Je neuvěřitelné, jak hloupí jsou bílí konzervativci.

Upřímně řečeno, je to proto, že jsou tlustí. Jedním z hlavních důvodů, proč jsou tak tlustí, je, že pijí pivo. Pivo také snižuje testosteron. Většina těchto retardů také přestala kouřit kvůli dezinformačním falešným zprávám o falešných zdravotních rizicích spojených s kouřením, takže nedostanou podporu nikotinu a testosteronu.

Tito lidé chtějí protestovat proti fagotovému pivu – a tak si jdou koupit jinou značku od stejné fagot piva.

Většinovým vlastníkem Modelo je Anheuser-Busch. V USA existuje nějaká podivná distribuční dohoda, která zahrnuje jinou společnost, ale Modelo je pivo AB.

New York Post :

Prodej Bud Light utrpěl nejhorší týden v historii, klesl o 25,7 %, což ohrozilo jeho postavení světové jedničky piva podle nejnovějších údajů poskytnutých v úterý deníku The Post.

Propad následuje po 24,6% poklesu z předchozího týdne a prodeje byly zasaženy šestý týden v řadě od doby, kdy trans influencer Dylan Mulvaney propagoval Bud Light 1. dubna.

Strmý pokles zmenšil propast v prodejších mezi Bud Light a nejbližším konkurentem Modelo Especial, který podle údajů Bump Williams Consulting a NielsonIQ zaznamenal za týden končící 20. května nárůst tržeb o 9,2 %.

„Zatímco Bud Light týden co týden ztrácí, Modelo Especial týden co týden získává a nyní Modelo převyšuje prodej Bud Light na národní bázi napříč všemi obchodními kanály dohromady,“ řekl The Post Bump Williams, který řídí poradenskou firmu.

"Pokud to bude pokračovat, Modelo překoná Bud Light za rok," dodal.

Odpor také způsobil pokles prodeje dalších piv Anheuser-Busch.

Za týden končící 20. května se Budweiser propadl o 11,2 %, Michelob Ultra klesl o 6,5 %, Busch Light klesl o 5,2 % a Natural Light podle údajů klesl o 4,9 %.

Dobře, alespoň znají některá piva, která vlastní Anheuser-Busch.

Modelo není jediným konkurentem, který těží z chybného seismického výpočtu Bud Light.

Yuengling, který se označuje za „nejstarší americký pivovar“, zaznamenal podle údajů za období čtyř týdnů končících 20. května prodej Yuengling Flight o neuvěřitelných 47,6 % a jeho ležák vzrostl o 32 %.

Jo, Yuengling je nezávislý.

Ale chci říct, no tak.
Modelo dělá titulky.

Proč lidé na sociálních sítích neříkají „JE TO STEJNÁ FIRMA, KLUCI“???

A co víc – Budweiser prodává anální pivo už léta a roky. Zřejmě ho posílali pouze do gay barů, ale duhové pivo s logem „GLAAD“ vyrábí už nejméně deset let.

Proč to bylo v pořádku, ale reklama na tranny koupel je příliš daleko?

To jen ukazuje, jak jsou konzervativci naprosto neschopní.

Proč vůbec pijí pivo??

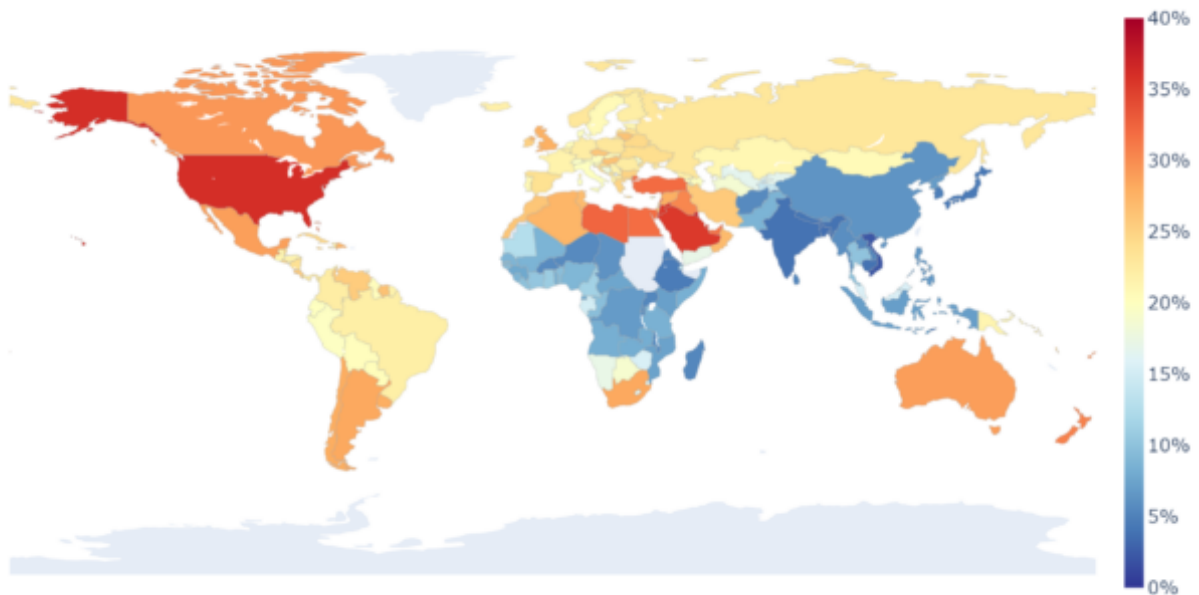

Proč nepít vodu jako normální lidé na celém světě, kteří nemají radost z toho, že jsou tlustí svině???

Pokud pijete vodu, můžete podpořit skutečnou konzervativní věc – ruskou svatou křížovou výpravu proti globální židovsko-anální agendě.

Způsob, jakým Fatmerciáni a další Anglové pijí pivo, je prostě mimo mísu.

Nikdo jiný na světě to nedělá, kromě Mexika, které je také tlustá země.

Říkám to lidem a oni říkají "no, zbytek světa jsou všichni buzeranti."
No, ty jsi ten s přetížením estrogenem.

Doslova hltat tekutinu, kterou jistě znáte, zvyšuje estrogen a pak říkat „kdo to nedělá, je buzerant“ je vrcholný amerikanismus.

I don't know about the whole estrogen thing in beer (although people have been drinking it for millenia), but what makes people fat from drinking the beer is the snacks that usually go with it.

| Frankly, it's because they're fat.

Ackchually it's because they're not stupid at all. The self-destruction is the point. They're masochistic. Tyranny is demanded, tyranny is being supplied, everything working as intended.

The only reason Budweiser sales went down was because of a failure of virtue. They wished to tolerate that level of suffering, but couldn't bring themselves to. The spirit was willing but the flesh ~~was weak~~ wasn't profane.

It's legal, cheaper, and better-quality to brew your own beer at home, and that's how real non-NPCs have been getting their beer for decades. Or rather, ale.

Hops has a ton of estrogen. People have been drinking ale, which has no hops, for millennia. Beer is new and degenerate. It seems to have been “popularized” by State bullying in the 1500s.

The only benefit to hops is shelf life; meaningless in the age of refrigeration. Like all non-salt non-sugar preservatives, it is a poison, that’s how it preserves.

Drinking any alcohol increases estrogen production, beer is reportedly the worst alcohol, or one of the worst, when it comes to that, I guess it's because of the large amount of carbs it contains, hard liquor doesn't contain any carbs so should be less harmful and don't make you as fat, although it's still terrible obviously.

Unfortunately InBev controls Leffe (a Belgian beer) which I rather like, and Corona (not my thing, but it's okay once in a while, although it's overpriced as hell here in France) as well as some other OK beers from Belgium that I never drink anyway.

Most big alcohol producers have been supporting that LGBT crap for a decade at least, Bud Light just went overboard with it.

The “Light” in Bud Light (or any “lite” beer) might as well stand for “Light in the Loafers.” Who’d drink that watered down stuff, anyway?

What I see are men not so much drinking beer as they’re nursing on a bottle of light beer—much the way teenage girls and women nurse on their water bottles.

You’ve also got men buying the micro breweries’ beer that AB bought out, paying double for the same watery beer so they can pass themselves off as being as “authentic” as some trendy, gay name.

I find this all very amusing . These idiots are still buying other In Bev products as we speak . You want to protest bud lite then maybe you should protest the entire company . Typical “conservative” mentality . Anyone who says I may not agree with you but I’ll defend your right to say what you want is a typical conservative who drinks beer and smashes cans on their heads . While I in no way shape or form want anything to do with leftist ilk I sure as hell won’t waste any energy on boycotting shitty beer . This is just another ploy by the establishment to keep the good conservatives occupied with some meaningless bullshit so the establishment can continue to kill us with their vaccines and their useful idiots .

Nicotine messes up your cardiovascular system if you use it regularly. Cigarettes obviously also damage your lungs. However I am wondering how safe this “vaping” is that all the juvenile delinquents are into. There is this young video game type loser at work who is super hooked on that vaping, his legs even shake like that kid in the anti vaping ad who steals from his mother’s purse to fund his habit. This guy at work wheezes away constantly, he literally sound like he’s drowning with emphysema. Just because they don’t burn it who says all these liquids they inhale aren’t even WORSE than cigarettes in causing COPD.(the new PC name for emphysema)

As far as beer goes, is Modelo really the equivalent for Bud Light? I had thought another “cheap” canned beer like Miller Light or Coors Light would be the substitute. Modelo is much higher in calories, and you pay a premium for all those heavy glass bottles it comes in. It’s all bad and loaded with calories, liquor however is quite strong and can cause even more of the behavioral anomalies found with intoxication. Whenever you hear about some frat hazing fatality, it’s always from liquor, not beer.

Well, one thing I’ve observed is that Hennesey and Patron don’t seem to have any ill effects on the fertility on the community of those who drink it? Neither do Newports. But, if you’re driving around town and you see signs advertising Hennesey, Patron, and Newports outside the minimarts you had better roll em’ up and lock em.

I've been vaping for 10 years now, do I feel my lungs "cleaner" than when I was smoking tobacco, yes somewhat, do I feel completely different health wise when I stopped smoking and switched to vaping, no, not at all, but apparently some people do see a night and day difference, it just hasn't been the case for me.

I think vaping is a wonderful thing to help you stop smoking, after a while you don't crave nicotine nearly as much as you did with regular tobacco, I could stop if I really wanted to, it would suck but not nearly as much as stopping tobacco.

Now people who don't have an existing nicotine addiction and start vaping are idiots, but so are people who started smoking anyways, now is vaping worse than "normal" cigarettes, that would be very unlikely I think, but of course the best possible course of action is to not smoke, or vape, ever.

Thx for your contribution. I have been vaping for three years now and it has certainly saved my life.

Before that I had no condition at all, I was wheezing even when climbing stairs, I had unbelievable coughing fits ("COPD" is REAL!). Of course I know that nicotine constricts the arteries, increases blood pressure, and so on. But SO WHAT, man!

I consider myself addicted to nicotine, I would rather be without it, let alone the cost. As for alcohol, I have to be moderate (fatty liver like 30 percent of the population). Because I don't want to find myself in the dialysis ward hoping for a donor liver.

Maybe the liver has shrunk again in the meantime, I am not fat, although I was certainly 10 to 20 kilos overweight. In any case, I have massively reduced my carbohydrate consumption, and since alcohol is extracted from grain, there can only be one thing: Gorge or binge.

I opted for the latter, but still in moderation. The liver is a very forgiving regenerative organ, but if you push it too far, even it won't forgive. Europeans generally have a weakness for alcohol, northern Europeans for beer, southern Europeans for wine, eastern Europeans for schnapps.

Make your own e-liquid if you want to reduce cost, it's extremely easy to do you just have to wait for it to "mature" (can take up to a month for some complex aromas, only 5 to 7 days for others like fruit flavors, the longer you wait the better the taste will be), use RTAs (rebuildable tank atomizers) and make your own coils so you don't have to buy the factory made overpriced coil replacement, it's easy to do especially with the right tools, there's tons of guides on the net and Youtube, and good RTAs will give you a better tasting vaping experience anyways.

If you have a fatty liver try the keto diet, as long as you're not too far gone it should become a healthy liver relatively quickly, you shouldn't use alcohol at all when doing keto but if you have to just drink carbohydrate free alcohol, you won't need much anyways since being in ketosis makes the buzz from booze much stronger in most people.

It's funny- when all this shit started over the Tranny Bud Lite commercial, I knew all the conservatives were going to be pissed (rightfully so), but in their protest they never thought to check out who own that they would switch to. You nailed it – switching to Modelo is like choosing if one wants to get murdered by the Taliban or the Khmer Rouge. A different label is fine with Bubba, even though the same peeps own the brand you switched to. Second in mind -is it cheap? If I go out, I drink gin & tonic or cider -maybe a wine on occasion. At my age, not overly concerned about the testosterone question. But that is a good point to bring up – especially for younger guys.

Hmm, seems like vodka would be a helluva lot more harmful for you than drinking a couple of beers. Moderation?

Beer is for drinking with German food, steamed crabs, raw oysters, steamed shrimp, bbq, and hot dogs. Beer and hot dogs certainly never hurt The Bambino or Two Ton Tony Galento. The Mick? I think the Mick consumed something stronger and was hammered half the time but still managed to be 5 tool player and belt 500 foot dingers. And then you have Ken Stabler? A HOF quarterback who slept 3 hours a night and consumed mass quantities of beer and the harder stuff. GENETICS? Alcohol and smoking can kill, but some like Jackie Gleason and my uncle (hehe) live long lives despite their lifestyle. Joe Frazier was a heavy drinker. I think “Smoky” stuck to the harder stuff.

Lee Moran, a member of the Hells Angels biker club/gang was known to consume mass quantities of suds. Moran was a powerlifter and the first man to officially squat 1,000 lbs in the mid 1980s (1984.) Sure he was probably taking steroids but the PEDs in 1984 were nothing like today nor did the lifters wear all kinds of supporting gear. Maybe these studies with beer and testosterone were done by males with naturally low testosterone. teehee. I live around conservatives and I can tell you that beer is not the main problem.

Does it contribute to them being fat? Yes it does.

The bigger problem is that they sit on their asses when not at work. They pay Mexicans to do the lawn work while they watch sports all weekend.

A few beers here and there is fine. Sitting on your ass and watching basketball games while drinking beer will make anyone fat. Light beer doesn't matter when you drink 5-6 of them and eat a bag of chips.

The “Conservatives” are the self-proclaimed defenders of the Psy-Op known as the “American Dream.” Wherein, the apotheosis of “Truth, Justice and the American Way,” is sitting on your couch, beer in hand, salted, MSG laden snacks close by, watching “Gunsmoke” or “Dragnet” or the “Dallas Cowboys” in your suburban home (designed by Eugene Levitt). Fat, white Boomer cheers for the descendent of the West African Slave who plays for “America’s Team.” Wifey takes the pill. and gently lays the Tator Tots on the oven pan. Upstairs are two above-average children each with his own room. This project marks the complete pacification of the truculent, mobile, Barbarian tribes that pounded the Civilized World and toppled the Roman Empire. Of course, godless, neo-Nazi, video-game enthusiasts are going to blame the neutering of the Barbarian code on Christianity, but that’s typical glib, Enlightenment superficiality. The Germans wouldn’t have amounted to anything if the Catholic missionaries hadn’t brought them to Logos & literacy. Perhaps there’s more truth than meets the eye in the Capital One advertising campaign wherein Barbarians are placated by easy credit and copious beer. Television is not a morally, culturally, nor intellectually serious medium. It’s not worth defending. It’s more stupid than any religion. Beer is the “nectar of the Clods.” It’s one of the reasons the Irish never got any momentum. As far as fat, White, beer-drinking Boomers are concerned, I direct your attention to the Dodo Bird. The final predation is underway. Forget about it.

I did stop once, for an entire month, the first days weren't too bad actually, but then the craving became worse, and worse, once a month passed I bought two cigarillos to see if I could just enjoy them and continue living without nicotine, well of course I couldn't, went back to strong rolling tobacco (unfiltered too).

Switching to vaping was easy, in fact I stopped smoking the first day I tried vaping, I did try to stop vaping too, I think for 15 days, didn't feel that much better health-wise so I just went back to it, but I did cut down on it a lot these last few years, I used to vape the whole day, like I used to smoke (I'd smoke continuously all day, only stopping when I couldn't smoke, I could smoke more than 50 of them per day easily).

Normal smoking, like normal drinking, a guy can do until a 100 years old.

Under 10 cigs like Winstons or Camels a day gives the benefits without the minuses. A pack a day or over and yes, if you got any weak spots in your bod, the cigs will hit them. Usually in the shape of chronic bronchitis or autoimmune shit flaring up in those prone to it.

Never heard of a non-chain smoker getting any issues with his boner, and lots of chain-smokers I know seem to be able to satisfy the ladies just fine.

Likewise with hard liquor. You get yourself a small brandy with lunch, 2-3 in the evening, and half a dozen on social occasions with friends, you're dandy. If you go into daily plastered mode then yes, your internal filters are going to start cascading after a decade or two of that, again depending on your innate constitution.

Speaking of the aforementioned autoimmune problems, including allergies, sensitivities, n'shiet. Wine and beer are loaded to the hilt with histamine, whereas vodka and brandy and the like are not. So if anyone is to allergies and sensitivities, cut the beer and wine, switch to moderate drinking of hard liquor. Basic equivalence is a pint of the soft stuff equals one small dose of the hard stuff. Instead of three pints of beer — three small vodkas.

Gives the same glow but without giving you man boobs and a plague of boils.

Concerning vaping: never forget the time when margarine was “the new healthier alternative to butter which is too real and bad for you”. This BS went on what, well into the 1990s? Vaping is the new margarine.

Maybe people need to ask themselves “would corporations add ingredients that suppress coughing and other symptoms to make me think this isn’t bad for me?”

@Trinity

I did before the boycott of AB, but I don't classify myself as a "conservative." A WN? Sure. A (((conservative?))) Nope. I preferred the Modelo Nigra over Modelo Especial though. hehe.

I don't doubt that but I really wonder which group actually buys Modelo. I see it everywhere and yet never in the carts of Mexicans or Whites at Walmart. I've also never see anyone buy Hoegaarden and yet it is always at Walmart since it is AB.

Mexicans are more likely to buy Busch light than Modelo. Like rural Whites they often just buy what is on sale and is marked as beer.

I actually really like Modelo with a lime. It's a great summer beer. I've served it to guests and they all liked it. Serve it ice cold with a little salt.

Corona is too light in flavor. One of those beers for people that don't like beer. They just want to hold one at a bbq and sip it for an hour. If someone brings Corona to a bbq I really just cringe. It's not cheap and you picked the watered down one?

Imagine walking down the street unsuspecting and someone complete stranger chats you up with the pathetic phrase, “Go away!”

Actually a cry for help that translates to “Pay attention to me, please! Because I am Mrs. Go Away! Have you registered finally also me now?”

What should one say in response to such bullshit? Maybe “I don’t know you, could we please stick to that?”

I hope that the author is saying this in jest, if not, there isn’t much hope for him. Northwest Europeans have been drinking beer for thousands of years, but have only turned into scared puppies in the past 50. Drinking beer in moderation isn’t going to harm you, but all the new designer beers that have come out in recent years are probably full of chemicals. Find a small cottage beer maker that sticks as close to the German beer purity laws and avoid the big brands that are all owned by you know who.

In the US it is the same price as microbrews so us beer drinkers find it odd that anyone buys it. Showing up to a bbq with Corona is kind of an eye roll. Definitely something that happens in liberal burbs.

It seems to be a product for Whites that don't actually want to drink a beer. They want to stand with a Corona for an hour in the sun and maybe drink half of it.

Just make a friggin margarita. Nothing wrong with that. I view Corona drinkers as dishonest.

There are men in my social group that don't drink beer and it isn't a big deal. Heck when it gets hot enough I will even order a margarita instead of a beer.

Normal smoking, like normal drinking, a guy can do until a 100 years old.

Under 10 cigs like Winstons or Camels a day gives the benefits without the minuses.

Yea until someone has some stressful event and they go up to a pack a day.

There is only one benefit of smoking and it is for single guys. Picking up women that smoke.

Other than that it should be avoided. It's too easy for people to ramp up the nicotine and then have a hard time going back.

Likewise with hard liquor. You get yourself a small brandy with lunch, 2-3 in the evening, and half a dozen on social occasions with friends, you're dandy.

A brandy with lunch? Are you serious?

No booze until after 6 should be the rule. Any type of day drinking should be frowned upon. That includes weekend day drinking through multiple sports games. Too many White men have beer guts from watching football all frigging weekend. My neighbors pay Mexicans to do their yard watch while they watch football. One doesn't even work full time. Good lord. My wife would put a foot right up my ass if I worked part time and suggested getting a Mexican landscaper. These guys don't even have large yards.

If you have liver problems, you probably have also pancreas problems, and the pancreas doesn't regenerate unfortunately, a fatty liver is not the end of the world as long as you correct it through healthy keto, intermittent fasting, and a few 24h fasts a month (like one per week) when you feel ready will eventually take care of that.

Alcohol will definitely slow down that healing process, and wine, beer, anything with carbs will just make it even worse even if your diet is squeakily clean.

Yep.

It's the oldest trick in the book; misdirection.

Thomas Pynchon pointed it out in the 3rd Proverb for Paranoids that are scattered through Gravity's Rainbow. Frankly, the 3rd it's the only one of the Proverbs worth committing to memory – the rest are weak and #5 is retarded.

#3 is –

At the end of the day though, Bias wins every time:

You almost surely do not secrete enough bile to digest fat, your bile duct might be congested too, a quality bile salt supplement should help a lot, keto could be a problem for you since it involves digesting a lot of fat, I don't know if the bile salts alone would be enough, although a standard heavy carb diet will also damage your pancreas (that's where insulin is produced) and your liver, this is a bit of a conundrum.

At this point I would advise to cut down alcohol to zero frankly, I know it sucks trust me. You can still try keto with bile salts but if you feel pain digesting or have oily stools, it might not be the best diet.

This guy has a lot of information on nutrition, and is a proponent of keto, you should search his videos (might take a while, he has almost 5000 of them) :

Mind altering substances are about the only things that make life tolerable sometimes.

So very true – but also the reason why the overlords try to ensure that the only “mind altering substances” (MASes) that are legally available to the proles, have deleterious metabolic and cognitive side effects (for moderate chronic use).

This policy also has the predictable concomitant that entrepreneurial suppliers of illegal MASes will develop higher-potency versions – where a smaller dose yields more mind-altering. This is sensible – making it easier to conceal/transport more doses per unit volume.

So opium becomes heroin; coca leaf becomes cocaine (and then crack); weed becomes that dank shit that seems to have problematic medium-term effects on cognition and mental state.

Let’s also stipulate that everyone in the supply chain has an incentive for the ‘refined’ product to be addictive – even though addiction is almost-entirely psychological, and generally associated with weak will. Most drug ‘addicts’ are doing a perfectly sensible reaction to having a fucked life.

I’m fortunate in that the only ‘vice’ that I can’t quit definitively is a teaspoon of sugar in my coffee – but it takes a bit of the edge off the bitterness in the very very dark roast I use for my morning 200ml double-double espresso that accompanies my 75mg armodafinil.

(FWIW: darkness of roast is unrelated to caffeine content, and espresso has lower caffeine than a 24-hr cold-filter made with the same beans with the same roast and the same grind).

The thing that makes me maddest is that weed is still illegal here, and local entrepreneurs will sell it to me because I have 'resting copface' (so they think I'm a narc).

A half-ounce of good indica – made into a tincture – would literally last me over a year. A friend gave me a 50ml bottle of his home-made tincture in 2016. My requirement for a litre of wine to 'slow down' in the evenings, went to zero until it ran out. Roughly 1000 metabolically-harmful, liver-toxic calories eliminated every single day.

He's moved to the other side of the country. How dare he.

Because it goes so well with the sportsball that they are still heavily addicted to.

They also buy into brand imagery hook, line and sinker. They've been conditioned by decades of marketing pipedream imagery to associate buying beer with Americanism, patriotism. They'll buy anything that has a flag or an eagle pasted on it. They'll even buy Trump NFT trading cards.

| Picking up women that smoke.

Ugh... the upside of "if she's a smoker, she'll let you poke 'er" is more than offset by the stench and the requirement to avoid them after (in case they open their yaps).

Women who smoke are just plain dumb – it's the ultimate "I'm a rebel" statement... which is laughable because the 'rebellion' is the direct result of being stupid enough to be manipulated by the media.

It also ruins the one thing that most young women have going for them – clear skin and no wrinkles – so by the age of 30 they have a mouth that looks like a cat's arsehole.

I'm a manipulative cunt at times – in my 20s I had a couple of short-term girlfriends who smoked when I met them, and the ground rules were simple: "If I smell that shit on you, get away from me – I'm going to the gym".

The vehement denials were hilarious: smokers just don't understand how much they fucking reek – and gum, perfume and toothbrushing doesn't get to the lungs, you stupid cunts.

This is a trap. Death to America by 1000 cuts:

What's happening is we are dealing with a communist insurgency that is undermining the values and the identity of the American public. What they are doing is they are intentionally creating a scenario where the American people are rejecting this initiative, [and this] is actually hurting iconic American brands that remove much of the American identity.

So now, they're removing part of the identity, which is part of the communist process called demoralization. There's less identity in America, there's less to fight for, which makes it easier to conquer.

Then on top of it, one of the goals, of communism, is to create two classes of very poor and very rich. So what they're doing here is they are getting the American public to cancel all their own companies. That actually hurts their own neighbors who are good, hardworking American people. The people at Bud Light – at the top – are not the ones feeling the pain here. It's the delivery drivers, it's the hard working red, white, and blue Americans that believe the same [things] that you all believe, who are getting fired or laid off, or losing because of this.

So they have run an operation to push this initiative down the companies' throats intentionally, where the companies cannot resist it because they're required to do so for their funding, knowing that the American people are going to reject it and destroy these companies, creating the lower class system that they're trying to create in the first place.

Well, I think I may have confused you for someone else. I didn't expect so much hostility. Yeah, I thought you may have been joking about a health issue oftentimes associated with excessive drinking since the discussion was essentially about beer. Who needs Germans? I would say the world does. Certainly America does. I have German ancestry and I'm proud of it. I make no apologies.

Who is the "we" under no illusions? Who is the "you" who thwarted your success? I think you mean Americans did the thwarting. We did. I'm sorry. But, I was not around then. I guess you weren't either. My grandfather served in Europe during WW2. He came back and said it was the worst thing to ever happen to western society. Patton said that too, and they killed him for it. I guess he had it coming.

Picking up women that smoke.

Ugh... the upside of "if she's a smoker, she'll let you poke 'er" is more than offset by the stench and the requirement to avoid them after (in case they open their yaps).

Well it's an upside. If they smoke then they are more likely to do other things. Once you smoke you smell like the smokers and don't notice.

Women who smoke are just plain dumb – it's the ultimate "I'm a rebel" statement... which is laughable because the 'rebellion' is the direct result of being stupid enough to be manipulated by the media.

I wouldn't go that far. A lot of women smoke if they work in certain industries. They start taking breaks with each other and pick up the habit. Some women start because a boyfriend or husband smokes. I wouldn't assume they are all trying to look rebellious.

It also ruins the one thing that most young women have going for them – clear skin and no wrinkles – so by the age of 30 they have a mouth that looks like a cat's arsehole.

Too much smoking by a woman definitely gives them the worn out look. But I don't know if smokers are more likely to drink heavily or eat poorly. For the record I don't smoke but in some areas it is very social. The south still has a lot of smokers and I can get being a casual smoker if you are single. I walked around Nashville for an hour in the morning trying to find an espresso.

All the restaurant workers were out smoking like it was the set of an 80's movie. I ended up getting shitty coffee at a mini mart. Not an espresso cart in sight but you could buy smokes.

You don't realize how cigarettes reek until you stop smoking, if you're a heavy smoker in a room surrounded by other smokers you barely smell anything abnormal, just a slight odor that you think is normal, I remember lending a PSP (a portable console) to a non-smoker friend of mine and he couldn't stand the odor emanating from the device even though I didn't have it for that long,

I personally couldn't smell anything at all and thought he was just being a uber-sensitive pussy, but he was probably right, that crap gets everywhere and smells like death (I remember the day when I cleaned my old HD 4870x2 GPU, the first GPU heatsink was just covered in disgusting black tar, I knew there would be some residue, but it kinda opened my eyes, plus cigarettes smoke and nicotine cover all your books, plastic and everything else in dark yellow horrible taint).

Vaping isn't nearly as bad in that regard, but if you know vape store owners who let people smoke in their shop (especially indirect vaping atomizers who generates huge clouds of vapor) they'll tell you that the VG (vegetable glycerin) leaves a lot of gunk in the ventilation system.

Booze around noon is one of life's pleasures. Sat or Sun a pint of Guinness or IPA and a Ploughman's Plate or a Roast. Empires were not built drinking Tea but downing a beer before melee combat with spearchuckers, frogs , wogs and assorted niggers. Always good for fighting your enemy. Rum.

Yea well this is not the age of empires and sailing.

It's the age of White men sitting on their asses and watching TV. Drinking alcohol while sitting drops your metabolism. These guys aren't hoisting jigs or fighting natives. They're sitting at a desk during the week and switching to a couch on the weekend. A very easy way to get fat and out of shape.

Society has become too socially permissive with drugs and alcohol. Day drinking and pot smoking should be discouraged. White men need to get outside and mow their own damn lawns.

That is because of morons who use commercial chemical tobacco. NATURAL tobacco doesn't 'reek'. There are many types of tobacco leaves the same as different plants or fruits. It smells good. A small amount of casing or glycerin (natural) to slow burn is the only thing that should put on it, if anything. Smoke that reeks is the burning of up to two hundred chemicals in commercial crap that makes the gross smell you're talking about. Natural tobacco has none of that. Tobacco oil is used in some perfumes.

People have been smoking thousand of years without problem. The indians, no problem. TWho makes commercial tobaccos, who makes the 'vaping' bs.

The reason the cons want to wipe out tobacco is because you can use it for paper, also hemp. The cons want digital everything so they're up your a-s and in your brain. Zero privacy and is the case now though dupes too stupid to notice or recognize the danger. Note the cons 'legalized' dope but hemp you have to have a 'permit', complete bs and proves my point.

If people are going to do some small thing natural tobacco is not an issue for the majority, if you've got some odd problem from other chemical impact that's not tobacco. We're unindated with chemical bs from every angle by the cons. The use of soybean and canola/rapeseed oil in everything is a problem, soybean oil estrongenics same as beer. mayonaise dressing everything.

'vaping' is femy and jew poison.

In comparison to anything else, people are going to die by cons or jews, if continue to sit instead shove back.

People need natural cigarettes and some ropes, and to man up, male and female.

There is only one benefit of smoking and it is for single guys. Picking up women that smoke.

Also minor but sometimes useful male alliances.

It's too easy for people to ramp up the nicotine and then have a hard time going back.

Very true, as with any drug.

Including yourself Andrew. You have not bothered to do even minimal research. A quick Google reveals over and over the facts but here is just one example:

In order to comply with competition rules, when it acquired Grupo Modelo in 2013, AB InBev sold the US rights to Modelo’s beer business as well as the Piedras Negras Brewery in Mexico to Constellation Brands.

If you buy Modelo or Corona in Canada or the UK or anywhere else it’s AB InBev but not in the US. I have published this information on numerous you tube videos.

Beer is liquid food, so more than a small one with a meal is too much. It's a good substitute for meals too. But too much beer and too much food leads quickly to obesity.

It is unfortunate that nicotine is associated with tobacco as nicotine is quite beneficial.

You do realize that Germans were the largest immigrant group to America from 1700 on to the early 20th Century? In Pennsylvania and much of the Upper Midwest, German was the primary language. Two World Wars changed that but the influence Germans had on the US in breweries, food, and other aspects is well known. Brands like Chrysler, Heinz, Kraft, and even presidents like Eisenhower and Hoover, all of German heritage.

The Turks call raki “lion’s milk.”

If I was protesting this product I'd think I would do a quick google search to find out what other products the company I'm boycotting sells . So I'm gonna have to disagree here , they're stupid . For the record I don't drink anymore as I never have liked the the taste of alcohol. Any of it . When I did drink as a younger man it was never about the taste , it was about hey people , let's party. So I guess I was damn stupid . Bud lite is a very popular beer here in the Midwest . Of course everyone is still talking about it, and in the meantime they're drinking other AB products . If that's not stupid I don't know what is. As I stated in another comment I find it all comical . The best part of it has been the back peddling from the ceo. Now he's pissed off the alphabet people . Good times . I'd love to go back to pre globo homo but people protesting one particular beer isn't gonna make that happen . I suppose it's a start , maybe . The reason I have distaste for conservatives is that they conserve nothing . They all virtue signal just as hard as the leftist . They too proclaim they love everyone , they don't mind if your trans as long as you keep it to yourself . Well conservatives they're not going to keep it to themselves, get the fuck over it and say what you really mean already . But conservatives are petrified over being called the r or b word.

It doesn't matter if they buy another brand owned by the same company. The goal isn't to destroy the parent company (not going to happen), it's to make some VP of marketing miss their target metrics and get fired.

And I don't think this is even an organized boycott for the most part, bud light just turned into a fag beer overnight and people don't want to be seen drinking a fag beer.

The whole Bud Light/Trans thing is just the latest deposit dropped from the bowels of Identity Politics. And, of course, it's Identity Politics that is the problem.

And that's a problem for Identity Politics. How so?

That Identity Politics is the dominant explanatory system in the entire Western world today undermines the Oppressor/Oppressed argument upon which it is based. After all, How can anything dominant be oppressed?

But even before that, if the Oppressor/Oppressed argument were true, Identity Politics wouldn't exist in the first place.

The more people recognize this enough to form a critical mass, the greater the social incoherence, the greater the social incoherence, the greater the culture crisis. The result?

Explanatory Collapse.

And, since explanations organize our transactions with the world, the collapse of the dominant explanatory system will lead to chaos, of course! But it will also lead to even more destruction before the whole thing completely disintegrates.

And now we're back to why Identity Politics is fast becoming a problem, not just to us, it's already that, but to itself.
