will not be over because the Anglo-Zionist Empire will still have enough wealth and power to keep waging it in other forms until it feels it once again can make another major strike.

The total problem here is Anglo-Zionist imperialism, which is never-ending, insatiable.

There are only two ways to end this war:

1. a peace agreement made after negotiations are offered and entered into after Russia has completed its offensive, at a minimum clearing the Donbas, more likely after having occupied the whole of Novorussia
2. an occupation of the whole of Ukraine. Followed by it being carved up among Russia, Belarus, Hungary, Romania, Moldova, Transnistria and Poland, possibly leaving a neutral Ukrainian rump state around Kiev. With the conditions and consequence of some of them also leaving NATO or at least guaranteeing that no NATO weapons, troops and maneuvers are ever stationed or held on their territories.

Russia Warns Ukraine Against Using Depleted Uranium Shells

Supplying Ukraine with depleted uranium munitions for western military hardware would be regarded by Moscow as the use of “dirty bombs,” said Konstantin Gavrilov, head of the Russian delegation to the Vienna Negotiations on Military Security and Arms Control. Speaking at a plenary meeting of the OSCE Forum for Security Cooperation, Gavrilov cautioned “western sponsors of Kiev’s war machine” against encouraging “nuclear provocations and blackmail.”

“We know that Leopard 2 tanks, as well as Bradley and Marder armored fighting vehicles, can use depleted uranium shells, which can contaminate terrain, just like it happened in Yugoslavia and Iraq,” he said. “If Kiev were to be supplied with such munitions for the use in western heavy military hardware, we would regard it as the use of ‘dirty nuclear bombs’ against Russia, with all the consequences that entails.”

One of the most startling aspects of this civil war is how it is Russia who has demonstrated that they care far more for “Ukrainians” and “Ukraine” than the Jews running the “country” do.

From the waves of young Slavs being sent into the meat grinder to the decade of shelling of “Ukrainians” who live in Donetsk to the shelling of the Zaphorisne Nuclear Power Plant to the way all offers of negotiation and an early peace are scorned and spat upon it is clear that the Jews running New Khazaria care not for the people who live there or the land that they hope to one day inhabit.

This is correct.

In Afghanistan the western allies sent zero heavy crewed equipment to give the SU trouble. In Vietnam as a far as I know the Soviets didn't send tanks and jets. And if they did, they were certainly no match for the USAF or US Army so the quantities must have been small and kept out of battle anyway.

The West is pouring in arms. Much like the SU in Afghanistan and the US in Vietnam.

| It is Anglo-Zionism

France fell to Hebrews in 1789. Poland has been a part of ZOG since 1990, and it started WWII on behalf of ZOG. Finland and Sweden are desperate to join the war on Russia and have already been sending weapons used to kill Russians. Spain fell to ZOG shortly after Franco died and has announced that it is going to send Leopard's to kill the Jews' eternal enemies, the Russians. At a certain level this war is about Jews fighting to take control of Russia the same way they have already taken control of the UK, Canada, Australia and the US.

Sure, England fell to ZOG in the 17th century, but England and the saxons have suffered far more than benefited from ZOG domination and these ZOG wars. The Kinks said it decades ago, "There is no England Anymore"

So I don't really thing "Anglo-Zionism" is a fair or accurate moniker for what God's Chosen people have done to the planet. Globo-Zionism would be more accurate.

I suspect the difference may be that Stalin was obsessed with creating Marx's global "final republic" with himself at the helm, while Putin, with China, India, et al, wants an end to the power of a certain permanent war state, so the people of the world can go about their natural business of making money without constant bullying from western internationalists. It is verboten these days to point out that this was a fundamental aim of the late German Reich as well. That government established independent trade relations with more than twenty Third World nations, directly exchanging high quality German manufactured goods for raw materials, cutting the brokers of international finance out of the loop. And Berlin saw as a top priority building Europe into a strong, defensible entity to withstand the global ambitions of both the US and the USSR. War is not some existential battle between good and evil –that foolishness is best left to clergymen- but when not waged for national defense, preemptive or otherwise, war is invariably about international economic rivalry. Modern nation-states were invented and have existed to this point to perpetuate the interests of their owner classes, for whom the concept "enough wealth" is as alien as "peaceful cooperation." This does look like the final stage of the madness, unfolding (ironically enough) just as Marx predicted it would. No, tragically, it cannot end with victory in Ukraine, the same way Germany's victory in Europe in 1940 failed to end that murderous insanity.

I should think that everyone is stepping up weapons production and militarising everywhere, in countries big and small. This war will not end with the Ukraine and all countries arming the UkroZioNazis should be made to pay a price in more than just dollars and euros. There will come a day when hiding behind the NATO umbrella will not save them.

This war is just a continuation of WWII. The collective Europeans who marched onto Russia want revenge for having lost but this time around they should be made to suffer far more than last time round. And now they also have UK and US egging them on.

Russia obviously has enough weapons production capacity to meet any needs and it is the Ukraine that is going around collecting whatever hardware it can get from elsewhere. I hear that they're buying Russian weaponry from Third World countries as most of what they had and whatever was donated by the East Europeans has already been destroyed. Russia could also buy weapons from others, like PR China, but it doesn't need to, although that option is there if it ever becomes necessary.

@Sean

You speak of :

‘ ... a conventional WW3 against the most powerful economic and industrial power in the world, was one the Kremlin could not hope to win ?’

What makes you think that the Kremlin has any intention of fighting China – which is clearly the most powerful economic and industrial power in the world (when measured in the much more accurate Purchasing Power Parity or PPP) ?

China and Russia are joined at the hip in their fight against the Anglo Zionist empire.

There is no way the Kremlin will be turning on their loyal pals the Chinese.

Sean, let’s instead turn our attention to the more realistic scenario that is presently playing out right now.

Russia is up against a hollowed out husk of an adversary. ie: the U.S military and its NATO vassals.

The U.S industrial base has long ago been gutted. To the extent that the U.S ‘appears’ a world power, this is all smoke and mirrors.

We know this because the U.S defence contractors are unable to supply the Ukies with tanks, munitions etc. They’re having to ask South Korea and Israel to forward to Ukraine their stocks of munitions.

They’re having to ask the Germans and other NATO vassals to lend Ukraine their tanks.

Simply put, the U.S cannot replenish the hardware and munitions that the Ukies have lost in the proxy war.

Russia meanwhile, has NO such problem.

What does that tell you ? It tells you that the Russian defence industries have superior output to that of the U.S and its NATO vassals.

Of course, this should come as no surprise to anyone. That's because U.S GDP is phony and nothing more than froth. The U.S economy/stock and bond markets is nothing more than a House of Cards, that will soon implode.

Should the U.S be stupid enough to commit ground forces to any degree in this conflict, the Russians will be 'kicking down that door', and that house of straw (aka the U.S military), will come tumbling down.

Yes, eventually the Ukrainians will get planes too. But there is nothing they can get that Russia can't counter and they can't get anything that will give them an advantage. At the most they will be able to retake some territories they are now losing or will lose until they launch their offensive but I doubt even that. Russia has developed a good working model so far destroying everything the Ukrainians and NATO send their way so they'll just keep doing that.

The Germans would be wise to release their Battle Tanks in a 1:1 ratio with American shipments. Otherwise they're probably going to be played for suckers.

Poland orders K2 MBTs and K9 SPHs from South Korea

Poland is procuring 1,000 K2s, the first 180 of which are scheduled to be delivered in 2022–25, followed in 2026 by the launch of production in Poland and the delivery of the first of 820 K2PL tanks.

Poland Is Gearing Up To Become a Tank Superpower

By the 2030s, Poland will have more tanks than the U.K., Germany, France, the Netherlands, Belgium, and Italy combined.

Last week, Sterling Heights, Michigan-based General Dynamics Land Systems announced a contract with the Polish government to build 250 M1A2 System Enhancement Program version 3 (SE Pv3) Abrams main battle tanks. The contract is worth $1.15 billion, or $4.6 million per tank. It's part of an even larger $6 billion deal that includes 26 M88A2 Hercules armored recovery vehicles, 17 M1110 Joint Assault Bridges, 776 tank machine guns, and about 33,000 rounds of tank gun ammunition. The deal also includes training simulators, technical manuals, and funds for paying 74 U.S. government and civilian contractor personnel over the next five years.

The 250 Abrams tanks will go to the 1st Warsaw Armored Brigade, part of the newly-raised 18th Mechanized Division. The first tanks, Defense News reports, will arrive in 2025. In the meantime, the U.S. Army is loaning the Polish Land Forces 28 M1A2 tanks, used at the new Abrams Tank Training Academy at Poland's Biedrusko Training Area.

If Poland gets its way, Germany will end without any Leopards at all. Just like Estonia who proudly shipped its last 155mm artillery to Ukraine.

Germany should be frantically rebuilding its arms industry and negotiating with Russia to open Nordstream to power the steel foundries and energize ship building. But there is no Germany anymore.

This tactic of 'baiting' seems to be everywhere from our neighborhoods to manipulation of countries.

It's almost as if the US is trying to arrange another PEARL HARBOR BOMBING, the sneak attack that sent us off to WWII. Are we trying to manipulate Russia into striking US homeland first?

@Sean

when I saw the general UK MoD map of Russian troop dispositions published in December and/or January I sent a map to a friend with with a sequential red arrows that went down the Dnieper through Chernobyl hooked east and exited just north of Kharkov back into Russia along the highways/motorways/freeways. I added burned village and town icons. I expected if they did invade to see a punitive Razzia or Raid or what I've learn since Americans call a "ThunderRun" that lapped around Kiev and drove by, but never attempted to enter. I was thinking of a Mongolian Horde that rides through burning fields and villages, then it exits. That's not far off what occurred.

The Ukies let the Russians drive around and picked off the cavalry circling the small towns and cities. Part of the disbelief about invading was that Kiev has 3.5M people and the 30,000 in the Belarussian invasion launching area looked too small.

The southern Landbridge was a surprise, even to MoD and DoD... but did become obvious after a few days or weeks.

The 120mm L5 smoothbore gun on the Leopard 2 conforms to the NATO Stanag 4385 standard, as does the F1 gun on the French Leclerc and the M256 on the M1 Abrams.

The US M829-series and French OFL F2 APFSDS rounds use a DU penetrator, while the German DM53's is tungsten.

However, since the same 120mm ammunition is interoperable and interchangeable among all the tanks, the Leopard 2 could also use the US or French DU rounds.

Penetration of 60 degree sloped RHA armour with 120mm rounds at 2000 metres' range is estimated at 800mm for the DU M829A3 compared to 600–640mm for the tungsten DM53 (although the manufacturer claims 670–700mm).

Depending on the source of the information, DU is said to offer 8–18% better penetration than tungsten, all other things being equal.

<https://www.globalsecurity.org/military/systems/munitions/m919.htm>

The 25mm Armor-Piercing, Fin Stabilized Discarding Sabot with tracer (APFSDS-T) M919 has been designed and developed to replace the currently fielded M791 cartridge as the service armor piercing round for the Bradley. The M919 uses a high length/diameter ratio, depleted uranium penetrator and high energy propellant to achieve improved terminal ballistic characteristics.

Currently in production, the M919 Brings modern kinetic energy round technology to the Bradley Infantry fighting vehicle. It defeats a higher class of threat infantry fighting vehicle at greater range than to the M791 APDS-T cartridge. Its advanced armor defeat mechanism, combined with a high muzzle velocity yields a very high kill probability for firing at stationary and moving targets. The M919 round uses state-of-the-art technology by incorporating high energy propellants, low drag design, an aluminum sabot and an improved depleted uranium penetrator material

The problem here is that Nato stockpiles are nearly empty and as we have seen Ukrainians even used cluster munitions on Donbas because that was all they could get their hands on. Ukrainians and Finns are stupid enough to want to join Nato even it it means war, so there is no reason to doubt that they would not utilize Depleted Uranium if that was all that was on offer, or if it was more lethal. Ukraine shelled Zaphorisne NPP for months. Clearly a little radioactive pollution and generations of birth defects is a small price to pay for Heavenly Jerusalem.

| A Russian Victory in Ukraine Won't End the War

Oh really ! Who is going to continue the fight ? The Europeans want no part of another major conflict with Russia apart from the fact that their economies are already in tatters. Even if the will existed, these are countries divided. Will the millions of Moslems, Africans and other assorted refugees volunteer or be press ganged for the Eastern Front ? I dont think so !

The US Military is in no condition to fight a major war in Europe. It does not have the men neither in quantity nor in quality. Besides, the logistics between the US and Europe would be a nightmare if not impossible. It took years for the Allies to bring the German submarine threat under control in WW2. These days, subs are not sneaking into convoys to fire crude torpedoes.

As it is right now, NATO is doing all the talking most of which is bullshit. Dogs that bark dont bite. Once Putin demolishes what is left of the Ukrainian rabble this war is over.

Oh, please note I did not mention that Vlad has Xi watching his back. That is yet another variable to give the military geniuses in NATO and the Pentagon the heebie jeebies !

Vlad is in control and thats that ! He has called their bluff and all they have in their hands is a pair of Jokers !

RT (news) detailed the effects upon the war with the shipments of American Abrams tanks to Ukraine:

1. First off, Ukraine has been basically fighting the Russian Wagner Group (hired fighters) – a lightly armored fighting force. Soon they will be fighting the regular Russian Army
2. America and its allies will probably wind up sending about 100, very good, but expensive tanks when a 1,000 would be needed for fighting a heavily armored foe.
3. If the war lasts for years, those 100 tanks will be used up and make no difference at all, because good maintenance is also expensive, and beyond Ukrainian abilities.

So, the questions are –

1. Will NATO run its own military down to continue to supply Ukraine for the long haul?
2. Who is to pay for this? 100 billion here/100 billion there – adds up.
3. Won't a prolonged war with Russia not lead to WWIII, with accompanying nuclear war?
4. When the Hell did we Americans vote for this nonsense?

Wisely, Wokechoke wrote: “In Afghanistan the western allies sent zero heavy crewed equipment to give the SU trouble. In Vietnam as far as I know the Soviets didn’t send tanks and jets. And if they did, they were certainly no match for the USAF or US Army so the quantities must have been small and kept out of battle anyway.”

Thanks, Wokechoke!

And btw, I doubt Ukrainians shall fly advanced F-16 jets. They will be flown by Americans.

The Russians have flying experience, acquired in the Syrian conflict. They will challenge the (Ukrainian) American pilots.

The inexperienced pilots will be shot out of the sky by S-500 Surface to Air Missiles.

Once the S-500 are in place, then Russia will establish a no fly zone over the battle field.,
And the Ukrainian supplied German/ZUS tanks will be destroyed within the first month of deployment, perhaps upon arrival in Ukraine

If I know this, our military leaders know this.

The Russians have flying experience, acquired during the Syrian conflict. Of course, they will challenge American F-16’s, and the pilots will be shot out of the sky by S-500 S.A.M.’s.

Once S-500’s are in place, Russia shall establish a no fly zone over the battle field.,

If I know this, our ZUS military leaders know this, and they will dispatch their pilots on suicide missions. And then WWW 3..

If the Anglo-Zionists were to sign such a deal, they would do so intending to break it when they feel that they can use another proxy to try to destroy Russia.

From the Anglo-Zionist side, this is permanent war, because the Deep State of the Anglosphere has long controlled Western Europe and long desired to control the entire world, every little nook and cranny. And it is now terrified that a Russian-Chinese alliance will ruin its plans. So it must keep acting to break up Russia so it then can take on China alone and then rule every single nook and cranny of the globe.

The world is on the brink of nuclear war because of Anglo-Zionism.

@Ultrafart the Brave

Martin Armstrong and his fabulous AI program Socrates foresee things getting worse and worse, and then quite a bit worse again, over the coming years – so it's not going to be all wrapped up anytime soon.

I have no criticism of Armstrong but will use your mention of him to make a point. Armstrong, more than just about anybody, understands Probabilities and Uncertainty deriving therefrom.

There is simply no way to reason your way to surety as to the timing of Russia's offensive, let along its contours, or even if it will happen at all. Interestingly, when it comes to war, experts worth paying attention to don't even offer the usual disclaimers (e.g. "All else being equal . . . ; "As of today . . .")

That's the shortest predicate to get to my point. What there isn't any uncertainty about is Russia's objectives in the Ukraine. And, by the way, anyone who needed them spelled out as Russia did in its offer to negotiate December '21, should interest themselves is something other than geopolitics.

Maybe I'm missing something but I can't see anything that's occurred since Russia kicked off its SMO that leads to any outcome in Ukraine short of it becoming a landlocked rump. That's remains my baseline assumption.

The complexity then grows exponentially.

As my previous comments attest, we shouldn't discount that the most important event to take into account is Poland's elections this year. Poland's ruling party is between a rock and a hard place. Its allies all want it replaced with a compliant government of the same variety as the other vassals.

Yes, this is just a continuaon of WW2, which was contunuation of WW1, which in part was just a continuation of The Crimean War. Don't let 'Russia' being on the same side as the Brits in the 2 WWs keep you from seeing the big picture, which is: the Anglo world determined to destroy every European power in order to be the one and one;y world hegemon. Sometimes it must try to destroy Russia and at others must trick Russia into helping it destroy Germany. But both had to be destroyed for the WASPs, the Anglo-Zionists, to rule the entire world.

No one is going to read this, but all the pundits and commenters are missing the point.

The war is not about Ukraine or even Russia, it is a final war on whether the USA is going to be able to maintain it's global hegemony.

To maintain it's control, both Russia and China, as the two major countries outside US control via NATO, must bow the knee to US domination.

This has been the plan since 1990, finally Russia, after 30 years of rebuilding it's military strength, said enough. If Russia allow the Budapest Accord on nuclear non-proliferation to be broken by Ukraine as it threatened to do in 2021 then there would be no warning time for an attack on Moscow to be stopped. This was the threat that pushed Russia over the top, not "Duty to Protect" the Donbass.

BRICS in 2023 will become BRICS+ and some 20 major countries are asking to join. With Saudi and Iran, BRICS will completely control the world oil not USA. All the Central Asian countries including Turkey want to join. All SE Asian countries want to join. By the end of 2023 it is likely that 90% of the world population will be aligned with BRICS.

The war has to end with the unconditional surrender of either Russia or USA.

The USA miscalculated and thought that it could defeat Russia as it has all others, by financial sanctions and pressure. Instead Russia has built alliances which destroy US $ power and within a year has half the world agreeing to trade in local currencies or Yuan. It thought that a trade embargo under US threats would, as with all other previous financial wars, stop Russian exports and imports, instead Russian has expanded. They thought that the sanction 'total' war on Russia would frighten other countries into isolating Russia and siding with US-NATO, instead more and more countries (eg. China, India, Saudi and Turkey et al) are giving US the finger and working toward isolating and ignoring USA.

Forget negotiating, forget any deals, it is a war to the death (figuratively not literally) and the US is going to lose. NATO is fractured and it takes massive threats to get them to act eg. Germany and tanks. The northern expansion of Sweden and Norway will only take place at the expense of Turkey leaving NATO and the whole of central ASIA and South Russia being completely safe from NATO intervention.

This stupid war forced on Russia will end the Western (ANGLO-US-NATO) domination for ever. Europe will swiftly swing to join Russia-China and BRICS and dump US-UK in an instant (I guess by end of 2024 the move will be complete). [PS they hate both Americans and British]

The “West” Economic Forum (WEF) has held its’ last hurrah. Fifty percent of the invited heads of state said no thanks and most waited to the last moment to shove it up Schwab’s rear-end. [Who thought that any one would take any notice of Gore, Kerry, Blair for God’s sake]

This move away from Dollar – Stirling and massive alternative petro finance from the real producers, will bring devastation of the US and British economies and will bring both countries to a level below that of Mexico or Pakistan. Neither have a manufacturing industry or base any more nor can they acquire the necessary skills in less than 40 -50 years.

If I were not nearly 80, I would be learning Russian – Mandarin and follow the dictum “Go East young man, go east”.

I appreciate your intention, but TBH I think I missed whatever point it was that you wanted to make.

Just BTW, while you're no doubt correct that Martin Armstrong understands probabilities and uncertainty, his expectations drawn from the projections of his AI program Socrates aren't based on his own reasoning or the reasoning of any other person. It's the program crunching the data and spitting out results.

Mr. Armstrong has repeatedly stressed this – try as he might, he has never been able to defeat Socrates – Socrates has never been wrong. Socrates was so good, the CIA imprisoned and tortured Mr. Armstrong for seven years to try to get him to hand it over to them.

| There is simply no way to reason your way to surety as to the timing of Russia's offensive, let alone its contours, or even if it will happen at all.

True – I've rarely seen anyone accurately predict how anything is going to turn out even over a few days, let alone in any longer term.

But Socrates isn't human, and Socrates says WWIII is coming in 2024. FWIW, that outlook isn't inconsistent with Mr. Whitney's take on the current situation.

In any case – not my call.

The oligarchy is already stressed. The internet has already broached the foundations of their power.

If Prince Henry the Navigator could have foreseen the consequences of encouraging the opening up of the world by sending ships to the Americas and to destinations in the western Pacific he might have denied support. The gold and silver brought back to Spain did it no good. The treasure upset the limited amount of gold in circulation causing inflation in Spain and elsewhere in Europe.

The treasures funded more than a few destabilizing wars, concentrated wealth in a few hands, and ultimately destroyed the monarchical 'system' — replacing it with a completely different means of exerting power.

The present resembles the 20 years before/20 years after 1500. The 20 years before/20 years after 2000 will be remembered as the decades when the Internet laid waste to the old power concentrations.

The most important contributor to the ongoing demise of the present oligarchical system is their loss of media control. The oligarchic control of information made certain that any means of doing so had to be brought under their control. They controlled the entire narrative. You and I were told what to believe and we had no means of recirculating our realizations of controlled deceptions into the public narrative. For the most part, people believed the public narrative, as presented, because no alternate means of countervailing the propaganda was available. The means of control i.e., the message, was the medium. Most everyone believed the message. The entirety of message control — from junior school through post grad school, from DC comic books through, radio, TV, Hollywood, advertising, newspapers, magazines etc., from politicians, left, right and centre — promulgated a world view which was reality for all concerned.

The left/right debate conditioned everyone to accepting the entire spectrum as though there was no other. Consequently each person found a perch somewhere along the breath of the spectrum's dialectic with which they could identify.

The internet is functioning the way gold functioned when vast quantities were suddenly fuelling changes which turned the existing system upside down. Suddenly we are living amidst an information inflation.

Of course, the oligarchy saw the internet as a further and continuing means of controlling, i.e. shaping our collective reality, but instead that reality is being turned upside down. If 'they' could put the genie back in the bottle they would. But of course it cannot be done.

The handmaidens, the oligarchy employs to process their bidding, i.e., making their messaging palatable are looking foolish. Politicians like the present crop of presidents, prime ministers, premiers, senators, governors, look increasingly isolated. Their lies and dissembling and spin doctoring are not being covered up as they were not so long ago covered up. They are the scapegoats. Some, like the gal in New Zealand are smart enough to realize they were had, others like Mr Dress-up in Canada are just plain dumb, and others like the President of the U.S. are suffering from dementia.

The entire structure of the oligarchical bankers age is crumbling in real time. Yes all the people could be fooled most of the time! But control over the public narrative has been tenured. For how long, who knows? But most people have an internet connected phone in their pocket or purse.

The oligarchy did not foresee that instead of them controlling us, they have lost complete control of the means of doing so.

And it is not them who by tracking us control us — it is they whom are tracked and traced. They have been so built crowing from the roof of the henhouse there are none of them whom are not traceable and trackable. There are far fewer of them than us.

We know where they live, where they work, where they play, where they dine, the cars they drive, the jets they fly in, the yachts they have docked; in fact they are far more dependent than us.

And weirdly they may be vicious, true, like Madeline Albright, Hilary Clinton and Victoria what's her name, and Nancy Pelosi, but Gad, they are dumber than a bag of hammers. And George Bush? What can one say about him? He can barely string two coherent sentences together! And Trudeau up in Canada, a congenital liar; his best before date was printed back in kindergarten. What a goof.

Every one of them announces to the entire world where they can be found. How smart is that?

Your first sentence is hyperbole. You do not agree with the point that RF will have to shoulder the existing Ukraine regime's enormous debt (and, by extension, recognized Black Rock, etc ownership of Ukrainian land) . Here, incidentally, I agree with you. RF is in a strong position, in light of the illegal confiscation of its assets by Western powers, to tell the debt collectors to pound sand.

In fact, one is well advised to inspect closely the terms of any proposed final settlement (if such does in fact occur) to see how this issue of "odious debt" plays out in reality.

Assuming a final Russian victory (pretty much guaranteed if the nukes are not launched) on the battlefield, the West would only offer to placate Russian security requirements on condition that RF does in fact assume all or most debts incurred by the Ukrainian regime up to the time of its replacement, and recognize Black Rock, etc legal right to purchased real estate. A big deal, really. Only an overall overwhelming victory by RF (unlikely, it seems to me), which RF may not even want, would make these considerations minor.

Absent such a comprehensive accord, even if Ukraine ceases to exist under its present (post 1991 and post 2014) forms, the US/UK/Israel side might simply refuse to recognize the Russianized Ukraine (it took the US nearly 20 years to recognize the USSR, and over twenty years to recognize PRC.

Then it is limited war/cold war/proxy wars all over again.
Whoopie.

The Ruskies have just declared coram publico they will regard DU as equivalent to a dirty bomb (Hal Turner has the beryllium wrong – it's neither heavy nor “depleted” but the oxide dust is toxic as hell too).

Keep in mind all the fighting is inside Russia and on prime ag real estate –

at minimum this means invocation of the poison weapons clause and summary execution of anyone caught in a Challenger, Abrams or Bradley (or A-10, which is where this is going); not that this will make a difference – these will be given to those not intent on being taken alive in the first place.

The Ukies seem confident of having 200! tanks for the great summer offensive, which can only target Melitopol (all against an artillery superiority of 10:1).

Seriously what are they thinking?!

@Zachary Smith

The disregard for the defence and welfare of Estonia by her supposed “democratically elected” leaders is on a par with that of Finland. Simultaneous to taunting Russia and making life miserable for the minority ethnic Russians, Estonia gifts all of its 155’s and ammunition to Ukraine. This despite the hard learned lesson from this war of Nato expansion that heavy artillery is still king of the battlefield and the best way to decimate an opposing force.

Estonia gives all of its 155 mm howitzers to Ukraine as part of record aid package

“We are giving all our 155mm howitzers to Ukraine. And we want to set a precedent so that other countries will have no excuses why they cannot provide Ukraine with the necessary weapons to win the war,” said Kaimo Kuusk.

The ambassador has announced the list of weapons, which coincides with the information previously published in the Estonian media: these are “dozens” of 155mm FH-70 and 122mm D-30 howitzers; thousands of 155mm artillery shells; hundreds of M2 Carl-Gustaf anti-tank systems with ammunition; and support equipment for artillery units.

The total amount of Estonian military aid to Ukraine has already exceeded 1% of Estonia’s gross domestic product (GDP).

As reported, Denmark is giving Ukraine all 19 Caesar self-propelled howitzers, which it ordered for itself in France.

With this kind of idiotic behaviour by Estonia and Denmark, one would conclude that they have the same kind of man-hating mind controlled Soros puppet Prime Minister as Finland’s warmonger Sanna Marin or that Nato whore from Moldova.

Oops..

According to you, “It’s kind of what the Soviets did in the 60s by sending nukes to Cuba and then forcing the USA to remove the nukes in Turkey in exchange for the removal of the nukes in Cuba.”

Unfortunately, this is a fairy tale repeated over and over by most people who have studied the so-called Cuban missile crisis. The fact, however, is that there were no Soviet nuclear warheads in Cuba in 1962 and the missiles don’t appear in any of the U-2 photos —now available in high resolution on the web— nor in the decks of Soviet ships allegedly taken them back to the USSR.

For a dissident view of the Cuban missile crisis read: The Nuclear Deception: Nikita Khrushchev and the Cuba Missile Crisis. The author was an officer in the Cuban army during the crisis.

This war was forced on Russia by the coup in 2014 by Victoria Nuland and her fellow zionists, which led to the Donbass Russian speaking region breaking away after coming under attack by the Ukraine and the resulting over 16,000 people being killed by the attacks on the Donbass by the Ukraine, which led to the Russia intervention, make no mistake, this is a zionist/NATO/ZUS war against Russia.

Russia is winning this war against the zionist controlled west and the couple dozen or so tanks is like pissing into the wind against Russia, and as Hitler said to German General Heinz Guderian in a meeting as the tide was turning against Germany on the eastern front ; If I had known, what you had told me about Russian tank production was correct, I would never have started this war! See the book Panzer Leader by General Heinz Guderian, can be had on amazon.

The zionist controlled west will reap the whirlwind, they have opened the gates of hell.

Where did Orwell say/write that, what is the quote?

Note: I'm a huge fan of Orwell, my favorite quotes are 'Proles and animals are free', and "Crimestop means the faculty of stopping short, as though by instinct, at the threshold of any dangerous thought. It includes the power of not grasping analogies, of failing to perceive logical errors, of misunderstanding the simplest arguments if they are inimical to Ingsoc, and of being bored or repelled by any train of thought which is capable of leading in a heretical direction."

But, surprisingly?, he bought into the holohoax, the most astounding example of crimestop in history.

Why I think the Ukraine war might end badly. For 75 years the doctrine of mutually assured destruction, or MAD, has prevented a nuclear war. But, the US, now pressing a war on Russia's border, and repeatedly saying that Russia must lose this war, seems to have forgotten about MAD. I believe it is because the neocons control US policy, and they are OK with, and in fact desire, the mutual destruction of east and west. They do state it explicitly over and over in the vid below

Yes, Putin should consolidate the eastern Russian speaking areas, including Kharkov, and then use artillery to get the remnants of what was Ukraine to the negotiation table. Ukraine is inconsequential other than as a battleground so all those complaining about a Russian “invasion” or Ukraine’s violated sovereignty are barking up the wrong tree. Just over a year ago Russia gave an ultimatum to USA and NATO telling them to get lost or ... NATO refused and this is the first move, Russia’s gambit. Russia will keep pressing until its demands are met, by force obviously as NATO is not giving in but doubling down.

Also those who are saying that Russia was not prepared, that it is surprised by NATO’s arming or funding of the Ukraine have also got it wrong. Russia is well prepared and probably knew that its ultimatum would be rejected and that the conflict with NATO was thus inevitable. They’re in it for the long slog and have been getting ready for this far longer than is obvious to casual observers. So far they have utilised very little of their military capacity and have achieved tremendous results with minimal manpower by using mostly Chechen volunteers, Wagner mercenaries and local militias. We really know very little of what Russia has in store as it had decided to take on the strongest military alliance in the world, so far singlehandedly. This is not adventurism but a well thought out and planned operation that could eventually involve far more than is obvious to us up to now.

The reality is that a “Russian Offensive” won’t look like a US offensive, or a German Offensive, aka WWII.

The Russians have a different strategic and tactical fighting style than we are accustomed to seeing or hearing about. They’re not just trying to get some headlines, like Ukraine does, and they aren’t trying to get a highlight reel on CNN to drum-up popular support with dramatic footage and talk of an “overwhelming victory”.

The Russians, and especially Putin, are playing long game. They are always trying to minimize their own casualties, not get overly aggressive, or extend themselves too far.

It’s a war of attrition BECAUSE the “West” is funding it, and sending weapons, intel, etc. It’s not a war that can be “won” by taking land or just killing troops.

It’s got to be slow, cautious, conservative, and methodical. It’s a chess match, not checkers. They can’t win in just a few moves, they have to grind.

They will extend themselves only as much as it’s tactically advantageous, i.e. they might extend themselves a little bit, just to prevent constant re-supply to an area, because in the long run, it’s saves Russian lives, but they won’t “go in for the kill”, because there is no kill to be had. It’s a grind, a slog, a long game of taking the other’s pieces, when it’s easy and safe.

Low risk, high gain, long game!

ZOG (Nato/US/UK/5 eyes) did not go through decades of preparation for this war without having some end condition in mind. Since we cannot even identify who ultimately is driving this war, we cannot identify their end goal either.

It seem pretty clear with the Zaphorazne NPP that they were trying to goad Russia into some kind of declaration of war and first strike response. All the bravado about tanks is to try to get Russia directly to declare war, or to attack a Nato member. What they want is to use Chapter 5 to get another world war started, with Russia being the party “guilty” of aggressive war.

Not knowing their end goals, it is hard to be certain whether they really want a nuclear war. Their recklessness would seem to indicate that they do.

Russia by all accounts has far more nuclear war heads and hyper sonic delivery systems than ZOG does. Yet ZOG keeps pushing things to the brink.

My conclusion is that either ZOG has a secret weapon, or ZOG WANTS the hundreds of millions or even billions of casualties that would result from a nuclear war. In other words, if ZOG does not have a secret weapon, then ZOG must be satan.

Leopard 2 could use depleted uranium ammunition, but Rheinmetal has boosted up production of ammunition for Leopards and it will suffice for all Leopards given to Ukraine from all countries. So, there is no need for the West to pollute Ukraine soil with uranium. Instead, the wrecks of Russian equipment and bodies of Russian soldiers currently pollute the soil. The bodies may finally pollute ground water. Russia should pick them up before withdrawing. It is not nice to throw bodies of your people to the fields of a neighboring country.

US does not care if there are missiles pointing at the West European cities. This war will end only when the US feels a conventional threat to its main land, or when the reserve status of the dollar is corroded completely.

What exactly do you mean by “the US”? Are you referring to the cult of devil-worshipping, demon-possessed, theistic Satanists that control the U.S. “government”? If so why do you believe that they actually give the slightest damn about any threat to the “main land” or to the “reserve status of the dollar” when practically everything they’re doing in pursuit of their Satanic (and utterly hopeless anti-American, anti-all-life-on-earth) agenda puts both at risk?

“Russia has developed a good working model so far destroying everything the Ukrainians and NATO send their way so they’ll just keep doing that. ”

I know what you mean. It is the exactly same way that Russia destroyed all Western weapons that were sent to Ukraine last year. So, Ukraine never got Western howitzers and MLRS systems. I remember, the Russian way of destroying them before they come to the battle ground, as they have the full air control and all that, and Ukrainians have only two or three pensioners in their army. Your first sentence is hyperbole. You do not agree with the point that RF will have to shoulder the existing Ukraine regime's enormous debt (and, by extension, recognized Black Rock, etc ownership of Ukrainian land)

Read the original comment again, if you do you will find that TG actually said..

But as far as occupying all of Ukraine – well, then Russia would have a major guerrilla war on its hands to make their occupation of Afghanistan look like a tea party. And Russia would then be responsible for rebuilding all of Ukraine, AND have to take on all of Ukraine's massive debts. And Ukrainian "freedom fighters" using bases in other countries would be launching attacks on Ukraine and Russia and DARING Russia to bomb Poland....

Clearly TG was not advocating occupying all of Ukraine, he was pointing out the many adverse consequences of doing so. You should make a point of reading comments more carefully before finding fault.

I only half agree with you on this one. Let's go back and examine the Empire's goals.

First, the goal was to put pressure on Russia to see how she would react to a war situation. Would Russia have the organization as a society and as a military power to carry out a successful war against the most substantial army in Europe headed by a elite of oligarchs and nationalist fanatics. Many in the leadership class believed Russia would not be able to both endure rigorous sanctions and war without gradually breaking down. Most people in leadership positions in the Empire have a distinct sense of condescension towards societies that do not closely resemble the US and other regions of the Empire. In other words, the liberal order both culturally and economically.

Second, Washington needed a new war to create a sense of unity (particularly in the US) and meaning to the societies that it ruled. Nationalism has broken out in many regions as a distinct threat to the borderless world the West seeks to make a worldwide ideology. Washington is stuffed with true believers that mankind has found the best sort of society possible through "liberal democracy" and Russia and China are the only substantial powers that are a direct threat to this project. This all creates a unified sense of purpose (and thus loyalty) in the leadership and professional classes whose intellect has been destroyed by the past thirty years of despoilment of the Western tradition in substance and theory.

Third, the US wanted to tighten its control of Europe by forcing them to become dependent on Washington economically either through using North American energy to meet European needs or by brokering (through threats and bribery) other energy producing states to provide Europe with reliable energy. By creating a strong sense of moral disgust in the public towards Russian “atrocities” (most articles in the mainstream outlets show that Russia only attacks residential areas and so on).

Fourth, all this provides a new way to dominate the planet. Whether Ukraine successfully regains its territory or not is irrelevant. Whether any of this will work for the Empire or not is also not relevant. What is relevant is that Washington gets a good lay of the political/economic land to re-orient its long-term goals. The Ukraine War has been in the works since the fall of the USSR but it may be time to change strategy and tactics and emphasize the cultural side (my guess) rather than using coercion to bring the world under Washington’s domination. New people in the leadership class may want a new approach more focused on social-media, finance, using AI to control more institutions and sectors and so on.

Unlike what many people in the growing dissident community seem to think, Washington is not “desperate” and, I believe, will not move towards a nuclear confrontation. At worst it will use the policy of “brinkmanship” advocated by John Foster Dulles during the 50s. See how far the Russians will go and stop there and then offer to negotiate. We’ll see this year how that goes. If Russia can put together a more coherent military campaign and roll over Eastern Ukraine this winter or spring then Washington will negotiate. I don’t see the war going on other than the usual covert ops.

US would recover, IF.....

US, unlike England, has abundant natural wealth, oil, gas. Agricultural land to produce enough food for itself, and then some.

But something has changed, that will make prospects of recovery questionable, if not dim.

Before WW2, US population was overwhelmingly European stock, plus Blacks.

European stock was largely a cohesive lot, with (somewhat) common cultures.

European stock — Germans, English, Irish, Poles, Italians, Nordics,.. — ran things.

Blacks were here of course for several centuries, but they had no agency.

After WW2 and until 1965, founding stock-wise, not much changed.

But now, US is slowly but inexorably fragmenting and becoming “Balkanized”.

US has lost its national purpose: it’s just a vast marketplace, where various factions are busy looting its vast wealth created during its heyday.

Various states are busy giving voting rights to illegal immigrants. In some states, non-citizens can even become law enforcement officers., and arrest citizens (!)

So-called US Federal leaders in Congress are busy destroying and dismantling its foundations.

There is no border control: Feds are even suing border States that try to stem the flow on their own.

Nobody knows what an “American” is anymore.

WWIII was baked into the cake when the Neocons and the American intelligence community prevailed in overthrowing the legitimate president Yanukovich from power in their coup and placing a Zionist puppet government in place. Every move since has been a straight line escalation to complete Armageddon which will soon be here.

As PCR said in his last daily column, “with heavy armor such as Leopard and Abrams tanks on their way to Ukraine comes depleted uranium ammunition. The Russians say they regard the use of such ammunition the same as the use of dirty nuclear bombs. Konstantin Gavrilov says “we will consider this as a use against Russia of dirty bombs with all the ensuing consequences.” Here you have it, the pretext that America deliberately supplies for all out nuclear war. Doesn’t even require a false flag attack on a Ukie nuclear power plant. The entire region will now be perpetually contaminated with the carcinogenic and teratogenic U-238 that Nato dispensed freely around most of Serbia and Iraq in those two wars of American aggression.

Neither Serbia nor Iraq were able to strike back in any effective way against the American Nazi hegemonists. Russia, however, has the means to do so and should have the motive to reciprocate against the Nato perpetrators of such Western atrocities. The brainwashed Nato countries think they have immunity from any consequences for their depraved acts because they can hide behind American skirts. Well, their first clue of reality will come when all their American bases are vaporised with hyperbaric hypersonic-dispatched weapons. If they do not immediately surrender and renounce Nato hostilities against Russia, then their own national bases, and then their cities will come under fire—ultimately nuclear when all the iterations of force escalation are played out.

This stupid ground rule where Nato gets to target Russian assets at will (using Ukies as a proxy) but the complementary scenario (to destroy Nato targets) is prohibited cannot stand if Russia hopes to survive this conflict, and so it will be cast aside. It's the end point Washington guarantees, whether it realises it or not. The American "homeland" ("Hiemat in the original German) will also be forced to consume a lavish serving of their own poison as the conflict condenses to its ultimate conclusion, and that of the human race. Monday morning Neocon quarterbacks will forever puzzle over the question of "whether it was all worth it?" Surely they injured Russia, and every other human enclave on the planet... including themselves. Still worth it, assholes?

| The Anglo-American empire has been at war with Russia since 1918.

Others refer to it as the Anglo-Zionist Empire. I call it what it is – the international banking cartel that owns all of the Zionist occupied governments of the so-called Western liberal democracies. WWI was engineered, as was WWII. Germany, then Germany and the USSR could not be allowed to continue as economic powerhouses challenging the reserve currency of the UK. Countries that seek to escape the cartel will always be targets, whether, using obsolete political terms, left or right. This war in Ukraine is no different. Russia and China, leading the BRICS is a massive threat to the current cartel members. War is always about the opposite of the narrative produced.

Anonymous, 186, right, for a country with the power to put US officials in the dock, DU constitutes poisoned weapons, a war crime. US undeclared warfare by sabotage and banned biological weapons breach Hague and Geneva Conventions.

If China nuked US command structure it would be in full conformity with historical legal precedent of Hiroshima and Nagasaki. For Russia, nuclear response to direct domestic threat offers superior control of escalation and collateral damage – Russia can't decapitate the CIA regime after taking a first strike, they would have to go all-out.

So a surgical nuclear strike on US triad capacity and C3 would be the safest course for the world, including the US.

In Estonia nearly 25% of the population is ethnically Russian. I'll bet those Estonians are as racist as you Finns.

how did they come to be there?

Part of the reason the Baltic states and Eastern Europe are so jaundiced towards Russia, is that Russia refuses to admit that the Soviet period was one of horrors for Eastern Europe, and Estonia as well.

Massive population transfers of the best of the Estonian people to Siberia (never to be heard from again), as Russians were flooded in to replace them.

Of course hostilities linger, there's never been any kind of reckoning, and the Russians won't assimilate and speak Estonian, they still act like conquerors.

For the record, I support Russia 100% in this zio-contrived conflict, but the only reason ZOG was able to orchestrate this war, is because of Russia's intractable demand that the Red Army rapists be memorialized as 'liberators', when they were anything but.

Russia needs to remove the memorials to the Soviet period from the former subjugated states like Poland and Estonia, and there will be the peace.

Once there's no more hostility between Eastern Europe and Russia, ZOG will be forced to pound sand.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Livonian Crusade

First run in was with the German Knights. Then The Swedes...

In 1600, the Polish–Swedish War broke out, causing further devastation. The protracted war ended in 1629 with Sweden gaining Livonia, including the regions of Southern Estonia and Northern Latvia. Danish Saaremaa was transferred to Sweden in 1645. The wars had halved the population of Estonia from about 250–270,000 people in the mid 16th century to 115–120,000 in the 1630s.

While many peasants remained in the status of serfdom during the Swedish rule, legal reforms strengthened both serfs' and free tenant farmers' land usage and inheritance rights – hence this period got the reputation of “The Good Old Swedish Time” in people’s historical memory. Swedish King Gustaf II Adolf established gymnasiums in Reval and Dorpat; the latter was upgraded to Tartu University in 1632. Printing presses were also established in both towns. In the 1680s the beginnings of Estonian elementary education appeared, largely due to efforts of Bengt Gottfried Forselius, who also introduced orthographical reforms to written Estonian. The population of Estonia grew rapidly for a 60–70-year period, until the Great Famine of 1695–97 in which some 70,000–75,000 people died – about 20% of the population.

In 1700, the Great Northern War started, and by 1710 the whole of Estonia was conquered by the Russian Empire. The war again devastated the population of Estonia, with the 1712 population estimated at only 150,000–170,000. In 1721, Estonia was divided into two governorates: the governorate of Estonia, which includes the northern part of Estonia (such as the Tallinn area), and the southern governorate of Livonia, which extends to the northern part of Latvia. Russian administration restored all the political and landholding rights of Baltic Germans. The rights of local farmers reached their lowest point, as serfdom completely dominated agricultural relations during the 18th century. Serfdom was formally abolished in 1816–1819, but this initially had very little practical effect; major improvements in farmers' rights started with reforms in the mid-19th century.

In short a very very small country.

The Old Estonians as Harold MacMillan called the Jews who dominated Maggie Thatcher's Cabinet.

If I was Putin, I would prepare myself for a long and bloody struggle. Because that's what he's in for.

Long perhaps, but not so bloody. Not nearly as bloody as what the Donbas has endured for the last eight years. Russia can retaliate for the occasional acts of what would amount to terrorism. Russia can also keep Ukraine's electrical grid and railroad network from ever functioning again. How long will the Ukrainian people tolerate this?

Remember that Zelensky ran for office on a platform of peace with Russia, and the Ukrainians voted overwhelmingly for him. He reneged on that, of course, before the final notes of his inauguration ceremony ended. But the Ukrainian people clearly wanted peace. How long can Zelensky survive if he continues to deny them?

In addition, the US's problems will be overwhelming soon, beginning with the crash of the American dollar. When compared to that. Ukraine will be trivial and soon forgotten.

| In short a very very small country.

all the more reason they feel the sting of the loss of so many of their relatives and fellow countrymen and women- and as always with the tribe, it's the best of the Estonian people who were gulaged or shot or starved.

from Wiki, so you know if anything, the Soviets period is sugar-coated

Mass deportations of ethnic Estonians during the Soviet era together with migration into Estonia from other parts of the Soviet Union resulted in the proportion of ethnic Estonians in the country decreasing from 88% in 1934 to 62% in 1989.[95]

..ethnic Estonianssuffered a sharp decline of their proportion in the total population due to the large-scale immigration, mostly of Russians. While in 1934 the Estonians comprised 88 percent of the total population of Estonia, by 1959 and 1970 their number had decreased to 75 and 68 percent, respectively (and to 61.5% by 1989).[96] n 1940–1941 and 1944–1951 during the Soviet deportations from Estonia tens of thousands of Estonian citizens were forcibly resettled to Siberia.[100] During the first year of occupation, 1940–1941, alone, an estimated 43,900 lives were irrecoverably lost, not counting refugees.[101] Another 16,000 deaths were caused through Soviet repressions in the years following 1944. During the first year of Soviet occupation (1940–1941) over 8,000 people, including most of the country's leading politicians and military officers, were arrested. About 2,200 of the arrested were executed in Estonia, while most others were moved to prison camps in Russia, from where very few were later able to return.

On July 19, 1940, the Commander-in-chief of the Estonian Army Johan Laidoner was captured by the NKVD and deported together with his wife to Penza, RSFSR. Laidoner died in the Vladimir Prison Camp, Russia on March 13, 1953.[102] The President of Estonia, Konstantin Päts was arrested and deported to Ufa on July 30. He died in a psychiatric hospital in Kalinin (currently Tver) in Russia in 1956.

800 Estonian officers, about half of the total, were executed, arrested or starved to death in prison camps.[citation needed]

A total of 59,732 people is estimated to have been deported from Estonia during the period between July 1940 and June 1941.[103] This included 8 former heads of state and 38 ministers from Estonia, 3 former heads of state and 15 ministers from Latvia, and the then president, 5 prime ministers and 24 other ministers from Lithuania.[104]

The Soviet 1940 occupation of Estonia decimated the local economy, as Moscow began nationalizing private industries and collectivizing smallholding farms.[55] Most of the larger businesses and half of Estonia's housing were nationalised.[55] Savings were destroyed with an imposed artificially low exchange rate for the Estonian kroon to the Soviet rouble.[55]

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Estonian_Soviet_Socialist_Republic for all of that, the post-WWII and contemporary Russian view is that Estonia should be grateful that the Red Army 'liberated' them from the Nazi fascists.

And the Russians that are there today should be treated as the glorious saviors who's ancestors liberated Estonia. Who also refuse to assimilate and speak Estonian.

As you might imagine, there are some lingering hostilities, and those fuel Estonia's attitude towards Russia, and why Estonia is sending its weapons to Ukraine.

Also, as the world marinates in treachery and guile, Estonia sending all its artillery to Ukraine, proves that Russia is no threat to Estonia, or Finland or anywhere else a ZOG quisling is not shelling and murdering Russian-speaking people, as Ukraine has been doing now for years.

So there is a lot of bullshit going on in the Geo-political realm.

My only advise is for Russia to simply say, 'the Soviet period had some very unfortunate consequences, and the Red Army were not liberators.

Boom. Done. Now Russia can make nice with its neighbors to the West, and ZOG can eat shit.

The war is not about Ukraine or even Russia, it is a final war on whether the USA is going to be able to maintain it's global hegemony.

To maintain it's control, both Russia and China, as the two major countries outside US control via NATO, must bow the knee to US domination.

It really looks like that.

But the outcome of this war isn't directly connected to the outcome on Ukrainian battlefield. And like you point out, the outcome is pretty much decided; big part of the world didn't participate in the economic sanctions that were supposed to strangle the Russian bear and it's still alive and kicking and has become even more connected to it's partners in China and Iran etc.

It's very unlikely the U.S. or NATO can do anything on the battlefield to change this outcome. And the likelihood of Russia making colossal mistakes leading to it's ruin is low.

So the incentive for the U.S. to keep the fight in Ukraine going is more or less gone. Recent article in the Washington Post indicates secretary of state Antony Blinken has given up on getting back Crimea and is considering some kind of DMZ. I doubt the U.S. cares much where new borders in Ukraine will be drawn.

Considering the larger war is already over, it's likely the rest of the war in Ukraine will be posturing and face saving exercise for the parties involved while winding down the propaganda.

Ukraine losing its gloriously little war doesn't mean Russia will have 'won'. If the ultimate US/Nato aim is to hamstringing China by decoupling Russia, then the long range scenario might include: 1) An attempt by US/Nato to rearm Europe for a conventional European war (buy US gas, oil, & munitions); 2) A reaction by Russia to convert its society and economy into a state of 'patriotic defense'; 3) As long as a standoff continues, China will support it's 'backdoor' & commodity supplier(Russia) in an economic war of attrition with the USA 4) The USA will succede in promoting endless war until it flat runs out of money, & 5) Ukraine, west of the Dnieper will become a no man's wasteland and will be contested by an expansionist Nato and Russia with the following possible outcomes; 1) MAD; 2) Dissolution of Russia, or 3) Dissolution of Nato. One can only hope for some sanity to be introduced into this equation.

A powerful Germany that is liberated from ZOG control could be a very good thing for the world. There's no reason why Germany having good relations with Russia and China can't benefit all three countries. And that would be the end of American hegemony, and the end of Israeli ability to intrigue with impunity. The Germans are a smart, capable people. Get them working productively with Russia/China and it's game over for Washington. Make it happen, Vlad. I'm sure there are backroom channels available. There must be some sane leaders in Germany.

I hope you sent him a Happy Hannukah card and thanked him for his battle against the Jews by sending White Russians to certain death. He has dual Russian/Israeli citizenship so you could send to either address.

It's funny that Andrew Anglin has gone into extensive detail on Jews in US government but doesn't talk about Jews in Russian government or the Jews that Putin has personally made wealthy.

Must be some kind of oversight.

The Russians will give generous terms to the new Ukrainian government and only ask that it does not join NATO and respects Russia taking back territory that is ethnically Russian

So why do they hold territory that is majority Ukrainian?

Were LPR/DRP given independence as decreed in March?

Answer: No. Putin took them as vanilla territory after promising they would be autonomous states and protected by Russia. The militias were marched off to the front. LPR/DPR no longer exist in any form.

Anyone that thinks it is a good idea to defend this lying half pint dictator will only be disappointed.

Equally though, a coup against Putin that tries to please Nuland won't end the destruction of Moscow either.

The Russians are the biggest white ethnic group on the planet. Even if they have yellow vassals in Outer Mongolia.

@John Johnson

Glow Glohnson,

The way that the western press promote the impact of Prigozhin leads me to think there's a serious attempt by western intel to turn him into a Jewish warlord in the region later on, especially if there's a coup in Moscow.

How is the Jew King of Kiev doing anyway? Is he begging for F16s already?

Ha! Might Russia's replacement for Putin be half-Jewish?
Prigozhin's father and grandfather were both Jewish. This will be big fun on UNZ!

The Man Who May Challenge Putin for Power

Jan. 26, 2023

By Mikhail Zygar – Mr. Zygar is a Russian journalist and the author of “All the Kremlin's Men: Inside the Court of Vladimir Putin.”

President Vladimir Putin of Russia, it seems, has finally noticed that the war in Ukraine created a dangerous competitor to his power: Yevgeny Prigozhin, the founder of the private military company, the Wagner group, whose troops fight alongside the Russian Army.

Depending on your point of view, Mr. Prigozhin could be considered either the person of the year or the villain of the year. Mr. Putin is, according to many sources in Moscow, confident that he can weaken Mr. Prigozhin, who has clashed with the military's general staff. However, the effect could be the opposite, with more people seeing Mr. Prigozhin as the most probable favorite to succeed Mr. Putin.

| If I was Putin, I would prepare myself for a long and bloody struggle. Because that's What he's in for is more of the same. As in: same as what they have had for over a millennium. Bloodthirsty, combative barbarians, the lot of 'em.

Putin is the one that made him a billionaire warlord and put him in charge of the main front.

I don't think you can blame this one on the press.

But thank you for acknowledging that he is Jewish. Most of the Jew blamers here seem to avoid talking about him and Putin's Jewish propagandist. Oh look he made the news as well:

He should ask Israel. They have plenty of F16s to spare.

Both the US and Russia are allowing Israel to play both sides. Putin even personally congratulated Netanyahu on his win. I also didn't see Anglin talk about that. Huh.

Putin is going to kiss the wall again and his fangirls at Unz will tell us it's just a front as part of some war against the Jews he is going to launch.....just after he makes a few more Jewish billionaires.
