Pomlouvání bezdomovců: Masová imigrace, nikoli duševní nemoc a závislost

Korporace, které se pohybují po celém světě, spoléhají na ignoranty přistěhovalců, aby udrželi teorii bezdomovectví z jediné příčiny: závislosti nebo duševní choroby.

Prostřednictvím vládní imigrační politiky byla generována neustálá poptávka po bydlení.

Big Tech musí být docela potěšeno, když vidí bezdomovectví připisované výhradně, obvyklým televizním vysíláním, závislosti a duševním chorobám – když ve skutečnosti je bezdomovectví poháněno především systematickým a trvalým vystěhováním z trhu s bydlením zranitelných, pracujících. -třídní lidé.

Ve státě Washington to tak rozhodně je. Bezdomovectví ve Smaragdovém městě zhoršila společnost Big Tech a další nadnárodní společnosti, protože tyto korporace bez státní příslušnosti jsou hlavními dovozci do King County a okolí high-tech feudální elity, která doplňuje bezdomovecké bažiny.

Korporace, které se rozprostírají po celém světě, spoléhají na ignoranty přistěhovalců, aby udrželi teorii bezdomovectví z jediné příčiny: závislosti nebo duševní choroby.

I když jsou však drogová závislost a duševní onemocnění považovány za nezbytné při způsobování bezdomovectví, jen zřídka jsou dostatečné. Zneužívání návykových látek a duševní muka mohou samy o sobě být důsledkem jiných exogenních, existenčních a neřešitelných okolností.

Jako je například cena z trhu s bydlením ve vaší zemi. Pro dobro. Ve skutečnosti naše země posílá své ekonomicky nejslabší členy do tábora pro bezdomovce prostřednictvím nikdy nekončícího importu high-rolling, high-tech elity, která zase uměle navyšuje cenu bydlení. Na věčnost.

Podle Seattle Times „méně než 50 procent lidí bez domova jsou závislí“. V tábořištích je více rodin s dětmi než chronických bezdomovců.

Základem bezdomovectví jsou faktory jako „ztráta zaměstnání“, „vystěhování“, účty za lékařskou péči a exekuce, z nichž poslední „ničí úvěrové hodnocení, takže bývalí majitelé domů již nemají nárok na půjčky nebo v mnoha případech na pronájmy.“ navždy.

„Nesmíme nadále dovolit politikům, ovlivňovatelům politik a médiím, aby prošli leností spojování zneužívání návykových látek a bezdomovectví,“ říká Lola E. Peters.

Peters, místní spisovatel, má pravdu. Bohužel, zatímco paní Petersová naznačuje populační explozi způsobenou technologiemi v bytové krizi našeho státu, rámuje neutuchající příliv z Číny a Indie jako organickou, přirozenou populační explozi vytvořenou v Americe. Není! Sedmdesát jedna procent populačního růstu státu Washington je připisováno čisté migraci!

Úřad pro finanční řízení státu Washington v ostražitém jazyce prozrazuje, že: „Migrace je i nadále hlavním motorem růstu populace ve Washingtonu [státu]. Od roku 2017 do roku 2018 činila čistá migrace (lidé, kteří se přistěhují versus lidé, kteří se odstěhují) do Washingtonu celkem 83 700, Stát se v tomto desetiletí rozrostl v průměru o 87 900 osob ročně, což je více než 83 000 v předchozím desetiletí.

Hlavním přispěvatelem je okres King County, kde žijí „globální bestie s rozsáhlou bilancí“, s celkovým nárůstem 259 000 osob za osm let ve srovnání se 194 200 osobami mezi lety 2000 a 2010.

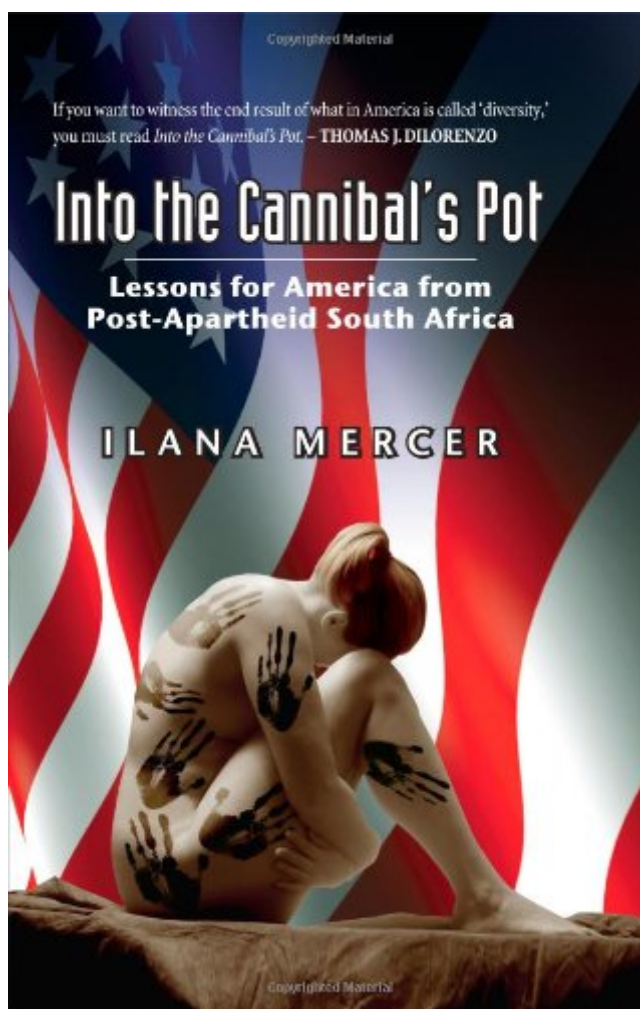

Každý den se do oblasti Seattlu stěhuje průměrně 236 lidí, kteří jsou z velké části poháněni technologickým průmyslem, „říká Geekwire.com, web se sídlem v Seattlu, který se zabývá technickými novinkami.

Pouze ti, kdo neznají americký labyrint pracovních víz, by tvrdili, že neutuchající příliv obyvatelstva přichází hlavně z jiných států v Unii, spíše než z jiných zemí ve vesmíru.

Určitě, město, kde bydlím, je k nepoznání. Costco je jako bazar vytržený z Pekingu a Kalkaty. To, co bylo malou a přátelskou vesničkou, je zaplaveno nově dovezenou pracovní silou H-1B, která žije z šesticiferných platů, zatímco mladí Washingtonané se snaží splácet hypotéku nebo jsou vystěhováni, když jsou jejich nájemní jednotky zbourány, aby uvolnily místo pro drahá pole, křiklavých kondominií, kde by se ubytovala preferovaná – a privilegovaná – pracovní síla Saty Nadelly.

Pro obyvatele tento žalostný stav znamená nemožnost dovolit si bydlení na trhu, na kterém jsou ceny nemovitostí uměle navyšovány.

Sestava mladých párů k zobrazení malých bytů. Už nesní o tom lačkovém plotu, protože kolonie dovezených dělníků, obdařených značnými platy, tlačí ceny nemovitostí nad možnosti místních chlapců a děvčat, kteří si prostě nemohou dovolit domy, ve kterých by mohli založit rodiny. (A ne, příjemci víz H-1B nejsou VŮBEC levní, pokud nenazvete šestimístný kompenzační balíček „levný“.) „Krise je ve svém základu problém se zásobováním,“ brblal „expert“ v New York Times.

Opravdu? Co se stalo s poptávkovou stranou rovnice nabídky a poptávky a trhu bydlení?

Na základě vládního privilegia může společnost Big Tech požádat stát o povolení dovážet The World za cenu silně dotovanou americkými daňovými poplatníky, kteří nemají volební právo. Prostřednictvím vládní imigrační politiky byla generována neustálá poptávka po bydlení.

Jak se může takový umělý trh – navržený tak, aby ukojil neukojitelnou touhu globální korporace po špičkových technologických talentech, nikoli po amerických – vůbec normalizovat, aby se přizpůsobil místním yokilům?

Představte si, že byste byli oceněni na domácím trhu s bydlením. Pro dobro . To člověka přiměje hledat útěchu v látkách, které mění mysl.

What kind of conservative are you?

Don't you know that the homeless are just lazy, good-for-nothing slackers living off of "gibs"? Why don't they just get a job at McDonalds? Do you know they actually buy steaks and potato chips with their food stamps. The homeless are worthless scum who refuse to work, living like kings off the fat of the land.

Get with the program, you stupid liberal!

No way I could live on the street without alcohol or drugs. Would definitely need something to help me sleep. And how do you sleep soundly even in your car much less in tent city or in a park??

Instead of flying into space, “rich” billionaire douche, (use appropriate name) how about using your money for portable showers for homeless AMERICANS.

Instead of sending money to Israel or Jewkraine, spend it on homeless AMERICANS.

Oops, I forgot TPTB all are wealthy and 99% of wealthy bastards have abused the system worse than 100 300 lb welfare queens combined, and these folk are the cheapest folks around when it comes to giving to the needy unless it is for a photo op.

Least likely to help poor people?

Blacks and Jews unless it is their own. Blacks are even stingy with their own. Doproah Pigfrey does give to Blacks ONLY. Non whites NEVER help poor Whites, but Whites are working 24/7/365 to help Africans, Southeast Asians, etc.

Wealthy people. Unless they have something to gain, nada from these people. Rare exceptions.

Asians whether Paki, Indian or Oriental.

Most likely to help poor people?

Poor or working class Whites.

Excellent point, Ilana.

Some immigration enthusiasts know what they're doing. Here is Yaron Brook, CEO and board chairman of the so-called "Ayn Rand Institute," writing in "Open the Borders, End the Housing Glut" 11 December 2008:

Imagine if the number of annual immigrants increased ... to, say, five million. Virtually overnight we would see money pour into the American real estate market, as millions of new businessmen and workers bought and rented homes.

He goes on to say that this would "eliminate the oversupply of houses." Apparently housing doesn't command a high enough price for him.

This is the kind of nonsense that comes of mindless contrarianism. Yes, mass immigration is bad, for all kinds of reasons. But the connection between homelessness, untreated mental illness, and addiction is rock-solid, backed up by mountains of evidence, and can be confirmed by even the slightest amount of exposure to the actual homeless.

Look, I know there's a lot wrong with mainstream conservatism, but letting the desire to distance yourself from it push you over the edge into either horseshoe-theory leftism or denial of observable reality is just plain dumb.

A few years ago here in S. California, a government-conducted survey concluded that 20% of the homeless are mentally ill, and then a non-government survey concluded it is 60%. (I am doing this from memory, but the numbers were something like that.) The moral of the story is that because so many organizations and institutions are lying or incompetent or both, it is very hard to know what the truth is regarding who the homeless are.

I have a second crucial point to make, but I will stop now, after making that one point. Doctors now delimit the visit by saying "What is the main thing you are here for today?" So I surrender, that's the way it is now.

Immigration policy (or lack thereof) is at most a very small fraction of the homeless problem, if it is even a factor at all. Ironically (or maybe not) Ilana actually lives on an wealthy Jewish island called “Mercer” Island. Her zip code happens to be ranked in the top 100 wealthiest zip codes in the US. This in and of itself doesn’t mean that a person living in this Jewish ghetto has no idea about the realities on the ground in Seattle, but neither is it useless information. According to her own citations she apparently gets her information about Seattle homelessness from the local Seattle Times rag which in addition to supporting every woke lesbian/faggot nut case in the Seattle city government was in full support of the CHAZ/CHOP insanity, the BLM riots, and de-funding the Seattle police.

I doubt her forays into Seattle are ever much more than a cruise up I-5 in her Lexus to cross over the 520 bridge to visit one of the other Jewish ghettos in Kirkland, Clyde Hill, or Medina. In any case, even if this is wrong (or merely impolite) she fails to mention that the overwhelming homeless on the streets of Seattle are lily white Caucasians (after you scrape off the dirt). There are a lot of Black bums on the Seattle streets but very few of them in the homeless camps. And, there are no Hispanics and no Asians (to speak of) though there are a small handful of Native Americans which are not hard to distinguish from Asians or Hispanics if you are at all familiar with the people of Western Washington State.

I have actually visited several homeless encampments. My daughter felt a sense of compassion in her pre-adolescent days and was motivated to do something to help. Not wanting to get branded a heartless hard ass and figuring it a teaching moment, I agreed to take her and a couple of her friends downtown to pass out homeless care packages that they had put together (and

I paid for). I'm not sure who learned more, her or me, but I can tell you for certain that 100% of the people we met were mental cases who should have been in a gated psychiatric care facility. Whether they were on drugs or not is largely irrelevant, though I suspect many of them were. They had mental and emotional problems that would have prevented them from ever performing even the simplest of jobs without being under some kind of constant focused supervision.

Long before Mercer arrived here from Africa, Seattle was a gorgeous, clean, crime free, graffiti free, city with zero homeless problems and a kick-ass police department that would literally ticket you for even J-walking. When I moved here in 1986 from San Francisco, the city was jokingly referred to as "San Francisco for Republicans." It wasn't technically true of course, as it was a solid Democratic city, but it was semi-sane, safe and generally well run. And, since Seattle is laid out on Puget Sound similarly to how San Francisco is laid out on the San Francisco Bay, the analogy was at least semi-accurate.

At that time the airport and downtown parking were free as was downtown bus service. No homeless, no graffiti, clean streets, minimal crime. What happened? Since 1921 Washington State had operated a facility for mental patients in Skagit County just north of Seattle, called Northern State Hospital. It was much more than an ordinary mental hospital. They had a large animal husbandry operation and dairy farm where they taught people to care for animals, particularly cows, and they produced and sold milk and other dairy and bovine products. They had detox and rehab facilities for drugs, which at the time was mostly alcohol and pot, and well as medical, psychological and spiritual facilities and personnel. The setting was (and still is) rural and gorgeous, and set in the foothills of the Northern Cascades.

<https://www.king5.com/article/news/history/northern-state-hospital-sedro-woolley-trail-hike-abandoned-history-insane-asylum-mary-mcgoffin-brian-adams-cemetary-ghost-port-skagit/281-6b778ebd-odc6-4ae9-b4be-2289bc5711bb>

I met a nurse who had worked there and who was herself a former patient. She told me her inspiring story of how she was rescued (arrested) off the streets of Seattle for public drunkenness and brought to this facility. She went through alcohol rehab, and in her words was “healed and saved” by working and caring for the animals, being next to nature and placed on a strict routine. A Chaplin at the facility helped her spiritually and she underwent a religious conversion. She later met a man (a fellow former alcoholic) who became her husband and the Chaplin married them there on the site. With help from the state and the facility she went to nursing school and then returned to work there herself when in 1973 the great libertarian Ronald Reagan cut federal funding for State mental institutions for all but the seriously criminal insane and the entire facility was closed down. Patients were literally turned loose with nowhere to go, no help and no funds. Many of them made their way back to the streets of Seattle, and the homeless population has been on a steady incline ever since.

I seriously doubt there are any homeless people in Seattle that are there because some Mexican legally or illegally crossed the border and took their job. They are there because they have mental and emotional problems and unable to hold a job, and therefore on the streets because there is nowhere else to go. If you want to be factual, it is probably more true that wealthy Jews like Mercer immigrated here and took white jobs from the top of the food chain, and pushed the people out from the middle to the bottom. In any case, she has no idea what she is talking about.

None of this is to say that the gaping, lawless Southern border is a good thing or that it has no negative economic impact. But the homeless in Seattle (and I suspect almost everywhere else in the US) are by far mostly mentally deranged people that wouldn't be helped at all by closing the holes in the border. Without saying too much about myself, who I am or how I know this, I can tell you with 100% certainty, that corporate America IT companies DO NOT hire Chinese and South Asians because they are cheap (they are not). They hire them because they are smart and can be counted on to work hard, and get the job done without whining and spitting out pseudo-intellectual bullshit like Mercer.

And oh by the way, there is no homelessness in evil Communist China. You occasionally see a panhandler hanging out in front of the foreign churches because they know Western Christians will whip out their phones and scan the QR coded card hanging around their necks and transfer some money to the panhandler's bank account. The streets of cities like Shanghai, which is 19 times the size of Seattle, are spotless, trash and graffiti free, and so safe that small children routinely take the subway by themselves and parents never worry that some sexual perverted faggot or mentally deranged idiot is going to abduct them. Racist Jews like Mercer who talk about China like it was some third world country are so pathetically ignorant I don't understand why Unz even bothers to give them ink. People who have never been to China literally are not qualified to say anything about China much less make sneering and totally ignorant remarks comparing Beijing to Calcutta. What a dumb shit, all because her brilliant Ashkenazi Jewish husband can't compete in the IT market place with the Chinese and Indian Goy.

If the homeless need a helping hand, they can relocate to the Ukraine. Vast, really incomprehensible, amounts of US dollars are sloshing about the Ukraine at this very moment. The unemployed could seek work with Burisma, a generous compensation package awaits them.

Let's call a spade a spade, the United States is a violent, exploitative "culture", dumbed down to prehistoric sub-Saharan levels. The US ruling class is engaged in a blitzkrieg like offensive against its founding population. Has been for decades now. If you are a homeless American, consider yourself fortunate. Because they have in mind, far worse torture ahead.

| the single-cause theory of homelessness: addiction or mental illness

That answer is wrong—really? I have seen a lot of homeless people from coast to coast in this country and not one of them looked like the “I’m a fellow American down on his luck, buddy can you spare a dime?” type to me. In fact as someone who in a previous life did professional counseling, I would say that these individuals I have seen are in fact mentally ill and/or addicted.

The days of the bindlestiff riding the rails because he loves freedom are over, no Big Rock Candy Mountain these days. I would say some of the reasons we have so many homeless today are:

1. The shuttering of mental institutions and the reliance on outpatient care.
2. The JewCLU destroying the laws we enacted to protect our communities for indigents.
3. A general lack of community on a national scale.

Every country has these kind of people it is just in America we let them run wild.

I agree with the author's analysis.

I am formerly homeless and housing is a huge problem in many areas of the country.

It is also true that many of the homeless are addicts and/or criminals. Some are mentally ill. Not all are any of those things.

I went into a shelter program and got a job as fast as I could. I saved money as was required to be in the program. When it was the deadline to leave the shelter, I relocated to a part of the country where housing was not so much of an issue.

For the record, I have no criminal record but I have a problem with alcohol. That is what got me into the situation to begin with.

Good information on the homeless problem in Seattle. However, how many fleeing Californians, and Jews have “helped” in destroying Seattle far more than the homeless. Without the fruits, nuts, and flakes migrating from California, and the nation wrecking Jews orchestrating social engineering, I doubt Seattle would look like it does now. I watched Florida destroyed by fleeing Yankees, and Caribbean trash. Of course there were always the wealthy Jew social engineers operating behind the scenes. How many of those homeless developed mental issues because of living in the streets?

Those brilliant Chinese and Indians were often sponsored by the CuckCatholic church or even Protestant churches to JewSA. Given free education, low cost housing, all kind of gibz, courtesy of working class Whites. The Chinese belong in your precious China not San Francisco, New York or dreary, rainy Seattle. The East Indian needs to go back as well. And the nation wrecking Jew needs to squat in his beloved sandbox muh Israel or hang out in Africa with the Blacks he allegedly cares so much about.

I know what Ilana is saying. It's hard to express in words the extent to which the Seattle area was destroyed, over the past 30 years. A magnitude 9 earthquake couldn't have destroyed it more.

The Seattle area was charming, when I first worked there more than forty years ago. I had never seen a area quite like it in the U.S., even though I had visited almost all states by then. All of the neighborhoods of Seattle were unique and interesting. Traffic flowed. The scenery was exceptional in the Puget Sound, the mountains, and in the agricultural river valleys around it. Other than the constant gloomy rain and overcast skies during winter, few cities could rival it as a place to live.

But, paradises always attract others. It's hemmed in by the Cascades and Puget Sound, so there was nowhere for growth to go, except to the north and south and the foothills. First, one of the most beautiful agricultural river valleys in the U.S, sitting under Mt Rainer, was paved over with warehouses, in the 1990s, from Renton all the way along 167 to Puyallup. The rest of the Seattle area quickly followed the same pattern of blight. Today it is all an ugly congested mess, strained with roads that were built to support a 1960 population. Worse yet, those unique charming neighborhoods that gave Seattle its identity are all but erased. Seattle, bustling and fun to visit is now dead, except for a bright pocket around Amazon's Lake Union campus. The whole Seattle area, even its wealthy eastside is infested by garbage, homeless people, needles in the parks, and crime.

My advise, based on many decades of living there: flee. That's what I did.

This.

As Confucius once said, in a country well-governed, being poor is shameful, but in a country ill-governed being wealthy is shameful.

In a country as ill-governed as this, one doesn't get rich without engaging in some form of rent seeking parasitism.

And when I say "rich", I'm not talking about the paper millionaires, the small businessmen who busted their asses and put themselves in debt to build up a small business that they generate a modest income out of to live on. I'm talking about the Bill Gatses, the George Soroses, et al.

Good article, but Ilana speaks only of wealthy foreigners who have entered the country legally. How about all the millions of poor who have fled their countries and have illegally invaded Biden's porous Southern border, looking either for a job or a handout? They swell our growing homeless ranks. I'm sure that many opportunities for housing are given to them instead of homeless Americans.

On another note, it's ironic that, just this morning, I read a NY Times article about hundreds wealthy Americans fleeing to Southern Europe where housing is cheaper, and the lifestyle is better. The natives have the same problem as working-class Americans. Rents are skyrocketing and salaries of young people are insufficient to rent an apartment, so most continue to live with their parents into their thirties. This is causing growing resentment toward rich Americans (as well as rich Asians), who are driving up housing prices beyond affordability, and who also get generous tax breaks for relocating. At some point this suckers gonna blow.

the connection between homelessness, untreated mental illness, and addiction is rock-solid, backed up by mountains of evidence

Evidence from how long ago? The dynamics of homelessness appear to have changed radically in recent years. Ordinary, everyday people are now finding themselves homeless through no fault of their own. Here are just a few examples from my own metro area. Multiply this by thousands and you will get an idea of the magnitude of the problem:

<https://www.unz.com/isteve/nord-stream-theories-day-2/#comment-5573795>

I myself was similarly dispossessed a few years ago and, even though I have a perfect rental history, perfect credit and no serious criminal record, was lucky to find another place to live. And no, I am not an addict or alcoholic and I did nothing to violate the terms of my lease.

denial of observable reality

“Observable reality” is what led people to erroneously believe for thousands of years that the earth was flat and stationary and the Sun revolved around it. This is why we have something called “the scientific method” that we rely on instead.

Well put by Confucius. We live in the latter for sure and this rot can MOSTLY be laid at the feet of the (((usual suspects))), although (((they))) have had plenty of help from run of the mill “elite” white traitor trash. Good thing though, no one doesn’t really own anything but there soul. All “wealthy” men die. All physical marvels turn into decrepit old men IF they live long enough. Can you put five quarts in a gallon jug? Of course immigration displaces natives. True, the homeless are almost all going to be marginal people, crazy and addicted or not. Not too bright, poorly educated, lacking foresight. So what? Does having an IQ of 90 mean that you don’t matter? In my lifetime they were able to do useful labor and support themselves. Now we import Mexicans and MS13 to do that necessary work for less, and now we have large Mexican enclaves and our policies are aimed at benefiting them, not our own poor people.

There will always be an underclass. The bell curve is real. Why must we piss on them to save a few bucks? And for the purely self-interested, do you really want that underclass to be united by hatred of Whites?

There is a small grain of truth to the Californication myth.

However, being from California myself, I can tell you that most of the people fleeing California are fleeing in search of sanity. Do some of the nut cases migrate? Yes, of course, but not that many. By far the majority who relocate are solid people looking for political and social terra firma. The local resentment is mostly economic envy. Because real estate is so pricey in California, when people sell there and buy elsewhere they often find that they can pay cash for the same or better house in a comparable or better neighborhood and have money left to spare. So when they relocate they move up a notch on the economic scale but laterally on the social, educational hierarchy, and often even have to take a cut in pay because wages are higher in California. But being debt free gives one a sense of freedom that spills over into other areas of life and local people still caught in debt traps often resent that freedom and interpret it as “liberal,” “wacky” or whatever.

The number of Chinese immigrants getting help of any kind from either Catholic or Protestant churches that are not themselves Chinese is next to zero, mainly because non-Chinese churches rarely speak Chinese. The number of Indians doing the same is even less, since most Indians, even though they speak fluent English, are Hindu and wouldn't darken the door of a Christian church of any flavor. There are a number of Protestant Chinese churches that do help foreign Chinese (or others) who are either studying here or immigrating. The reverse is also true in China. Protestant English churches in China reach out to English speaking people in China who need help. When my son was teaching in China he got a lot of helpful assistance navigating the local culture, legal and economic system from a Protestant Church, plus he made some good, lasting friendships. Catholics do most of the assistance to Mexicans because most Mexicans are Catholic. duh Jews naturally help their fellow Jews. Not all Jews are evil and/or insane. Ron Unz the host of this website is a Jew. I am ethnically half Jewish myself. My dad was a Czech Jew my Mom an Irish Pagan. I am a Christian (Protestant).

Would you prefer the state perform these services to foreigners? No? I see you just want everyone to go back to where they came from. OK fine, that leaves only the Native American Indians who are actually Asian/Eurasian Mongols and Siberians. Are you one of these? No? OK, you should go home yourself. The world has constantly been in a state of migratory and genetic flux. Some people adapt and learn to thrive in this realty and some do not. The Jews tried to wipe out everybody in the Ancient Near East (Canaan) who didn't agree with them, worship their God, and eat their food. Once it became obvious they couldn't rebuild and maintain the cities they squatted in after the Bronze Age collapse the Greeks and Romans ran them out. They have been wondering the globe ever since looking for the next promised land. Meanwhile Chinese civilization has been growing and adapting for 10,000 + years. Americans... who, I think we would both agree, are not doing very well, have been around a whopping... 245 years! Who do you think will win in the end?

In case you haven't noticed, Eurasia is reuniting under Sino-Russian leadership. It won't be a recapitulation of the old Mongolian Empire but the boundaries will be much the same. And if India and China bury the hatchet (and I predict they will) Genghis Khan will be laughing in his grave... and a United Eurasia can and will give the middle finger to the militaristic, angry, confused, overweight, indebted, drug addicted and divided Judeo-Faggot-Tranny-Redneck America.

Ilana Mercer is correct to point out the impacts of over 90,000 a year H1-B visa-holders entering and permanently settling in the United States as well as bringing in their extended family-members and contributing to increased homelessness due to over-priced housing and rental problems that ordinary Americans face daily.

For American corporate employers, H1-B visa-holders provide a discounted wage-expense year after year by not having to pay FICO taxes to the Internal Revenue Service of the United States Treasury Dept.

That's a huge savings for American corporations in terms of billions of dollars in annual payroll tax-avoidance scheme created by the United States Congress and the Senate.

So, if one has to blame someone for H1-B tax-avoidance scheme, please blame American Congressmen and American Senators in Washington, D.C.

About 20 years ago I drove past a Catholic church and I must have seen 50 East Indians mulling around in the parking lot. The “churches” and (((gubmint))) brought in all sorts of Vietnamese and Laotian refugees and hooked them up with all sorts of gibz after the Vietnam War. Wonder what kind of gibz, Pakis and Muzzies roaming around London receive? I personally knew a Vietnamese family who came over courtesy of the Catholic church. They attended the Catholic church but I think that was only for appearances. I am sure JewSA gave plenty of Koreans opportunities in America that many less fortunate AMERICAN White and even Blacks didn’t receive. The Black man wasn’t enjoying Black Privilege after the Korean conflict, that would come after (((The Swindle Whites Movement.)))

However, being from California myself, I can tell you that most of the people fleeing California are fleeing in search of sanity.

Being an Arizonan, I know this is purest horseshit.

The only thing that most Californian transplants are in search of is a lower cost of living. They want to replicate everything about California in their new states of residence except the high cost of living. They can't square that circle because the lower cost of living is baked in the red-state cake, but they can sure as hell ruin the circle trying. Ask any of the locals in Colorado or Oregon.

Also, I don't give a damn if they really are in search of sanity. A candyman is only in search of a good time; that doesn't give him the right to have his hand down some kid's diaper. Regardless of your political views, you Californian bastards are still committing an economic rape of our housing market which is begging lower-income residents who have lived here their entire lives. If every single one of you were an Unz reader, we would hate you just as much. Go the fuck home.

I like the anecdotes about how some suburban asshole goes down in his idioticly huge SUV and meets some homeless people for a few minutes and then informs us that all homeless people are mental cases. As rightly he should, because the non-mental-case homeless hide themselves better.

Here's the real logic. In a country where all the rents are over 1500 and the average income is much lower than the reported 40K (phonily inflated figure), many hard-working, god-fearing, non-insane, non-drug-addict people are going to end up on the street or in near proximity. It is a simple arithmetical fact.

20 years ago you drove by a Catholic Church. Um, I can see your research is about as thorough as Mercer driving up I-5 in her Lexus... or was that her husband's Tesla? What were you driving? Your pick up truck? Let's see I was in the Navy at the time but I forgot. Who was it that started the Vietnam War? You are obviously totally ignorant of the fact that South Vietnam was and still is heavily Catholic?

Haha. These people were/are Buddhist, believe me. I can't afford a truck so I just drive a plain old Toyota. How many of those East Indians at that Catholic church do you think were playing "Catholic?" haha. Remember what I said about Orientals , East Indians, sharing common traits with Jews??

Ahem. Btw, America did lose in Vietnam. Korea was a stalemate and Japan was ??

Last I checked, Unz still lives in California. I estimate 50% of my Washington neighborhood is from California. Most of them are armed to the teeth Trump voters... and probably a quarter of them are Asians and/or Mexicans... which is what probably really pisses off the restless natives more than anything else. These brown and slant eyed people are not supposed to be able to get ahead. How dare they increase our net worth without our consent by raising our real estate valuations!

@Haxo Angmark

HEXO WANKO, You are a leader among the “Little Men” on this thread—the kind who hides behind his email handle, nipping at the heels of a woman he doesn’t know, yet hates.

You do so in fractured, mangled sentences, using nothing but ad hominen, and Jewy conspiracy illogic, for that’s all you are capable of: hate, and an assassination of the English language and the rules of reason. You are not OF THE WEST; you are a disgrace to the West.

If made to come out from cowering behind your keyboard and face the little woman (all of 160 cm)—I assure you that you, little keyboard coward, would run for your life. For you are, well, The Keyboard Coward (KC).

HEXO WANKO (otherwise known as Haxo Angmark) is simply not working with much.

And, it is not your hatred, moreover, of a person you do not know, me, that makes you so loathsome. Oh, no. It is not your online trolling and harassing of a woman that makes you so repulsive (for—news flash—real men conduct themselves properly around women).

The thing that makes you so irredeemably grotesque is your ugly, atavistic, reason-defying fulminations. You, very plainly, are deeply stupid.

The following here is standard HEXO WANKO logic:

If B then A: If Jewish, then evil. Always, irrespective of evidence to the contrary.

If past is prologue, we know, too, that few are the men AROUND HERE on these threads capable of disagreeing with a Jewish woman and still retaining their civility. Or, standing up for civility to a writer.

But let me ask you and your cowardly cohort “one question”: “Do you feel lucky?” Is any other flaccid, limp, keyboard coward; Jew-hating freak like you—the kind who trolls a woman because born to the Jewish faith (and proud)—FEELING LUCKY? Go on. Make my day.

You’ve chosen the wrong woman to menace!

@SafeNow

| a government-conducted survey concluded that 20% of the homeless are mentally ill,
| and then a non-government survey concluded it is 60%

Half the problem is that the very definition of ‘mental illness’ is completely determined by the political objectives of the person doing the defining.

If a government wants to reduce spending on ‘mental health’ services for the homeless, they make absolutely certain that the people doing the survey understand that mental illness should not be found to be a problem.

By contrast: people whose corn-pone depends on the depth of the bucket of cash for ‘mentalhealth’ service delivery to the homeless, want a survey that tells everyone that it’s an immense problem (and so needs more money).

In a world where conditions are well-defined, and so can be measured with a decent level of precision, the prevalence of a condition can be (roughly) determined by whether the proportion of ‘sufferers’ in a sub-population is greater than the proportion of ‘sufferers’ in the overall population excluding the subpopulation... in such a way that the difference in proportions is statistically significant.

But when definitions are not worth the paper that the prescription for Zoloft/Seroquel/Xanax is written on, that sort of analysis fall apart.

The green-haired imbecile in the video posted by Priss Factor is a stark case in point. She’s a spoilt, entitled, infantile fuckwit. At some point she has convinced (or been convinced by) some charlatan that she's "schizophrenic"... thereby acquiring an excuse for every antisocial impulse.

Her behaviour is like watching a badly-raised 4 year old being told they have to eat their vegetables – even in the little details like a rising inflection in key words in her protests.

Now... is this arrested-development retard 'mentally ill'? Is there any accepted therapeutic mechanism that would reliably stop her being a spoilt, entitled, infantile fuckwit? Absolutely not.

People like that whining attention-whore irritate me no end, because they 'muddy the waters' on mental illness. Plus, they're almost all on multiple psychotropics, which have awful long-term effects on impulse control and mood.

It may surprise people to know that as long ago as 2006, more than a quarter of over-65s had prescriptions for psychoactive medications recognised as having "abuse potential": that number will be higher now. And if it's 25% of 65+ people that will translate to ~60% of 65+ white women, just by dint of socioeconomic status differences (blacks can't afford prescription pharma and are skeptical; white men prefer to drink).

Let's concede that the causal relationship between immigration and homelessness is tenuous at best, but Mercer accurately contrasts the two groups. The Government is committed to providing "cheap" tech labor for the Seattle, Silicon Valley and Wall Street oligarchs.

Senator Mike Lee (Rep., Mumbai) has been a full time advocate for Indian brain drain. This multi-generational scion of the Mormon elite is imbued with a strange infatuation for H1B visa holders, leading him to betray the LDS techies back in Utah. Unrequited love is always sad.

We can only hope that the army of white-shirted Missionaries pester the shit out of the Hindus and their dot-head brides.
